1. Describe a time when you helped someone

You should say :

- Where you helped him/her
- Why you helped
- How you helped
- And explain how you felt about it

- Man is a social animal.
- Giving and receiving help is part of living in society.
- One memorable instance where I offered assistance to someone in need was when I helped a blind person cross the road.
- It happened about 2 months ago.
- As I was waiting at a busy intersection, I noticed a visually impaired gentleman standing on the corner.
- It looked as if he wanted to cross the road, but was not sure, as there was too much traffic noise around him.
- I approached him and asked if he needed help crossing the road.
- The gentleman, Mr. Singh, was grateful for the assistance.
- He explained that he needed to reach the other side, but the traffic noise was making it challenging for him.
- Taking his arm to guide him, I waited for a suitable gap in the traffic.
- Upon safely reaching the other side, Mr. Singh expressed his gratitude, thanking me for the assistance.
- He shared a bit about his daily challenges in getting around independently, highlighting the importance of simple acts of kindness from strangers.
- Helping Mr. Singh cross the road left me with a profound sense of fulfilment.
- I realised that the small acts of kindness can have a profound impact on someone's day, especially when faced with challenges.
- It made me reflect on the importance of empathy and the significance of extending a helping hand to those in need.
- I felt a deep satisfaction in knowing that I had made a tangible difference in someone's life, even if just for a brief moment.
- Lending a helping hand, no matter how small the gesture, can create a ripple effect of positivity in the world.

Or

- Man is a social animal.
- We all have to give and receive help from others many times.
- Here I am going to talk about a situation when I helped an accident victim.
- It so happened that I was going to Ludhiana last month to attend a wedding.
- On the way there is a petrol pump.
- We saw that a lady was lying on the side and there was a lot of blood from her head.
- This accident had just happened 2 minutes before.
- She and her husband were on a scooter and as they were coming out of the petrol pump a speeding car hit them and sped away.

makkarIELTS

- We parked our car on the side and came out to see if we could help.
- Her husband had minor injuries but she was in a bad shape.
- We immediately called 108 for help.
- It is the number of the free ambulance run by the government.
- Within fifteen minutes the ambulance was there.
- We did not move the lady because it could aggravate her injury.
- She was breathing properly but had a lot of pain.
- There was a first aid team headed by a doctor in the ambulance.
- The ambulance people picked her very carefully on a stretcher and immediately rushed her to Phillaur Civil Hospital.
- We took the number of other relatives of the patient from her husband and called them.
- Actually he was also very shocked because of his wife's condition.
- We took him to the Phillaur hospital in our car.
- Only after they were settled, we moved on.
- We were late for the wedding, but we were happy that we could help some needy people.

Part 3 Follow-up Questions

Should children be taught to be kind to others?
The quality of being kind to others should definitely be inculcated in children. This will lead to a society with less suffering and more happiness. Moreover, children should be taught other values as well, such as being honest and respectful.

Should people be very kind when they help others?
Yes, I believe one should be very polite and humble while helping someone in distress or need. Rude behaviour during such a time would simply negate the kindness of the act. Also, one should not try to make it look like they are doing a favour to someone and they expect the same in return.

Can kids provide any help to parents?
Kids can assist their parents in multiple ways. This will also help them to learn new skills. They can do many chores around the house; for example, children can help parents with cleaning the house, cooking, washing dishes, laundry, or taking the dog for a walk.

Should parents give children advice? Why?
Definitely yes, and the simple reason behind this is that young minds are too fragile to distinguish between right and wrong. They need constant guidance from their elders' experience to make the right decisions. If the parents are not there to guide the young, they can easily go astray.

What kind of advice should parents give to their children?
I believe that children mostly imitate the way their parents behave, so the only advice that parents need to give their children is to always do the right thing. Parents should reinforce this advice by leading by example rather than expecting their children to behave well on their own.

Should parents help their kids with their homework?
Well, the homework is normally assigned to the children and not the parents, so I don't think that parents should help them in doing it. However, they should definitely monitor whether their children are completing their homework on time or not. Finally, in exceptional cases, when children are finding an assignment to be tough, they can ask for their parents' help.

2. Describe a book you enjoyed reading and that made you happy

You should say:

- What kind of book it was
- What it was about
- Why you read it
- And explain why it made you happy

- I've read many books over the years, but the very first one I ever read is still one of my favorites.
- It's Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone, written by J.K. Rowling.
- I read it when I was about 10 years old and it was actually a birthday gift from my mom.
- At the time, I was a little upset with her because I had really wanted a new video game that had just been released.
- My mom promised me that she'd get me the game too if I gave the book a chance first.
- So, rather reluctantly, I started reading it.
- To my surprise, after just 10 pages, I completely hooked.
- I started reading it at 9 PM that night and couldn't stop.
- I finally finished it at 7 AM the next morning.
- Luckily, it was summer vacation, or my parents would've taken the book away and made me go to sleep.
- The story, as many people know, follows a young boy named Harry who discovers on his 11th birthday that he is a wizard.
- He goes to Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry and begins a magical journey filled with friendship, danger, and a struggle between good and evil.
- What makes the book so interesting to me isn't just the magic or fantasy.
- It is also a powerful coming-of-age story.
- Harry isn't a perfect hero; he makes mistakes, gets hurt, and people around him face real challenges and losses as well.
- The story is unpredictable, the characters are very well written, and the magical system is so creative.
- Even now, years later, I still pick up the book every once in a while, and read a few chapters.
- Strangely, I always notice something new each time, like a small detail or clever line that I hadn't paid attention to before.
- This book made me happy because it was the book that made me fall in love with reading.
- It opened up an entirely new world for me, so it will always hold a special place in my heart.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

How can parents help children develop a love of reading?
I think parents can do a lot to help children develop a love of reading. They should make a variety of books easily available at home and allow their children to choose books that genuinely interest them. Parents can also read with their children or tell them stories from a young age, which can make reading feel like an enjoyable activity rather than a chore. Finally, for younger children, parents can choose books with colorful illustrations and engaging stories to make reading more appealing.

Why do some people prefer watching movies to reading books?
I think some people prefer watching movies because they're visually engaging and much faster to consume than books. Although books often provide more detail and insight into the characters' thoughts, reading requires more time and concentration. For example, the Harry Potter books go much deeper into the story than the movies, but watching a movie only takes a couple of hours. So, for people who are busy or simply want to relax, movies can be a more convenient form of entertainment.

Do you think people today read less than before? Why
Yes, I think people read less these days because there are so many other forms of entertainment available. For example, people spend more time watching TV because of streaming services or using social media. In addition, many people have demanding jobs and simply don't have enough time to sit down and read a book.

Are success books useful to everyone?
I don't think success books are useful to everyone. Everyone has different goals and circumstances, so the advice in such books may not work for everyone. On the other hand, some may find them useful and get motivated by reading such books.

Do you think people should read the original book before watching the movie?
No, not really. I think some movie or TV adaptations are excellent even if you haven't read the original book. For example, a lot of my friends haven't read the Game of Thrones series, but they still really enjoyed the TV adaptation. Ultimately, I think it comes down to personal preference and how much time someone has. Reading an entire series can take weeks or even months, whereas watching the adaptation is often much more convenient.

What kinds of books are most popular in India?
I think many kinds of books are popular in India because it is such a diverse country, and people have diverse tastes in everything, including reading. For example, some people enjoy fiction, such as romance, thrillers, and fantasy, while others prefer biographies, history, or self-help books. Religious and spiritual books are also quite popular

3. Describe a person you know who has healthy habits and a healthy daily routine

You should say:

- Who this person is
- How you got to know each other
- What he/she does to keep this lifestyle
- And explain how you feel about him/her

- With today's fast-paced lifestyle and busy schedules, it is becoming increasingly difficult to develop healthy habits and maintain a healthy routine.
- However, I know one person who has managed to do exactly that.
- He is my maternal uncle, and he is a brigadier in the army.
- He joined the army at a very young age, even before he turned 18.
- My mother grew up in a joint family, so she is very close to all her cousins.
- He used to visit us quite often when I was younger, but as he became busier with his career, we started seeing him less frequently.
- He developed many healthy habits after joining the army.
- In fact, my mother remembers how difficult it was for him in the beginning.
- He used to call home every day and say that he wanted to leave the army.
- However, eventually, he adjusted to the lifestyle and became extremely disciplined.
- He gets up at 4 o'clock every morning and then runs for around 10 kilometres.
- Moreover, his diet is also extremely healthy and nutritious.
- In the morning, he has boiled eggs and cornflakes. In the afternoon, he eats boiled vegetables, and at night, he has boiled chicken and soup.
- What I find particularly interesting is that he follows almost exactly the same routine every single day.
- Once, I asked him whether he ever felt like eating something unhealthy, and he told me that as long as he was serving the country, it was his duty to stay fit and healthy.
- He said he could enjoy all those things after retirement because they were not going anywhere.
- Another healthy habit I admire about him is his punctuality, which I think is not very common in India.
- He says that if he has to be somewhere at 9 a.m., he will be there by 9 at the latest.
- He may arrive early, but I have never seen him arrive late.
- I really admire his discipline and consistency.
- He has shown me that maintaining a healthy lifestyle is not just about exercising or eating well; it is also about having self-control and sticking to a routine.
- I hope I can develop the same kind of discipline and become more like him as I grow older.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Does the government play an important role in promoting healthy lifestyles in a community?
Yes, I believe the government plays a significant role in promoting healthy lifestyles. It can launch awareness campaigns about the importance of exercise, a balanced diet and regular health check-ups. It can also provide facilities such as public parks, walking tracks and sports centres so that people have convenient places to exercise. In addition, the government can regulate unhealthy products, such as sugary drinks and tobacco, through taxes and advertising restrictions. However, individuals also need to take responsibility for their own health.

2. Do you think it is important to live in a community where people have healthy lifestyles?
Yes, definitely. People are strongly influenced by those around them, so living in a health-conscious community can encourage individuals to adopt better habits. For example, if people regularly go for walks, exercise together or eat healthy food, others may be more likely to do the same. It can also create a supportive environment where people motivate each other to stay fit. On the other hand, if unhealthy habits are common in a community, people may gradually adopt them as well.

3. How can people relieve stress in daily life?
There are several ways people can manage stress in their daily lives. First of all, regular physical activity can be very effective because it helps people relax and improves their mood. People can also spend time doing activities they enjoy, such as reading, listening to music or meeting friends and family. Another important thing is getting enough sleep and taking short breaks from work or studies. Personally, I think having a proper routine and not taking on more responsibilities than one can handle can prevent stress from building up.

4. What effect does stress have on health?
Stress can have both short-term and long-term effects on health. In the short term, it can cause problems such as headaches, tiredness and difficulty concentrating. If a person experiences stress for a long period, it can also affect their sleep and overall well-being. In some cases, chronic stress can contribute to more serious health problems. Therefore, it is important to recognise the signs of stress and find healthy ways to manage it.

5. What makes people stressed?
I think people experience stress for a variety of reasons, but work and financial problems are probably two of the most common ones. Many people have demanding jobs and struggle to maintain a balance between their professional and personal lives. Students, on the other hand, may feel stressed because of exams, academic pressure or expectations from their parents. Relationship problems can also be a major source of stress. In general, people tend to become stressed when they feel that they have too many responsibilities and not enough time or resources to deal with them.

6. Which group pays more attention to health, young people or old people?
I think older people generally tend to pay more attention to their health, although this is changing among younger generations. As people get older, they become more aware of the importance of regular exercise, a healthy diet and medical check-ups. Young people often take their health for granted because they usually have more energy and fewer health concerns. However, social media and greater awareness of fitness have encouraged many young people to exercise and eat more healthily. So, I would say older people are generally more health-conscious, but the difference is becoming smaller.

4. Describe a way/change that helps you save a lot of time

You should say:

- What it is
- How you implement it
- How difficult it is
- And explain how you feel about the way/change

- One change I made recently that has helped me save a considerable amount of time is limiting my social media usage to just one hour a day.
- I used to spend quite a lot of time scrolling through Instagram, especially when I had a short break or when I was feeling bored.
- The problem was that I would often open the app just for a few minutes, but end up spending much longer than I had planned.
- I realised that it was taking away a lot of time that I could have spent on more productive things.
- So, I decided to put a one-hour limit on my social media usage.
- Since I use an iPhone, I used the Screen Time feature to set a one-hour daily limit for Instagram.
- Once I have used Instagram for an hour, my phone blocks the app and reminds me that I have reached my limit.
- I can technically ignore the warning, but I try not to.
- Initially, it was quite difficult because I was so used to checking Instagram whenever I had some free time.
- I would sometimes automatically reach for my phone without even having a particular reason to use it.
- However, after a few days, I gradually got used to the restriction.
- The biggest benefit is that I now have much more free time.
- Instead of spending an hour or two mindlessly scrolling, I can use that time to work, read, exercise or simply relax.
- I also feel that I am more in control of my time because I am consciously deciding how to spend it rather than letting social media consume it.
- Overall, I think it was a very small change, but it has made a surprisingly big difference to my daily routine.
- I don't think I need to completely give up social media; I just need to make sure that I am using it rather than letting it use me.

Part 3 Follow-up Questions

1. What can schools do to help students learn time management?
Schools can take a number of initiatives to make students more conscious of time. Firstly, they could reward punctuality by giving awards to students who have never been late throughout the school year. On the other hand, they could also penalise students who are consistently late. Teachers can also encourage children to maintain journals or timetables so that they learn how to organise their daily activities and complete tasks on time.

2. Is it necessary for children to learn time management?
Yes, absolutely. Time management is the key to success in almost every field. I think punctuality and the ability to manage time are particularly important for children because these habits can stay with them throughout their lives. If they learn to prioritise tasks and meet deadlines at a young age, they are likely to find it much easier to manage their studies and eventually their professional responsibilities.

3. Do people who can manage time well become successful more easily?
I think so, because good time management allows people to make better use of the limited time they have. For example, someone who plans their day properly can finish their important tasks without wasting time on unnecessary activities. This can make them more productive and help them achieve their goals faster. However, time management alone does not guarantee success, as skills, opportunities and hard work are also important.

4. Do you think parents should be responsible for teaching children to save time?
Yes, to some extent. Parents are usually the first people who can teach children basic habits such as being punctual, following a routine and finishing their work on time. For instance, they can encourage their children to get ready for school without constantly reminding them or to complete their homework before playing. However, I think schools should reinforce these habits as well, so the responsibility should be shared.

5. Does technology help people save time? How and why?
Yes, definitely. Technology has made many everyday activities much quicker and more convenient. For example, people can pay bills, transfer money and shop online within a few minutes, whereas these activities used to require a physical visit. Similarly, navigation apps help people find the fastest route and avoid traffic. However, technology can also waste time if people become addicted to social media or spend too much time on their phones.

6. What can people do to save time?
I think the most effective thing is to plan their day in advance and prioritise important tasks. People should make a realistic schedule and avoid spending too much time on activities that are not particularly useful. They can also use technology, such as calendar and reminder apps, to organise their work. Another important thing is to avoid multitasking, because constantly switching between different tasks can actually reduce productivity.

5. Describe an occasion when you lost something in public

You should say:

- What you lost
- When and where you lost it
- What did you do to find it
- Explain how you felt about it

- We all lose something or the other in life.
- I have also lost many things, but here I would like to talk about a very important thing which I lost last year. It was my first Apple iPhone.
- My parents gifted me an Apple iPhone 13 after I graduated from high school.
- It was a very big surprise, and I was so happy.
- I had a phone before, but it was a local brand that didn't cost much.
- I always wanted an iPhone, but my parents told me it was too expensive.
- I did well in my high school exams and was able to get admission in a very good college.
- My parents were so proud of me and gave me an iPhone to celebrate my accomplishment.
- I promised them I would be very careful with it and even got a case to protect it.
- One day I was travelling from Phagwara to Jalandhar by bus.
- The bus that day was very crowded, but I got a seat in the front row.
- I took my phone out to make a call, and I thought I put it back in my pocket after the call.
- When I got down at the bus stand, within a minute or two, I realized my phone was missing.
- It either slipped from my pocket, or someone on the bus took it.
- I looked up to see where my bus was.
- It was going to go to Amritsar and had already started moving.
- I started yelling and running after the bus, but I couldn't catch up.
- I tried to stay calm, but I was losing hope.
- I filed a police report and was advised to erase the data and mark it as lost.
- I logged on to my computer and tried using the find location feature but could not track it.
- I also went to an Airtel service centre and got my SIM canceled.
- I was devastated and felt so bad about losing my phone.
- I felt I had lost a part of me.
- It had a 12MP camera, and I had clicked so many photos with my friends and family.
- I also lost all those photos because I had not backed up my phone.
- I knew my parents were going to be so disappointed in me.
- I wish I had been more careful and kept it in my bag instead of my pocket

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

What do people often feel after losing things?
After losing things, people often feel upset, frustrated, or worried, especially if they lose something important. They may get stressed and anxious while searching for it.

What can we do to reduce the possibility of losing things?
To reduce the chance of losing things, we should try to keep things organized. We should have designated places for things, and we should always place them there.
Being mindful, alert, and double-checking things before leaving a place also helps.

What kinds of people may lose things often?
People who are forgetful, disorganized, or always in a hurry may lose things often. Absent-minded people and people who have too many things on their minds also misplace items easily.

Is it effective to offer rewards for finding lost things?
Yes, offering rewards can help find lost things. It motivates people to look for an item and return it if they find it.

What will people do when losing things?
When people lose things, they usually search places they last visited, ask others for help, and try to remember where they had it last. If it is an important item, they may file a police report, offer a reward, and post notices.

What kinds of things do people usually lose?
People usually lose small and everyday items like keys, wallets, watches, glasses, phones, jewelry, etc.

6. Describe a person you only met once recently and want to know more about

You should say:

- Who is he/she
- When you met him/her
- Why do you want to know more about him/her
- And explain how you feel about him/her

- I am a very friendly person and can easily begin a conversation.
- I like to talk to people at work, events, parties, and even on my daily commute.
- I usually forget about people I have met only once, and I am not likely to meet again.
- However, there is one person I remember vividly who I met only once.
- He left quite a mark on me, and I couldn't help thinking about him the next day and for many more weeks.
- I met him on the train while going to my cousin's home in Karnal
- He was sitting next to me and reading a newspaper.
- I was really bored, my phone was discharged, and it was a long journey.
- I asked him if I could borrow the crossword puzzle page from his newspaper.
- He gave me the puzzle page, and I worked on it for some time.
- I gave it back to him, and he inspected the questions I couldn't answer.
- He started to help me with those questions. He knew everything I couldn't answer.
- I was really impressed and asked him how he knew all that.
- He told me he was a reader and reads every single day – books and newspapers
- We started to talk more, not only was he knowledgeable, but he was also very witty and funny.
- We could hold an actual conversation the entire trip.
- He told me more about himself. His name was Nitin. He was a few years older than me.
- He was from Delhi and had gone to Chandigarh for the weekend.
- Besides reading, he loved to travel in his free time, hike, and explore new cities.
- I also have this love for travelling, and we exchanged stories about interesting places we had visited.
- He told me he was a computer engineer and had a stressful job.
- However, he made sure to rejuvenate himself by doing things he loved.
- I had just started my first job and had been so inundated with the workload.
- I was having a hard time with work-life balance.
- His words left me feeling happy, motivated, and inspired.
- I lost track of time, and very soon my station was there.
- I had a short train stop and had to get off quickly.
- I wish we had exchanged contact information.
- It's hard to find people who have such positive energy.
- I would certainly like to know more about Nitin and have him in my life as a friend and a mentor

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What should we not talk about when we meet a person for the first time?
When meeting someone for the first time, it's best to avoid talking about sensitive topics like politics, religion, or personal finances. These topics can be uncomfortable and may lead to disagreements. It's better to stick to light and neutral subjects until you get to know the person better.

2. What can we do to leave a good impression on people we meet for the first time?
To leave a good impression, I think it's important to be polite, listen attentively, and show genuine interest in the other person. Being positive and respectful makes people feel comfortable around you, and that can lead to a lasting good impression.

3. What qualities make true friends?
I believe that true friends are those who are trustworthy, supportive, and understanding. They are always there for you in both good times and bad, and they respect your feelings and opinions. Loyalty and honesty are qualities that I value most in a true friend.

4. Is it important to have the same hobbies and interests when making friends?
It's not essential to have the same hobbies, but sharing common interests can help build a connection. I think that what matters more is mutual respect and understanding. Differences in hobbies can make friendships more interesting and provide opportunities to learn from each other.

5. On what occasions do people like to make friends?
People often make friends in social situations such as school, work, or at events like parties or gatherings. It's easier to make friends when you are in environments where you can interact with others and share experiences.

6. How do people make friends in India?
In India, people usually make friends through school, college, work, or even through family connections. Social gatherings and community events also play a big role in meeting new people. I think people in India tend to build strong relationships through shared cultural and social activities. Nowadays, people also make friends through social media.

7. Describe a course that impressed you a lot

You should say:

- What the course was about
- Where you took the course
- What did you do during the course
- And explain why it impressed you a lot

- I took a photography course last month, which really impressed me a lot.
- I have always been interested in photography, and I like taking pictures with my smartphone and camera.
- My brother got me a digital SLR camera on my birthday this year.
- I have used a point-and-shoot camera before but never used a DSLR camera.
- It had so many features and a big lens, and at first, it looked very daunting.
- I started to take pictures in auto mode but was not able to understand the manual settings.
- My brother advised me to take a digital photography course to get started.
- Ever since the pandemic, the number of online courses has increased globally.
- I was able to find many online courses related to digital photography on websites like Skillshare and Udemy
- I bought the Photography Masterclass course on Udemy. It had a lot of good reviews and was recommended by many students.
- This course had over 25 hours of videos, and everything was explained thoroughly with a lot of visual and written examples.
- All the instructors were very knowledgeable and started from the very basics.
- I learnt about aperture, shutter speed, depth of field, lens and camera workings, F-stop, ISO, etc.
- I also learnt to take photographs in different scenarios like landscapes, family portraits, and wildlife.
- It helped me understand the importance of lighting in photography and when to use flash vs natural lighting.
- In all, it was very comprehensive, easy to follow along with, and made learning very fun.
- It had activities at the end of every lesson, and I had to put what I had learned into practice.
- It gave me the confidence to take my camera off auto mode and use manual settings.
- I was very impressed with the kind of pictures I was taking by the end of this course.
- I was also able to edit pictures using the techniques I learnt in this course.
- Even the photographs I took with my smartphone were better than before.
- It truly helped me be a better photographer, and I will recommend it to anyone who wants to learn photography.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What can we learn from history?
History teaches us about the mistakes and achievements of the past. By learning about history, we can understand how societies have developed, avoid repeating past errors, and appreciate the progress we've made. It also helps us learn about different cultures and traditions.

2. What do people need to remember in their daily lives?
In daily life, it's important to remember tasks, appointments, and responsibilities. We also need to remember to take care of our health, maintain relationships, and stay organized. These things help ensure we lead a balanced and successful life.

3. Can technology help people remember things better? How?
Yes, technology can help people remember things better by providing tools like reminders, calendars, and apps designed to store and organize information. For example, phone apps can remind us of tasks or appointments, making it easier to stay on track.

4. Which can help people remember things better, words or photos?
I think photos can sometimes be more effective than words when it comes to remembering things. Visual memories tend to stick longer, and a photo can evoke emotions and memories in a way words can't. However, words can be useful for detailed information or when we need to recall specific facts.

5. Do people like things of memorial significance?
Yes, people often value things of memorial significance because they hold sentimental value. Items like family heirlooms, photographs, or gifts can remind people of important moments and loved ones, helping preserve memories for years to come.

6. Why do some people have a better memory than others?
Some people have a better memory due to a combination of genetics and lifestyle. Factors like brain health, stress levels, and how actively a person engages in mental exercises can play a role. A person who regularly challenges their brain with learning and puzzles might retain more information.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Are there any unlucky things that people should not buy as gifts in your country?

Yes, in some cultures, certain gifts are considered unlucky. For example, in my country, knives or scissors are seen as symbols of cutting relationships, and clocks are associated with the idea of running out of time. It's believed that gifting these items could bring bad luck or symbolize an end to a relationship.

What do people usually consider when buying gifts?

When buying gifts, people usually consider the recipient's interests, preferences, and the occasion. It's also important to think about the cultural significance of the gift, as some items might carry special meanings. For instance, people might choose practical gifts or something that reflects the recipient's personality.

Which do people give on traditional festivals, red envelopes or other kinds of gifts?

In traditional festivals, particularly during Chinese New Year, red envelopes (hongbao) containing money are commonly given. These envelopes symbolize good luck, prosperity, and well wishes. Other gifts may include food, clothes, or items with symbolic meaning, but red envelopes are a popular choice.

Will people feel happy when receiving an expensive gift?

It depends on the person and the relationship. Some people may appreciate the thought and generosity behind an expensive gift, while others may feel uncomfortable or pressured by the cost. Ultimately, it's the thought and personal connection that make the gift special, rather than its price tag.

Is it difficult to choose a gift?

Choosing a gift can be challenging, especially if you're unsure about the recipient's preferences. It's important to think about what they would appreciate and how the gift aligns with the occasion. Sometimes, people choose practical gifts, but it's still tough to find something meaningful for every individual.

When do people normally send gifts to others?

People typically send gifts on special occasions such as birthdays, weddings, holidays, and festivals. Gifts are also exchanged to mark significant life events like graduations, promotions, or the birth of a child. Additionally, gifts can be given as gestures of appreciation or gratitude at any time.

9. Describe a person whose health and fitness you have helped to improve

You should say:

Who this person was
Why you helped him/her
How you helped him/her
And explain whether it was easy or difficult

- One person whose health and fitness I have helped to improve is my neighbor, Tina.
- Tina moved into the house next to mine about two years ago.
- She has a great personality, and whenever I saw her outside our houses, she would always greet me with a smile.
- Gradually, we became good friends.
- One day, we were talking about our daily lives, and Tina told me that she was extremely busy with her job.
- Because of her busy schedule, she had not been paying much attention to her health.
- She also told me that she had recently received some bad blood test results, so she knew she needed to make some changes.
- At that time, I was also going through a difficult period because I had stopped going to the gym and was feeling quite demotivated.
- So, I thought that having a workout partner could be helpful for both of us.
- I told Tina that I had been looking for a walking and exercise buddy and asked her if she would like to join me.
- I explained that exercising with another person is much more enjoyable because time passes quickly, and we can encourage each other when we feel lazy or tired.
- To my surprise, she agreed.
- After that, we started going for a walk every morning before work.
- Sometimes, we would walk around our neighborhood for about 30 to 40 minutes, and sometimes we did some simple cardio exercises at home.
- In the beginning, it was difficult to wake up early, especially when we were tired after a long day at work.
- But after a few weeks, it became part of our daily routine.
- I would usually text Tina in the morning or knock on her door to remind her that it was time to exercise.
- We also talked about our progress and encouraged each other to stay motivated.
- Whenever one of us wanted to skip a workout, the other person would motivate them to continue.
- We did this for several months, and gradually, we both noticed positive changes.
- Tina became more energetic and started feeling much better.
- She also became more careful about her diet and started paying more attention to her health.
- I also became more active and motivated again.
- Overall, it was a little difficult in the beginning, but it became much easier because we were doing it together.
- I was happy that I could help Tina improve her health, and at the same time, she helped me become healthier.
- So, actually I think we helped each other.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What effect does stress have on health?
   Stress can hurt both physical and mental health. It can disturb our sleep and keep us up at night. As a result, a person may feel too tired to exercise and do their day-to-day activities. Stress can also dampen our mood and make us anxious and irritated. Eventually, it can lead to more serious health problems. So, it's important to relax and manage stress.

2. Which group pays more attention to health, young people or old people?
   I think young people are paying more attention to their health these days. One reason is that they have information at their fingertips. They can easily find information about nutrition, exercise, and different fitness routines on the internet. They are influenced by fitness influencers and celebrities on social media. So, they are more health conscious and want to look good and stay fit.

10. Describe somewhere near a natural place that you have been to

You should say:

Where this place is

Who you went there with

Why you went there

And explain how you feel about the place

- India is a very diverse country.
- It has many beautiful natural places, including mountains, rivers, lakes, and deserts.
- One natural place that I would like to talk about is the river Ganges or the Ganga, as we commonly call it in India
- The Ganges is one of the most important rivers in India, and I have known about it since I was a child.
- Every child in India learns about the Ganga from their parents and later in school when they study about India's geography.
- I have also visited the river several times, mainly for religious reasons.
- The Ganges originates in the Himalayas and eventually flows into the Bay of Bengal.
- It is the longest river in India and passes through major cities like Haridwar, Kanpur, Varanasi, Kolkata, etc.
- It has several tributaries, including the Yamuna and the Ghaghara.
- The river provides water for agriculture and supports millions of people living along its banks.
- Another interesting thing about the Ganga is that it is considered sacred by Hindus and is often worshipped as a goddess.
- People believe that bathing in its pure waters washes away sins and like to have their ashes scattered in its waters.
- So, it has both natural and religious importance in India.
- I have visited the Ganga for pilgrimage, but one of my most memorable experiences was river rafting there last summer.
- It was quite thrilling because I had never done anything like that before.
- I went there with my college friends.
- At the same time, I really enjoyed the beautiful scenery, the fresh air, and the feeling of being close to nature.
- I like visiting the Ganga because it is not only beautiful but also deeply connected to Indian culture and history.
- Whenever I visit it, I feel peaceful and connected to my country.
- I am looking forward to visiting it again this year, and hopefully, I will have another exciting experience there.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Do you think people who live in natural places are more likely to protect them?

Yes, people who live close to nature can understand its importance better because they see it every day. They may also depend on it for their work and daily life. So, they are more likely to protect it from pollution and damage.

Do you think it is necessary to include natural spaces in a city?

Yes, I think every city should have parks, trees, and other green spaces. It gives people a place to relax and spend time with their families and friends. These spaces make cities more attractive to live in.

Are there any natural attractions that are great to visit?

I think many natural attractions are worth visiting, like mountains, waterfalls, beaches, and national parks. These places allow people to relax and take a break from their daily routine. Visiting these places makes us more grateful for the beauty of nature and encourages us to preserve it for future generations.

11. Describe a party for a special event that impressed you a lot

You should say:

When and where it was held
What the party was held for
How many people attended it
And explain why it impressed you a lot

- Last year, I attended my cousin's wedding in Goa.
- I was so impressed by the entire celebration and how well everything had been arranged.
- My cousin was marrying his college girlfriend. They had been dating for a few years and finally decided to get married.
- They are from two different states that are quite far from each other, so instead of having the wedding in either of their hometowns, they decided to have a destination wedding in Goa.
- I thought that was a great idea because it allowed both families to travel somewhere new and celebrate together.
- The wedding was quite small because they had invited only their closest friends and relatives.
- I think there were around 50 to 60 people in total.
- Even though it wasn't a huge wedding, everything was very well planned.
- What impressed me the most was the attention to detail.
- The venue was beautiful, and since we were in Goa, there was this relaxed holiday atmosphere throughout the celebration.
- The decorations were impressive, the food was amazing, and there were different activities planned for the guests.
- It didn't feel rushed or disorganized.
- Even the smaller details, like welcoming the guests, transportation, and accommodation, had been carefully planned.
- I loved the fact that it was a small and intimate wedding.
- Everyone had time to talk to each other and enjoy the celebration rather than just attending a crowded event.
- Overall, what impressed me was not just how beautiful the wedding was, but how thoughtfully everything had been organized.
- It felt more like a vacation with my extended family combined with a wedding celebration.
- It was such a memorable experience for me.

makkarIELTS

1. What special events are celebrated in your country?
   India is a diverse country, so we celebrate a wide range of events throughout the year. Festivals like Diwali, Holi, Rakhi, Navaratri, and Onam are celebrated with a lot of excitement. People also celebrate national events like Republic Day and Independence Day. These celebrations involve traditional food, dances, and cultural activities.

2. Do most people prefer to hold a party in a restaurant or in a pub?
   Most people prefer restaurants for family celebrations like birthdays and anniversaries. Restaurants are more family-friendly and suitable for all ages. Many restaurants have separate rooms or bigger tables for large groups. Pubs are more popular among younger people for hanging out with friends.
3. Do most people prefer to hold a party in a public place or a private place?
   I think it depends on the occasion. For smaller celebrations, people often prefer private places like their homes because they feel more personal and comfortable. For larger events, such as weddings, people usually choose banquet halls, hotels, or other event venues.

4. When do people like to hold a party?
   People like to hold parties for special occasions like birthdays, anniversaries, weddings, and festivals. People also like to celebrate achievements like graduations, getting a new job, or buying a new home. Most celebrations are in the evening or on weekends.

12. Describe a building you enjoy visiting (e.g. a library, a shopping mall, etc.)

You should say:

Where it is

How you knew it

What it looks like

And explain why you enjoy visiting it

- I would like to talk about a shopping mall called Eastwood Village, which I really enjoy visiting.
- It is located just outside Jalandhar City on the Jalandhar-Phagwara Highway.
- I first came to know about this mall when it was under construction.
- Before the mall was built, the area had only a few small shops and a large open field that was not very well maintained.
- The construction began in 2020 and took about three years to complete.
- When it finally opened in 2023, I was quite excited to visit it because people in the area had been talking about it for a long time.
- It is a modern, lively, and attractive place.
- It has a high-street design with different shops and restaurants spread throughout the complex.
- There are a lot of shopping options like Octave, American Tourister, Puma, Adidas, Mr DIY, etc.
- There are also a lot of good dining options covering a range of cuisines like Haldiram, La Pino's Pizza, Sagar Ratna, etc.
- There are a lot of things for young children like a toy train, play area, fountains, and other amusements throughout the mall.
- There are several reasons why I enjoy visiting this mall.
- It is a wonderful and safe place to spend time with my family on weekends.
- We can shop, have a meal, or simply walk around and enjoy the atmosphere.
- My favorite place in the mall is Greko Espresso Bar.
- I really love its ambience, and their coffee is amazing.
- Sometimes, I go there on the weekend with my laptop and spend a couple of hours doing my work while enjoying a cup of coffee.
- Overall, I enjoy visiting Eastwood Village because it offers shopping, dining, entertainment, and a relaxing atmosphere all in one place.
- It has also completely transformed the surrounding area and has become one of my favorite places to visit in my free time.

makkarIELTS

Do you think all old buildings should be demolished?
I think it depends on the state of the building. If it is badly damaged and unsafe, then it should be renovated or demolished if it cannot be repaired. However, buildings with historical importance should be preserved because they are an important part of the place's heritage.

Do you think old buildings are valuable?
Yes, old buildings are valuable because they tell us about the history, culture, and architecture of a place. They have unique designs that we don't see in modern buildings. In addition, these buildings attract tourists, which benefits the local economy.

13. Describe your least favourite movie

You should say:

When you watched it
Where you watched it
What it was about
And explain why it's your least favourite movie

- My least favourite movie would probably be Happy New Year
- It is a Bollywood movie directed by Farah Khan, starring famous actors like Shah Rukh Khan, Abhishek Bachan, Deepika Padukone, and other big stars.
- I watched it a few years ago at my home with my cousins.
- It was summer break, and my cousins were visiting us for a few days.
- Every night after dinner, we would all sit together and watch an old Bollywood movie on TV.
- Usually, it was very fun because we would stay up late, eat snacks, and argue which parts were the best.
- One night, it was my cousin's turn to choose the movie, and since she is a huge Shah Rukh Khan fan, she chose Happy New Year
- Everyone else seemed excited about it, so I agreed to watch it even though I didn't know much about the movie at the time.
- This was not the first time they were watching this movie, and they convinced me that I was missing out and that this was the best movie ever made.
- The movie is about a group of non-dancers who take part in a big dance competition in Dubai, but they're actually planning to commit a robbery.
- The idea sounds kind of interesting, but when I actually watched it, I thought the whole thing was just so silly.
- The storyline was so weak, and there were so many scenes that did not make any sense to me.
- I remember sitting there wondering how this movie had become so successful.
- Obviously, having Shah Rukh Khan in it probably helped a lot because he's such a huge star in India.
- For me, though, the movie was so disappointing, and I didn't find most of the jokes funny.
- It was also really long, almost 3 hours, which made it even harder to sit through it.
- My cousins were having the best time and laughing at everything, and I was just wondering when it was finally going to end.
- I usually don't mind unrealistic movies if they're entertaining, but this one just didn't work for me.
- I wouldn't watch it again, and that's probably why it's still my least favourite movie.

makkarIELTS

1. Can movies help people better understand the cultural background of a country?
   Yes, movies are an excellent way to learn more about a country's culture as they depict traditions, social values, lifestyles, food habits, and family relationships. They are a fun and engaging way to learn about another country. However, movies are not completely realistic, so people should also refer to other sources like books and magazines.

2. Are movies more likely to help people become more creative than books?
   I think books encourage more creativity because readers have to imagine the characters, settings, and situations themselves. In movies, most details are already shown, so there is less left to our imagination.

3. What are the differences between watching movies at home and in a cinema?
   Watching a movie at home is more convenient and affordable. You can pause, take breaks, and watch comfortably from your own couch. On the other hand, cinemas provide a more immersive experience because of the huge screen and surround sound system.

4. What kinds of movies are the most popular in India?
   In India, movies that combine comedy, romance, action, and music are extremely popular. Lately, South Indian movies like Pushpa, RRR, and Bahubali have gained massive popularity. People also enjoy movies based on real-life events and inspiring figures, especially if they tell a powerful story.

14. Describe a person who taught you a new skill

You should say:

Who this person was
What the skill was
How you learned it
And explain how you felt about this person

- A few years ago, my mother learned 3D origami from YouTube videos on the internet.
- She started making beautiful things like flower vases and swans using hundreds of small pieces of folded paper.
- They looked so impressive, and we used them to decorate our house.
- Whenever relatives or friends visited us, they would often notice them and ask how they were made.
- This summer break, I had a lot of free time, so I decided to ask my mother to teach me.
- At first, I thought it would be quite easy because it was just paper folding, but I quickly realized that there was a learning curve.
- My mother first taught me how to cut the paper into pieces of the right size and then fold each piece to create small pockets.
- The individual pieces could then be fitted together to create a three-dimensional shape.
- The basic technique wasn't very difficult, but learning how to arrange the pieces and create the shape I wanted took a lot of practice.
- In the beginning, I found it quite frustrating because my designs didn't always turn out the way I imagined.
- However, my mother was extremely patient with me.
- Whenever I made a mistake, she would show me what I had done wrong and encourage me to try again rather than doing it for me.
- Eventually, I became much more confident. I started by following designs from YouTube videos, but after some practice, I began experimenting and creating designs of my own.
- Recently, I even made an airplane, which was one of the most complicated designs I've attempted so far.
- Learning 3D origami made me appreciate my mother even more because I realized how creative and patient she is.
- I also really enjoyed spending that time with her.
- I'm grateful that she taught me this skill because it's something I still enjoy today.
- I'm always proud when someone compliments something I've made.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Why is self-discipline important when learning a new skill?
   I think self-discipline is important because learning a new skill requires a lot of practice and patience. People can be motivated at first but lose motivation after a few days when things get difficult. So, people need to be self-disciplined to continue practicing even when they don't feel like it.

2. What are the differences between learning from a teacher and learning by oneself?
   Learning with a teacher provides direct guidance, clear explanations, and immediate feedback, while learning by yourself requires more self-discipline, independent research, and critical thinking skills. It is also more convenient and flexible when people learn things themselves at their own pace.

3. How do adults learn a new skill?
   Adults can learn new skills in many ways. They can take in-person classes, watch online tutorials, read books, or learn from someone who already has experience in that area. Learning something new requires a lot of patience, self-discipline, and regular practice.

4. How can parents and teachers teach children new skills?
   I think teachers and parents should make learning fun and interactive for children. They should allow children to try the skill on their own. They also need to be patient and encouraging, as children are bound to make mistakes while learning.

5. Where can children learn new skills?
   Children can learn new skills at school, as school offers many opportunities to explore different activities. They can also learn through extracurricular activities outside school, like music classes and sports academies. Nowadays, children can even learn skills at home through online tutorials and videos.
6. Why should children learn new skills?
   I feel childhood is a great time to learn new skills because children can quickly pick up new skills and retain things better. They also have more time to practice. That is why children are encouraged to learn things like swimming, playing a musical instrument, or speaking a foreign language from a young age.

15. Describe a person who learns history and loves history

You should say:

Who this person is

How he/she learns history

Why he/she loves history

And explain how you feel about him/her

- I would like to talk about my dad, who has become a real history buff over the past few years.
- What is interesting about him is that he was not always interested in history.
- When he was growing up, he found history very boring.
- He never enjoyed memorizing dates, names of rulers, or details about wars.
- He also had very little interest in visiting museums or historical places.
- If someone had suggested spending an entire day in a museum, he probably would have refused.
- However, his interests have completely changed over the years.
- Now, whenever we travel somewhere, museums are usually at the top of his list.
- He can spend hours, or sometimes even an entire day, walking through a museum and reading almost every piece of information on display.
- The rest of us are tired and ready to leave long before he is!
- He also learns history by watching documentaries, reading articles, and searching for information online.
- He is especially interested in wars and major events that changed the world.
- He wants to understand why wars started, what decisions were made, and how they affected different countries and ordinary people.
- I think he loves history now because he has realized that it is not just about memorizing dates and names.
- He enjoys connecting past events with the modern world and understanding why different countries and cultures are the way they are.
- I really admire this quality in my dad.
- I find it fascinating that someone who once thought history was boring can now be so engrossed in it.
- He makes our family trips more interesting because he shares interesting facts about the places we visit.
- Sometimes we have to drag him out of museums, but I think his curiosity and desire to keep learning are qualities that I really respect.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

Besides big historical events, what else is important when learning history?
Besides historical events, I think it is important to learn how ordinary people lived in the past. This gives us a better understanding of what society was like rather than just learning about political events, rulers, and wars.

Do you think people should learn ancient history before learning modern history?
I don't think it is necessary to learn about ancient history before modern history. People can start with modern history as it is easier to relate to events that happened more recently. Once they understand modern events, they can become curious about the past and learn how earlier events influenced them.

Is it important to learn how people in the past lived their lives?
Yes, learning about people's daily lives helps us understand how society has changed over time. For example, we can compare their transportation, jobs, living conditions, and education with what we have today. It can also make us appreciate some of the comforts and opportunities we have nowadays.

How do children learn history before they attend school?
Children can learn about history from their parents and grandparents through family stories, traditions, and various festivals that people celebrate at their homes. They can also visit museums, historical monuments, and other such places with their families. Children can also learn about the past through books, movies, cartoons, etc.

At what age do you think people should begin to learn history?
I think children can start learning about basic history from the age of six or seven. I think history can be taught through pictures, stories, and interesting activities like visiting a museum rather than just memorizing dates and events. As they get older, they can learn about the complex events and their causes and consequences

Do you think children should begin learning history from an early age?
Yes, Children should be introduced to history from an early age because it will help them understand where they came from. They will know more about their culture and traditions. It also makes them curious about other countries and civilizations. I think history should be taught in an interesting way rather than have children just memorize events and dates

16. Describe an enjoyable evening you had with your friends

You should say:

When and where it was

What you did

Who you spent the evening with

And explain why it was enjoyable

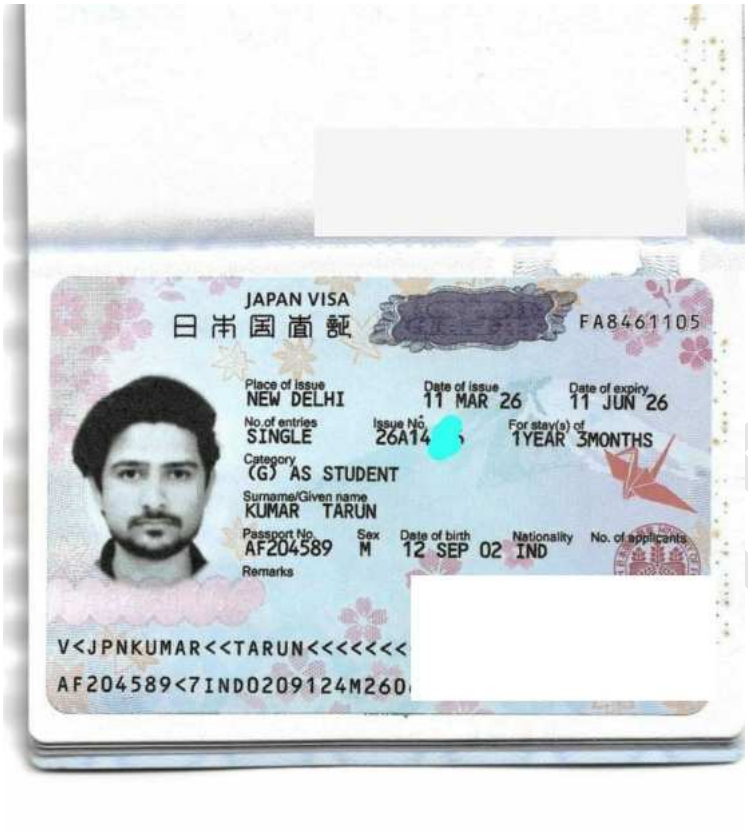

- I have spent many enjoyable evenings with my friends and family
- One evening that I remember vividly was during my school days when I visited Sukhna Lake with a group of my close friends.
- One of my friends, Narin, has grandparents who live in Mohali.
- During our summer holidays, a few of us decided to spend the weekend there.
- Since we were all together and had some free time, we decided to explore Sukhna Lake in Chandigarh on Saturday evening.
- It had rained that afternoon, so the temperature had cooled down, and the weather was perfect for spending time outdoors.
- When we reached the lake, we first rented pedal boats.
- We spent some time boating on the calm water.
- We were chatting, laughing, and even racing our boats against each other, which was the most entertaining part of the evening.
- After boating, we took a walk and admired the unique sculptures and artwork around the lake.
- We clicked lots of group photos and tried different kinds of street food.
- We also spent some time feeding the ducks swimming in the lake.
- One of the most memorable parts of the evening was watching the sunset together.
- The view of the sun setting and its reflection on the water was so beautiful.
- We just sat near the lake for a while, talking and enjoying the peaceful atmosphere.
- I really enjoyed that evening because all of us were able to relax and have fun together without worrying about our usual routines.
- It was a simple outing, but it became one of my fondest memories from my school days.
- I think what made it special was not only the breathtaking location but also the fact that I was surrounded by some of my closest friends.
- I still look back at the pictures from that evening, and they always bring a smile to my face.

What are the differences between young people's leisure time activities and those of old people?
Young people like to hang out with their friends in their leisure time. Some like to watch movies and TV shows on the OTT. Some like to play video games, and some like to spend time on social media. Older people spend their leisure time in parks and open areas where they can just sit around or talk to other people. They also spend their time reading newspapers and watching TV.

What can we do to bring family members closer together?
Family members can become closer by spending quality time together. For example, they can have meals together, celebrate special occasions, or simply talk about their day. They can also go on vacations together, where they get a break from daily responsibilities and just enjoy each other's company. Also, their bonds can get stronger if they support each other during difficult times.

How do people get along in a big family?
I think most people in a big family can get along if they are patient, understanding, and respectful of each other. They can maintain good relationships if they communicate openly and support one another. Since people can have different opinions and personalities, sometimes accepting them as they are, is the best way to live happily together as a family.

17. Describe a person who is good at making things by hand

You should say:

Who this person is
What he/she makes
What materials or technologies he/she uses
And why you think this person is good at making things by hand

- The person I want to talk about is my cousin sister, Simerpreet Kaur, whom I have known my entire life.
- In fact, there is only a three-day difference between our ages, so we have grown up together and understand each other very well.
- She studied computer engineering and later moved to the USA, where she completed her master's degree.
- She is also a mother of three lovely kids, but even with a busy life, she has always found time for her hobbies.
- One thing she is really good at is crocheting, which she actually learnt by herself.
- She started by watching YouTube videos and slowly learnt different stitches and patterns.
- I remember the first time I saw her crocheting, I thought she was knitting a sweater.
- She laughed and explained to me that crocheting and knitting are different, and for crocheting, she mainly needs wool and a crochet needle.
- Since then, I have seen her make so many different things with just these simple materials.
- She has made coasters, mufflers, small pouches for carrying mobile phones, handbags, hats, and many other designs.
- She even made a small crocheted item for me, which was red in colour, and I really liked it.
- What I find interesting is that she does not simply copy one design; she can create different patterns and make changes according to what the customer wants.
- She once told me that there is actually a lot of maths involved in crocheting, especially when she is making patterns and working out the size and shape.
- She is also very good at explaining the process, so she conducts crochet workshops and online classes for people who want to learn it.
- Many people have learnt crocheting from her because she explains each step slowly and makes it easy to follow.
- She has become so good at it that she receives orders from customers not only in India but also from other countries.
- I think she is good at making things by hand because she is patient, creative and pays attention to small details.
- For me, it is quite impressive that she learnt everything on her own and turned a simple hobby into something she can teach and create beautiful things with.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Does art, like music or theater, have an impact on society?
Yes, I think art has a strong impact on society because it can influence the way people think and feel. Music and theater can also bring people together and spread important messages. For example, a good movie or play can make people think about social problems that they normally ignore.

2. Is it good to have creative people in a team?
Definitely, because creative people often come up with ideas that others may not think of. They can help a team find different solutions when there is a problem. For example, in a college project, one creative person can completely change the way the whole team presents its work.

3. What impact can artistic buildings have on society?
In my opinion, artistic buildings can make a city more attractive and give it a different identity. They can also become popular tourist places and create business for the local area. At the same time, I think they should be practical as well, because a beautiful building is not very useful if people cannot use it comfortably.

4. Do children these days still like doing arts and crafts?
Well, some children definitely do, but I think they have more distractions than children had in the past. Phones, games and videos take up a lot of their free time now. However, if parents or teachers give them simple materials and encourage them, many children still enjoy making things with their hands.

5. Why do some children enjoy making things by hand?
I believe children enjoy it because they can make something with their own hands and immediately see the result. It also gives them a chance to use their imagination instead of simply following instructions. For example, a child may enjoy making a paper house even if it looks very simple.

6. Do you think art classes are important for children?
Yes, I think they are important because they help children become more creative and confident. Not every child is good at academic subjects, so art gives them another way to express themselves. Also, when children make something themselves and receive encouragement, it can give them a real sense of achievement

18. Describe a time when someone talked about something you were not interested in but you kept listening

You should say:
Who the person was
What he/she talked about
Why you kept listening
And explain how you felt about the experience

- I remember an incident that happened quite recently, just after my 12th standard exams were over.
- I had a few weeks free, and honestly, I was getting quite bored sitting at home.
- I had been watching a lot of travel vlogs, so I decided to use my vacation to visit a hill station.
- The weather in my area was very hot because I live in the plains, so I really wanted to go somewhere cooler.
- I asked my parents for permission, and surprisingly, they happily agreed because I was going to stay with one of my relatives.
- I booked an early morning bus to a nearby hill station, and it was actually my first solo journey.
- I reached the bus stand at around 4 a.m., and the journey was going to take almost eight hours.
- I was very tired because I had hardly slept the previous night, so I was hoping to sleep during the journey.
- However, an old man sitting next to me started talking to me as soon as the bus left.
- He first asked me some normal questions, like where I was from, what I had studied and where I was going.
- I answered him politely, but then he started telling me about his life and the different jobs he had done.
- I actually enjoyed listening to that part because he had some interesting experiences and I was curious about his life.
- But after some time, the conversation moved towards politics, which is something I am not really interested in.
- He started giving his opinions about the government, the country and what people should do, and he was also quite critical of almost everyone.
- I did not really agree with some of his views, and I honestly wanted to change the topic, but I did not want to be rude to him.
- I also thought about changing my seat, but the bus was completely full, so that was not really an option.
- I kept listening for some time because he was an elderly person and I felt it would be disrespectful to completely ignore him.
- Finally, when the bus stopped for snacks and refreshments, I had something to eat, and after getting back on the bus, I put on my headphones and slept for most of the remaining journey.

makkarIELTS

- I felt a little bored during that conversation, but at the same time, I realised that sometimes we have to listen to people even when their interests are completely different from ours.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. How can we tell if a listener is listening carefully?
I think their body language gives us a good idea. They usually maintain eye contact, nod their head and respond at the right time. For example, when I talk to my friends, I can easily tell if they are listening because they remember small details from what I said.

2. What would happen if the listener didn't listen carefully?
Well, it can easily lead to misunderstandings or even arguments. The person may miss important information and later ask the same questions again. For example, if a student doesn't listen carefully in class, they may struggle to complete the homework because they missed the teacher's instructions.

3. What kind of topics do young people like to talk about today?
According to me, young people mostly talk about entertainment, social media, sports, travel and their studies or careers. They also discuss new trends, movies, music and things they see online. Of course, it depends on the person, but I think social media has made it easier for young people to find common topics to talk about.

I'm really happy to share that I've received my Germany student visa 🇩🇪
A big thank you to Makkar Education and Immigration—they are truly the best study abroad consultants in Mohali with an excellent track record for Germany.
Special thanks to Ravpreet Sir and Ashok Sir for guiding me throughout the process. Trust me, they are experts when it comes to Germany and explain everything with complete clarity.
I was referred here by my friend and my teacher, who also got their Germany visas from here, and I'm really glad I followed their advice.
The best part about applying through Makkar IELTS is their transparency and honesty. Everything is clear and trustworthy:
• I received my stamped passport directly at my home address and informed Sir myself (not like other agents who keep passports at their office).
• I had full access to all emails sent to the university and for visa purposes—they shared the email ID and password, nothing was hidden.
• Every document submitted was shared with me beforehand.
• They also helped me save money while making payments for university fees and block accounts, offering better options than banks.
Highly recommended to anyone planning to study in Germany!

19. Describe a person you know who really likes taking photos

You should say:

Who the person is
When and how you got to know him/her
Where he/she takes photos
And explain how you feel about him/her

- The person I want to talk about is my cousin Jagdeep, who works in a government job and has been interested in photography for almost 15 years.
- I first noticed his passion through the pictures he used to share in our family groups and on his social media.
- His interest actually started with wildlife photography, especially pictures of birds.
- He has photographed many different Indian birds, and some of his pictures are really beautiful.
- I once travelled with him to the forest area behind Sukhna Lake in Chandigarh, and that trip showed me how serious he is about photography.
- We went there early in the morning because that is usually a good time to see birds.
- I was surprised when I saw the amount of equipment he had brought, especially his professional DSLR camera and those huge lenses.
- He has invested a lot of money in his equipment, probably more than 10 to 15 lakh rupees over the years.
- He even has a special refrigerator at home to keep his camera lenses safe from moisture, which I found quite surprising.
- What impressed me even more was his knowledge of birds.
- While I could only see green trees and leaves, he could hear a sound and tell which bird was nearby.
- His children are also quite familiar with birds because they have grown up seeing him do this.
- He travels to different parts of India, especially bird sanctuaries and natural areas, and he always carries his camera gear with him.
- I also remember staying at his home once and seeing him put some breadcrumbs on his balcony so that birds would come closer and he could photograph them.
- He has also created a small photography community and regularly shares his pictures online with a short motivational caption.
- In fact, I don't think there has been a single day in the last three or four years when he has missed posting a picture.
- Recently, he has also started exploring macro photography, so now he takes close-up pictures of small objects and other subjects.
- I really admire him because he learnt most of this on his own, and he has stayed disciplined and consistent with it for so many years.
- He is also a very polite and soft-spoken person, so I think his personality matches his hobby quite well.
- What I have learnt from him is that if you stay interested in something, practise regularly and don't give up, you can become really good at it over time.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. When do people like taking photos?
People usually like taking photos when they are doing something special or visiting a new place. Birthdays, weddings, holidays and trips are common examples. Personally, I take more photos when I travel because I want to remember the places I visit.

2. Some people don't mind others walking into their shot when they're taking photos. What do you think?
I think it depends on the type of photo. If it is just a casual picture, I don't think it is a big problem, but if someone is trying to take an important photo, others should try not to walk in front of them. Well, a little consideration can save a lot of frustration.

3. What are the downsides of constantly taking photos while traveling?
According to me, the biggest problem is that people can become more focused on their phones than on the actual place. They may spend several minutes trying to get the perfect picture instead of enjoying the experience. For example, someone might visit a beautiful viewpoint but remember the photos rather than the actual feeling of being there.

4. Do you think it's ok to take photos everywhere?
No, not everywhere. I think people should respect privacy and follow the rules of the place, especially in museums, religious places or private areas. Taking a photo may seem harmless to one person, but it could make someone else uncomfortable.

5. What kind of photos do people often take?
I think people mostly take photos of themselves, their friends and family, especially when they are travelling or attending special events. Food, scenery and pets are also very common subjects. These days, people also take lots of short photos and videos for social media.

6. Why are some people keen on taking photos?
I believe many people take photos because they want to keep memories of important moments. Some people also genuinely enjoy photography and like improving their skills. For others, sharing good pictures online is another reason, because they enjoy getting reactions from their friends.

makkarIELTS

20. Describe a new skill you learned when you were a child

You should say:
What the skill was
Who taught you this skill
How you learned it
And explain how you felt about learning the skill

- One skill I learnt when I was a child was dance, and I actually learnt different types of dance, including Bhangra, Bollywood and Western dance.
- I was around nine or ten years old at that time, and my summer vacations were going on.
- I was getting bored at home because I had a lot of free time and didn't have much to do.
- One day, I saw an advertisement in the newspaper about a new dance academy that had opened near my house.
- They were also offering a discount for the first hundred students, so I showed the advertisement to my parents.
- They liked the idea and took me there to see the academy and meet the trainer.
- The trainer was an experienced dancer, and he was quite famous because he had actually been a contestant on Dance India Dance, which was a very popular TV show.
- He was very friendly with children and did not make the classes feel like serious training.
- He would first demonstrate a step himself and then break it down into small parts so that we could learn it easily.
- I joined the academy for about one month, and honestly, it was one of the best experiences of my childhood.
- The class was one hour long, but it was quite exhausting because we were constantly moving, and by the end, our clothes were often completely drenched in sweat.
- In the beginning, I had almost no flexibility, and I didn't even know some of the basic dance moves.
- So I used to struggle a lot, but I slowly started getting better with regular practice.
- After a month, I could do many different steps and even perform on several Bollywood songs.
- I also practised at home after my classes by playing songs on the TV and trying to copy and repeat the steps I had learnt.
- Apart from dancing, I also started doing some basic stretching exercises because I wanted to become more flexible.
- Later, this skill became very useful because I got opportunities to perform in school dance competitions and family functions.
- It also helped me make new friends, and I became much more confident about performing in front of other people.
- Looking back, I think the biggest lesson I learnt was that practice is probably the most important part of learning any skill.
- Even though I only learnt dance for a month at the academy, that experience stayed with me and helped me become more confident and active as a person.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Is it important for everyone to have a specialized skill?
I think it is useful for people to have at least one skill that they are really good at. It can help them in their studies, career or even daily life. However, I don't think everyone needs to become an expert because having a few basic skills can also be enough for some people.

2. Can a child learn skills from another child?
Yes, definitely. Children often learn very quickly by watching and copying other children, and they may feel more comfortable learning from someone their own age. For example, a child who is good at drawing can easily teach another child some simple drawing techniques.

3. Do you think it is easier for children to learn new skills than for adults?
Generally, yes, because children are usually more open to trying new things and they don't worry too much about making mistakes. They also have fewer responsibilities, so they can spend more time practising. Adults can learn just as well, but they may have less time and more fear of failure.

4. What are the differences between the way adults learn and the way children learn?
Children usually learn through playing, copying others and trying things themselves. Adults tend to be more focused and want to understand why something works before they learn it. For example, a child may learn cycling simply by trying again and again, while an adult might first look for instructions or watch a video.

5. What are the differences between learning in a group and learning by yourself?
Well, learning in a group can be more enjoyable because you can discuss things and learn from other people's mistakes. Learning alone gives you more freedom because you can go at your own speed. Personally, I think a combination of both is best, depending on the skill you are trying to learn.

6. What skills should children learn before they go to school?
In my opinion, children should learn some basic communication and social skills before starting school. They should know how to share, listen to others, follow simple instructions and take care of their own things. Basic skills like eating independently and keeping their belongings in place can also make the transition to school much easier.

21. Describe a time when you saved money to buy something special

You should say:

What the special thing was
Why you wanted to buy it
How you saved money for it
And explain how you felt after buying it

- I would like to talk about a time when I saved money to buy something quite special for myself, which was an iPhone 17 Pro.
- My old phone was an Android phone, and I had been using it for more than five years.
- It had become very slow and would hang quite often, especially when I was using several apps at the same time.
- I had always wanted to experience an iPhone, but for a long time, it was simply out of my budget.
- So, I decided that instead of asking my parents to buy it for me, I would try to save the money myself.
- I started putting aside a part of my pocket money every month and kept it in a separate place.
- For a few months, I also stopped eating outside and avoided buying new clothes unless I really needed them.
- Sometimes, when I needed some extra money, I asked my parents for a little more pocket money and saved that as well.
- I also tried to find a part-time job so that I could increase my savings and reach my target a little faster.
- It was not always easy because there were times when I wanted to spend the money on other things.
- But whenever I felt like spending it, I reminded myself that I was saving for something I really wanted.
- I kept doing this for several months, and slowly the amount in my savings started becoming bigger.
- Finally, just before my birthday, I realised that I had saved enough money to buy the phone.
- I decided to treat it as a birthday gift to myself, which made the purchase feel even more special.
- I was really excited when I finally bought it because it was something I had worked and saved for myself.
- I especially love its camera quality, as I enjoy taking photographs, and the pictures look much better than those from my old phone.
- I also like the smooth performance, the display and the overall features because everything feels much faster and easier to use.
- More importantly, I don't want to keep changing phones every few years, so I plan to use this phone for at least six or seven years.
- Looking back, I think saving for it made me appreciate the phone more because I knew exactly how much effort had gone into buying it.
- It also taught me that when you really want something, saving a little regularly and controlling unnecessary spending can help you reach your goal

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Should people spend time on charity, or just money?
According to me, both are useful, but time can sometimes be more valuable than money. People can volunteer, teach children or help older people, and these things need personal effort. Of course, donating money is much easier for busy people, so I think it depends on what a person can afford to give.

2. What kind of things do people usually save money for?
People usually save for things that are expensive, such as a house, car, education or a holiday. Some also keep money aside for emergencies because unexpected expenses can come up at any time. Personally, I think saving for a specific goal makes it easier because you know exactly what you are working towards.

3. Is it easier to spend money or save money?
Well, spending money is definitely easier because there are so many things available to buy, especially online. Saving requires self-control, as you have to say no to some things you want. For example, if I get some extra money, I may want to spend it immediately, but having a saving goal makes it easier to control myself.

4. Do you think it is easier to teach teenagers how to manage money when they are around 16 or 17 years old?
Yes, I think that is a good age because teenagers are becoming more independent and starting to make their own choices. They can learn simple things like making a budget, saving part of their pocket money and avoiding unnecessary spending. If they learn these habits early, managing money as adults should become easier.

5. Should parents teach their children to spend money freely or to save money?
I believe parents should teach children to do both, but saving should be given more importance. Children should enjoy their money sometimes, otherwise they may see saving as a punishment. At the same time, parents can give them a small amount of money and let them decide how much to spend and how much to keep.

6. Should schools teach children how to manage money from a young age?
Definitely, because money management is a basic life skill that every child will need later. Schools could teach simple things like budgeting, saving, banking and understanding the difference between needs and wants. I think even a few practical lessons can help children make better financial decisions when they grow up.18. Describe a natural place in your city that you enjoy visiting

22. Describe a natural place in your city that you enjoy visiting

You should say:

Where it is
What it is like
How often you go there
Who you often go there with
And explain why you enjoy visiting there

- A natural place in my city that I really enjoy visiting is the Nature Trail in the forest area behind Sukhna Lake in Chandigarh.
- I have lived in Chandigarh for more than 15 years, but surprisingly, I only found out about this place around five years ago.
- One of my friends took me there for the first time, and I immediately liked it.
- It is basically a walking trail of around four kilometres that goes through a forest area.
- You can start the walk near the Bird Park and eventually come out near Sukhna Lake.
- It usually takes me almost an hour to complete the whole trail, depending on how fast I walk.
- I normally go there on Sunday mornings, mostly with my friends, and sometimes I take my family members as well.
- The trail is surrounded by trees, so most of the walk is shaded and quite comfortable, especially when the weather is warm.
- There is also a small treehouse along the trail, which makes the place a little more interesting.
- I have spotted quite a few animals and birds there, including deer, peacocks and many different kinds of birds.
- Sometimes, sunlight comes through the trees and creates small bright patches on the path, which makes the whole place look really peaceful.
- The air also feels much cleaner than it does in the busy parts of the city.
- What I like most is that not many people know about this trail, so it is usually much less crowded than the main area around Sukhna Lake.
- The lake itself can get quite busy, and sometimes people even play music on loudspeakers, which takes away from the peaceful atmosphere.
- On the forest trail, I can walk quietly, listen to the birds and just enjoy being surrounded by trees.
- For me, it is a kind of escape from the busy city life, even though it is still inside Chandigarh.
- I don't need to plan anything special; I just put on my shoes, meet my friends and start walking.
- It has now become my go-to place for Sunday morning walks, and I also visit it whenever I feel that I need some peace and quiet.
- Overall, I enjoy going there because it gives me a chance to slow down, spend time in nature and come back feeling fresh.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Which is more important, protecting the environment or developing the economy?
In my opinion, both are important, but protecting the environment should not be ignored just for economic growth. A strong economy is useful, but if pollution and climate problems become too serious, people will suffer in the long run. I think governments should try to find a balance, for example by supporting businesses that create jobs without causing too much damage to nature.

2. Do you think staying in a natural place would help change people's mood?
Yes, definitely. Natural places are usually quieter and less stressful than busy cities, so spending some time there can help people relax and clear their minds. Personally, I feel much better after walking in a forest or spending time near a lake, especially when I have had a busy week.

3. Do you think there should be many natural places in cities?
Yes, I strongly believe cities should have more parks, forests and green spaces. They give people a place to exercise, relax and spend time away from traffic and buildings. Also, these places can improve the quality of life in a city, so I think they should be considered an important part of city planning.

23. Describe a person you know who is very organized

You should say:

Who this person is
What this person usually does to stay organized
In what situations you have noticed this quality
And explain why you think being organized is important to him/her

- The person I want to talk about is my mother, who is probably the most organised person I know.
- She recently retired as a principal of a government school, where she taught Economics before becoming a principal.
- Even after retirement, she has not retired from organising things at home.
- In fact, I sometimes feel she is almost obsessed with keeping everything in its proper place.
- She would probably have a nightmare if she saw things lying around randomly.
- I see this every single day at home, because she has a place for almost everything.
- For example, as soon as we come home, our shoes have to go straight to the shoe rack, and our car and house keys have to be put on the key hanger.
- If we wash our clothes and put them out to dry, they are folded and put into the wardrobe as soon as they are dry.
- Even making the bed is part of her morning routine, and it is usually the first thing she does after getting up.
- Sometimes, if we leave something on the dining table or another table, we may not find it there five minutes later.
- My mother has already picked it up and put it somewhere she thinks is safe and proper.
- The funny part is that sometimes she puts something away so carefully that even she forgets where she kept it.
- Then all of us start looking around the house and asking each other, “Where would Mum have kept it?”
- When we finally ask her, she usually says, “I was just taking care of it,” which makes us laugh.
- She doesn't only organise things; she also likes to plan her time, household work and daily tasks properly.
- I think being organised is important to her because she likes the house to look clean, tidy and peaceful.
- She also believes that when everything is in the right place, you don't waste time looking for things.
- Sometimes her habit can be a little annoying for the rest of us, but honestly, I think it keeps our home running smoothly.
- I really love my mother because behind all this organising, she is simply trying to take care of everyone and make our lives easier.
- So, although we sometimes joke about her habit, I really admire her discipline and the way she manages everything.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Do you think it is important for managers to be well organized?
Yes, definitely. Managers have to handle many tasks and people, so being organized helps them manage everything properly. It also saves time and reduces mistakes. For example, an organized manager can plan meetings and deadlines much more effectively.

2. Should parents teach their children to be organized?
Yes, I think they should. Children can learn simple habits like keeping their books, toys and clothes in the right place. These habits can make them more responsible and independent as they grow up. I think parents should teach this through daily routines.

3. What can people do to become more organized?
People can start by making a simple daily schedule and writing down important tasks. They should also keep their belongings in fixed places and avoid delaying work. For example, making a to-do list every morning can help a person stay focused.

4. Are organized people more likely to be successful at work or in their studies?
Yes, in many cases they are. Organized people usually manage their time better and are less likely to forget important tasks or deadlines. However, organization alone cannot guarantee success because skills and hard work are also important.

5. Do you think children should learn to be organized from a young age?
Yes, definitely. Young children can easily develop good habits if they are taught early. They can learn to keep their school bag ready, arrange their toys and finish homework on time. These small habits can help them later in life.

6. Why is it important for people to be organized?
Being organized helps people save time and complete their work without unnecessary stress. It also makes it easier to remember important things and manage different responsibilities. In my opinion, an organized person can have a more balanced and less stressful life.

24. Describe a time you watched a famous person being interviewed

You should say:

Who the famous person was
What the interview was about
When and where you watched the interview
And explain how you felt about the interview

- The famous person I want to talk about is Bhagwant Mann, the Chief Minister of Punjab.
- A couple of months ago, I watched an interview of him with a well-known news anchor on India Today.
- I actually watched it on YouTube because one of my friends shared the video with me.
- At that time, my college exams had just finished, so I had quite a lot of free time.
- I was mostly playing games, watching videos and just relaxing, so I decided to watch the interview.
- The interview was mainly about the performance of his government during his time as Chief Minister.
- What immediately caught my attention was the way he answered the questions.
- Bhagwant Mann was a comedian before entering politics, so he is very quick with words and often adds humour to his replies.
- There was one particular moment that I found really interesting when the anchor asked him about some of his party members joining the opposition.
- Instead of simply answering the question, Mann turned it around and asked the anchor about his own career.
- He pointed out that the anchor had also worked for a different media organisation in the past and had later moved to another one.
- The anchor seemed a little surprised by the reply, and for a moment, he didn't really have a strong counter to it.
- I found that exchange quite entertaining because it felt spontaneous rather than rehearsed.
- I have watched many political interviews before, but some of them can feel very serious or even scripted.
- This one felt more natural because Mann was able to use jokes, quick replies and even his sense of humour during the conversation.
- I also find it interesting that he can make poems and jokes on the spot, which probably comes from his background as a performer.
- At the same time, the interview also discussed areas such as education and healthcare and what his government was trying to do in Punjab.
- Overall, I really enjoyed watching it because it was informative but also entertaining, and I never felt like switching it off.
- It also reminded me that a good interview is not only about the questions; the personality of the person being interviewed can make the whole conversation much more interesting.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. What should people wear to a job interview?
I think people should wear clean, formal and well-fitting clothes. They should avoid wearing anything too casual or flashy. For example, a shirt with trousers or a formal suit can create a good first impression.

2. Why do we need to attend interviews when applying for jobs?
Interviews help employers understand a candidate better than just looking at their CV. They can check their communication skills, confidence and attitude. It also gives the candidate a chance to learn more about the company and the job.

3. What should people do to prepare for a job interview?
People should research the company and understand the job requirements before the interview. They should also prepare answers to common questions and practise speaking clearly. I think doing a mock interview with a friend can also be very helpful.

4. What can we do to get a job interview?
First, we need a good CV that clearly shows our education, skills and experience. We can apply through company websites, job portals or professional contacts. Having the right qualifications and writing a good application can increase our chances of getting an interview.

5. What kinds of things do famous people often say in an interview?
Famous people often talk about their career, achievements and future plans. They may also discuss their personal experiences, challenges and opinions about their work. Sometimes, interviewers ask them about rumours or controversial topics as well.

6. What kinds of people are frequently interviewed?
Celebrities, politicians, athletes, business leaders and experts are frequently interviewed. They usually have something interesting to share with the public because of their work or experience. During major events, even ordinary people may be interviewed if they have witnessed something important.

25. Describe a happy person you know

You should say:

Who this person is
What he/she is like
How he/she shows happiness
And explain why you think he/she is a happy person

- The happy person I want to talk about is my best friend, Milan, whom I have known for more than ten years.
- She works as a software engineer in an IT company and she is currently in her thirties.
- We are almost the same height, and she has a very pleasant and beautiful face.
- But what I like most about her is her calm and cheerful personality.
- She is almost always smiling, and she has this positive vibe that makes people around her feel comfortable.
- She also takes good care of herself, goes to the gym regularly and tries to stay healthy.
- She loves travelling, watching K-dramas and, more importantly, trying new things and having new experiences.
- She is a very curious person, so whenever she finds something interesting, she wants to learn more about it.
- I think her happiness is clearly visible through her facial expressions, body language and the positive things she says.
- Even when something goes wrong, she somehow manages to keep a smile on her face.
- I remember once she was going through a difficult personal situation, but we had already planned a small party with some friends.
- I honestly thought she would cancel, but she still came to the party and behaved normally.
- She didn't complain or make the atmosphere negative; instead, she started talking to everyone and making jokes.
- Within a short time, almost everyone was laughing and enjoying themselves, and that really impressed me.
- I realised that her happiness doesn't mean that she never has problems; she simply knows how to deal with them.
- I think she is a fighter, and she tries to look at difficult situations as something that she can get through.
- At the same time, she is quite content with what she has and often expresses gratitude for the good things in her life.
- She also regularly prays to God, which I think gives her a sense of peace.
- I believe her positive attitude and the way she approaches life are the main reasons why she is such a happy person.
- I genuinely enjoy her company the most because after spending time with her, I usually feel happier and more positive myself.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Do you think doing a job that you like is more important than other things?

Yes, I think it is very important because people spend a large part of their lives at work. If they enjoy their job, they are more likely to feel satisfied and motivated. However, salary and job security are also important, so people need to find a good balance.

2. What would make a student happy at school?

I think friendly teachers, good friends and an enjoyable learning environment can make students happy. They also feel good when they understand a difficult topic or get good marks. For example, praise from a teacher can really motivate a student.

3. When do you think people are happiest?

I think people are happiest when they are spending time with people they love and doing things they enjoy. Achieving an important goal can also bring a lot of happiness. For example, a student may feel extremely happy after getting good results in an important exam.

4. How can the arts spread positive emotions in society?

Art, music, movies and theatre can make people feel relaxed and happy. They can also bring people together because people enjoy sharing the same songs, performances or cultural activities. For example, a concert can create a very positive atmosphere among thousands of people.

5. Do you think teachers are able to spot the unhappy children?

Yes, experienced teachers can often notice changes in a child's behaviour. An unhappy child may become unusually quiet, stop participating in class or avoid other students. However, teachers may not always understand the exact reason, so they should talk to the child privately and gently.

6. Should teachers know what children are doing all the time?

I don't think teachers need to know what children are doing all the time. They should keep an eye on students during school hours, especially to make sure they are safe and behaving properly. However, children also need some privacy and freedom to make their own choices. I think teachers should step in when a child's behaviour becomes harmful or affects others.

26. Describe a time when you changed an important decision of yours

You should say:

When you changed the decision
What the original decision was
Why you changed it
And explain how you felt about the experience

- An important decision that I changed was related to what I wanted to study after my 10th standard.
- Initially, I had decided to take Science because I was quite good at science subjects.
- My plan was to study science, then do engineering and eventually get a technical job.
- At that time, I thought engineering was a safe and good career option.
- However, over the next few years, I started reading a lot about artificial intelligence and its impact on jobs.
- I realised that AI was becoming capable of doing many tasks that people used to do on computers.
- This made me think seriously about whether I really wanted to spend so many years preparing for a technical career.
- I started following people like Elon Musk, and I found some of his views about AI and future jobs quite interesting.
- One idea that stayed in my mind was that many jobs involving work on a screen could eventually be done partly or even completely by AI.
- So, instead of going into Science and engineering, I decided to choose Commerce and Business Studies.
- My new plan was to do a BBA and later an MBA and learn about business management, leadership and decision-making.
- I felt these skills would be much more connected to my long-term goal of becoming a businessman.
- Of course, my parents, teachers and friends were initially surprised by my decision.
- Some of them even questioned it because they knew I was good at Science and thought engineering would be a better choice for me.
- I didn't change my mind immediately; I spent quite a lot of time reading, thinking and discussing the future with them.
- When I explained my reasons and my vision of what I wanted to do in the future, they slowly understood my point.
- Eventually, they supported my decision and gave me the freedom to choose the field I really wanted.
- I felt quite relieved because it was an important decision, and I knew there was no guarantee that my plan would work perfectly.
- At the same time, I felt excited because I was choosing something based on my own interests and my view of the future.
- Looking back, I think changing that decision taught me that it is okay to change your plans when you learn something new, as long as you have a clear reason for doing it.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. When do most children begin to make their own decisions?

I think most children start making their own decisions around the age of 10 to 12. At this age, they can usually decide simple things like what clothes to wear, what hobbies to choose or how to spend their free time. As they become teenagers, they can make more important decisions, but parents should still guide them

27. Describe a famous person in your local area

You should say:

Who this person is
What he/she has done
Why he/she is popular
And explain how you feel about this person

- I am from Mohali, and there are many well-known people living around here, including artists, politicians, industrialists and sportspersons.
- But the person I would like to talk about is Arshdeep Singh, the Indian cricketer.
- He is one of India's leading T20 fast bowlers and has also been part of India's World Cup-winning team.
- He is quite popular among cricket fans, especially in Punjab, because of his performances for India.
- I believe he stays in Sector 109 in Mohali, and I have seen him a few times around the city.
- I have also watched him play several times at the Mohali cricket stadium during IPL and other league matches.
- It is always exciting to see a player whom you normally watch on television playing right in front of you.
- He is also quite easy to spot because he has a Mercedes G-Wagon, and people have seen him at some popular places around the city.
- However, what I like about him is that despite becoming so successful, he seems to be a very humble and down-to-earth person.
- He comes from a middle-class family, and his journey to the Indian cricket team was not easy.
- He worked hard for many years and slowly made his place in one of the biggest cricket teams in the world.
- Another thing I find interesting about him is his sense of humour.
- He often posts funny reels and videos on Instagram with other Indian cricketers, and some of them become really popular.
- So, people don't only know him for his cricket; they also enjoy seeing his personality away from the cricket ground.
- I think he has become an important name in Indian T20 cricket because he can take wickets at important moments.
- Mohali is already one of the nicest cities to live in Punjab, and being close to Chandigarh makes it even more convenient.
- So, when someone from our own city reaches the international level, it gives local people a special reason to feel proud.
- I personally feel very happy whenever I see Arshdeep doing well because he is a successful sportsperson from our area who has made a name for himself through hard work.
- I hope he continues to perform well for India and achieves many more things in his career.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Why are some students popular?

I think some students are popular because they are friendly, confident and good at communicating with others. They may also be good at sports, studies or other activities. Sometimes, students become popular simply because they have a fun personality and make others feel comfortable.

2. Is it always good to be a popular student at school?

Not always. Being popular can help students make more friends and feel confident, but it can also create pressure to impress others. Some popular students may spend too much time trying to maintain their image instead of focusing on their studies. So, I think it has both advantages and disadvantages.

28. Describe a time you made an important decision and were happy with the result

You should say:

What the decision was
Why you made the decision
How easy it was for you to make the decision
And explain why you were happy with the result

- One important decision I made was choosing Commerce and Business Studies after my 10th standard.
- Before my 10th exams, I was actually quite confused because I was also considering Science and engineering.
- I was good at Science, so many people around me expected me to choose that field.
- However, I had been thinking a lot about my future and I was becoming more interested in business and management.
- I also felt that I would enjoy learning about how businesses work rather than spending my whole time on technical subjects.
- After discussing it with my parents and thinking about my future goals, I finally decided to choose Commerce.
- It was not a very easy decision because some of my friends and teachers felt that Science would be a better option for me.
- But I decided to trust my own thinking instead of simply following what everyone else was doing.
- When my 11th standard started, I began studying subjects like Accounts, Economics and Business Studies.
- To my surprise, I really enjoyed these subjects and became interested in learning more about them.
- Accounts was especially interesting because I liked working with numbers and understanding how money moves in a business.
- I also enjoyed Economics because it helped me understand things like markets, prices and how businesses and people make decisions.
- Business Studies was probably the closest to what I wanted to do in the future, as it introduced me to management and different types of businesses.
- At the same time, some of my friends who had chosen Science were struggling with subjects like Physics and Calculus.
- Of course, every student has different strengths, but seeing their experience made me feel that I had probably made the right choice for myself.
- By the time I reached 12th standard, I was much more confident about my decision and had started thinking seriously about doing a BBA and later an MBA.
- I also started feeling that I had chosen a field that matched my interests instead of choosing something just because it was considered a good career option.
- I was very happy with the result because I genuinely enjoyed going to my classes and studying these subjects.
- Looking back, I think the best part was that I listened to myself and made a decision based on what I wanted to do in the future.

makkarIELTS

- It taught me that an important decision doesn't always have to be the most popular choice; it should be the choice that suits you and your goals.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Which is better, to make a decision quickly or slowly?
I think it depends on the situation. Small decisions can be made quickly, but important decisions should be considered carefully. Taking some time helps us understand the possible results and avoid making mistakes.

2. Do you think most of people's decisions are made in their 20s?
Yes, I think many important decisions are made in the 20s. People often choose their career, higher education and sometimes their life partner during this period. However, people can change their decisions later because their priorities and situations can change.

3. What if people in a group have different opinions on a decision?
I think they should discuss their opinions calmly and listen to each other. They can compare the advantages and disadvantages of each idea and then choose the option that works best for everyone. If they still cannot agree, they can take a vote.

4. What little decisions do people make every day?
People make many small decisions, such as what to eat, what to wear, when to exercise and how to spend their free time. At work or school, they also decide which tasks to do first. Most of these decisions do not require much thought.

5. Do you think it is a good idea to make a small decision every day?
Yes, I think it can be useful. Making small decisions independently can improve a person's confidence and decision-making skills. For example, deciding what task to finish first each day can help someone become more responsible.

6. How can we tell the difference between an important and an easy decision?
An important decision usually has a bigger effect on our future and may be difficult to change later. An easy decision normally has fewer consequences and can be changed easily. For example, choosing a career is important, while choosing what to eat for lunch is usually an easy decision.

29. Describe a person you know who did something difficult and was successful

You should say:

Who this person is
What difficult thing this person did
Why this person was successful
And explain how you feel about this person

- I'd like to talk about one of my classmates who successfully lost a considerable amount of weight.
- I have known him for a few years, and I saw how difficult it was for him in the beginning.
- He had gained quite a lot of weight because he used to eat a lot of fast food and didn't do much physical activity.
- He also spent a lot of time playing games on his phone or computer.
- At one point, he decided that he needed to make some changes to his lifestyle.
- Losing weight was not easy for him because he had to give up many of his favourite foods and exercise regularly.
- In the beginning, he found it difficult to control his diet and stay motivated.
- There were also times when he felt like giving up because he wasn't seeing results quickly.
- However, he remained consistent.
- He started going for a morning walk and gradually began exercising more.
- He also reduced junk food, sugary drinks, and unnecessary snacks.
- Instead of following an extreme diet, he simply tried to develop healthier eating habits.
- I think he was successful because he was patient, disciplined, and determined.
- He understood that losing weight takes time, so he didn't expect immediate results.
- After several months, he lost a significant amount of weight and became much fitter and more confident.
- I really admire him because he proved that it is possible to achieve a difficult goal if you are willing to make consistent efforts.
- His transformation also motivated some of our other classmates to become more active and take better care of themselves.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. In which sectors are companies more likely to succeed in India?
I think companies have good opportunities in technology, healthcare, education, manufacturing, and e-commerce. India has a huge population, so there is a large potential market for businesses. For example, technology companies can grow quickly because more and more people are using smartphones and online services. I also think healthcare and education will continue to grow because they are essential parts of people's lives.

2. Is it easy to start up a company?
No, I don't think it is particularly easy. A person needs enough capital, a good business idea, and a proper understanding of the market. Also, there is also a lot of corruption and bureaucracy that can make it difficult to start businesses early, but things are slowly changing for the better. Financially, also governments are providing a lot of support in the form of funds and guidance to startups.

3. Other than making money, what is more important for a company?
I think customer satisfaction and a good reputation are extremely important. If a company provides good-quality products or services, customers are more likely to trust it and recommend it to others. Moreover, no company can grow without a healthy society, so I think every company also needs to do something for society as well.

4. Does money equal success?
Not necessarily. Money is certainly one measure of success, but I don't think it is the only one. For example, someone may earn a lot of money but have no free time or personal satisfaction. On the other hand, a person who has a modest income but enjoys their job and has a happy family life could also be considered successful. So, I think success depends on a person's goals and priorities.

5. How can companies help protect the environment?
Companies can take several steps to reduce their environmental impact. They can reduce plastic and paper waste, recycle materials, and reduce unnecessary packaging. They can also encourage employees to use public transport or work remotely when possible. Larger companies can make an even bigger difference by switching to renewable energy like solar panels.

6. Is it difficult to do business in today's world?
Yes, I think it is quite difficult because competition is extremely high. Companies have to keep up with changing technology and constantly changing customer expectations. Social media has also made businesses more visible, but on the downside a single negative review can sometimes damage a company's reputation. At the same time, there are many opportunities because companies can reach customers around the world through the internet. So, I would say that doing business is challenging, but there are also more opportunities than in the past.

30. Describe a popular person

You should say:

Who this person is
What kind of person he or she is
When you see him/her normally
And explain why you think this person is popular

- India is a land of celebrities, and most of the popular personalities in our country are either actors, cricketers, or politicians.
- Today, I would like to talk about Virat Kohli, a sportsperson who has been a constant source of inspiration to me and millions of Indians.
- Virat Kohli is a world-famous Indian cricketer and one of the greatest batsmen in the history of Indian cricket.
- He is a right-handed batsman and has represented India in all three formats of the game.
- He also captained the Indian team for several years.
- He retired from T20 international cricket after India won the 2024 T20 World Cup and later retired from Test cricket in 2025.
- He continues to play ODI cricket and holds the record for the most centuries in ODI cricket.
- What I admire most about him is his discipline, competitiveness, and mental strength.
- One incident that particularly inspires me is when his father passed away while he was playing a domestic match.
- Despite the tragedy, he returned to the field and continued playing for his team.
- I think this shows how dedicated and mentally strong he is.
- Apart from cricket, he is also involved in charitable activities through his foundation.
- Overall, I deeply admire Virat Kohli because he is a great example of how hard work, determination, and consistency can lead to success.
- He has inspired millions of young people, including me.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Why do people want to be popular?
I think people want to be popular because they enjoy attention and recognition from others. Being popular can also make people feel more confident and respected. For some people, it can provide career opportunities, especially if they work in entertainment, sports, or social media. However, I think some people simply want to feel accepted and valued by others.

2. Is it easier to become popular nowadays?
Yes, definitely. Social media has made it much easier for ordinary people to become popular. In the past, people usually needed to appear on television or in newspapers to become famous, but nowadays, a person can become well-known by creating interesting content on platforms such as Instagram or YouTube. However, becoming popular is easy, but staying popular for a long time is much more difficult.

3. What are the qualities of being a good teacher?
I think a good teacher should be knowledgeable, patient, supportive, and good at communication. They should be able to explain difficult ideas in a simple way and understand that students learn at different speeds. I also think a good teacher should encourage students rather than simply criticise them when they make mistakes.

4. Do you think good teachers are always popular among students?
Not necessarily. A good teacher may sometimes be strict or demanding, so students may not like them very much. However, that doesn't mean they are not effective teachers. For example, a teacher who gives regular homework and maintains discipline might seem unpopular at first, but students may appreciate them later because they help them achieve better results.

5. Is it important for a teacher to be popular?
I don't think popularity is essential. A teacher's main responsibility is to educate students, not to make them like them. Of course, having a friendly relationship with students can make learning more enjoyable, but a teacher also needs to maintain discipline and set clear expectations. So, I would say being respected is more important than being popular.

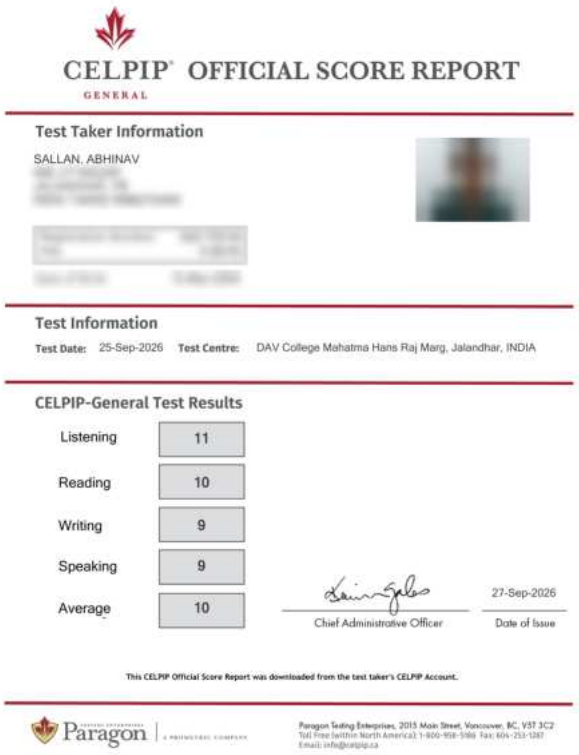

6. Why are some students popular in school?
There are several reasons. Some students are popular because they are friendly, confident, and good at communicating with others. Others may be talented at sports, music, or other activities, which naturally attracts attention. In some cases, students become popular simply because they have a large group of friends or are active on social media. I think personality usually plays the biggest role.

31. Describe a city that you have been to and would like to visit again

You should say:

When you visited it
What you did there
What it was like
And explain why you would like to visit it again

- I am still quite young, and I haven't visited a lot of places.
- However, last year, I went to Shimla with my friend Rohit, and I had an amazing experience there.
- Shimla is the capital of Himachal Pradesh and is located in the foothills of the Himalayas.
- My friend's uncle has a holiday home there, and he offered to let us stay for a few days.
- Neither of us had ever visited Shimla, and we wanted a break from the intense summer heat, so we immediately jumped at the opportunity.
- We spent three days there, and Shimla turned out to be a wonderful place.
- The best thing was, of course, the weather. Even in the peak of summer, the temperature never crossed 25 degrees Celsius. I
- n my hometown, it gets so hot that you can hardly go outside before 6 p.m., whereas in Shimla, we could spend the whole day outdoors.
- We visited several places, but Mall Road was my favourite.
- It is a pedestrian-only road with lots of shops, cafés, restaurants, and showrooms.
- We spent a lot of time there exploring the shops and trying different food.
- We also visited the famous Jakhu Temple, which is located on top of a hill.
- My friend's mother was very adamant that we visit it at least once.
- I think that was probably the whole reason she allowed us to go!
- The view of the city from the temple was breathtaking.
- We had booked our return tickets for the fourth day because we thought we might get bored.
- However, it was exactly the opposite.
- We actually felt that we had come back too soon.
- That's why I would definitely like to visit Shimla again, but this time, I would stay for at least a week.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. What should the government do to improve citizens' safety?
I think the government should improve law enforcement and public infrastructure. There should be enough police officers in crowded areas, especially at night. The government should also install more streetlights and CCTV cameras in places where crime is more common. Apart from this, strict action should be taken against people who break the law so that others are discouraged from doing the same.

2. Are there any changes in your city?
Yes, there have been quite a few changes in my city in recent years. The roads and public areas have been improved, and there are more shopping centres, restaurants, and recreational facilities than before. There has also been a lot of construction and development in areas on the outskirts of the city. However, one negative change has been the increase in traffic because of increasing car ownership.

3. Do you think people in the countryside are friendlier than people in the city?
Generally, yes, I think people in the countryside can be more welcoming and helpful. Rural communities are usually smaller, so people tend to know each other and have stronger social connections. In cities, people are often busy with work and their daily routines, so they may not have as much time to interact with strangers. However, I don't think this applies to everyone because friendliness mainly depends on a person's personality.

4. Do you think it is possible that all of the population move to cities?
No, I don't think that is possible or practical. Cities already have problems such as traffic congestion, pollution, high living costs, and overcrowding. If everyone moved to cities, these problems would become much worse. Also, rural areas are essential for agriculture and food production. So, I think there needs to be a balance between urban and rural populations.

5. Some people say large cities are suitable for old people. What do you think?
I think it depends on the individual. Large cities can be convenient for older people because they usually have better hospitals, public transport, and other essential services. However, cities can also be noisy, crowded, and stressful. Many elderly people may prefer the peaceful environment and close-knit communities of the countryside. So, I don't think there is one ideal place for all elderly people.

6. What's the difference between the city and the countryside?
The biggest difference is probably the lifestyle. Cities are generally more crowded and fast-paced, but they offer better access to jobs, education, healthcare, and entertainment. The countryside is usually quieter and less polluted, and people often have a closer connection with nature and their local community. However, there may be fewer job opportunities and public services in rural areas. So, each has its own advantages and disadvantages.

32. Describe a time when you received good service in a shop/store

You should say:

Where the shop is
When you went to the shop
What service you received from the staff
And explain how you felt about the service

- I am a bit of a shopaholic, and I really enjoy buying clothes and other things.
- So, I'd like to talk about a time when I received excellent service at a clothing shop in a shopping mall in Jalandhar.
- Last month, I went there with my cousins to buy some clothes for myself.
- I was looking for a pair of jeans, and I had heard about a shop in Viva College Mall that sold jeans from several well-known brands.
- As soon as we entered the shop, the salesmen welcomed us with smiling faces and asked us what we were looking for.
- They showed us a wide variety of jeans and allowed us to try them on without making us feel rushed.
- We were also happy to find out that Levi's was offering a special deal, so we chose a couple of pairs in the colours we liked and decided to buy them.
- Two pairs needed some alterations because they were slightly long.
- What impressed us was that the staff arranged the alterations within an hour and didn't charge us anything extra.
- We were really pleased with how quick and helpful they were.
- After shopping, we spent some time exploring the mall, had lunch at a food outlet, and even watched a movie there in the evening.
- When I got home and showed my jeans to my family, they liked them a lot as well.
- Overall, I was really happy with the service because the staff were polite, helpful, and efficient.
- I would definitely recommend that shop to my friends and relatives, and I would happily shop there again.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Can consumption drive economic growth?

Yes, definitely. When people spend money on goods and services, businesses earn more and may produce more, which can create jobs and increase people's incomes. This leads to more spending and keeps the economy active. However, I think consumption needs to be balanced because excessive spending can also lead to debt and unnecessary waste.

2. What are the advantages and disadvantages of online shopping?

The biggest advantage is convenience. People can shop from home at any time, compare prices easily, and choose from a huge variety of products. However, the main disadvantage is that you cannot physically examine the product before buying it. Sometimes the actual product may look different from the pictures, and delivery can also take several days.

3. What are the differences between online shopping and in-store shopping?

Online shopping is generally more convenient because people can buy things from anywhere and usually have more choices. In contrast, in-store shopping allows customers to see and try products before purchasing them. They can also get immediate help from sales staff and take their purchases home straight away. So, I think online shopping is better for convenience, while physical stores offer a more personal experience.

4. Why do some people not like shopping in small shops?

I think the main reason is that small shops usually have a limited selection. They may not have many brands, sizes, or colours available. Some people also feel that prices are higher compared with large stores or online platforms. In addition, small shops may not provide the same facilities, such as air conditioning, parking, or comfortable changing rooms.

5. What are the advantages and disadvantages of shopping in small shops?

One major advantage is personalised service. Shopkeepers often know their regular customers and can give them personal recommendations. Small shops may also sell unique or locally made products. On the other hand, they usually have less variety and limited stock, and their prices can sometimes be higher than those of larger stores.

6. Why are shopping malls so popular in India?

I think it's mainly because they provide everything in one place. People can shop for clothes and electronics, eat at restaurants, watch movies, and spend time with their families without having to travel to different places. Malls are also air-conditioned and generally clean and comfortable, which is particularly attractive during India's hot summers. So, for many people, going to a mall is not just about shopping; it's also a form of entertainment.

makkarIELTS

33. Describe a crowded place you went to

You should say:

Where it was
When you went there
Who you went there with
What you did there
And how you felt about it

- One crowded place that I remember visiting was the Golden Temple in Amritsar.
- It is one of the most famous tourist and religious places in Punjab, and it attracts a huge number of visitors throughout the year.
- I went there around two years ago during the summer holidays with a couple of my friends.
- We decided to visit the temple for a day trip because we had heard a lot about its peaceful atmosphere and beautiful architecture.
- When we reached there, the place was packed with people.
- There were tourists, local visitors and devotees everywhere, especially around the main temple.
- We first walked around the complex and admired the beautiful Golden Temple reflected in the holy pool.
- After that, we visited the main shrine and also had food at the community kitchen, which is known as the langar.
- Although it was extremely crowded, I actually enjoyed the experience.
- At times, it was difficult to move around because of the large number of people, but the atmosphere was still very positive and energetic.
- I also found it quite impressive that people from different backgrounds were sitting together and eating at the langar.
- Overall, I felt a little overwhelmed by the crowd, but I was also fascinated by the atmosphere.
- It was a memorable experience, and I would definitely like to visit the Golden Temple again, preferably on a less crowded day.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Do you think it is a good trend to have more big cities?
I think there are both advantages and disadvantages. On the positive side, big cities usually provide better employment opportunities, healthcare, education and entertainment. They can also contribute significantly to a country's economy. However, if cities grow too quickly, they can face problems such as traffic congestion, pollution, overcrowding and expensive housing. So, I think having big cities is beneficial, but they need to be properly planned and managed.

2. Do you think there are some people who enjoy crowded places?
Yes, definitely. Some people actually thrive in crowded and lively environments. For example, young people may enjoy busy shopping centres, concerts, festivals and sporting events because they like socialising and meeting new people. On the other hand, some people prefer quiet places because they find crowds stressful and exhausting. I think it largely depends on a person's personality and lifestyle.

3. Why do people go to crowded places?
There are several reasons. Firstly, crowded places are often popular tourist attractions, shopping areas or entertainment venues, so people naturally visit them. Secondly, some people enjoy being around others because it gives them a sense of excitement and belonging. For instance, people may go to a concert or a festival specifically because they want to experience the atmosphere with a large crowd. In some cases, people simply have no choice because important facilities are concentrated in busy areas.

4. Will people use bikes more or less in cities in the future?
I believe people will probably use bikes more in the future, particularly for short-distance travel. Traffic congestion and air pollution are becoming serious problems in many cities, so cycling can be a practical alternative to cars and motorcycles. Governments are also developing dedicated cycling lanes in some places. However, the increase will depend on how safe and convenient cycling becomes. If cities provide better infrastructure, more people are likely to choose bikes.

5. Will there be more or less green space in cities in the future?
I think it will depend on how cities are planned. There is a risk that green spaces will decrease because of rapid urbanisation and population growth. However, I think governments are becoming more aware of the importance of parks, trees and open spaces for people's quality of life. So, ideally, we should see more well-planned green spaces, even in densely populated cities. The challenge will be balancing development with environmental protection.

6. Which cities are overcrowded in your country?
In India, several major cities are quite overcrowded, particularly Delhi, Mumbai, Bengaluru and Kolkata. These cities attract people from different parts of the country because they offer better employment and educational opportunities. As a result, they experience problems such as heavy traffic, high population density, air pollution and pressure on public transport. I think better development of smaller cities could help reduce this pressure on major metropolitan areas.

34. Describe a successful sportsperson you admire

You should say:

Who he/she is
What you know about him/her
What he/she is like in real life
What achievement he/she has made
And explain why you admire him/her

- I admire many sportspersons, such as Virat Kohli and Neeraj Chopra, but the one I admire the most is Mary Kom.
- She is a legendary Indian boxer who is often called "Magnificent Mary."
- She has made India proud many times through her achievements in boxing.
- I first came to know about her through the Bollywood movie Mary Kom, which was released in 2014, with Priyanka Chopra playing her role.
- The movie showed her struggles, the lack of facilities she faced in her village in Manipur, and how she balanced her career with her family life.
- After watching the movie, I became curious about her real life and read more about her journey.
- I was truly inspired by what I learned.
- She is a six-time world champion and an Olympic bronze medallist, and she has received several prestigious awards for her contribution to Indian sports.
- What I admire most about her is her determination and perseverance.
- She came from a small village with limited resources, but she never gave up on her dreams.
- She also managed to continue her boxing career while raising a family.
- From her interviews, I have also found her to be quite humble and grounded despite all her achievements.
- Overall, Mary Kom is not just a successful athlete to me; she is a role model.
- Her life shows that with dedication, courage, and hard work, we can overcome difficult circumstances and achieve our goals.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Should students have physical education and do sports at school?

Yes, definitely. I think it is important for several reasons. Firstly, it can encourage students to take an interest in sports and perhaps even pursue them as a career. Schools can provide proper guidance and coaching, which students may not get at home. Secondly, children nowadays spend a lot of time on mobile phones and video games, so physical education gives them an opportunity to stay active and healthy.

2. What qualities should an athlete have?

I think the most important qualities are discipline, mental strength, determination, and sportsmanship. Discipline helps athletes train regularly and maintain a healthy lifestyle. Mental strength is important because athletes have to deal with pressure and failure. Determination helps them keep going when things get difficult. Finally, they should respect their opponents and follow the rules, whether they win or lose.

3. Is talent important in sports?

Yes, talent is certainly important, but I think hard work is even more important. Natural talent can give someone a head start, but without regular practice and discipline, it is difficult to reach the highest level. There are many talented people who don't succeed because they don't put in the necessary effort. So, I would say talent is useful, but hard work determines how far a person can go.

4. Is it easy to identify children's talents?

No, I don't think it is always easy. Some children show their abilities at a very young age, for example, in singing, dancing, drawing, or sports. However, other children may not discover their talents until they get the right exposure and encouragement. That's why I think parents and teachers should give children opportunities to try different activities.

5. What is the most popular sport in your country?

Without a doubt, cricket is the most popular sport in India. Other sports like hockey, football, badminton, and kabaddi are also quite popular, but nothing comes close to cricket. Cricket is almost like a religion in India, and people of all ages enjoy watching and playing it.

6. Why are there so few top athletes?

I think becoming a top athlete requires a rare combination of talent, hard work, discipline, and mental strength. Many people may be talented, but they aren't willing to train consistently or make sacrifices. Another problem is that some talented children don't get proper coaching or opportunities because of financial or geographical limitations. So, talent alone isn't enough; athletes also need the right environment and support to reach the highest level.

makkarIELTS

35. Describe an activity you do regularly that you think is a waste of time

You should say:

What it is
When you usually do it
Why you do it
And explain why you think it is a waste of time

- One activity that I do quite regularly, even though I consider it a waste of time, is scrolling through social media.
- I mainly use Instagram and YouTube Shorts, and sometimes I end up watching one video after another without really having any particular purpose.
- I usually do it in the evening, after finishing my work, or sometimes when I take a short break during the day.
- I normally tell myself that I'll just spend five or ten minutes relaxing, but quite often those five minutes turn into half an hour or even longer.
- The main reason I do it is that it helps me switch off mentally after a busy day.
- I also like keeping up with interesting videos, news, and things that my friends or other people are sharing.
- So, initially, it feels like a form of entertainment rather than a waste of time.
- However, I think it is a waste of time when I continue doing it without actually enjoying it or getting anything useful from it.
- Sometimes I realise that I have been scrolling for twenty or thirty minutes and I cannot even remember what I watched.
- I think the biggest problem is that it has become a habit.
- Instead of using that time to read something, exercise, learn a new skill, or simply spend time with my family, I just sit there and scroll.
- So, although I don't think social media is completely useless, mindless scrolling is definitely something I would like to reduce because it takes up a surprising amount of my time.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Why do some people refuse to abide by rules?
I think some people refuse to follow rules because they feel that rules restrict their freedom. They may believe that certain rules are unnecessary or unfair. Some people also break rules because they don't think they will face any serious consequences. I think people are more likely to follow rules when they understand their purpose and when the rules are applied equally to everyone.

2. What kinds of things make people feel pressured?
There are many things that can make people feel pressured, such as academic expectations, work, financial problems, and family responsibilities. For students, exams and the pressure to get good marks can be quite stressful. People can also feel pressured when they compare themselves with others, especially on social media. They may feel that everyone else is more successful than them.

3. Will you continue doing something when you are aware that it's a waste of time?
Sometimes, yes. Knowing that something is a waste of time doesn't always mean that we can stop doing it immediately, especially if it has become a habit. For example, I may know that spending too much time on my phone is unproductive, but I might still do it when I'm bored or tired. However, once I realise that something is affecting my studies or daily routine, I try to reduce it and replace it with something more useful.

4. How do you balance life and work?
I think the key is good time management. I try to finish my important work first and then make time for relaxation and other activities. I also think it's important to take regular breaks rather than studying or working continuously. For example, I try to leave some time for exercise, family, and entertainment. This helps me stay productive without feeling overwhelmed.

makkarIELTS

36. Describe someone who is older than you that you admire

You should say:

Who this person is

How you knew this person

What kinds of things you like to do together and explain how you feel about this person

- The person who is older than me that I really admire is my grandfather.
- He has been an important part of my life since I was a child, so I've known him for as long as I can remember.
- The main reason I admire him is his personality and the way he has dealt with different situations in life.
- He is a very calm and patient person, and he rarely gets angry or loses his temper.
- He has also worked hard throughout his life and has always put his family first.
- Whenever I have a problem or need some advice, I can usually talk to him because he has a lot of life experience.
- I enjoy spending time with him, especially when we have tea together or go for a walk.
- We often talk about different things, including what's happening in the family, current affairs and sometimes even things that happened when he was young.
- I particularly enjoy listening to his stories about his childhood because life was very different at that time.
- What I appreciate most about him is that he doesn't simply give me advice; he explains things using his own experiences.
- Sometimes he has a completely different perspective from mine, but that actually makes our conversations more interesting.
- Overall, I feel very lucky to have such a person in my life.
- I respect him not only because he is my grandfather, but also because of the kind of person he is.
- His patience, experience and attitude towards life have influenced me quite a lot, and I hope I can develop some of those qualities as I get older.

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. What do old people usually do in their daily life?

It depends on their health and lifestyle, but many older people spend their time doing household activities, meeting friends and relatives, and looking after their grandchildren. Some also enjoy hobbies such as gardening, reading, or watching television. Those who are physically active may go for morning walks or do some light exercise. I think having a routine is quite important for older people because it keeps them both physically and mentally active.

2. Why is there a generation gap between the young and the old?

I think the main reason is that they grow up in very different environments. Young people have grown up with smartphones, the internet, and social media, whereas older people didn't have these technologies when they were young. Their attitudes towards education, relationships, careers, and lifestyle can also be quite different. As a result, they may sometimes struggle to understand each other's opinions.

3. Has old people's quality of life improved compared to the past?

Yes, I think it has improved considerably. Healthcare and medical technology have developed a lot, so people can live longer and receive better treatment for various illnesses. Older people also have better access to entertainment, communication, and technology. For example, they can easily stay in touch with their children and relatives through video calls. However, some elderly people still face problems such as loneliness and financial difficulties.

4. What can young and old people learn from each other?

I think both generations can learn a lot from each other. Young people can learn patience, life experience, and traditional values from older people. On the other hand, older people can learn about new technology and modern ways of doing things from younger people. For example, a young person might teach their grandparents how to use a smartphone or make online payments, while grandparents can share their experiences and give useful advice about dealing with difficult situations.

37. Describe a short trip you often take but do not like

You should say:
Where you go
When you go there
Why you go there
And explain why you do not like the trip

- One short trip that I often take but don't particularly like is the journey to Bansa wala Bazaar, which is a fairly busy local market near my home.
- I usually go there once or twice a week, mainly to buy groceries, fresh vegetables and other household items.
- The market itself isn't very far from my home.
- Normally, it should take me around fifteen minutes to get there, but the journey can take much longer, especially during the evening or at weekends.
- The main reason I don't like this trip is the narrow roads leading to the market.
- They weren't really designed to handle so much traffic, but nowadays there are a lot of cars, motorcycles, auto-rickshaws and pedestrians using them at the same time.
- Sometimes two vehicles can barely pass each other, so traffic moves extremely slowly. On top of that, people often park their vehicles along the sides of the road, which makes the already narrow streets even more difficult to navigate.
- Another thing I dislike is finding a parking space. I sometimes have to drive around for several minutes before I can find somewhere to leave my vehicle.
- By the time I actually reach the market, I can already feel quite frustrated.
- I still have to make this trip regularly because Bansa Market has a good variety of shops, and I can usually find everything I need in one place.
- I also prefer buying fresh vegetables myself rather than ordering them online.
- So, I wouldn't say that I dislike Bansa Market itself.
- In fact, I quite enjoy shopping there when it's relatively quiet.
- It's mainly the journey through the narrow, congested roads that I find annoying.
- If the roads were wider and there were better parking facilities, I would probably enjoy the trip much more.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Which is better for knowing more about a country? Travelling or reading books about it?

I think travelling is better overall, because you can experience the country first-hand. You can interact with local people, try their food, and see how they actually live. Books are useful for learning about history, culture, and important facts, but they cannot completely replace personal experience. Ideally, I think people should do both because they complement each other.

2. How much time do you think people should spend on a trip abroad?

I think at least a week or two is ideal, depending on the country and the purpose of the trip. If someone stays for only two or three days, they may spend most of their time visiting the main tourist attractions without really experiencing the local culture. With a longer trip, people can travel at a more relaxed pace and explore places that are less touristy.

3. Who prefers travelling abroad, the young or the old?

I think young people generally prefer travelling abroad because they tend to be more adventurous and curious about different cultures. They may also have fewer family responsibilities and more energy for exploring new places. Older people can certainly enjoy international travel, but some may prefer familiar destinations or more comfortable and organised holidays.

4. Do Indian people like travelling abroad?

Yes, definitely. International travel has become increasingly popular among Indians, particularly among young people and middle-class families. People are interested in visiting countries such as Dubai, Thailand, Singapore, Europe, and Australia. Travelling abroad has also become easier because of better air connectivity and more affordable travel packages. Social media has probably increased this interest as well, because people see others travelling and become curious about visiting those places themselves.

makkarIELTS

38. Describe a noisy place you have been to

You should say:

Where it is
When you went there
What you did there
And explain why you feel it's a noisy place

- With the ever-increasing population, noisy and crowded places are not uncommon.
- Here, I'd like to talk about a noisy place I remember visiting.
- It is a local market in Delhi called Sarojini Nagar Market.
- I went there last year during my summer holidays with my cousins.
- We were in Delhi for a few days, and someone told us that this market was great for shopping, especially if we wanted to buy clothes at low prices.
- We went there in the afternoon, and it was extremely crowded.
- There were street vendors shouting to attract customers, people were bargaining with shopkeepers, music was playing in several shops, and cars and scooters were constantly honking on the nearby roads.
- It felt like a never-ending mixture of sounds.
- We did quite a lot of shopping. I bought a few T-shirts, a pair of jeans, and a handbag.
- So, overall, it was fun, but at the same time, it was a little stressful because of the noise and the crowds.
- I think the place was noisy because there was a cacophony of different sounds, including people talking, vehicles honking, music, and loudspeakers.
- It was completely different from quiet places like a library or my home, where you can actually relax without being disturbed.
- I don't think I could stay in such a noisy environment for a very long time.
- Nevertheless, it was an interesting experience, and I would probably visit the market again because of the great shopping opportunities.
- So, that's one noisy place I have been to.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Do you think it is good for children to make noise?

I think it's neither completely good nor bad. Making noise is a natural part of being a child, and children should have the freedom to play and enjoy themselves. However, they should also learn to respect other people. For example, if they are playing indoors, parents should ask them to keep their voices down if they are disturbing the neighbours.

2. Should children not be allowed to make noise under any circumstances?

No, definitely not. I think children should be allowed to make noise to some extent because they need to play and express themselves. However, there should be some restrictions in places where silence is important. For example, children shouldn't be allowed to make a lot of noise in a library, a cinema, or late at night because it could disturb other people.

3. What kinds of noises are there in our life?

There are many different kinds of noise in our daily lives. The most common ones are probably traffic noise, such as engines and horns. People who live near factories may also have to deal with industrial noise. Then there are household appliances like air conditioners, fans, washing machines, and grinders. We also hear people talking, animals barking, and even insects making sounds.

4. Which area is exposed to noise more, the city or the countryside?

I think cities are definitely noisier than the countryside. One major reason is the large number of vehicles and machines in urban areas. Cities also have more construction, factories, shops, and crowded public places. In contrast, the countryside has fewer vehicles and people, so it is generally much quieter.

5. How would people usually respond to noises in your country?

I think Indians generally tolerate a lot of noise because it is such a common part of daily life. Our cities are densely populated, and residential and commercial areas are often close to each other. As a result, most people have become used to traffic, construction, loudspeakers, and other kinds of noise. However, I think people are becoming more concerned about noise pollution, and some prefer living in quieter areas on the outskirts of cities.

6. How can people consider others' feelings when chatting in public?

I think people should be aware of their surroundings and control their voice. If the conversation is personal or doesn't need to happen immediately, they can simply call the person later. If it's urgent, they can move to a quieter place and talk. Even if they have to stay where they are, they should at least avoid speaking loudly because it can disturb the people around them.

makkarIELTS

39. Describe a change that you made recently

You should say:

What the change was
What caused the change
What you did for the change
And explain how you feel about the change

- I'd like to talk about a change I made recently, which was starting to get up early in the morning.
- Earlier, I was used to waking up quite late, especially on weekends.
- I would often stay up late watching videos or using my phone, and as a result, I would wake up feeling tired and would sometimes rush to get ready for the day.
- The main reason I decided to change this habit was that I realised I was wasting a lot of my mornings.
- I wanted to have more time to study and start my day in a more organised way.
- To make this change, I started going to bed a little earlier and keeping my phone away from my bed at night.
- I also set an alarm and tried to get up at roughly the same time every morning.
- In the beginning, it was quite difficult because my body was used to sleeping late, but after a couple of weeks, I got used to it.
- Now, when I wake up early, I have enough time to get ready, have breakfast, and study without feeling rushed.
- I also feel more energetic and productive during the day.
- Overall, I am really happy with this change.
- I think getting up early has helped me become more disciplined, and it has given me a much better start to my day.
- I definitely want to continue this habit in the future.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Who tend to change their daily routine more, young people or old people?
I think young people tend to change their routines more. They are usually more flexible and may have changing schedules because of school, college, work, or social activities. Older people, on the other hand, often prefer having a fixed routine because it gives them a sense of stability and makes their day more predictable. However, it really depends on the individual.

2. Do people often make plans around their regular routines?
Yes, I think they do. Most people have certain things they do at fixed times, such as going to work, exercising, having meals, or studying. They usually plan other activities around these responsibilities. For example, a student may plan to meet friends after finishing their homework, or someone who exercises in the morning may arrange their other activities around that time.

3. Is it good for people to get a job promotion?
Yes, definitely. A promotion can be beneficial because it usually comes with more responsibility, a higher salary, and better career opportunities. It can also give people a sense of achievement and motivate them to work harder. However, a promotion can also bring additional stress, so people need to make sure they are prepared for the extra responsibilities.

4. Do you think it is good to change jobs?
It can be, depending on the circumstances. If someone is unhappy with their current job, has limited opportunities for growth, or receives a much better offer, changing jobs can be a good decision. However, people shouldn't change jobs too frequently without a good reason because it could make their career history look unstable. I think it's best to make the decision after carefully considering the advantages and disadvantages.

5. Do you think it is good to change one's daily routine?
Yes, I think occasional changes are healthy. Doing exactly the same things every day can become boring, and a new routine can give people fresh motivation. For example, someone who normally exercises in the evening could try exercising in the morning. However, I don't think people should completely abandon a routine because having some structure helps us stay organised and productive.

makkarIELTS

40. Describe a piece of local news that people are interested in

You should say:

What it was about
Where you saw/heard it
Who was involved
And explain why people were interested in it

- One piece of local news that I remember people being quite interested in was the opening of the first Japanese restaurant in my city.
- It wasn't a major piece of national news, of course, but it attracted quite a lot of attention locally because Japanese cuisine wasn't very common in our area.
- I first heard about it on social media.
- I came across a post from a local food page announcing that a new Japanese restaurant was going to open.
- They had posted some pictures of the restaurant as well as a few dishes that would be available, such as sushi and ramen.
- After that, I noticed that quite a few people were talking about it, especially on social media.
- The restaurant was opened by a local business owner, although the food was prepared by chefs who specialised in Japanese cuisine.
- Local food bloggers and influencers also visited the restaurant and posted reviews, so the news spread quite quickly.
- I think people were mainly interested because it was something new and unusual for the city.
- Most people were familiar with Indian, Chinese and other common types of food, but Japanese food was relatively unfamiliar.
- So, people were curious about what it tasted like and whether they would enjoy it.
- There was also a lot of discussion about sushi because some people were excited to try it, while others were a little hesitant about eating raw fish.
- I was also surprised to hear that there is vegetarian sushi.
- Personally, I found the news interesting because I enjoy trying different kinds of food.
- I thought it was nice that people in my city were getting the opportunity to experience something different without having to travel to a bigger city.
- So, although it was a relatively small piece of news, it generated quite a lot of local interest simply because it was new, unusual and something people could actually experience themselves.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. How can people develop their national identity?

I think people develop their national identity through their culture, language, traditions, and shared history. Schools can also play an important role by teaching students about their country's history and important national events. Celebrating festivals and participating in community activities can also give people a stronger sense of belonging.

2. Do you think it's important to have a national identity?

Yes, I think it is important because it gives people a sense of belonging and connection with their country. It can also encourage people to respect their culture and contribute positively to society. However, I don't think having a strong national identity means that people should look down on other countries or cultures. It's possible to be proud of your country while still respecting others.

3. Do people prefer local or international news?

I think it depends on the person, but most people are probably more interested in local and national news because it directly affects their lives. For example, people want to know about local politics, traffic, weather, and public services. However, international news is also important, especially when it involves major events that can affect the economy, travel, or people's lives. Many people now follow both through social media and news apps.

4. Do people read the newspaper where you live?

Yes, but I think fewer people read printed newspapers than in the past. Older people are more likely to read physical newspapers in the morning, while younger people usually get their news from websites, social media, or mobile apps. Newspapers are still quite popular, particularly among older generations, but digital news has become much more convenient for most young people.

makkarIELTS

41. Describe a time when you changed an important opinion of yours

You should say:

When you changed your opinion
What the original opinion was
Why you changed it
And explain how you felt about the experience

- One important opinion that I changed was my opinion about failure.
- I used to believe that if someone failed at something, it basically meant that they weren't good enough or they weren't capable of achieving their goal.
- I changed my opinion a few years ago when I was preparing for my 10th pre board exams.
- I had studied quite seriously and I was quite confident that I would get a good result.
- However, when the results came out, they were much worse than I had expected.
- I was extremely disappointed because I felt that all the time and effort I had put into studying had been wasted.
- Initially, I just saw the failure as something negative.
- I even started doubting my own abilities.
- But after a few days, I decided to look at what had actually gone wrong.
- I realised that although I had studied a lot, my preparation wasn't very effective.
- I had spent too much time memorising information and not enough time practising questions and identifying my weaknesses.
- That experience completely changed my perspective.
- I realised that failure doesn't necessarily mean that a person is incapable.
- Sometimes, it simply shows you what you need to improve.
- I changed the way I prepared after that, and as a result I scored much better in my 10th board exams.
- Looking back, I wouldn't say I was happy about failing, but I am actually glad that I had that experience.
- It made me more mature and helped me become more comfortable with setbacks.
- Now, whenever something doesn't go according to plan, I try to understand what went wrong and use it as a learning experience instead of immediately thinking that I'm not good enough.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. Who do young people like to share opinions with?

I think young people usually prefer to share their opinions with close friends and people of a similar age. They often feel more comfortable talking to friends because they believe they will be understood and not judged. However, they may also share important opinions with their parents, especially when they have to make a major decision. Social media has also made it easier for young people to express their views publicly.

2. Do children communicate more with teachers or with parents?

I would say children generally communicate more with their parents, especially when it comes to their personal lives and emotions. They spend much more time with their parents outside school, so they naturally develop a closer relationship with them. However, teachers play a more important role in academic and school-related communication. It really depends on the topic being discussed.

3. Whose opinions are more important to children, their parents' or teachers'?

I think parents' opinions are generally more influential, particularly when children are young. Parents are usually the people children trust the most, and they have a major influence on their values and behaviour. As children get older, however, the opinions of teachers and friends can become more important, especially in areas related to education and career choices. So, the influence changes as children mature.

4. When do most children begin to have their own opinions?

I think children start developing their own opinions at around 10 to 12 years of age, although it varies from person to person. At this stage, they become more independent and start questioning things rather than simply accepting what adults tell them. During their teenage years, their opinions usually become much stronger because they are exposed to different people, experiences and ideas.

makkarIELTS

42. Describe a law on environmental protection

You should say:

What it is
How you first learned about it
Who benefits from it
And explain how you feel about this law

- There are many laws on environmental protection, but today I would like to talk about a law that was passed a few years ago.
- It is the law banning single-use plastics.
- Under this law, single-use plastic items such as plastic plates, cutlery, thin plastic bags and other small items like straws were banned.
- The law was introduced about three or four years ago, and I first heard about it in the news at that time.
- However, I really noticed its impact when I attended weddings and other functions. Instead of plastic cutlery, I saw paper, wooden or leaf plates and spoons being used.
- The law imposes severe penalties on manufacturers of these plastic items, as well as on supermarkets and stores that sell them.
- I think everyone benefits from this law.
- The negative effects of plastic on the environment are no mystery, and everyone knows how its non-biodegradable nature harms the environment.
- In recent years, its negative effects on marine life have also become increasingly well known.
- For example, recently, a group of whales that had washed up on a beach were found to have large amounts of plastic waste in their stomachs.
- This shows just how seriously plastic pollution can affect wildlife.
- I am quite proud of this law because it shows that India is taking steps to address environmental problems.
- It has also encouraged research and development into more environmentally friendly materials.
- However, I think its implementation is where the law falls short.
- Many roadside sellers and shopkeepers still use plastic bags.
- However, I think this is where people need to take responsibility.
- Without public support, no law can be truly successful.
- People therefore need to change their behaviour.
- For example, they can start carrying their own tote bags or avoid buying from shopkeepers who still use plastic bags.
- Overall, I think this is a very important law, and although its implementation could be improved, it is definitely a step in the right direction.

makkarIELTS

PART 3 — FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

1. What is the purpose of punishment?

I think the main purpose of punishment is to discourage people from repeating bad behaviour. It can also help maintain discipline and protect other people from harmful actions. However, punishment should be fair and appropriate to the offence. In my opinion, the aim should not simply be to make someone suffer, but to help them understand their mistake and take responsibility for their actions.

2. What are the rules people should obey at work?

There are several basic rules that employees should follow. For example, they should arrive on time, complete their responsibilities properly and treat their colleagues with respect. They should also follow workplace safety rules and maintain confidentiality when necessary. I think these rules are important because a workplace needs discipline, cooperation and professionalism in order to function efficiently.

3. How can parents and teachers help children understand and follow rules?

I think the best approach is to explain the reasons behind the rules rather than simply telling children to obey them. For example, instead of saying that a child must not interrupt others, a teacher can explain that everyone deserves a chance to speak. Parents and teachers should also set a good example, because children often copy the behaviour of adults. Finally, rules should be consistent, and children should face reasonable consequences when they deliberately break them.

4. Are children unhappy with the school rules?

Some children probably are, especially when they feel that the rules are too strict or unnecessary. For instance, students may dislike rules about uniforms, mobile phones or punctuality because they restrict their freedom. However, I don't think children dislike all rules. If students understand why a particular rule exists and feel that it is fair, they are much more likely to accept it. So, the way rules are introduced can make a big difference.

5. Do you think school rules are important?

Yes, absolutely. Schools need rules to maintain discipline and create a safe learning environment. Without rules, classrooms could become chaotic, and teachers might find it difficult to teach effectively. School rules also prepare children for adult life because they teach them to respect other people, manage their behaviour and understand their responsibilities. That said, schools should avoid having too many unnecessary rules.

6. What kinds of rules do schools in India have?

Indian schools generally have rules related to attendance, uniforms, punctuality, behaviour and academic work. Students are usually expected to wear the proper uniform, arrive on time and respect their teachers and classmates. Many schools also have rules about mobile phones, bullying and maintaining cleanliness. In addition, students may be required to complete their homework and follow examination rules. The exact rules vary from school to school, but the overall purpose is usually to maintain discipline and create a suitable environment for learning

43. Describe a special cake you received from others

You should say:

- When it happened
- Where it happened
- Who you got the cake from
- And explain why it's a special cake

- Today, I want to talk about a very special cake I received.
- It happened last year on my birthday.
- I was just at my home, and my friends planned a complete surprise party for me.
- I got this amazing cake from my group of best friends.
- The design of the cake was very unique and funny.
- I absolutely love drinking Coca-Cola, and all my friends know this.
- So, they brought a cake that was specially designed for me.
- On top of the cake, there was a Coke can made entirely out of chocolate.
- There was also dark chocolate syrup dripping out of the can onto the main cake.
- It was designed to look exactly like real Coke was spilling over it.
- This cake was extremely special to me for a few reasons.
- First, it was a complete surprise, and I was not expecting it at all.
- Second, it showed how much my friends care about my small habits and likes.
- They took the pain to find a good baker and get a custom cake just to make me smile.
- When they brought the cake into the room, I was simply overwhelmed with happiness.
- It made me feel very loved, and it was the best birthday cake I have ever had.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

What do you think of people using their mobile phones during a meal?
I think it is a very bad habit. Meal times are meant for enjoying the food and talking with family or friends. When people use their phones at the dining table, they ignore the people sitting right next to them. I feel it is quite disrespectful and ruins the bonding time.

What are the differences between special food in India and other countries?
The main difference is the use of spices and cooking methods. Special food in India usually has a lot of rich spices, herbs, and ghee, and it takes a long time to prepare. In many Western countries, special food might be a roasted meat like turkey or a baked pie, which uses fewer spices and focuses on more subtle flavors.

Is there any food in your country that is eaten at special times or on special occasions?
Yes, definitely. In India, food is a huge part of every celebration. For example, during festivals like Diwali, people eat and share a lot of traditional sweets like laddoos and barfi. At weddings or big family gatherings, rich dishes like Shahi Paneer, Dal Makhani, and special biryanis are always served to the guests.

Why are some people willing to spend a lot of money on meals on special days?
Special days like birthdays or anniversaries only come once a year. People want to celebrate and create happy memories with their loved ones. Spending money on a nice, expensive meal at a good restaurant makes the day feel extra special and gives them a break from their normal, everyday routine.

Do you think it's good to communicate when eating with your family?
Yes, I think it is very important. In today's busy world, family members do not get much free time to spend together during the day. Eating dinner together is the perfect time to share how the day went, discuss any problems, and build a stronger bond with each other

44. Describe a person who likes to look after the natural world

You should say:

- Who this person is
- What he or she does
- How he or she does it
- How often he or she does it
- And explain how you feel about this person

- Today, I would like to talk about a person I know who deeply cares for nature.
- That person is my mother, who is a passionate gardener.
- She absolutely loves planting different crops and flowers.
- In fact, we have hundreds of pots all over our home because of her hobby.
- She is always busy taking care of them and ensuring they get enough water and sunlight.
- She spends a lot of her free time searching on YouTube and Instagram for new gardening techniques and organic ideas.
- Whenever she finds a unique method to help plants grow better, she immediately implements it in our garden.
- She treats her plants like her own children and looks after them every single day.
- When her plants finally grow or the flowers bloom, her happiness knows no bounds.
- I feel very proud of my mother because she is doing something positive for the environment right at home.
- Sometimes, I even feel a bit jealous that such small things can give her so much joy.
- Seeing her passion has taught me that we should all appreciate the small, natural things in our lives.
- She has turned our house into a small green forest, which makes the air feel much fresher.
- She is a true inspiration to me, and I hope to learn more about nature from her in the future.

makkarIELTS

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Do you think parents should teach their children how to protect the environment?
Yes, I strongly believe that environmental education should start at home. Parents are the first teachers for any child, so if they practice good habits like saving water or planting trees, children will naturally follow them. Teaching these values early helps children grow up to be responsible citizens who care about the planet.

What laws about the environment are effective in your country?
In my country, there are several laws that help protect nature. One of the most effective is the ban on single-use plastic bags in many states. Also, there are strict rules against cutting down trees in forest areas and laws that punish factories for dumping waste into rivers. These laws are helping to reduce pollution slowly but surely.

Which do you think people prefer, rewards or punishment, when it comes to government intervention in environmental protection?
I think most people prefer rewards rather than punishments. For example, if the government gives subsidies for installing solar panels or buying electric vehicles, people feel motivated to help the environment. Punishments like heavy fines can sometimes make people feel frustrated, so positive encouragement usually works better to change behaviour.

Is it easy for children in cities to get close to the natural world?
Honestly, it is quite difficult for children living in big cities to stay connected with nature. Most cities are full of tall buildings and heavy traffic, with very few open green spaces. However, parents can still take their children to local parks on weekends or encourage them to grow small plants in balconies, just like my mother does at our home.

What can people do to protect the natural world?
There are many small things that every person can do. We can start by reducing our daily waste and recycling items like paper and glass. We should also try to save electricity and water whenever possible. Additionally, planting even one tree in our neighbourhood can make a big difference for the fresh air in the future.

Is it important to teach students environmental protection at school?
It is extremely important because students spend a large part of their day at school. When environmental protection is part of the school lessons, it becomes a habit for them. Schools can also organize practical activities, like cleaning drives or gardening projects, which help students understand the importance of nature in a fun and practical way.

45. Describe a story/book with animals in it

You should say:

- What animals are in it
- What the story/book is about
- Why you read the story/book
- And explain what you think of this story/book

- One book that I really like that has animals in it is The Jungle Book.
- It is actually a collection of stories by author Rudyard Kipling set in the jungles of India.
- The main animals in this book are wolves, a bear named Baloo, a panther named Bagheera, a tiger named Sher Khan, and a Python named Kaa.
- The main character of the book is a boy named Mowgli who grows up with these animals.
- Bagheera finds Mowgli in the jungle after he is separated from his human family.
- He brings him to the wolf den, where wolf pack leader Akela accepts him.
- He is adopted by a mother wolf named Raksha and a father wolf named Rama.
- The story is about Mowgli's life in the jungle and the challenges he faces while growing up there.
- The wolves raise him as one of their own, while Baloo and Bagheera act as his guardians and teach him how to survive in the jungle.
- They teach him important life skills and help him understand courage, friendship, and responsibility.
- He learns how to adapt to difficult situations and embrace his surroundings.
- However, the tiger Sher Khan hates humans and wants to harm him, so Mowgli has to learn how to protect himself and become brave.
- Throughout the story, he also has encounters with elephants, snakes, moneys, and kites.
- Eventually, he is forced to go to the man village, where he must decide where he really belongs, with humans or with the animals who raised him.
- Many TV series and movies were made based on the book, and I actually first watched it on TV in an anime adaptation.
- In India, the series was dubbed in Hindi, and the opening song "Jungle Jungle Baat Chali Hai" became very popular.
- I loved it so much that I decided to read the book. I wanted to know more about the characters and the original story.
- I thought the idea of a child growing up with animals is very innovative and interesting.
- I enjoyed the book because it is entertaining, adventurous ,and emotional at the same time.
- Each animal has a different personality, which makes the story very fun and memorable.
- I really liked the chemistry between Baloo and Mowgli because Baloo is very relaxed and funny.
- Bagheera, on the other hand, is wise, serious, and protective, so he shares a completely different kind of relationship with Mowgli.
- This book teaches us important values like loyalty, bravery, and friendship.
- It's a classic story that people of all ages can still enjoy today.
- Even though it's old, the lessons in the story are still relevant today.

Should schools teach children about animals?
Yes, schools should teach children about animals because it helps them understand nature and the environment. They can learn how animals live and survive, become more caring towards them and more aware of environmental problems.

Some people think pets should not be kept in cities. What do you think?
I think people can keep pets in cities, especially smaller breeds that don't need a lot of space. Pet owners should be responsible and make sure their pets are taken on regular walks and given proper attention.

Many people regard pets as members of their family. What do you think?
It is understandable that people regard pets as family members because people often get emotionally attached to their pets. These pets provide them loyalty and companionship. They spend years with their pets, so they naturally develop strong bonds with them.

Do many people keep pets in your country?
Yes, keeping pets is very common in my country. Dogs and cats are common pets, but dogs are more popular.

What are the advantages of keeping a pet?
Pets can provide company, reduce stress, and bring people joy. Taking care of a pet teaches patience and responsibility.

Why do people always tell children stories with animals?
I think animal stories are popular because children find animals interesting and fun. Animals represent human emotions and behaviour in a simple way, and children can understand the lessons more easily.

46. Describe a time when you had a problem using an electronic device

You should say:

- When it happened
- Where it happened
- What the problem was
- And explain how you solved the problem at last

- One time, I had a problem using an electronic device was over a month ago when my laptop suddenly stopped working.
- I had an important presentation for work, and it happened the day I was preparing some slides for it.
- I work from home, and I am dependent on my laptop entirely.
- At first, the laptop became very slow, and then it started freezing every few minutes.
- Then it turned black completely and would not respond at all.
- I tried pressing different keys and restarting my laptop, but nothing worked.
- I had not backed up my presentation, and I got very worried and nervous.
- After panicking for a while, I decided to calm down and look for solutions.
- I searched online using my phone to understand what the problem could be.
- I found out that sometimes laptops get overheated, and that's why they stop responding.
- So, I disconnected the charger, turned off the laptop, and let it cool for about 30 minutes.
- After waiting, I switched it on again.
- This time, the laptop started, but it was extremely slow and kept crashing whenever I opened any application.
- At that point, I realized I could not fix the issue alone.
- I asked my older sister for help as she knows much more about technology than I do.
- She checked the laptop, restarted it in safe mode, and discovered several problems.
- First, the storage was full because I had downloaded too many files.
- Second, I had too many applications running in the background and using memory.
- She also noticed that I had not updated my laptop for a long time.
- We deleted unnecessary files and old downloads.
- We removed unused applications and transferred important files to cloud storage.
- Finally, we updated the system software.
- Thankfully, after doing all that, the laptop started working normally again.
- I was so relieved because I was able to recover my files and save my presentation.
- I stayed up later than planned, but I was able to finish my presentation, and I was ready to show it to my manager the next day.
- This experience taught me an important lesson about taking care of electronic devices and backing up important work.
- Since then, I regularly update my laptop and clear any unnecessary storage.
- I also save my important documents to cloud storage as a backup.

makkarIELTS

Why are people keen on buying new electronic devices?
I think people are keen on buying new devices because technology changes very quickly these days. Companies bring out new products with better features, better battery life, and better performance, which attracts consumers. There is also social influence, when people see their friends using the latest devices, they also want to buy them.

What impact do electronic devices have on people?
Electronic devices make communication, learning, and daily tasks much easier and faster. However, excessive use can lead to addiction, less physical activity, poor sleep, and reduced face to face interaction. These devices are useful if used in a balanced and responsible way.

47. Describe an advertisement with a famous person in it

You should say:

- Who the person is
- Where you can see it
- What the advertisement is about
- And explain how you feel about the advertisement

- Personally, I don't like watching ads because they interrupt the flow, especially when I am watching a cricket match or a video online.
- However, there is one advertisement that I still remember clearly.
- It features Virat Kohli, who is one of the most famous cricketers in the world.
- In my opinion, he is also one of the best batsmen of this generation.
- I first saw this advertisement during the IPL tournament a few months ago.
- It was shown many times during the drinks break and between overs.
- The advertisement is about AI glasses made by Meta.
- The ad is very short, probably around 30 seconds long.
- In the advertisement, Virat Kohli is practicing batting in the nets.
- He tells his Meta AI glasses to record his shots while he is batting.
- After that, he asks the AI to send the video to his coach.
- In another version of the ad, he asks the glasses to record in slow motion.
- He also asks questions like which shot went the farthest and what he can improve in his game.
- The AI keeps replying to him instantly while he is practicing.
- The advertisement has fast music and modern graphics, so it looks very stylish.
- It is not really funny or emotional.
- I would say it is more informative and technology-focused.
- Honestly, if Virat Kohli was not in the ad, I probably would not watch it till the end.
- I watched it mainly because I am a cricket fan and I enjoy seeing Virat Kohli on screen.
- Overall, I found the advertisement interesting because it showed how AI can be useful in sports and daily life.

makkarIELTS

What are the advantages and disadvantages of advertisements?
I think advertisements are useful because they give information about new products and services. Sometimes people can also compare prices and choose better options. However, many ads are exaggerated and can mislead customers. Personally, I also feel some ads are too repetitive and become irritating after a point.

Why are many advertisements endorsed by celebrities? How useful are they?
Well, celebrities already have a huge fan following, so companies use them to attract attention quickly. People often trust products more when a famous actor or sportsperson promotes them. For example, many cricket fans watch ads just because of Virat Kohli or MS Dhoni. Still, I don't think celebrities guarantee product quality.

What is the most important factor in an advertisement?
According to me, the most important factor is that the advertisement should be simple and memorable. If people cannot understand the message quickly, they will ignore it. Good music or visuals can help, but the main idea should be clear. A short and relatable ad usually works better.

Why are some advertisements boring?
Some advertisements are boring because they feel too long or repetitive. Many companies focus too much on selling instead of making the content interesting. Sometimes the acting also looks fake, so people lose interest quickly. Honestly, if an ad does not connect with real life, most people skip it.

Is advertising important for a company? Why?
Yes, definitely. Advertising is very important because it helps companies reach more customers. Even if a product is good, people will not buy it if they do not know about it. Advertising also helps brands stay competitive in the market. Nowadays almost every company promotes itself online in some way.

Which is more effective, online advertising or offline advertising?
In my opinion, online advertising is more effective these days because most people spend a lot of time on phones and social media. Companies can also target specific age groups and interests online. However, offline advertising still works well in some cases, like billboards or TV ads during big cricket matches. So I think both are useful depending on the audience.

48. Describe a challenging technological problem you faced

You should say:

- What the problem was
- When and where you faced it
- How challenging it was
- And explain how you solved it

- Technical problems happen quite often and I keep facing them in daily life.
- Sometimes my phone hangs, my laptop becomes slow, or the internet stops working.
- But today I would like to talk about a problem I faced while printing and scanning documents for my passport application.
- This happened last year after my 12th exams got over.
- I had filled out my passport form online and needed scanned copies of my ID proofs for the appointment.
- I have an HP laser printer at home which cost around 10,000 rupees.
- About one week before my appointment, I tried to scan my documents through my laptop.
- But the printer app was not detecting the printer at all.
- At first, I thought it was a small issue, so I tried again several times.
- Then I restarted the printer and even restarted my laptop, but nothing worked.
- After that, I searched on YouTube for solutions.
- One video suggested updating the printer software, so I did that too.
- Honestly, after trying everything, I almost lost hope.
- Finally, I noticed that my house had two Wi-Fi connections.
- My laptop was connected to one network while the printer was connected to the other one.
- Because of that, the scan command was not reaching the printer.
- I connected both devices to the same Wi-Fi and suddenly everything started working perfectly.
- It took me almost two hours to figure out such a simple problem.
- In the end, I felt silly but also very relieved and happy.
- Although it was not a very serious issue, it definitely tested my patience.

makkarIELTS

What are the advantages and disadvantages of AI?
According to me, AI has many advantages because it saves time and makes work easier. For example, students can quickly find information and companies can automate simple tasks. However, there are some disadvantages too, like people becoming lazy or losing jobs due to machines. Sometimes AI also gives wrong information, so people should not trust it blindly.

Do you think people today should learn about AI technology?
Yes, definitely. AI is becoming a part of everyday life, so people should at least know the basics. Nowadays even mobile phones and social media apps use AI features. If people understand AI, they can use technology in a smarter and safer way. Otherwise, they may depend on it without understanding how it works.

Should children learn to use AI?
I think children should learn about AI, but in a limited and controlled way. It can help them learn new things faster and improve creativity. For instance, some AI apps help children practice maths or language skills. But if children use it too much, they may stop thinking on their own.

How can AI help in our lives?
Well, AI can help us in many ways in daily life. It can save time by doing repetitive work like setting reminders, answering questions, or translating languages. In hospitals, AI is also helping doctors detect diseases faster. Personally, I sometimes use AI tools for grammar checking and quick information.

Do you think students are overly reliant on AI?
Yes, in many cases students are becoming too dependent on AI. Some students use it to complete assignments without even understanding the topic. I believe this can affect their creativity and thinking skills in the long run. Still, if used properly, AI can be a very useful learning tool.

What can teachers do to stop students from relying too much on AI?
Teachers can give more practical and classroom-based activities. For example, they can ask students to explain answers face to face or do handwritten tasks. I think teachers should also teach students how to use AI in a balanced way instead of completely banning it. That way, students can learn technology without becoming fully dependent on it.

49. Describe a TV show/online program you have watched recently

- What it is
- What it is about
- How often you watch it
- And explain how you feel about it

- My 12th board exam results were declared just a few days ago.
- So, I finally have a massive weight off my shoulders and plenty of free time on my hands.
- To make the most of this free time, I have recently started binge-watching a phenomenal web series on YouTube called "Aspirants."
- The show is a realistic drama based on the lives of three close friends who move to a coaching hub in Delhi to prepare for one of the toughest competitive exams in the country.
- It beautifully captures their deep friendship, the immense academic pressure they face, their personal struggles, and how their lives change dramatically over the years as they chase their dreams.
- Right now, because I am completely free I am watching it almost every single day.
- I usually sit down with my laptop in the afternoon and finish two to three episodes at a stretch.
- I feel incredibly connected to this program because the theme hits very close to home.
- Having just gone through the stress of board exams and entrance preparations myself, I could completely relate to the characters' late-night study sessions and their fear of failure.
- However, instead of making me anxious, the show actually makes me feel highly motivated and resilient.
- It teaches a beautiful lesson that success isn't just about passing a single exam, but about the hard work you put in and the friendships you maintain along the way.
- It is a perfect show for any student entering the next phase of life.

Part 3: Follow-up Questions

1. What are the differences between the TV programs young people like to watch and those old people like to watch?
There is a major difference in preferences between the two age groups. Young people, especially teenagers and college students, prefer fast-paced, relatable content on streaming apps, such as campus dramas, sci-fi series, or stand-up comedy. We look for modern themes and shorter episodes. In contrast, older people usually prefer traditional television shows such as long-running family dramas or they watch mainstream news channels to keep track of current affairs.

2. What makes a popular TV or online program?
I believe a program becomes popular when it has high-quality storytelling and highly relatable characters. When viewers can see a glimpse of their own real-life struggles or humour on screen, they instantly share it within their friend circles. Word-of-mouth publicity, viral clips and memes on social media play a massive role in making a TV show an instant hit these days.

3. What kinds of TV or online programs are popular in your country?
In India, a wide variety of shows are popular these. On traditional TV, reality talent hunts, comedy talk shows, and live sports like cricket are incredibly popular with families. On the other hand, among the younger generation using OTT platforms like Netflix and JioHotstar, crime thrillers, youth centric web series, and entrepreneurial reality shows are currently very dominant.

50. Describe a place you have travelled to that you would like to recommend to others

- What it is
- Where it is
- What you saw and did there
- And explain why you would like to recommend it to others

- Right after my 12th board exam results came out, my family and I decided to take a short trip to celebrate the good news and get some relief from the intense summer heat.
- We packed our bags and went to the beautiful hill station, Shimla.
- Shimla is the capital city of Himachal Pradesh, located in the northern part of India.
- Shimla is famously known as the "Queen of Hills" because of its stunning landscape and rich history.
- It was the summer capital of India pre-independence as Delhi gets extremely hot during the summers.
- During our stay, we explored several wonderful spots.
- We spent our evenings walking around the famous Mall Road, which is a vehicle-free pedestrian road lined with beautiful colonial-era buildings, vibrant cafes, and local shops.
- I also visited the historic Christ Church, which looks absolutely spectacular with its stained-glass windows.
- We also went trekking up to the Jakhoo Temple, situated at the highest peak in Shimla, where we saw a massive statue of Lord Hanuman and enjoyed a panoramic view of the entire valley.
- It was a really breathtaking view.
- I would highly recommend Shimla to anyone, especially to students who have just gone through the stress of final exams.
- It is the perfect destination to refresh your mind.
- The combination of cool mountain air, beautiful pine forests, and peaceful walking tracks acts as an incredible stress-buster.
- It gives us the perfect peaceful environment to unwind, take great photographs, and mentally prepare ourself for the upcoming college journey.

Part 3: Follow-up Questions

1. Where do people in your country often go for holidays?

People in India choose their holiday destinations based on the season. During the blistering summer months, most families and youth head toward northern hill stations like Shimla, Manali, or Dharamshala to enjoy the cool weather. However, during the winter season, people prefer exploring coastal regions like Goa and Kerala, or visiting culturally rich heritage sites in Rajasthan.

2. What is the ideal length for a holiday?

I believe the ideal length for a holiday is around five to seven days. A week-long trip is perfect because it gives people ample time to explore all the major sightseeing spots without feeling rushed. At the same time, it is not so long that people start to miss home or fall behind on their work or studies.

3. How do people usually plan holidays?

Nowadays, technology has made planning a holiday incredibly seamless. Most people start by researching destinations on social media platforms like Instagram or YouTube vlogs. Once the location is fixed, they use online travel apps to compare prices and book flights, trains, and hotels. Many families also prefer booking all-inclusive tour packages through travel agents to ensure a hassle-free experience.

4. Is it important to plan a holiday?

Yes, meticulous planning is absolutely vital for a successful trip. Without proper planning, people can face major inconveniences like fully booked hotels, inflated transport prices, or missing out on key attractions due to seasonal closures. Planning ahead helps us manage our budget efficiently, and allows us to relax without any last-minute panic.

51. Describe a person who is good at learning and speaking new languages

- How you got to know him/her
- How he/she learns a new language
- What languages he/she can speak
- And explain how you feel about him/her

- I would like to talk about my school friend, Manpreet, who is exceptionally good at learning different languages.
- I first met him two years ago when we were in the 11th standard.
- We were in the same class and became close friends because we sat on the same bench together.
- I quickly noticed that he was always curious about learning new words and accents.
- His method of learning a language is very simple and fun.
- Instead of just reading thick grammar books or memorizing rules, he prefers to watch international movies and web series with English subtitles.
- He says this helps him hear how native speakers actually talk in real life. He also uses free mobile apps like Duolingo for 15 minutes every day, and he practices speaking out loud in front of a mirror to build up his confidence.
- Currently, Manpreet can speak four languages very well. He is completely fluent in Punjabi, Hindi, and English. On top of that, during our school holidays, he learned conversational French all by himself through online YouTube tutorials.
- I feel very proud of him and admire his talent.
- It is amazing to see him switch from one language to another so easily. Seeing him make so much progress has inspired me as well.
- Since I have finished my 12th board exams and have free time right now, I am also planning to join a basic language class soon.

makkarIELTS

Part 3: Follow-up Questions

1. Are there many people who can speak foreign languages in your country?
Yes, absolutely. India is inherently a multilingual country where most citizens grow up speaking at least two or three regional languages fluently. In recent years, with the rise of global corporate jobs and international education, a massive number of school students and young professionals are actively learning global foreign languages like French, German, Spanish, and Japanese.

2. Does speaking other languages help at work?
It definitely provides a massive professional advantage. In today's globalized economy, companies deal with international clients on a daily basis. An employee who can speak a foreign language can break down communication barriers easily, negotiate deals effectively, and build strong relationships. It also opens up excellent career opportunities for working abroad or translating inside multinational corporations.

3. Do people learn any languages other than English?
Yes, definitely. While English is universally taught as a primary second language in our schools for academic and official use, other languages are gaining massive popularity. For instance, many students choose French or German as optional subjects in high school. Furthermore, due to the massive global popularity of pop culture, languages like Korean and Japanese have seen a huge surge in interest among teenagers.

4. Why is it easier for children to learn new things than for adults?
Scientists believe this is mainly due to the high plasticity of children's brain, which acts like a sponge, absorbing new sounds and information easily. Children are also naturally curious and, unlike adults, they are not afraid of making mistakes when pronouncing words incorrectly. This lack of hesitation allows them to pick up accents and vocabulary much faster.

5. How do people learn new things?
People use a variety of pathways to master new skills today. Some prefer structured, formal environments like enrolling in academic institutions, colleges, or specialized coaching centers. Others prefer digital tools, such as watching instructional YouTube videos, reading online blogs and listening to podcasts.

6. What is the most important thing for learning a language well?
In my opinion, the absolute key to mastering any language is consistent practice and real-world practice. Someone can memorize an entire dictionary, but if they do not actively practice speaking, listening, and thinking in that language with other people, they will never achieve fluid fluency. I also believe that people should not be afraid of making mistakes.

52. Describe a long-term goal/ambition you would like to achieve

You should say:

- How long you have had this goal/ambition
- What it is
- How you will achieve it
- And explain why you set it

- Setting goals is very important in life.
- Goals give a direction to life
- If we don't have a goal, we don't have anything to work for.
- I set up short time goals for myself such as doing well in exams and working hard to achieve those goals.
- But, my ultimate long-term goal is to give a comfortable life to my family and I have had this goal since I started high school.
- I have seen my family struggle for finances (money) at times, and so I want them to lead an easy life
- I have just completed my senior secondary / graduation here, and I plan to go abroad for my higher education.
- So, I understand that I have a long way to go before I can achieve my goal.
- First, I will complete my higher education in Canada, and then, hopefully, get a good job and start earning well.
- I have seen my relatives, who are in Canada, lead a very lavish lifestyle.
- My parents now look upon me to give them such a life.
- They have saved some money to send me to Canada.
- I know that I will have to work part time to cover my overhead expenses.
- I don't want to put any more burden on my parents.
- I hope I am able to achieve my goal one day.
- I also want to be a productive member of society.
- I believe that if God has given us more than others, we should share something with the poor.
- I would be very happy, if I am able to achieve all that.

Or

- A big dream I have is to go and study in Canada.
- I've been thinking about this goal since I finished my senior secondary school.
- My plan is not just to study there but to eventually make it my home and bring all the comforts to my parents.
- For a while now, I have been working on this goal step by step.
- First, I need to clear a test called IELTS.
- It's like a key that opens the door to studying in Canada. So, I'm preparing for that.
- After I clear IELTS, my next step is to apply to Canadian universities.
- I want to study something I really like, maybe something related to computers.
- Choosing the right program is important to get a good education and also to have good opportunities in Canada.
- Once I get admission to a university, I'll be flying to Canada for my studies. It's a big step, and I'll be away from home, but it's exciting because I'll be learning new things and meeting new people.

- The reason I set this goal is because I want to make my parents proud and happy.
- They have always supported me, and this is my way of giving back to them.
- Canada is known for being a nice place with friendly people and good opportunities.
- I believe studying there will not only help me learn new things but also open doors for a good job.
- Being in Canada, I can work hard, build a good life, and eventually bring my parents to live with me.
- I want them to have all the comforts and happiness.
- It's a long-term goal, but I think it's worth it because it's not just about my dreams; it's also about making a better life for my family.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What goals should a society have?

A society should have goals that focus on the well-being and progress of its members. These may include ensuring access to education, healthcare, and employment opportunities, promoting equality, and fostering a safe and supportive community. Goals should aim to create a society where people can live fulfilling lives with dignity and mutual respect.

2. Do people need to have goals?

Yes, people need to have goals as they provide direction, motivation, and a sense of purpose. Goals help individuals plan for the future, make positive choices, and overcome challenges. They act as a roadmap, guiding people toward personal and collective achievements.

3. What goals do people at your age have?

People at my age often have goals related to education, career development, building relationships, and personal growth. These goals may include completing a specific level of education, securing a job, and developing skills that contribute to a fulfilling and meaningful life.

4. Is it necessary to give advice to children?

Yes, it is necessary to give advice to children as it helps guide them in making informed decisions, developing good habits, and understanding the values that contribute to positive behaviour. Advice from parents, teachers, and mentors plays a crucial role in a child's upbringing, providing them with insights and knowledge for navigating life.

5. What goals do young people usually have?

Young people usually have goals such as completing their education, pursuing a career, establishing financial stability, and building meaningful relationships. These goals contribute to their personal development and future success.

6. What should people do to achieve their goals?

To achieve their goals, people should set clear objectives, create a plan of action, and stay motivated. It's important to break larger goals into smaller, manageable steps, seek support from others, and remain adaptable to changes. Persistence, hard work, and learning from setbacks are key factors in achieving long-term goals. Additionally, maintaining a positive mindset and staying focused on the desired outcome can contribute to successful goal attainment.

53. Describe a time when you were stuck in a traffic jam for a very long time

You should say:

- When it happened
- Where you were stuck
- What you did while waiting
- And explain how you felt in the traffic jam

- I live in a small town, and in general, there is not much traffic on the roads.
- The only time we face traffic jams is when there is a religious procession or a political rally.
- Most of the time, these events are announced beforehand, so I rarely get stuck in traffic jams.
- However, last month I had gone to Jalandhar to buy some clothes for my cousin's wedding.
- While going there, the roads were completely clear, and the journey was smooth.
- But on our way back, the main road between my hometown, Phagwara, and Jalandhar was shut down because two buses had collided.
- Huge cranes had to be brought to remove the damaged buses from the roads, and that took a lot of time.
- This being a main road slowly led to a huge jam.
- The traffic police tried to get the traffic diverted through a service road.
- But the road was considerably narrower than the main road, and because of that, the traffic built up.
- We ended up being stuck in the jam for almost 2 to 3 hours.
- At first, we didn't think we would have to wait for so long.
- We thought it was just busier than normal, and things would clear up soon.
- However, when our car barely moved 100 metres in 15 minutes, my father got out of the car and asked some people what had happened.
- Unfortunately, there was no space to turn around or back up, so we had no choice but to wait patiently.
- So, we tried to pass the time by playing games, listening to music, and talking with each other.
- To be honest, we also spent quite a while whining about government failure, even though we all knew such circumstances are unavoidable.
- The whole experience was very exhausting and frustrating.
- We were tired, hungry and just wanted to reach home as quickly as possible.
- Still, the day ended on a happy note as far as I was concerned.
- Because we reached home late, my mother didn't have time to cook dinner.
- So instead, we ordered pizza, which kind of made up for the long wait in the jam.

makkarIELTS

Do you like to use public transport?
Not really. Honestly, public transportation in India is not that good. Firstly, it takes longer to travel by public transport than by our own vehicle. Secondly, it is also not comfortable as most buses and trains are not maintained regularly. In many cases, they are unclean. However, things are changing for the better.

Would you rather be in a car or a bus in a traffic jam?
I think I would rather be in a bus during a traffic jam, as it gives more flexibility. In a bus, I can at least get down and walk around if the traffic is not moving. I could even walk ahead and catch a bus from a less crowded area.

How can we solve the traffic jam problem?
I think the government should promote the use of public transportation by making it more comfortable and faster. For example, the traffic conditions in Delhi have improved considerably after the launch of the Delhi Metro. Also, the roads need to be widened wherever possible to accommodate more cars.

Do you think developing public transport can solve traffic jam problems?
I think public transportation can resolve traffic issues, but only if it is fast and comfortable. Delhi had local trains for a long time, and people did not prefer them because they were slow. However, the construction of the Delhi metro, which is quite fast and comfortable, made a real dent in traffic.

Do you think the highways will help reduce traffic jams?
They do to a certain extent, but as the population is increasing and more people prefer to travel by their vehicles, it is certainly not the best solution. In fact, they are counterproductive as they encourage more people to travel by their own cars.

What are good ways to manage traffic?
The best way to manage traffic is to have fast and well-maintained public transportation. For example, the traffic in Delhi decreased significantly after Metro. Secondly, the government should improve the road infrastructure, for example, construct flyovers and widen roads.

54. Describe a special day out that cost you little money/didn't cost you much

You should say:

- When the day was
- Where you went
- How much you spent
- And explain how you feel about the day

- Well, special days are very important in everyone's life, and in our country, people spend a lot on their special days like birthdays, marriages etcetera
- If on such occasion one doesn't have to spend a lot of money, then it will make the day extra special.
- I would like to talk about one such special day when I celebrated my birthday party with my friends at a newly opened restaurant in our town.
- It was my 20th birthday, and all of my friends were asking me for a treat.
- Since we had tried all the major restaurants in our town, I thought of taking them to a new place.
- I saw an advertisement in the newspaper about a new theme-based restaurant that had opened in our city.
- The name of the restaurant was Big Chill Café, and it was based on a musical theme.
- I quickly called the café and made a reservation for 8 people.
- They told me that per person cost would be around 1000 Rs, and I gave them the confirmation.
- We reached there around 8 PM in the evening.
- As soon as we entered the café, we were amazed by the interiors of the café.
- The walls were decorated with huge posters of famous singers.
- The furniture was very trendy, and the restaurant had beautiful lighting.
- In the background, famous rock songs were being played
- There were also a lot of musical instruments, like guitars and drums, lying in all corners of the restaurant
- They had reserved a huge table in the centre for us.
- We quickly ordered some snacks, which were also named after famous songs
- The starters were really delicious, and we had a great time enjoying the snacks along with the music.
- After that, we ordered some food, and surprisingly the waiters also brought a birthday cake, which was ordered by my friends.
- But the biggest surprise came when I asked for the bill, and it was only Rs 1000 instead of Rs 8000.
- Initially, I thought it was a mistake, but when we called the hotel manager, they told us that we were their 100th customer, so they decided to give us a discount.
- I couldn't believe it. I had never been this lucky before.
- At that moment, it felt like I had won a lottery.
- I thanked the manager and told him that he made my birthday extra special.
- I told my parents about it, and they were also very happy to hear this.
- I still remember that birthday vividly because of this one incident.

Do people like to spend their leisure time out in your country?
Yes, many people in my country like to spend their leisure time out. They like going to malls, parks, gardens, temples, beaches, mountains, historical places etc.

How do people spend their leisure time in your country?
In my country, people spend leisure time watching movies, playing video games, visiting friends and family, shopping, playing cricket with friends on the streets, etc.

How does technology affect the way people spend their leisure time?
Technology has made leisure time more fun and convenient by offering online games, movies, and social media. But because of technology, people spend less time on outdoor and face-to-face activities.

Do you think only old people have time for leisure?
It is true that many old people are retired, which gives them more free time to relax and enjoy their hobbies. However, young people can also find time for leisure activities if they can balance their work, studies, and other responsibilities.

Why do people like to have days off?
People like to have days off to relax and spend time with family and friends. People can enjoy their hobbies and do things they can't do during workdays.
Going out to have holidays is tiring. Why do people still want to do it?
Even though holidays can be tiring, people still go because they want to relax, explore new places, and create new memories with loved ones. It also provides a break from daily life.

55. Describe a home that you like to visit but do not want to live in

You should say:

- Where it is
- What it is like
- Why you like to visit it
- And explain why you would not like to live there

- Today I would like to talk about my uncle's flat in Mohali, which I really enjoy visiting but would not like to live in permanently.
- My uncle lives in a modern society on the 15th floor.
- It is a three-bedroom flat with a very beautiful interior.
- The best part of the flat is the balcony because it offers an amazing view of the city, especially at night.
- The society is quite posh and has many facilities for residents.
- There is a gym, a swimming pool, a badminton court, and even a small park for children.
- Whenever I visit his place during weekends or holidays, I really enjoy spending time there.
- Sometimes we sit in the balcony and have tea while enjoying the cool breeze and city lights.
- I also like the fact that everything in the society is well managed and secure.
- However, despite all these facilities, I would not like to live there permanently.
- The main reason is that I am more comfortable living in my own independent house in the village.
- Our house is much more spacious and has open areas around it.
- We also have our own garden and ample parking space.
- Another big advantage is that there is fresh air and very little noise pollution in our area.
- In comparison, flats sometimes feel a little cramped because bedrooms and living spaces are smaller.
- Moreover, people living in flats have limited outdoor space.
- I also do not like the idea of taking the lift every single time I want to go outside.
- So, although I love visiting my uncle's flat for short stays, I personally prefer the comfort and freedom of living in an independent house.

makkarIELTS

Do Indian people like to visit others' homes?
Yes, definitely. In India, people are quite social and they enjoy meeting relatives, friends, and neighbours at their homes. Especially during festivals or family functions, visiting each other's homes is very common. However, nowadays some young people prefer meeting outside in cafes or malls because of their busy schedules.

What do Indian people do when they visit others?
Well, usually people sit together, have tea or snacks, and talk for a long time. In Indian culture, guests are treated with a lot of respect, so hosts often offer food even if someone visits for a short time. In my family, whenever guests come over, my mother immediately starts preparing tea and snacks.

What kind of place do people in your country like to live in?
I think it depends on lifestyle and age group. Many young people prefer living in cities because of better jobs and modern facilities, while older people often like peaceful places with more space. Personally, I prefer an independent house because it gives more privacy and comfort.

What's the difference between homes in cities and those in the countryside?
There is a huge difference, honestly. City homes are usually smaller and more expensive because of limited space, whereas countryside homes are more spacious and surrounded by open areas. On the other hand, city houses are closer to offices, schools, and shopping centres, so they are more convenient in some ways.

56. Describe a thing you did to learn another language

You should say:

- What language you learned
- What you did
- How it helped you learn the language
- And how you felt about it

- I started learning Spanish recently. I have always wanted to learn a foreign language.
- I feel that knowing a foreign language allows us to understand different people, cultures, and environments
- I have an aunt in California who mentioned that she started learning Spanish.
- I thought she was so lucky to have an institution in her hometown that teaches Spanish.
- But then she told me that she was learning from a mobile app called Duolingo.
- She really loved the app and told me it had short lessons and all you need is 10-15 minutes a day.
- I downloaded the Duolingo app on my phone and a desktop version on my computer.
- I was so impressed with this app and couldn't believe that the basic version was free.
- It had more than 30 languages like German, French, Spanish, Chinese, etc.
- It had a very simple user interface, and it was very easy to create an account and get started.
- I was really confused between learning French and Spanish but decided to go for Spanish.
- Spanish is the fourth most spoken language and is spoken in many countries like Spain, Mexico, South America.
- I also wanted to practice Spanish with my aunt online.
- I started doing lessons in my free time. I would do them on the bus while commuting to my college.
- I would do them while waiting for friends. It was so convenient to have on the go learning.
- One of the beginner lessons was common phrases like Hello - Hola, Good Morning – Buenos Dias, Nice to meet you – mucho gusto. I really liked doing this lesson.
- I also started watching a Spanish show called Money Heist on Netflix to add to my learning.
- Duolingo presented the lessons in a very simple manner. It not only helped me with speaking Spanish but the lessons were designed to help me learn, writing it too.
- Also, it was fun to do as there were rewards for reaching different levels and practicing daily.
- There was also an option to add friends and track each other's progress. I added my aunt and it kept us both motivated to learn.
- I am still learning and still using the app every day. I am so happy and satisfied with my effort so far. I hope to become fluent one day.
- It gives me so much joy when I can completely understand a few lines on a Spanish show or when recognize words in Spanish subtitles.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of learning a language?
The advantages of learning a language include improving cognitive skills, boosting career opportunities, and allowing better communication with people from different cultures. However, it can be time-consuming and challenging, especially when it comes to mastering grammar, vocabulary, and pronunciation. Sometimes, the frustration of not being able to communicate fluently can be discouraging.

Some people think that technology has made it unnecessary to learn languages. What do you think?
I believe technology has made communication easier through translation apps and real-time translation tools, but it doesn't make learning languages unnecessary. Learning a language helps us understand different cultures, build better relationships, and think critically. Technology can assist, but it cannot replace the full experience of learning a language.

What difficulties do people face when learning a language?
People often struggle with pronunciation, remembering vocabulary, and understanding grammar rules. It can also be difficult to find opportunities for practice, especially if the language isn't widely spoken in their region. The fear of making mistakes and lack of confidence can also be barriers to effective learning.

Do you think language learning is important? Why?
Yes, language learning is very important because it connects people across the world. It opens up opportunities for travel, education, and career advancement. It also fosters cultural understanding and personal growth by allowing us to see the world from different viewpoints.

Which is better, to study a language alone or to study it in a group? Why?
It depends on the individual's learning style. Studying alone can be great for focusing on personal goals and self-paced learning. However, studying in a group can provide motivation, opportunities for conversation practice, and different perspectives on learning the language. I think a balance of both approaches works best.

What is the best way to learn a language?
The best way to learn a language is through a combination of methods: practicing speaking with native speakers, listening to podcasts or watching shows in that language, and studying grammar and vocabulary regularly. Immersion and consistent practice are key to improving language skills.

57. Describe a time when you organized a happy event successfully

You should say:

- What the event was
- How you prepared for it
- Who helped you to organize it
- And explain why you think it was a successful event

- I love to organise events and bringing people together.
- I have organized many birthday parties, anniversaries and holiday celebrations, but this occasion was very different from the others.
- On July 16th, 2020, my mother turned 50, and I wanted to do something special to celebrate this milestone in her life.
- However, due to the pandemic, most celebrations were forbidden.
- We were all cooped up inside our houses.
- I decided to give her a surprise online party.
- I asked my sister for advice on how we can make it special.
- We have a large family, and we asked everyone in the family, all our cousins, uncles, and aunt to record something for my mother.
- It could be anything, there were no restrictions.
- One of my cousins recorded a dance performance, an uncle wrote a beautiful poem, my grandpa sang a beautiful song in Gujrati.
- After receiving all the videos, we combined them into one big video.
- It was not easy though, we had to send reminders and message some of my aunts and uncles repeatedly.
- Some even sent it one day before the birthday, but they all finally did it.
- Moreover, it was all hard to remind them to keep it a secret.
- We were sure one of our aunts or uncles would spill the beans.
- Thankfully no one did.
- Then, we organised a special get together on zoom for the family.
- This was also hard because some of our relatives live in a different time zone.
- We wanted to choose a time everyone could be available.
- Here we failed to some extent as some of our relatives couldn't be online at that time.
- The birthday fell on a weekday, so it was just not possible.
- On her birthday, I ordered her favourite- truffle cake.
- And then when everyone joined the zoom meeting, I handed my mom the phone and told her someone wants to wish her a happy birthday.
- She was shocked to see all the family on the meeting.
- Then, she cut the cake, while I held the phone and everyone wished her happy birthday.
- Finally, for the big reveal, we played the video on the TV and recorded her reactions while watching the video and we telecasted it on the meeting on a split-screen.
- One screen showing her reactions and the other showing the video.
- My mother had happy tears in her eyes by the end of it all and I think that alone made it a successful event.
- However, others told me it was such wonderfully organised and it was so nice meeting everyone online. Even after the video was over, everyone stayed on the meeting, and we kept on talking and discussing everyday life.

How would you feel when you were not well prepared for something?
When I am not well prepared, I feel anxious and nervous because I fear making mistakes. Lack of preparation can also lead to embarrassment if things don't go as expected.

Do you prefer to prepare and organize an activity or just take part in an activity?
I prefer to take part in activities rather than organize them because organizing requires a lot of effort and planning. However, I enjoy organizing when it's something I am passionate about, like a family gathering or a small event.

How can parents help children to be organized?
Parents can help children become organized by setting routines and teaching them to manage their time. Encouraging them to keep their study area clean or plan their day can build good habits over time.

On what occasions do people need to be organised?
People need to be organized during occasions like weddings, exams, or work presentations. These situations require planning to avoid chaos and ensure success.

Does everything need to be well prepared?
Not everything needs to be fully prepared, but important events or tasks do require proper planning. Being prepared helps things run smoothly, but some situations can also work out well spontaneously.

Do people need others' help when organizing things?
Yes, people often need help when organizing things because it can be challenging to manage everything alone. Tasks like planning, setting up, and coordinating require teamwork for better results.

58. Describe a time when you sent a message or an email to someone but received no reply for a long time

You should say:

- Who you sent it to
- What the message/email was about
- Whether you finally received the reply
- And explain how you felt about the experience

- Usually, I do not write many emails because I mostly communicate through WhatsApp and social media apps.
- However, today I would like to talk about a time when I sent an official email and did not receive a reply for a long time.
- This happened last summer after my 12th standard exams got over.
- At that time, I was thinking about my future study options.
- My cousin suggested that I should pursue higher studies in Australia.
- So, I started researching universities on Google and shortlisted two universities.
- I carefully followed the admission process on their websites and uploaded all my documents.
- After submitting my application, I expected a quick response.
- However, even after one month, I did not receive any confirmation or update from the university.
- I started feeling worried and confused.
- Then my cousin advised me to send them an email asking about my application status.
- In the email, I mentioned my details and application ID and politely asked for an update.
- I hoped that they would reply soon, but again there was no response for almost two weeks.
- Finally, I sent a follow-up email.
- Luckily, after a few days, I received a reply from the university.
- They acknowledged my application and informed me about the next steps in the process.
- I felt really relieved after receiving their reply.
- From this experience, I learned that official processes can take time and people need to stay patient.

makkarIELTS

In what situations do people spend a long time responding to others' messages?
Well, I think people usually reply late when they are busy with work or studies. Sometimes they read the message but forget to respond later. In official situations also, replies can take time because many people are involved in the process.

In what situations do people not respond to messages at all?
Sometimes people ignore messages if they are not interested in talking or if they feel the message is unimportant. In a few cases, people may also avoid replying after an argument. However, there are also people who simply forget because they receive too many messages every day.

What would you do if you did not receive a reply after sending out a message?
Usually, I would wait for some time because the other person might be busy. After that, I would probably send a polite follow-up message or make a call if the matter was important. I do not like sending repeated messages because it can annoy people.

Why do some people prefer sending a message instead of making a call?
According to me, messages are more convenient because people can reply in their own free time. Some people also feel shy or uncomfortable talking on calls, especially with strangers or in professional situations. Moreover, messaging saves time and avoids unnecessary long conversations.

How do you show your respect in your messages?
I usually use polite words like "please," "thank you," and "kindly." I also avoid rude language and try to reply properly, especially to elders or teachers. In formal messages, I make sure my tone is respectful and professional.

Why do some people feel angry when others don't reply to their message?
I think people feel ignored when they do not get a reply, especially if the message is important. Nowadays, most people check their phones frequently, so delayed replies sometimes create misunderstandings. Personally, I also feel a little disappointed if someone sees my message but does not respond at all.

59. Describe a city you enjoyed visiting

You should say:

- Where it is
- When you visited it
- How long you stayed there
- What you did there
- And explain why you enjoyed visiting it

- Today, I want to talk about a beautiful city that I really enjoyed visiting.
- The city is Chandigarh, which is known as the "City Beautiful."
- I went there on a short vacation with my best friend.
- We visited this city right after finishing our 12th-grade exams.
- We had studied very hard, so we just wanted to unwind and relax.
- We went there for a weekend trip and stayed at my uncle's house.
- We did a lot of fun things during our stay.
- First, we visited the famous Rock Garden and the serene Sukhna Lake.
- Then, we went to Elante Mall, which is one of the biggest malls there.
- We actually spent a whole day just exploring the mall, shopping, and eating.
- I absolutely loved visiting Chandigarh for a few main reasons.
- First, the whole city is incredibly clean and green.
- The streets are very neat, and all the trees make the air feel fresh and healthy.
- Second, I was amazed to see that the people there are very law-abiding citizens.
- For example, I saw someone waiting patiently at a red traffic light, even though the road was completely empty.
- This is something you rarely see in any other city!
- Finally, I loved that there is just so much to do in Chandigarh.
- Even though we only went for a weekend, we could have stayed for a whole week and never run out of things to do.
- It was a perfect trip, and I cannot wait to go back.
- Before you travel to a city, what factors would you consider?
- Before traveling to a new city, I always consider a few important factors. First, I check the weather so I know exactly what kind of clothes to pack. Second, I look at the cost of hotels and food to make sure the trip fits within my budget. Finally, I also search for the famous tourist spots I can visit that can fit in my itinerary.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

What are the disadvantages of living in a very famous city?

Living in a very famous city definitely has some big disadvantages. The main problem is that everything is usually very expensive, from renting an apartment to buying daily groceries. Also, famous cities are often crowded with tourists, which causes heavy traffic jams and a lot of noise every day. Furthermore, the high number of vehicles can lead to bad air pollution.

Do you prefer to visit well-developed cities or cities with a long history?

I personally prefer visiting cities with a long history because I really love learning about how people lived in the past. Historical cities have beautiful old buildings, palaces, and forts that are very unique to explore. While modern, well-developed cities have huge malls and tall buildings, they all tend to look quite similar to me, whereas historical places feel much more interesting and unique

For those who live in cities, is it because they want to or have to?

I think it is a mix of both reasons. Many people have to live in cities because they need to find good jobs or attend higher education universities, which are often not available in small towns. However, some people live in cities simply because they want to. They enjoy the fast-paced lifestyle, the entertainment options, and the better medical facilities that big cities offer.

60. Describe a short-term job you want to have in a foreign country

You should say:

- Where it is
- How you know of it
- What the job is
- And explain why you want to do it

- I am a very big coffee lover.
- However, I do not like buying coffee from stores.
- It is often very expensive, and sometimes it tastes too bitter for me.
- Because of this, I love making coffee myself at home.
- Recently, I was searching on the internet.
- I found a job for an assistant barista at a famous cafe in Paris.
- It looked like a dream job to me. France has been my dream country to visit since I was a child.
- Also, making coffee is one of my biggest passions.
- I have heard that France gives "working holiday" visas.
- This means you can work for a short time while visiting as a tourist.
- So, my plan is to travel around France on my days off.
- Then, I would work at the cafe for the rest of the week.
- I would enjoy this much more than a normal holiday.
- Instead of just visiting, I would get to live like a local person.
- Working at the cafe would teach me many new skills. I would learn how to pick the best coffee beans.
- I would also learn how to make beautiful latte art from experts.
- Also, working in a busy cafe in Paris would be great for meeting people.
- I would get to talk to local customers every single day.
- This would help me practice speaking French in real life.
- It would also help me see how French people live their daily lives.
- In the end, this short-term job is a perfect mix for me.
- It combines my dream of traveling to France with my love for making coffee.

makkarIELTS

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

What short-term jobs do young people do in other countries?

Young people usually do casual jobs that are easy to get. Many work in restaurants as waiters or in cafes as baristas. They also work in hotels, on farms picking fruit, or as local tour guides. These jobs are great because they allow young people to earn money while traveling.

What challenges do young people face when working abroad?

The biggest challenge is the language barrier. If they do not know the local language, it is hard to talk to people. Another big problem is feeling homesick, as they are far away from their family and friends. Also, adjusting to new food, new weather, and a different culture can take some time.

3.What are the benefits of working for an international company?

There are many great benefits. First, international companies usually pay better salaries and offer good facilities. Second, employees get to meet and work with people from all over the world. This helps them learn new ideas and grow faster in their careers.

4. What personal skills are required to work in an international company?

Good communication skills are the most important. A person must know how to speak English or other common languages well. They also need to be flexible and open-minded as the work culture in an international company might be completely different from the work culture in their own country. Finally, being a good team player and respecting people from different cultures is very necessary.

5. What kind of work can young people do in foreign countries?

Besides casual short-term jobs, young people can also do professional work if they are qualified. For example, many young people work as software engineers, nurses, or teachers. Many students also go abroad for higher education and do part-time jobs in supermarkets or stores to support themselves.

6. Why are some people unwilling to work in other countries?

Many people do not want to go abroad because they cannot leave their family and friends behind. They feel scared or lonely living in a completely new place. Some people are also very happy with their current jobs, culture, and comfortable life in their home country, so they do not want to take the risk of moving.

61. Describe a boring place

You should say:

- Where it is
- Who you went there with
- What you did there
- And explain why you think it is a boring place

- Well, I would like to talk about a very boring place that I visited a few years ago.
- It was a small village called Torontowala, which is located near my hometown, Mohali.
- My cousin lives there with his family.
- I went there with my mother right after my 10th standard exams got over.
- At that time, I was completely free at home, so my relatives invited me to spend a few days in the village and experience village life.
- Honestly, in the beginning I was very excited because I had always heard that village life is peaceful and enjoyable.
- But after reaching there, my excitement disappeared within one day.
- In fact, those were probably the ten most boring days of my life.
- I sometimes joke that this is the place where boredom actually originated from.
- There was literally nothing to do there.
- The village had no entertainment options at all.
- There was only one small temple, a silent market, and a few tiny shops.
- There was no playground, no sports facilities, and not even a library.
- Most people simply worked in the fields during the day or did household chores.
- In the evening, many villagers visited the temple and then went back home.
- Another problem was electricity cuts during summer.
- Electricity was available only for a few hours, so I could not even watch television properly.
- After spending one day in the fields and meeting relatives, I had absolutely nothing to do for the remaining days.
- Every day I just wandered around the village, but it was extremely quiet and empty.
- I really missed the hustle and bustle of city life.
- Thankfully, I had downloaded a few movies on my laptop, so my cousin and I watched them together to pass time.
- Other than that, life there was extremely slow-paced.
- I understand that some people may enjoy such places because they are peaceful and away from city noise.
- However, personally I felt very bored there.
- Still, I truly respect village people because they are very hardworking and simple people.

makkarIELTS

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Why do most children think education is boring?

Well, many children find education boring because schools often focus too much on memorization and exams instead of practical learning. Students usually enjoy activities, discussions, or experiments more than long lectures. For example, I personally enjoyed subjects where teachers used stories or real-life examples.

Why aren't young people willing to listen to the experiences of older people?

I think many young people feel that older generations cannot fully understand modern problems and lifestyles. Also, youngsters nowadays get information quickly from the internet and social media, so they sometimes ignore advice from elders. However, in many situations older people's experience can actually save time and mistakes.

What can people do when they feel bored?

According to me, people should try doing something productive or creative when they feel bored. For instance, they can play sports, watch a good movie, go outside for a walk, or spend time with friends. Personally, whenever I feel bored, I usually listen to music or watch comedy shows to refresh my mind.

Why are some teachers' classes boring? Are there any solutions?

Honestly, some classes become boring when teachers only keep reading from books without interacting with students. If the teaching style is very serious and one-sided, students lose interest quickly. I believe teachers should include discussions, activities, videos, or real-life examples to make lessons more engaging and interesting.

62. Describe a new law you would like to introduce in your country

You should say:

- What law it is
- What changes this law brings
- Whether this new law will be popular
- How you came up with the new law
- And explain how you feel about this new law

- Well, there are already many laws in my country, but unfortunately many of them are not strictly followed.
- Sometimes people ignore the rules, and in many cases the government also does not properly check whether people are following them or not.
- However, today I would like to talk about a new law that I would really like to introduce in my country.
- This law is related to banning social media for children and limiting their screen time.
- I got this idea last month when my cousin from the United Kingdom visited us.
- During a family discussion, he told me about some new rules introduced there regarding children's use of social media.
- He said that scientists had done research which showed that excessive screen time is affecting the intelligence and concentration level of the younger generation.
- Honestly, I was quite surprised to hear that because I had never thought deeply about this issue before.
- He also mentioned that the government is trying to reduce children's screen time to less than 30 minutes a day.
- Apart from that, even the Australian government has introduced similar restrictions where teenagers cannot easily create social media accounts.
- After listening to him, I realized how serious this problem actually is.
- Nowadays many children spend hours watching short videos or scrolling on social media instead of studying or playing outdoor games.
- In my opinion, this is harming both their mental and physical health.
- If this law is introduced in my country, children may spend more time on education, sports, and real-life communication.
- I think this law would become quite popular among parents and teachers.
- Of course, some youngsters may oppose it in the beginning because social media has become a big part of their daily routine.
- But in the long run, I believe it would be very beneficial for society.
- Personally, I feel very positive about this law because one should not use social media for long hours every day.
- I strongly believe that technology should help people, not control their lives.
- So, this is a law that I would definitely like to introduce in my country

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

What rules should students follow at school?

Students should follow basic rules like respecting teachers, being punctual, wearing proper uniform, and not disturbing others in class. Schools work properly only when students maintain discipline. I think these rules also prepare children for professional life in the future.

Do people in your country usually obey the law?

Well, some people follow the law properly, but many people break small rules quite casually, especially traffic rules. For example, it is common to see people jumping red lights or not wearing helmets. However, things are improving slowly because of stricter fines and awareness.

What kinds of behavior are considered as good behavior?

In my opinion, respectful and honest behavior is considered good behavior in most societies. People who speak politely, help others, and behave responsibly are usually appreciated. Even small things like saying thank you or listening patiently leave a positive impression.

Do you think children can learn about the law outside of school?

Yes, definitely. Children can learn a lot from parents, social media, television, and real-life situations. For instance, if parents follow traffic rules seriously, children naturally learn the importance of laws by observing them.

What are the benefits for people to obey rules?

I believe rules help maintain order and safety in society. When people follow rules, there is less chaos, fewer accidents, and better cooperation among people. For example, traffic rules reduce the chances of road accidents and save lives.

How can parents teach children to obey rules?

Honestly, parents should first set a good example themselves because children copy what they see at home. If parents behave responsibly and explain rules calmly instead of shouting, children are more likely to follow them. Rewards and appreciation can also encourage good behavior.

63. Describe a time when you got up early

You should say:

- When it was
- What you did
- Why you got up early
- And how you felt about it

- Well, I would like to talk about a time when I had to get up very early.
- Honestly, I am not an early morning person at all.
- I usually sleep and study late, so waking up early is quite difficult for me.
- This happened right after my 12th standard exams got over.
- I was free at home and getting bored because it was peak summer and too hot to go outside.
- One day, my friend asked me if I wanted to go on a trip to Shimla, which is a nearby hill station.
- I asked my parents for permission, and surprisingly they agreed very happily.
- So, we booked our bus tickets for the very next day.
- The bus departure time was 4 a.m., so I had to wake up at around 2:30 in the morning.
- I was extremely excited about the trip and could barely sleep that night.
- Before sleeping, I had already packed my bag and set multiple alarms because I was scared I might oversleep.
- However, I kept snoozing the alarms because I was feeling very tired.
- Finally, my friend called me at around 2:45, and I quickly got ready.
- I rushed through my morning routine and somehow managed to reach the bus stop on time.
- After boarding the bus, both of us slept through most of the journey.
- Even though waking up early was difficult, I actually enjoyed the experience.
- I felt that the day became much longer and more productive.
- By evening we were completely exhausted and slept early because we had planned a hike in the mountains the next morning.
- Overall, it was a memorable experience for me.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Do you know anyone who likes to get up early?

Yes, my father is someone who naturally wakes up very early every day. He usually gets up around 5 a.m. even on weekends. He says the morning environment is peaceful and helps him stay productive throughout the day.

Why do people get up early?

Well, people get up early for different reasons. Some do it for work, studies, exercise, or travelling, while others simply enjoy the calm morning atmosphere. I think waking up early also gives people a feeling that the day is longer and more organized.

What kinds of occasions need people to arrive early?

Usually people need to arrive early for important events like exams, interviews, weddings, flights, or business meetings. In such situations, being late can create stress or even cause serious problems. Personally, I always try to reach airports early because I do not like taking risks.

Why do some people like to stay up late?

Honestly, many people feel more relaxed and focused at night because there are fewer distractions. Students often study late at night, while others watch movies, use social media, or work peacefully during those hours. I am also more active at night compared to early mornings.

64. Describe a TV or online program you like to watch

You should say:

- What it is
- What it is about
- Who you watch it with
- And explain why you like to watch it

- Well, I would like to talk about a television and online program that I really enjoy watching, and that is The Kapil Sharma Show.
- It is one of the most popular comedy shows in India and is also watched by Indians living in many other countries.
- Nowadays, many comedy specials by Kapil Sharma are available on Netflix, which has made him popular worldwide.
- I have been watching this show for many years with my family.
- The show is hosted by Kapil Sharma, who is a very talented comedian and actor.
- In every episode, different celebrities such as actors, singers, cricketers, or influencers come as guests.
- The program includes funny conversations, comedy acts, jokes, and entertaining games.
- Apart from Kapil Sharma, other comedians also play different characters, which makes the show even more entertaining.
- Personally, I really enjoy the natural humor and comic timing of the actors.
- Sometimes the jokes are so funny that my family and I laugh continuously for several minutes.
- I usually watch this program with my parents during dinner time or on weekends.
- One reason I like this show so much is that it helps me relax after a stressful or tiring day.
- Nowadays people are often mentally exhausted because of studies, work pressure, and social media, so comedy shows give a nice mental break.
- Another thing I appreciate is that the humor is mostly clean and family-friendly.
- Unlike many modern web series, it does not rely too much on violence or inappropriate language.
- That is why people of all age groups can watch it together comfortably.
- Even if I have already watched an episode before, I still enjoy watching it again because the comedy never feels old to me.
- Overall, it is one of my favorite programs, and I think laughter is very important in life.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Do you think watching talk shows is a waste of time?
Not always. I think it depends on the type of talk show a person watches. Some programs are completely based on gossip and entertainment, but others discuss useful topics like business, health, or social issues. Personally, I enjoy watching interviews where successful people share their life experiences.

Do you think we can acquire knowledge from watching TV programs?
Yes, definitely. Educational channels, documentaries, and news programs can teach people many new things in an interesting way. Even travel or cooking shows can increase general knowledge. However, people should choose quality content instead of watching random videos all the time.

What programs do people like to watch in your country?
Well, in India people watch many different types of programs depending on their age and interests. Youngsters usually prefer web series, cricket, and reality shows, while older people often watch news channels, daily soaps, or religious programs. Comedy shows are also very popular because people want stress-free entertainment.

Do people in your country like to watch foreign TV programs?
Yes, especially young people. Nowadays many people watch foreign shows and movies on streaming platforms like Netflix and YouTube. English web series and Korean dramas have become very popular in recent years.

What's the benefit of letting kids watch animal videos than visiting zoos?
I think animal videos can sometimes be more informative and convenient than visiting zoos. Children can see rare animals, underwater life, or jungle footage which may not be possible in real life. Also, videos are safer and cheaper, although real visits give a different experience altogether.

Do teachers play videos in class in your country?
Yes, nowadays many schools use videos and smart boards during lessons. It makes learning more interactive and helps students understand difficult topics easily. For example, science animations or historical documentaries are often more interesting than just reading from textbooks.

65. Describe a city that you think is very interesting/famous

You should say:

- Where it is
- What it is famous for
- How you knew this city
- And explain why you think it is very interesting/famous

- India is a diverse country.
- There are many beautiful cities in India.
- Some are beautiful because of their historical buildings, whereas others are beautiful because of their modern architecture. Some cities are beautiful because they are in mountain valleys, whereas others are beautiful because of the warm smiles of their people.
- Here, I would like to talk about Chandigarh, which is also known as 'The City Beautiful'
- It was designed by the French architect Le Corbusier.
- It is the first planned city of India after independence.
- Chandigarh is the cleanest and the happiest city of India according to two different surveys held in 2010 and 2015.
- It is also the first smoke-free city in the country.
- It is a union territory and is also the capital of two states - Punjab and Haryana.
- The Rock Garden in Chandigarh is a masterpiece out of waste material.
- Sukhna lake, is the biggest man-made lake. It is a beautiful place for people to enjoy with their families.
- Sector 17 market is a shopper's paradise.
- The Rose Garden is Asia's largest garden
- The city has 52 sectors.
- Each sector has residential and commercial zones
- The roads are designed and oriented in such a way that most of the time of the day, they are in shade.
- There are huge parking areas in the commercial zones so that the parking problems don't create havoc on the main roads.
- The Parking lanes are as broad as the main roads.
- So, you see, while the city was planned in 1952, it is still the most well planned and beautiful cities of India

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

What advantages can tourism bring to a city?

Tourism can significantly boost a city's economy by creating jobs in sectors like hospitality, transportation, and retail. It can also help preserve cultural heritage by promoting historical sites and local traditions. Moreover, tourism can draw global attention to the city, attract investment, and encourage urban development.

Why do some young people like to live in cities?

Young people are often attracted to cities for better career opportunities, access to higher education, and a more vibrant social life. Cities also provide entertainment, diverse cultural experiences, and a wide range of services, making them more appealing for those seeking growth and excitement.

Do most elderly people live in the city or in the countryside?

Many elderly people in India prefer to live in the countryside, where they feel more connected to nature and the community. However, an increasing number of elderly individuals are moving to cities to live with their children or for better access to healthcare and modern amenities.

Do you think well-developed tourism will have negative effects on local people?

Yes, tourism can have some negative effects on local communities. While it can generate revenue, it may also cause overcrowding, drive up living costs, and lead to environmental degradation. Local cultures might also be affected, with traditional ways of life changing due to the influence of commercial tourism.

What are the benefits of urbanization?

Urbanization brings several benefits, such as improved access to education, healthcare, and employment opportunities. It fosters economic development by providing a centralized hub for businesses and industries. Additionally, urban areas often offer better infrastructure and technological advancements, contributing to improved quality of life.

Do you think the big cities in India today will become even larger in the future?

Yes, I believe big cities in India will continue to grow. As more people from rural areas migrate to urban centers seeking better job opportunities, education, and healthcare, urban populations will likely increase. This growth will be driven by factors like infrastructure development and economic growth in cities.

66. Describe an interesting video

You should say:

- When and where you watched it
- What it is about
- Why you watched it
- And explain how you feel about it

- Today, YouTube videos are one of the biggest sources of learning and entertainment.
- However, I would like to talk about a YouTube video that I found very interesting and useful.
- It was a video on how to solve Sudoku, which is a popular number puzzle.
- I used to see Sudoku puzzles in newspapers and was always interested in learning about them.
- However, I always thought they were very difficult and that only math experts could solve them.
- So, I never tried solving them.
- This changed a few months ago when I got a random YouTube recommendation about solving Sudoku puzzles.
- I just clicked on the video for fun, planning to close it after a few minutes.
- Surprisingly, I ended up watching the entire 15 minute video till the very end.
- In the beginning, the creator explained what Sudoku is and the basic rules of the game.
- I learnt that Sudoku is not as difficult as I had imagined.
- The video explained that Sudoku puzzles come in different difficulty levels, from easy to hard.
- In the Tribune newspaper, the puzzles are rated from from 1 star to 5 stars.
- The first 5 minutes of the video explained all the rules of Sudoku.
- Then, it recommended a basic strategy for beginners like me.
- There were some suggestions, like using a pencil instead of a pen and checking rows and columns carefully.
- The last five minutes covered some advanced strategies for solving puzzles faster.
- Immediately after watching the video, I opened the e-Tribune website and tried their daily Sudoku.
- It was a 3 star difficulty rated Sudoku.
- To my surprise, I solved it in less than 10 minutes.
- Although it may not seem like a big achievement to others, it made me feel very happy and confident.
- Since then, solving Sudoku has become one of my daily habits.
- Now, I can easily solve 1 star to 4 star difficulty levels easily, but the 5 star ones still take me more than two hours.
- I hope to master them soon too

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

What kind of videos do people in your country like to watch?

People in India like to watch many kinds of videos on platforms like Netflix, YouTube, Instagram like movies, cooking videos, dance tutorials, fitness videos, gaming videos, podcasts, travel vlogs etc. Short reels have also become very popular these days.

Which is more helpful, watching videos or reading books?

I think in today's fast-moving world, people find videos more helpful as they are quick, visual, and better for practical learning. They can make learning easy and interesting. However, books are still important as they can help with a deeper understanding and improve vocabulary, concentration and imagination.

What skills can people learn from watching videos?

People can learn many skills from watching videos like cooking, dancing, photography, coding, gardening, language learning, and even repairing things.

Are there any differences between the videos that young people and old people like to watch?

Yes, there is a clear difference in their preference. Older people like news, religious programs, health tips, cooking videos, gardening tips, and traditional TV programs uploaded online. Young people prefer short reels, entertainment videos, gaming videos, influencer videos about new and upcoming products like latest phones, makeup, fashion etc.

67. Describe a tall building you like or dislike

You should say:

- What it is used for
- Where it is
- What it looks like

- I would like to talk about one of the most famous tall buildings in the world. It is Burj Khalifa
- It is in Dubai, and it is the tallest building in the world.
- It is in the downtown area of Dubai, and millions of tourists from all over the world come to see it every year.
- It has 163 floors and has a height of 828m.
- I first saw this building in a travel documentary, and since then, I have always wanted to visit it.
- I later saw it in many YouTube videos and travel vlogs.
- Some of my friends and relatives have visited Dubai, and I have heard so much about it from them.
- The building is used for multiple purposes. It has luxury apartments, offices, the Armani Hotel, and restaurants.
- One of the most interesting parts of the building is the observation deck on the upper floors.
- It has very fast elevators that take visitors to the top floors within seconds.
- Tourists need to get tickets to get to the observation decks, which offer panoramic views of Dubai's skyline.
- You can see the entire city of Dubi, the desert, and even the sea on a clear day.
- Many important events and celebrations take place around Burj Khalifa, especially during New Year celebrations, when there is light show that lights up the tower and dazzling fireworks.
- It has a stunning and modern architecture.
- The shape is inspired by the geometry of a regional desert flower.
- It is made of concrete and covered with shiny glass on the outside.
- Its construction began in 2004 and took five years to complete.
- It tapers as it goes higher and looks like a needle in the sky.
- It becomes even more beautiful at night because of the colorful lights.
- It looks different from every angle and stands out among all other buildings in Dubai.
- I like the Burj Khalifa because of the creativity, technology, and engineering skills that went into creating a building of this height.
- It shows ambition, innovation and modern development.
- I feel amazed when I see pictures and videos of it, as it's hard to imagine how such a tall structure was built.
- I wish to visit it one day and experience the breathtaking view in real life.

makkarIELTS

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Are there many tall buildings in your country?

Yes, there are many tall buildings in India especially in big cities like Mumbai, Delhi, Hyderabad, Bangalore, Chennai, Calcutta, etc. In many cities, land is limited, so vertical construction is preferred. Also, with a rising population, high-rise apartments are becoming more common.

What are the differences between those tall buildings in your country?

Tall buildings vary a lot in terms of purpose, design, and facilities. Some are residential and offer luxury apartments and facilities like a gym, swimming pools, parks, while others are commercial and used for offices, restaurants and shopping complexes. The newer buildings are made of glass and steel, have better technology, open layouts, and are more stylish, whereas the older buildings are simpler.

Why are different places laid out and designed differently?

Different places are designed based on the purpose, population, land availability, climate, etc. For example, crowded cities need high rise buildings to save space, while smaller towns have more single-story homes, bigger lots, and buildings are spread out. In coastal areas, buildings are made stronger to resist strong winds and heavy rains. In colder areas, houses are built with sloping roofs and better insulation to retain heat.

68. Describe a time when you worked in a group

You should say:

- What you did
- Who you worked with
- What problems you faced
- And explain why you worked in the group

- Well, I would like to talk about a time when I worked in a group during my school days.
- This happened during our summer vacation when I was in the 11th standard.
- A local NGO in Mohali organized a cleanliness campaign, and many students volunteered to join it.
- The aim of the campaign was to clean litter from streets and public places.
- I worked with around eight students from my school along with a few NGO volunteers.
- Every morning, we used to gather at a fixed location, collect gloves and garbage bags, and then clean different areas.
- Honestly, the work was more tiring than I had expected because it was peak summer and very hot outside.
- However, working in a group made the task much easier and more enjoyable.
- One incident from that time is still very memorable for me.
- One morning, while we were cleaning near an empty ground, a few stray dogs suddenly started barking and running towards us.
- At first, everyone got scared.
- One of the NGO volunteers quickly told us not to run and asked us to stand together calmly in a huddle.
- Thankfully, after a few moments the dogs went away on their own.
- Although the situation was a little frightening, it taught us the importance of teamwork and staying calm during problems.
- Another challenge was that many people still threw garbage on the roads even while we were cleaning.
- Sometimes it felt disappointing, but the volunteers motivated us and told us that small efforts can still create awareness.
- I joined this group because I wanted to do something meaningful during my holidays instead of wasting time at home.
- Overall, it was a memorable experience, and I learned a lot about teamwork and social responsibility.

makkarIELTS

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Why do some people prefer to work by themselves?

Well, some people feel more comfortable working alone because they can focus better without distractions. They also do not have to depend on others or wait for different opinions. Personally, when I study alone, I usually finish my work faster and with better concentration.

What should a leader do to make team members want to follow him or her?

I think a good leader should be supportive, respectful, and a good listener. If leaders behave politely and work along with the team instead of simply giving orders, people naturally respect them more. Confidence and clear communication are also very important qualities in leadership.

Should students learn to do group work?

Yes, definitely. Group work teaches students teamwork, communication, and problem-solving skills. In real life and future jobs, people often have to work with others, so these skills become very useful. At the same time, students also learn patience because everyone has different ideas and working styles.

What group tasks are there in schools?

Schools usually give group presentations, science projects, debates, sports activities, and cultural performances. Sometimes students are also asked to prepare charts or research projects together. These activities help students interact more and build confidence.

69. Describe a person who loves to grow plants (e.g. vegetables, flowers) at home or in the garden

You should say:

- Who this person is
- What plants he/she grows
- How he/she grows the plants
- And explain why he/she loves growing plants

- I would like to talk about a person who loves growing plants, and that person is my mother.
- She grows a wide variety of plants at our home, including beautiful flowers like roses as well as some seasonal vegetables in our backyard.
- She spends a lot of time taking care of them.
- For instance, she makes sure to water them every morning and carefully checks their leaves to keep them healthy.
- One interesting thing about her hobby is her love for decorative pots.
- Whenever we travel to Chandigarh to visit our relatives, we always make it a point to stop at local nurseries.
- Because she loves these so much, she always buys new and colourful pots to add to her collection.
- There are two main reasons why she enjoys this hobby so much.
- First of all, it connects her to her childhood.
- Since she spent her early years living on a big farmhouse where her grandfather had huge fruit orchards, she has always felt very close to nature.
- Gardening brings those happy memories back to her.
- Secondly, she strongly believes that plants make a house look much more beautiful.
- Thanks to the bright flowers and her colourful pots, our house feel fresh and full of life.
- Overall, growing plants is her favourite way to stay connected to nature and keep our home looking lovely.

Follow-up Questions (Part 3)

What are the advantages of growing vegetables or flowers at home?
The main advantage is that it provides fresh and healthy food. Because people grow the vegetables themselves, they know they do not have any harmful chemicals or sprays on them. Furthermore, growing plants is a very peaceful hobby that helps people relax after a busy day.

Do many people grow vegetables or flowers at home in your country?
Yes, it is very common in India, and it is becoming even more popular in big cities. Even though city houses are small, many people use their balconies or rooftops to create small gardens. They do this mainly to get fresh air and beauty.

Is it easy to grow plants at home?
It really depends on what you want to grow. While simple indoor plants, like the money plant, are very easy and need little care, growing vegetables is harder. For vegetables, you need to pay close attention to the soil, water, and sunlight to get a good result.

Why do some people like to grow plants?
There are a few reasons for this. Firstly, it keeps them close to nature, which is very refreshing. Secondly, it is a great way to make their homes look green and beautiful. They also improve the air quality.

Why do some people prefer to grow their own fruits and vegetables instead of buying them from the market?
Most people prefer homegrown food because it is much safer for their health. Market vegetables are often grown with chemical sprays, whereas home gardens are usually natural and safe. In addition to this, many people feel that the food they grow with their own hands simply tastes much better.

70. Describe a person you know who has a successful business

You should say:

- Who this person is
- How you got to know him/her
- Why and how he/she started the business
- What business he/she does
- And explain why you think the business is successful

- Well, I would like to talk about a successful businessman whom I really admire, and his name is Sunil Bharti Mittal.
- He is the founder of Bharti Airtel, which is one of the biggest telecom companies in India.
- I got to know about him after watching one of his interviews and podcasts on YouTube.
- Honestly, I found his life story very inspiring because he started from a very simple level and achieved huge success through hard work.
- As far as I know, he belongs to Punjab and started his business journey at a young age.
- In the beginning, he was involved in a small business related to bicycle parts along with his friends.
- Later, he realized that the telecom industry had huge potential in the future.
- So, he slowly shifted his focus towards telecommunications and started working in that field.
- At that time, mobile phones were not very common in India, and building such a business was quite risky.
- He faced many struggles and challenges in the beginning, especially competition and lack of resources.
- However, he stayed focused and kept expanding his company step by step.
- Slowly, Airtel became popular because of its good network and affordable services.
- Today, the company operates in many countries and has millions of customers.
- One thing I really admire about him is that he still speaks very humbly despite being so successful.
- In his interviews, he often says that success comes from consistency, discipline, and taking smart risks.
- I think his business is successful because the company provides useful services that people need every day.
- Moreover, Airtel built strong customer trust over many years.
- Overall, I really admire Sunil Bharti Mittal because he built a huge business from scratch through vision, hard work, and determination.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Why do some people start their own business?

Well, many people start their own business because they want financial independence and more control over their work. Some people also do not like working under someone else. Nowadays, social media and online platforms have also made starting a business much easier than before.

Should governments provide financial support to start-ups?

Yes, I think governments should support start-ups, especially small businesses started by young people. Many good ideas fail simply because people do not have enough money in the beginning. Financial support or low-interest loans can help create jobs and improve the economy as well.

Do most people prefer shopping at big stores or small stores?

Nowadays, many people prefer big stores because they provide more variety, discounts, and better facilities under one roof. However, small shops are still popular for daily items because they are convenient and often located nearby. Personally, I visit small stores for quick shopping but malls for bigger purchases.

What makes a business successful?

In my opinion, good quality products and customer trust are the biggest reasons behind a successful business. Hard work, smart planning, and consistency also matter a lot. Even the best idea can fail if the owner does not manage it properly.

What makes a business fail?

Honestly, poor planning is one of the main reasons businesses fail. Some people start businesses without understanding the market or customer needs. Apart from that, lack of patience, bad management, and strong competition can also create serious problems for a company.

71. Describe an important decision that you made

You should say:

- What the decision was
- How you made your decision
- What the results of the decision were
- And explain why it was important

- I would like to talk about a very important decision I recently made.
- Since I just completed my 12th standard, I had to decide what course to study in college.
- Most of my classmates were choosing engineering or medical fields because they are very popular.
- However, I decided to choose a Bachelor of Business Administration, or BBA.
- Making this decision was very challenging for me.
- First, I spent a lot of time thinking about my own interests and strengths.
- I realized that I am much better at communicating and organizing things than studying complex science subjects.
- After that, I discussed my thoughts with my parents and my school teachers.
- They supported me and advised me to follow my passion instead of just copying my friends.
- The result of this decision has been very positive so far.
- I recently got an offer letter from a very good college for my BBA program.
- Because I chose a subject I actually like, I feel very excited and confident about my upcoming studies.
- This decision was incredibly important for my life.
- It will shape my entire future career and decide what kind of job I will do.
- Looking back, I am very happy that I took the time to make the right choice for myself.

Follow-up Questions (Part 3)

Do you think children sometimes have to make important decisions?
Yes, even though they are young, children do make important choices. For instance, they have to decide who to make friends with or what sports and hobbies to learn. While these decisions might seem small to adults, they are actually very important for a child's confidence and personal growth.

What important decisions do teenagers need to make after graduation?
The biggest decision for teenagers after finishing school is choosing their career path. They have to decide which university to attend and what subjects to major in. Furthermore, many teenagers nowadays also have to decide whether they want to study in their home country or take English exams to study abroad.

Who can children turn to for help when making a decision?
Children usually turn to their parents or older siblings for help. Because parents have a lot of life experience, they can give very practical and safe advice. In addition to family members, schoolteachers and counsellors are also great people to ask for guidance, especially for studies.

Do you think advertisements can influence our decisions when shopping?
Yes, advertisements have a huge impact on what we buy. They often use catchy music, bright colours, and famous actors to make products look very attractive. Because of this clever marketing, people sometimes end up buying things they do not really need just because the advertisement looked so good.

Do you think the influence of advertising is good?
I think it is a mix of both good and bad. On the positive side, it is good because it tells us about new products, useful technology, and helpful discounts. On the negative side, it can be bad because it sometimes pressures people, especially teenagers, to spend too much money on expensive fashion brands to fit in with others.

How do people usually make important decisions?
Most people like to take their time before making a big choice rather than rushing into it. They usually make a list of the positive and negative points to see what is best for them. Besides doing their own thinking, they also talk to family members, teachers or friends to get a helpful second opinion before finalizing their choice.

You should say:
- Who he/she is
- What he/she does in the company
- What business the company does
- And explain why you think it is a successful company

- I would like to talk about the CEO of Google and its parent company Alphabet, Mr. Sundar Pichai.
- He leads the company and is responsible for the day-to-day operations.
- He is a respected leader in the tech industry.
- He joined Google in 2004 and helped with the development of Google Chrome and Google Toolbar.
- After years of working closely with Google's co-founders, Larry Page and Sergey Brin, he became Google's CEO in August 2015.
- He oversees major projects in artificial intelligence, search engines, smartphones and cloud computing.
- He has also expanded Google's reach into new markets such as India and China
- He did his bachelor's from IIT Kharagpur, master's from Stanford University, and MBA from Wharton School.
- I have seen his interviews, and he is very calm, intelligent, and a very good public speaker.
- He even received the Padma Bhushan from the Government of India in 2022.
- Google's main focus is on technology and internet-based services.
- It is the second most valuable company in the world.
- Google search engine is its most famous product, which millions of people use every day.
- Besides that, the company also develops products like Gmail, Google Maps, YouTube, Android, and the AI tool Gemini.
- So, this company plays a huge role in the everyday lives of people.
- It is a very successful company, as everyone in the world recognizes this brand.
- It is constantly creating new products instead of depending on just one service. For example, they are investing heavily in artificial intelligence and other future technologies.
- It is adapting to the changing technology and its profits, earnings, and revenue grow every year.
- Even with the increasing competition from other companies, it is still one of the most influential companies in the world.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Do you think governments should provide financial support to companies?

Yes, I think governments should sometimes provide financial support to companies, especially during economic crises. For example, during a recession or pandemic, many businesses struggle financially, and government support can help save jobs and save the economy.

Do you think companies should donate money to help society?

Yes, I think large companies make huge profits and have a responsibility to give back to society. They can donate money to healthcare, education, environmental protection, etc. This way they can make a difference in people's lives and improve their public image.

Do you think customer satisfaction is important for a company?

Yes, customers are the foundation of any business, and if they are happy, they are more likely to return and recommend the company to others. Nowadays, because of online reviews and social media, companies can lose customers if they provide poor customer service. Good companies listen to customer feedback and continue to improve their products.

73. Describe a place you would like to visit in your free time

You should say:

- Where it is
- What you will do there
- How long you will stay there
- And explain why you would like to visit it

- A place I would really want to visit in my free time is Italy.
- Italy is located in the southern part of Europe and is surrounded by the Mediterranean Sea.
- I did a project in high school on Italy, and ever since then I have been fascinated by the country.
- I have watched countless videos and seen so many beautiful pictures of Italy online, which made me want to visit even more.
- There is so much to do in Italy that I think I would need at least two weeks to explore everything properly.
- That's why I would like to go when I have enough free time and can take a long break from work without being rushed.
- One place I especially want to go is Cinque Terre. It is made up of five colorful coastal towns, and people can hike from one town to another.
- Each town has its own unique charm and atmosphere.
- On the train, it only takes a few minutes to travel between the towns.
- I would also love to visit Rome and see the famous Colosseum.
- It is a huge ancient amphitheatre where gladiators used to fight during Roman times.
- It has around 80 entrances, and thousands of spectators would gather there to watch the battles.
- Seeing such a historical monument in person would be unforgettable.
- Another place I want to go is Naples, which is the birthplace of Pizza.
- Near Naples is Mount Vesuvius and the ancient city of Pompeii.
- Pompeii was buried under volcanic ash when Mount Vesuvius erupted many centuries ago.
- Because of the ash, much of the city was preserved and today people can still see its remains.
- Finally, I would love to visit the Amalfi coast because of its breathtaking scenery, blue water, and beautiful coastal views.
- I want to visit Italy because of its rich history, stunning landscapes, and incredible food.
- I want to try authentic Italian dishes like pizza, pasta, and gelato.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Why do you think some people choose not to travel abroad?

It can be because of many reasons. One is cost, as international travel can get very expensive because of flights, hotels, food, etc. Another reason is that some people feel more comfortable staying in their own country because they are familiar with the language, culture, and environment. Some may not have time because of work, studies, or family responsibilities.

Do you think a gap period in life is important?

Yes, I think a gap period is important as it gives people time to relax and explore their interests. Students can use this year to gain new experiences through travel, volunteering, or learning new skills. They can become more mature and confident before starting university.

74. Describe a food that people eat on special occasions/events

You should say:

- What it is
- What the special event/occasion is
- How it is cooked/made
- And explain why people eat it on that special occasion/event

- Well, I would like to talk about a traditional food that people often eat on special occasions in my region, and that is Kheer.
- It is basically a sweet rice pudding made with milk, rice, and sugar.
- In Punjab, people commonly prepare it during festivals and religious occasions.
- One special event when it is made a lot is Baisakhi.
- This festival is very important in Punjab because it celebrates the harvesting of the wheat crop.
- Farmers especially celebrate it with great happiness and enthusiasm after months of hard work in the fields.
- Apart from Baisakhi, people also prepare kheer during Gurpurabs and other family celebrations.
- As far as I know, kheer is quite simple to make, but it takes time and patience.
- First, milk is boiled slowly in a large pot.
- Then rice and sugar are added, and the mixture is cooked for a long time until it becomes thick and creamy.
- Some people also add dry fruits like almonds, cashews, or raisins to improve the taste.
- In many families, cardamom is also added for extra flavor.
- I still remember that during Baisakhi, my grandmother used to prepare kheer early in the morning while the whole house smelled amazing.
- After visiting the gurdwara, all family members used to sit together and eat it.
- Personally, I really enjoy kheer because it tastes delicious and also reminds me of family gatherings and festivals.
- I think people eat it on special occasions because it is considered a symbol of happiness, celebration, and prosperity.
- Moreover, milk and rice are seen as simple but pure ingredients in Indian culture.
- Even today, whenever I eat kheer, it gives me a very warm and nostalgic feeling

makkarIELTS

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Why are there special foods on special occasions or events?

Well, special foods are often connected with culture, traditions, and emotions. People prepare them during festivals or family events to celebrate happiness together. For example, in many Indian families sweets are prepared during festivals because they are considered a symbol of joy and good luck.

Are there any differences between the food people eat today and the food people ate in the past?

Yes, there is a huge difference. In the past, people mostly ate simple homemade food which was fresh and healthier. Nowadays many people prefer fast food and packaged items because life has become busy and people want convenience. However, some families still prefer traditional homemade meals, especially during festivals and family gatherings.

75. Describe a live sports event you watched and liked

You should say:

- What it was
- When and where you watched it
- Who you watched it with
- And explain why you liked it

- I'd like to describe a truly exhilarating IPL match I attended recently at the brand-new Maharaja Yadavindra Singh Stadium in Mullanpur.
- The game was a nail-biting encounter between my home team, the Punjab Kings, and the Gujarat Titans.
- I was accompanied by a close friend, Ravi.
- He had managed to secure two exclusive corporate tickets through his business network.
- Because of these premium passes, we were lucky enough to be seated in the balcony area, which provided an unobstructed, bird's-eye view of the entire pitch.
- The match kicked off with Gujarat batting first, and they set a fairly competitive target of around 200 runs.
- Punjab's local bowler, Arshdeep Singh, was in top form and managed to take three crucial wickets.
- Each wicket was celebrated with incredible intensity.
- However, the real drama began during the second half of the game when Punjab struggled early on and lost a few quick wickets.
- Just when the pressure seemed overwhelming, our captain Shreyas Iyer steadied the innings.
- He played a sensational unbeaten knock, hitting massive sixes all over the park and taking the game deep into the final over.
- The match reached the high point when he hit the winning runs, securing a thrilling three-wicket victory for Punjab on the very last ball.
- The roar from the 30,000 fans in the stadium was absolutely amazing.
- It was truly an unforgettable experience.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Why do some people like to watch sports events?

I believe it's primarily about the sense of community and the adrenaline rush. Watching a match live allows people to escape their daily routine and enjoy a thrilling experience with their loved ones and sometimes even strangers.

What are the advantages of watching sports events online?

The biggest advantage is definitely convenience. People can stream a match from anywhere in the world on a smartphone without having to deal with traffic or expensive tickets. Additionally, online platforms often provide multiple camera angles and real-time statistics that make watching the events much more entertaining.

What sports matches are suitable for children to attend?

Generally, matches with a family-oriented atmosphere and simple rules are best, such as cricket or football. These events have music, and halftime shows that keep young children engaged even if they don't fully understand the rules fully. It's a great way to introduce them to the concepts of teamwork and healthy competition in a safe environment.

76. Describe a person you know who would like to choose a career in the medical field (e.g. a doctor, a nurse)

You should say:
- When you knew him/her
- When he/she started to think about that
- What he/she would like to do
- And explain why he/she would like to choose this career

- I'd like to talk about one of my closest childhood friends, who is currently working toward a career in medicine.
- We have been friends since our early school days, but our academic paths eventually diverged in high school.
- I chose to pursue the Commerce stream, while she opted for Medical because being a doctor was always her ultimate dream.
- Even as a young child, she was absolutely fascinated by the healthcare profession.
- I vividly remember her spending hours watching medical dramas like Grey's Anatomy and House instead of typical cartoons.
- However, her desire to become a doctor isn't just based on television shows; it comes from a very personal and tragic event.
- A few years ago, her uncle sadly passed away in a road accident due to a lack of a specialized trauma surgeon at the government hospital.
- That incident was a pivotal moment for her and solidified her resolve to enter this field.
- She specifically wants to become a trauma surgeon so she can provide immediate care to people in critical conditions.
- She is a very compassionate person and firmly believes that this is where she can make the most significant difference in society.
- I've watched her study day and night, handling the immense pressure of medical entrance exams with great maturity.
- I truly admire her dedication and I have no doubt that she will become an exceptional surgeon and save many lives in the future.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Do you think being a doctor is easy or difficult?

Yes, I think being a doctor is very challenging due to the long years of study and exhausting hospital shifts. However, the hardest part is the constant mental pressure doctors face as even a small mistake can result in a death of a patient. I would never be able to deal with so much stress.

Do you think learning biology is interesting for children?

Yes, I believe biology is very interesting for children because they are naturally curious about how their own bodies and the world around them work. However, it also depends upon the way they are taught. If they are just taught theoretically, it can be boring. I think schools should include practical lab sessions like planting seeds and looking at cells under a microscope to make it interesting.

77. Describe a child who loves drawing/painting

You should say:

- Who he/she is
- How/when you knew him/her
- How often he/she draws/paints
- And explain why you think he/she loves drawing/painting

- I want to talk about my nephew named Rannvijay Singh.
- He is just 4 years old and he studies in Nursery class at Learning Paths School Mohali.
- We live in a joint family, so I see him every day.
- He is a very curious child and asks a lot of questions about everything.
- He also talks a lot and sometimes speaks like an adult which is very funny to hear.
- He loves to draw and colour whenever he gets free time.
- Drawing has become his favourite past time, even though he also attends football and music classes.
- His interest started when he was around 2 years old, while playing with his mother and grandmother.
- They taught him how to draw small shapes like circles and squares.
- Later he started drawing easy things like apples and bananas.
- Now he tries to draw his favourite cartoon characters like Bluey, Spider-Man and Batman.
- He usually draws after school or in the evening for at least 30 to 40 minutes.
- Recently we travelled to Indonesia and Bali and stayed at Holiday Inn Resort.
- Their restaurant had a small kids' corner with colouring sheets and crayons.
- He spent a long time colouring there and looked very relaxed and focused.
- That day I realised how stress-free and enjoyable drawing can be for kids.
- His parents and grandparents always praise him and encourage him when he draws something.
- It also helps in reducing screen time, which I feel is very important for young children.
- I think he loves drawing because he enjoys copying what he sees around him.
- I also gifted him colours recently, and he was very excited to use them.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

1. What is the right age for a child to learn drawing?
I think there is no fixed age for learning drawing, but many children start around the age of two or three. At that age they begin to hold crayons and make shapes. In my family, my nephew started drawing circles at two years old, so I feel early exposure really helps.

2. Why do most children draw more often than adults do?
According to me, children draw more because they have more free time and fewer responsibilities. Drawing is also a fun way for them to express their imagination. Adults get busy with work and daily tasks, so they often stop doing such activities.

3. Why do some people visit galleries or museums instead of viewing artworks online?
Well, many people prefer visiting museums because the experience feels more real and personal. Seeing the actual size, colour and texture of an artwork gives a different feeling that a screen cannot provide. Some also enjoy the peaceful environment there.

4. Do you think galleries and museums should be free of charge?
In my opinion, it would be great if they are free because more people, especially students, would visit and learn. However, I also understand that museums need money for maintenance, so maybe a small fee or free entry on certain days can balance both sides.

5. How do artworks inspire people?
Artworks inspire people by showing different ideas, emotions and stories. Sometimes a painting or sculpture makes us think about our own life or gives motivation. For example, I once saw a painting of a mountain climber and it made me feel more confident about facing challenges.

6. What are the differences between reading a book and visiting a museum?
Reading a book gives information through words and imagination, whereas a museum shows real objects, pictures and historical items. A book can go deeper in detail, but a museum makes the experience more visual and memorable. Both are useful, but in different ways.

78. Describe one of your friends who learned something without a teacher

You should say:

- Who he/she is
- What he/she learned
- Why he/she learned this
- And explain whether it would be easier to learn from a teacher

- I'd like to talk about a friend of mine who taught himself stock market trading without any formal teacher or coaching.
- He works in a non-finance background, but he became interested in trading after seeing how important financial knowledge is for long-term stability.
- Instead of joining expensive courses, he started learning on his own by watching educational videos online, reading market news, and analysing charts using trading apps.
- The main reason he chose to learn independently was that he felt practical experience mattered more than theory in the stock market.
- He believed that real learning would come from observing price movements, making small trades, and learning from his mistakes.
- Over time, he developed discipline, understood risk management, and became more confident in his decisions.
- In my opinion, learning from a teacher can definitely make the process easier at the beginning, especially to avoid common beginner mistakes.
- However, trading is a skill that depends heavily on self-control and real market experience, which cannot be fully taught in a classroom.
- So although guidance is helpful, his self-learning approach worked well for him.
- Overall, this example shows that with patience and consistency, people can successfully learn complex skills like trading even without a teacher.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Is it necessary to keep learning after graduating from school?
Yes, I believe learning breaks the monotony in life. Without learning, life would be very dull and boring. In fact, that is why, many people even end up leaving jobs, which have little room for growth or learning. Personally, I also I have learnt many things like stock market trading and playing chess. In fact, I learn new cooking recipes every month.

Should teachers make learning in their classes fun?
Yes, in fact a lot of students have negative views about schooling just because they are taught in a dull and boring manner. It is the duty of teachers to make learning fun. They should explain with examples and even take the help of documentaries and films to get their point across to the students.

Do you think there are too many subjects for students to learn?
No, I don't think there are too many subjects, but I think in some subjects, unnecessary concepts are taught which have no real-world application. Schooling is about discovering interest, so I think it is important for students to be taught a variety of subjects.

Is it better to focus on a few subjects or to learn many subjects?
Like I said before, a variety of subjects in early ages is beneficial so that students can discover their interest. Then, they can discover their interest. However, some subjects like science and math should be taught in detail, because they are the foundation to all subjects in the future.

Do you think enterprises should provide training for their employees?
Yes, I think it's the key to productivity and good team building. Even if employees have the technical skills, they might be unaware about the company's work culture, so training is definitely necessary. However, I think training should not be very prolonged, it should just enable to fit into the position.

79. Talk about a time when you gave advice to someone.

You should say:
- Who you gave advice to?
- What the advice was?
- Why you gave the advice?
- And how you felt about the advice?

- Well in my country people give free advice to each other all the time.
- People give advice even when nobody is asking.
- They do it to show care and help others.
- Today, I would like to talk about a time when I gave advice to one of my cousins about what studies he should pursue for his senior secondary education.
- My cousin had recently completed his 10th standard and he was really confused about which stream he should opt for.
- He had the option to choose between science, commerce, and arts.
- His doubts were related to career prospects in these streams and most importantly he asked me that which one is easy or difficult to pursue.
- Since he was tired of studies, he did not want to put in a lot of effort but still he wanted to have a successful life.
- Before advising him about the various streams I asked him about his interests and he told me that he was interested in Computers.
- He started using the computer at a very early age, so he is really good at it.
- I told him about Computer programmers who work for companies like google.
- I told him about the work they do and how much salary they earn.
- I also showed him the offices of Google and the facilities like gym, food, and other games that are provided to the employees on campus.
- He got motivated after learning all these details and decided he also wanted to become a computer programmer.
- So, I suggested him to take an aptitude test to check whether he has a logical mindset to pursue this stream.
- He followed my advice and gave an aptitude test. His results showed that he had excellent skills to become a programmer.
- He was really happy with my advice and now he consults me for all the important decisions he has to make.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

1. What kind of advice do parents give to their children?
Parents advice children about various issues like their friend circle, subjects to choose for specialization and sometimes on healthy eating too.

2. How do experts give advice to others? (example a doctor gives advice to patients)
Experts are specialists in their field and it is best to seek advice from an expert who is proficient. A good teacher will guide the students in the right direction, similarly, a doctor's advice is valuable regarding health issues.

3. What advice do parents give to teenagers about making friends?
Teenagers need maximum advice as they are vulnerable and can be led astray by bad company. It is very difficult to advise a teenager so parents normally warn their wards to not mingle with friends who are known to be naughty.

4. Whose advice is more helpful? Parents' or friends'?
Many times, parent's advice is valuable whereas on other occasions friends can be more knowledgeable, it varies from situation to situation. Parents are rich in experiences of life and friends are more aware of the changes in modern society.

80. Describe a person who often helps others

You should say:

- Who this person is
- How often he/she helps others
- How/why he/she helps others
- And how you feel about this person

- I want to talk about a person who often helps others, and his name is Prabloch Singh.
- He is in his early thirties and works in an IT company.
- After his job, he spends a lot of time doing social work and helping people in need.
- He also founded a human rights group called Middle Finger Protests.
- He helps others very regularly, almost on a daily basis through protests, awareness events, and charity work.
- One famous case he worked on was supporting the family of a young air hostess who was murdered by a powerful person.
- Even though he received threats during that time, he continued fighting for justice.
- His work was shown in the Bollywood movie No One Killed Jessica, which made more people aware of him.
- Apart from protests, he also arranges free food stalls and distributes clothes to the needy.
- He has even represented India at the United Nations as a human rights ambassador.
- The reason he helps others is because he strongly believes in justice and equal rights.
- He is not afraid to speak up, even if it requires sacrifices.
- I really admire him because people like him make society a better place.
- When I think about him, I feel inspired to also do something good for others.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

Q1. Do you think schools should teach children to do household chores?
According to me, yes, schools should teach basic chores. It helps children learn responsibility from an early age. For example, learning how to keep their desk clean or wash dishes can prepare them for adult life. Some people say chores should only be taught at home, but I think both can play a role.

Q2. Why are employees reluctant to ask their managers for help?
Well, many employees feel shy or afraid that asking questions will make them look weak. They worry that the manager might think they are not capable enough. I remember feeling nervous to ask my first boss for help because I didn't want to make a bad impression.

Q3. What can children do to help their parents?
Children can help in simple ways, like keeping their rooms tidy or setting the table. These small tasks reduce stress for parents and make the home more organized. When I was younger, I used to help with grocery bags, and my parents really appreciated it.

Q4. Should children help their parents with household chores?
I believe they should. Doing chores teaches children discipline and teamwork. Also, it makes them understand how much effort goes into running a household. Of course, chores should match their age so it doesn't become unsafe or too tiring.

Q5. What kind of help do people need when looking for a new job?
People usually need help with writing a CV, preparing for interviews, and understanding what companies expect. Emotional support is also helpful because job searching can be stressful and lonely. Sometimes even a friend's encouragement can make a big difference.

Q6. Who should people ask for help, colleagues or family members?
Um, I think it depends on the situation. For professional advice, colleagues are more useful because they know the industry. But for emotional support, family members are better. So in many cases, people actually need both.

81. Describe a piece of technology (not a phone) that you would like to own

You should say:

- What it is
- How much it costs
- How you knew it
- And explain why you would like to own it

- I want to talk about the Apple Watch, which is a type of smart watch made by Apple.
- It looks simple from outside, but it can do many useful things.
- The price depends on the model, but it usually starts from around 25,000 to 90,000 INR, or sometimes even more.
- I came to know about it through online reviews and also because my friend recently bought one.
- To be honest, I got really interested after seeing how smoothly it worked with his iPhone.
- I am a health enthusiast, and I like to track my daily steps and calories.
- I already have a smart watch, but it is not from Apple, and it does not connect very well with my phone.
- The Apple Watch integrates perfectly with the iPhone, which makes it very convenient.
- For example, you can answer calls directly from your wrist when your hands are busy, like when cooking or driving.
- You also don't need to carry your phone while running, because you can connect AirPods to the watch and listen to music.
- It also has features like heart-rate monitoring, ECG, and even fall detection, which I find truly impressive.
- Because of these features, I feel it is more of a health device than just a regular watch.
- My friend also showed me that it comes in three versions: the regular model, the SE, and the Ultra.
- I personally like the rectangular design and the variety of straps that Apple offers.
- One drawback is that the battery life is not very great, and it usually needs to be charged daily.
- Even with that issue, I still want to own it because it fits my lifestyle quite well.
- At the moment, I am saving money to buy it, as it is a bit expensive for me right now.
- I hope to get it soon because it will motivate me to maintain my fitness in a better and more organized way.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

1. What are the differences between the technology of the past and that of today?
Accorrding to me, the main difference is speed and convenience. In the past, technology was slow and limited, like landline phones or bulky computers. Today everything is faster, smaller, and more connected. For example, now we can do banking or shopping on our phones within seconds.

2. What technology do young people like to use?
Well, young people mostly prefer smartphones and social media apps. They enjoy using them for chatting, gaming, and watching videos. I often see teenagers spending hours on TikTok and Instagram because it keeps them entertained and connected with friends.

3. What are the differences between online and face-to-face communication?
Online communication is quick and convenient, but it lacks body language and real emotion. On the other hand, face-to-face conversations feel more personal and honest. For example, it's easier to understand a person's feelings when you talk to them in person.

4. Do you think technology has changed the way people communicate?
Yes, I believe it has changed communication a lot. People now send texts or voice notes instead of meeting in person. This saves time, but sometimes it also reduces deep conversations. Some older people still prefer talking face-to-face because they feel it is more meaningful.

5. What negative effects does technology have on people's relationships?
Um, one negative effect is reduced time together. Many people spend more time on screens than talking to their family. For example, at home during dinner, everyone is often busy with their phone. This can weaken emotional bonds over time.

6. What are the differences between making friends in real life and online?

82. Describe an occasion when you were not allowed to use your mobile phone

You should say:
- When it was
- Where it was
- Why you were not allowed to use your mobile phone
- And how you felt about it

- These days, cell phones have become a basic part of our life.
- It's hard to imagine even a single day without using one.
- But there are certain places where using a phone is not allowed or is considered rude.
- For example in religious places, hospitals, cinemas and sometimes in restaurants.
- Here, I want to talk about a time when I was not allowed to use my phone.
- This happened last month when my aunt visited us from the UK.
- She came mainly for shopping because her daughter is getting married soon.
- During her visit, we planned a trip to the Golden Temple in Amritsar.
- It was a weekend, so the place was extremely crowded.
- We stood in the queue for nearly one hour to enter the main prayer hall.
- Just when we finally entered, my phone suddenly started ringing loudly.
- Everyone around turned and stared at me, and I felt very awkward.
- I had completely forgotten to keep my phone on silent mode.
- There were clear signboards reminding visitors to switch off their phones before entering.
- I quickly cut the call and switched the phone off to avoid disturbing anyone.
- Inside, it was very peaceful, and no one else's phone was ringing.
- After praying and walking around inside, we went to the community kitchen for langar.
- Once we came out of the main building, I turned my phone back on.
- I noticed I had a few missed calls from my cousin.
- I called her and explained why I didn't answer, and she understood.
- So this was a time when I was not allowed to use my phone, and honestly it was a bit embarrassing but also a good reminder.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

1. What is the impact off the cell phone?
I believe cell phones have both positive and negative impact on our lives.
Due to the cell phones we have instant access to information and also because of them we can connect with our loved one's; anywhere, anytime. But at the same time if you think about the negative impacts cell phones have also become a great cause of stress in our lives. The need to always stay connected is taking a toll on our personal lives.

2. What is the smartphone used the most for?
I think, nowadays the smartphones are primarily used for accessing social networking applications such as whatsapp, facebook and twitter etc. People also use them for Official and Entertainment purpose like checking office email or watching movies and playing games.

3. What is your opinion about selfies?
I believe, selfies are one of the biggest trends of our era. People are not camera shy anymore and with the advent of front facing cameras on smartphones they are taking selfies for every occasion and at every place they visit.

4 How do young and old people use mobile phones differently?
Old people treat mobile phones just like a portable landline phone. They use it for predominantly for calling or in some cases texting. Young people use mobile phones just like a mini-computer. They use it for nearly everything like navigation, playing games, watching movies, chatting with their friends and so on.

5 What positive and negative impact do mobile phones have on friendship?
On the positive side, it has it made it easier to maintain friendships. We can call anyone anytime. It is easier to keep in touch. On the negative side, it also weakens friendships as it reduce face to face interaction and sometimes even leads to misunderstandings as chatting and tone lack facial expressions.

6 Is it a waste of time to take pictures with mobile phones?
No, it is not a waste of time. It is a good way to capture memories and special moments. It only becomes a problem, when we take pictures for showing off or to impress others rather than for preserving our special memories.

7 Do you think it is necessary to have laws on the use of mobile phones?
I think there should be certain regulations to check mobile phones usage in public places like transportation as it leads to disturbance. Similarly, mobile phones have to strictly forbidden in tasks like driving as their use can lead to accidents. So, yes, I think mobile phones do need certain regulations.

83. Describe a program or app on your computer or phone

You should say:
- What it is
- How often you use it
- When/how you use it
- When/how you found it

- There are so many apps on my phone, probably more than 50.
- They serve different purposes like news, banking, payments, gaming and social media.
- But the app I use the most is Snapchat.
- I use it mainly to stay connected with my close friends.
- The main feature I love is streaks with my best friends.
- We send snaps every day just to keep the streak alive.
- I also like that messages and snaps disappear after you open them.
- It feels more private and secure compared to other platforms.
- My favourite part of the app is the filters.
- Some filters make you look funny and others make you look nice.
- I started using Snapchat when I got my first phone in class 10.
- At that time, all my friends were already using it, so I downloaded it too.
- Back then, I would use it for four to five hours a day without even realising it.
- It was one of the most popular apps in school.
- These days, I'm trying to reduce my screen time.
- Now I use it for around 30 minutes a day, usually in the evening.
- It's still the best app for me to stay in touch with my friends.
- We share quick updates about our day without typing long messages.
- Overall, Snapchat has become part of my daily routine and I feel it keeps friendships alive in a simple way.

Part 3 - Follow up Questions

1. What are the differences between old and young people when using apps?
Young people are usually faster and more comfortable exploring new features, while older people prefer simple layouts and need more time to get used to updates.

2. Why do some people not like using apps?
Some people find apps confusing or time-consuming, and others worry about privacy or feel they don't really need them.

3. What apps are popular in your country? Why?
Social media and payment apps are very popular because they make communication and daily transactions quick and convenient.

4. Should parents limit their children's use of computer programs and computer games? Why and how?
Yes, because excessive screen time can affect sleep and studies. Parents can set time limits, monitor content, and encourage other activities like outdoor play.

5. Do you think young people are more and more reliant on these programs?
Yes, young people are becoming more reliant because many parts of their life—learning, entertainment, and even socialising—now happen through digital platforms.

84. Describe a natural place (e.g. parks, mountains, etc.)

You should say:
- Where this place is
- How you knew this place
- What it is like
- And explain why you like to visit it

- India is a diverse country.
- There are many natural places in India such as rivers, lakes, mountains and deserts which are important.
- One important river that I would like to talk about here is the river Ganges or the Ganga, as we popularly call it.
- Every child in India learns about the river Ganga from their parents first and later in school when they study India's geography.
- River Ganga is a sacred river and treated as a Goddess among the Hindus.
- It has significant influence on the life of the Indians.
- It is one of the longest rivers of the world and is the longest river in India.
- The River Ganga emerges out of the Himalayas and falls into the Bay of Bengal.
- It has a number of tributaries like Yamuna, Ramganga, and Ghagra, etc.
- The Ganga is a perennial river as water is available throughout the year.
- The river has formed one of the most fertile flood plains of the world.
- We get the golden crops from the fertile lands on the bank of River Ganga.
- The water of River Ganga is widely used for agriculture purpose.
- The Ganga has been made national waterways of India.
- It is navigable up to Hardwar.
- The Ganga plain is one of the most fertile plain and is the granary of India.
- Our Government has initiated projects for wider utilization of the kind water of River Ganga.
- This would bring enormous prosperity and economic development in our country.
- All these features made the river as the ideal river of India.
- I have visited Ganga river both for pilgrimage and adventure.
- I did river rafting during last summer and it was such a thrilling experience.
- I am looking forward to visiting again this year.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1 What kind of people like to visit natural places?
Lots of people enjoy nature! It could be someone who loves hiking and exploring, or maybe someone who just wants to relax in a peaceful place. People who appreciate beauty and fresh air are also drawn to nature.

2. What are the differences between a natural place and a city?
I think the biggest different is that nature is quiet and peaceful, while cities are loud and busy. Air Pollution is another thing that is less in natural places. And finally, there is no wildlife in cities.

3 Do you think that going to the park is the only way to get close to nature?
Definitely not! Even a small garden or a quiet corner of a park can be a way to connect with nature. But there are also places outside the city, like forests or beaches, that offer a more immersive experience.

4 What can people gain from going to natural places?
Spending time in nature has many benefits. It can help reduce stress, improve mood, and even boost your creativity. Being outdoors can also be a great way to exercise and get some fresh air.

5 Are there any wild animals in the city?
In my country, there are no wild animals in the cities. We mostly have stray dogs, cats, squirrels and many different bird species in urban areas

6 Do you think it is a good idea to let animals stay in local parks for people to see?
I don't think animals should be kept in zoos. It's important for wild animals to have their natural habitat. While parks can be nice for people, it might not be the best environment for some animals. We should focus on protecting wild animals in their natural homes. Just imagine how humans would feel if they are confined to small areas or cages.

85. Describe an occasion when many people were smiling

- When it happened
- Who you were with
- What happened
- And explain why many people were smiling

- A smile can brighten our day and lighten any situation
- In today's fast-paced life we are forgetting the importance of smiling
- Today I will talk about a situation when I saw many people smiling
- It was when I was travelling with my cousin to Chandigarh on a bus
- It was around a month ago
- There were around 50 passengers on the bus and of all age groups.
- People were doing different activities- some were talking to each other, a few were reading, children were busy playing games on the mobile phones and some were sleeping.
- After about half an hour into the journey, a passenger sitting in the middle of the bus started talking on the phone.
- He had a very loud voice and I could hear him even though I was sitting in one of the front seats.
- I couldn't help hearing his conversation because of his loud voice.
- Apparently, he was talking to his wife
- From his conversation, it seemed that he had forgotten about their wedding anniversary
- He was apologizing profusely to his wife and was saying that he was ready to buy her anything she wished for.
- That conversation lasted for more than 10 minutes before his wife finally accepted his apology.
- After the call ended, the person heaved a sigh of relief.
- My cousin and I exchanged a few smiles during that conversation
- And I happened to turn around and saw that everyone on the bus was smiling.
- Everyone on the bus had overheard his conversation and had enjoyed it.
- Even the person talking on the phone looked relieved and was smiling.
- Thinking about that journey still brings a smile to my face.
- I think that we should smile more often, like when we greet someone or thank someone.
- It can make someone's day.

Part 3 Follow ups

1. Why do people smile when they take photos?
People smile when they take photos because smiles bring a charm to our face and make the photos more memorable and beautiful. Photos are reminders of memorable events and smiling faces bring back happy memories.

2. Who smiles more, men or women?
I think smiles have nothing to do with gender. People smile due to different reasons.

3. Do you think people should control their moods?
Yes, I think people should control their bad moods, as it can have a negative effect on the other people around them. It can spoil someone else's day.

4. Do you think people who like to smile are more friendly?
If I talk from personal experience, I couldn't agree more. My mother gets a lot of compliments about her infectious smile and she is one of the friendliest people I know. I think people find it easier to approach or talk to people who smile and thus they seem more friendly for sure.

5. Do people smile more when they are younger or older?
I think smile has nothing to do with age. Both young and old people like to smile. I think young people may be more honest about their happiness when they smile and it might not be the case with older people as they are certainly better at masking their true feelings.

86. Describe an item on which you spent more than expected

You should say:
- What it is
- How much did you spend on it
- Why you bought it
- And explain why you think you spent more than expected.

- Recently, my old phone broke down and I had to buy a new phone.
- I considered various models but ultimately, I decided to buy the Apple iPhone.
- I think I made the purchase because of the brand name and because of friend's reviews.
- The phone was much costlier than I expected.
- It was priced at Rs 70,000.
- I still went for it because I wanted to own an iPhone.
- Previously, I had a Samsung phone, but all my friends told me that Apple is way above Samsung in quality.
- After buying it, I also felt that Apple is better.
- The camera quality was better, the response rate was faster, the look was more elegant.
- However, deep down, I knew I didn't care about these things.
- I rarely click pictures with the phone and even if I do, I am fine with a lower resolution.
- The response rate was faster, but then I was comparing the response rate of a new Apple iPhone with a 3-year-old Samsung phone, so the comparison was not apt.
- And, above all, the price was way higher than the other models in the market.
- I bought the mobile phone not because of need but because of impulse.
- I know I am not a heavy mobile phone user.
- I mainly use the mobile phone to call and to check WhatsApp messages.
- Besides that, I use barely 2-3 apps like Zomato for ordering food and Uber for travelling.
- I knew I could have that done all that I wanted with a much cheaper version, but I still went for the Apple iPhone.
- Finally, because of this decision, I had to postpone the decision of buying a new laptop, which I urgently need.
- My old one is about 6 years old and sometimes it takes nearly half an hour to start up.
- A new laptop would have made my life much more comfortable than the iPhone did.
- For all these reasons, I regret buying the iPhone and spending so much on it.

Follow up Questions

1. Do you often buy more than you expected?

Yes, I often buy more than I expected, but it is normally in case of small household items or grocery items. For example, I would buy 2 pairs of jeans if they are on an offer, even if I need just one. The iPhone was the first time, I spent so much more than I should have spent.

2. What do you think young people spend most of their money on?

I think young people spend their money on clothes and other fashion accessories like belts, shoes, etc. Also, I think a lot of youth spend their money on gadgets like mobile phones, laptops, and headphones.

3. Do you think it is important to save money? Why?

Yes, I think it is crucial as we can never be certain about the future. The recent Corona epidemic has made it even more clear that how uncertain life is. Many people died because they couldn't afford the costly healthcare. Also, if people didn't have savings, it would have been impossible to tide over these difficult times.

4. Do people buy things that they don't need?

Yes, all the time. I think we buy things because buying things makes us happy. Even though we know we won't be using the thing, we buy it for momentary happiness. A common example is an electric drill, which people barely use for 10 mins after buying and then collects dust sitting unused for years.

87. Describe a person who solved a problem in a smart way

You should say

- Who this person is
- What the problem was
- How he/she solved it
- And explain why you think he/ she did it in a smart way

- Everyone faces problems in life
- Some people have a great presence of mind and can solve problems without panicking
- Here I would like to talk about my aunt Paramjeet, who solved a problem in a really clever way
- I remember it was about six months ago
- My aunt and uncle had come to our place and my mother was preparing dinner for them
- As my mother was putting salt in the cheese curry, the box of salt slipped from her hand and a lot of salt fell into the dish.
- As my mother had not prepared anything else she started panicking because it was already dinnertime
- My aunt came into the kitchen when she saw that my mother was looking troubled
- She told my mother not to panic at all
- She kneaded some dough and put 3 to 4 balls of dough into the curry
- After about 15 minutes she removed the door balls and asked my mother to taste the curry
- There was no excess salt in the dish anymore
- My mother would not have been able to solve this problem on her own
- She had started thinking that the whole curry dish would have to be thrown and she would have to cook the dish all over again
- But my aunt saved the situation, and nobody even came to know that the problem had happened
- My aunt Paramjeet is a great cook, and she can fix her dinner for 20 people in just one hour
- She also conducts cookery classes during the summer vacations
- She is in her mid-forties but looks much younger.
- Whenever anyone in our family faces any problem, they seek her help for a solution.

Follow up Questions

1. Do you think children are born smart or do they learn to become smart?

This is a tough question to answer. Some children are innately more intelligent than others. However, I believe that with proper guidance children can be taught to be smart.

2. How do children become smart at school?

Children become smart at school by listening to the teachers, interacting with their peers, and doing their studies diligently

3. Why are some people well-rounded and others only good at one thing?

Some people are naturally curious to learn a lot of things and so they become well-rounded. However, others try to master one skill and become proficient in that.

4. Why does modern society need talent of all kinds?

Modern society needs talent of all kinds because everyone cannot be proficient in all the things. So, to have a harmonious society there has to be a mix of people with different talents so that they can work together for the benefit of the whole society.

88. Describe a time when you needed to use your imagination

- When it was
- When you needed to use imagination
- How difficult or easy it was
- And explain how you felt about it

- There are a lot of situations when ingenuity has helped me tackle difficult situations.
- A few months, I had gone to Jammu for an examination.
- But, because of the fog, my train back home got cancelled.
- So, I decided to travel back by bus.
- The bus dropped me at my city's bus station at about 2 AM.
- I had told my parents that I would be coming by bus, but because I had left my flashlight on, on my phone, my phone battery had died.
- So, I couldn't call my parents to pick me up when I reached the bus station.
- And because of fog, my parents also couldn't estimate when the bus would actually reach my home city.
- So, I was forced to walk back alone at night.
- At this time, I saw some strangers walking towards me.
- I felt that their intentions were not right, and I was really worried.
- At that moment, I used my imagination and took out the phone, and started talking loudly on the phone.
- I knew that my phone was dead, but they didn't know that the phone was dead.
- As they came closer, I started saying that I am just around the corner.
- As they heard this, they moved back, and I used this opportunity to run a nearby 24/7 store.
- Once inside, I borrowed the phone from the sales clerk and called my parents to pick me up.
- The whole time my heart was beating very loudly.
- It was a very scary situation.
- On seeing my father and mother, I finally took a huge sigh of relief.
- My father told me that he was really proud of my presence of mind and a lot of people told me that they wouldn't have been able to think on their feet like I did.

Follow up Questions

1. Do you think adults can have lots of imagination?

I don't think imagination depends upon age. Both children and adults can imagine things. The only thing is that children are not restricted by real-world knowledge in their imagination. So, children can sometimes imagine completely impossible things.

2. Do you think imagination is necessary for scientists?

I think all scientific discoveries are about looking at something from a new or different perspective. So, imagination is certainly important for scientists. Many would have seen an apple fall from a tree before Newton, but he was the first one to relate it to a force.

3. What kind of jobs need imagination?

I think the biggest field with needs imagination is science. Then, another field in which I think is being a fantasy author. A fantasy author basically puts down his imagination on a piece of paper. I think some of the famous fantasy authors like Tolkien or JK Rowling are some of the people with an endless imagination.

4. What subjects are helpful for people's imagination?

I think literature can be very helpful to develop imagination. I remember reading Alice in Wonderland was so exciting. It was my first time reading a fantasy novel and I just couldn't put it down. After reading each chapter, I used to think about what would happen next, and that in turn was nothing but exercising my imagination.

89. Describe a natural talent you want to improve like sports music

- What it is?
- When you discovered it?
- How you want to improve it
- And how you feel about it?

- I think every person in this world has got a talent or two and few are born with many talents.
- If I talk about myself, I am not a person of many talents but one talent that I may have a little is dancing.
- There are many different dancing styles like breakdance, folk, hip-hop, contemporary but I like to do freestyle dancing.
- Since my childhood, I have loved to dance at home, parties, or marriage functions but I have never learnt or performed professionally.
- Until recently, it was my cousin's wedding and we thought of doing a surprise dance performance for him and his fiancé.
- All my other cousins gave me the responsibility to choreograph the performance and also selected me as the lead dancer.
- We selected popular songs with catchy beats for our performance and it turned out to be really amazing.
- Everyone really liked us and appreciated our sweet gesture for the event.
- One of cousin's friend who runs a dancing academy was really happy to see my moves and asked me from where I learnt them. When I told her that I have never learnt dancing, she suggested to me that I am really good at it and can even make a career out of it.
- This is actually when I gave serious thought to her advice and had the realization that maybe it is a talent that I have.
- I am now thinking of joining her dance academy to learn different forms of dancing and who knows maybe I would like to participate in a dancing competition one day.
- I think dancing makes me feel really happy and relaxed.
- It is also a stress buster for me and a great form of exercise.
- I forget about all the worries while dancing.
- It is an amazing experience.

Follow up Questions

1. Do you think artists with talents should focus on their talents?
I honestly think that artists with talents should focus on it only if they are passionate about it because If we are not passionate about something then we are not able to sustain our interest in the particular activity for long. For example, the son or daughter of a famous musician might have innate talent towards music but if they do not have any interest in music they will never become successful musicians.

2. Is it possible for us to know the children who are 3 or 4 years old will become musicians or painters when they grow up?
I do not think it is possible to predict what a child will grow up to be in the future at such a young age. Children at the age of 3 or 4 are very curious and show their interest in almost everything as they are discovering the world around them. It would be very difficult to identify that they will become an artist in the future or not, even if the child has some innate talent, as most of the parents do not pay much serious attention to what their child is doing.

3. Do you think parents feel guilty for putting too much pressure on their children?
Well, I believe parents do not feel much guilty for putting their children under pressure because they think that they are preparing their children for the challenges that the real world would bring in the future. Parents have the idea that putting their children under pressure will motivate them to push themselves harder and achieve the impossible in life.

4. Why people like to watch talent shows?
Honestly, I am not a big fan of talent shows but I think the primary reason why people love watching them is entertainment. The talent shows are full of entertainment which is based on reality as compared to the fictional dramas. People are able to relate a lot with these reality based shows and also they drive a lot of inspiration from such shows. The talent shows sometimes also show the struggling stories of the artists which a lot of people love to watch.

5. Do you think it is more interesting to watch famous peoples or ordinary people's show?
Well, I have a mixed opinion for this question as both the categories teach us different things. From famous people, we get to know the story behind their struggles, hard work, and how they became successful, which is very motivating but then sometimes I feel that famous people are pretentious and one never gets to know how they are in real life. On the other hand, ordinary people offer us the real side of humanity to which everyone is able to relate in many different ways, be it emotionally or how people actually live. Since many people are able to relate with this so they find ordinary people more interesting.

90. Describe a time when you're waiting for something special that would happen

You should say

- What you waited for
- Where you waited
- Why it was special
- And explain how you felt when you were waiting

- During the pandemic we all had to stay indoors
- There were no social get-togethers
- My sister had got engaged in 2019 and we were eagerly waiting for her wedding
- My cousins and I had made plans for Sangeet, a ceremony with dance and songs
- Suddenly, the government banned all gatherings.
- My father suggested that we could have a quiet wedding in the court.
- The suggestion was neither acceptable to me nor the bridegroom's family
- My mother came up with an idea that we go ahead with the court marriage and later we could celebrate with all pomp and show.
- After the court marriage we waited for 10 months.
- Once the rules were relaxed, we all started preparing for the great day
- My father booked a marriage palace for the great event
- It was difficult booking the marriage palace because many people had been waiting for things to relax to celebrate their family functions.
- But somehow, we got the date after 15 days
- My cousins and I started preparing for the dances which we had to do at the wedding
- Those 15 days were full of fun and joy and we were rehearsing most of the time
- I even taught a few steps to my mum and dad so that they could also perform on the stage for a minute or two
- My sister also prepared a solo dance performance
- One of my aunts is a very good dancer and she choreographed all the dances for us
- Finally, the great day came, and I remember it was so full of merriment that everyone enjoyed
- Although the conditions had relaxed, we were still allowed only a fixed number of guests
- We shared the videos of the dances and the great party on social media.
- I remember many of our contacts were very angry with us later for not having invited them
- Ultimately, they all understood and realised that we were also bound by the rules and could not break them
- I only wish this pandemic situation goes away once and for all
- So, this was the special thing that I waited for eagerly

Another idea

- Well, I am a highly impatient person, and I really hate it when I have to wait for something for a long time.
- But today I would like to talk about one special occasion when I could have waited forever.
- It was during the last summer when my sister was blessed with a baby girl, and it was one of the best moments of my life.

makkarIELTS

- My sister was expecting her baby at the end of June, but I guess the baby had different plans and she was born in the first week of July.
- I was really excited about it because I was going to become an uncle for the first time in my life.
- As per the doctor's advice, we got my sister admitted to the local hospital on the 6th of July, and my niece was born on the morning of 7th July.
- I waited the entire night outside the hospital, and I was very excited and anxious at the same time.
- In fact, everybody in the family was curious whether it would be a boy or a girl, but I just wanted the baby and mother to be healthy as it was during the COVID period.
- My sister was in the labor room for almost 5-6 hours, which to me felt like an eternity.
- Finally, when we received the good news from the doctor, I thanked God and congratulated and hugged everyone around me.
- My dad and brother-in-law brought sweets for everyone, and we could see smiling faces everywhere.
- It was a special day because holding my niece for the first time and looking at how small she brought tears of joy into my eyes.
- Also, my sister decided to name her Prisha, which means God's gift, and it was a name suggested by me.
- Prisha is one year old now and she has just started to walk.
- I love her a lot and the day she was born was one of the happiest days of my life.

Follow up Questions

1. On what occasions do people usually need to wait?

I think that waiting is a big part of our everyday life, and we have to wait for many of the situations in our life. It could be when we are meeting someone, when we order food at a restaurant or when we need to travel by public transport. In general, if the situation or the task requires two or more people to complete it, then the waiting factor kicks in automatically.

2. Who behaves better when waiting children or adults?

I think adults have more patience when it comes to waiting because they are more mature and from their past experience they know that some things are worth the wait. On the other hand, children want everything with the click of a button and lack patience.

3. Compared to the past are people less patient now, why?

Yes, people are less patient nowadays because technology has made things a lot faster and convenient for people. People can now order food online and it is delivered to their homes in less than 30 minutes, so people expect that everything can be done faster. However, this is also making them impatient because if they have to wait for something which they feel can be done in less amount of time, then they start feeling uncomfortable.

4. What are the positive and negative effects of waiting on society?

From a positive point of view, I think that it helps to develop patience in people and society becomes more tolerant. When people are willing to wait for others, it shows that they care for them. From a negative perspective, I think waiting can have disastrous effects sometimes. For example, if we have to wait long for an ambulance, the consequences can be fatal. Secondly, waiting for longer periods in offices or other places can hamper productivity.

91. Describe a time when you encouraged someone to do someone to do something that he/she didn't want to do

You should say
- Who he or she is
- What you encouraged him/her to do
- How he/she reacted
- And explain why you encouraged him/her

- I think there are lot of times that we need to encourage or push others to step outside their comfort zone.
- Recently, one of my friends, Ravi and I went to Rishikesh.
- And I persuaded him to do something that he was really hesitant about trying at first.
- We went to Rishikesh during the winter vacations.
- We were locked up during the Covid period and so we both wanted a break.
- Our plan was mainly sightseeing.
- However, there we came to know that Rishikesh is famous for adventure sports like paragliding and cliff diving.
- I was really excited when I heard about it and really wanted to try them.
- But my friend is slightly afraid of heights.
- So, he refused to try them.
- I have known him since my childhood, and I knew that he would really regret not doing trying them out later.
- It was also an opportunity for him to get over his fear.
- So, I encouraged him try it.
- Initially, he just simply refused.
- I just kept telling him about all the safety precautions.
- So, I thought the best way would be to talk to some people who had done them before.
- Talking to a few of them at the paragliding site, calmed him a bit.
- They all spoke about how safe it was and some even called it one of the best experienced of their life.
- After listening to them, I felt my friend was a little more willing to try.
- He just needed a little nudge.
- So, I said I would go first and if all goes well, he has to follow.
- Frankly speaking, I wasn't sure whether he would actually do it.
- But he did.
- It was really a great experience.
- My friend was also really happy and proud of doing it.
- But when I asked if we could do it again, I got a loud NO.

Follow up Questions

1. How could leaders encourage their employees?
There are many ways by which leaders and managers can encourage employees like leading through example, incentives and appreciation. I think each individual is wired differently. So, while one method may work for some people, it may not work for another person.

2. When should parents encourage their children?
I think parents should always encourage their children. But children need encouragement especially if they are afraid of failing or trying out something new.
Parents should tell them that success is secondary and trying is a much bigger achievement.

3. What kind of encouragement should parents give?
I think parents can encourage their children in many ways. If children are afraid of embarrassment, parents can do the same thing in front of children first. For example, once in school, one of my friends' father encouraged him to dance by himself dancing. But I think the biggest achievement is supporting children when they are trying something new and telling them that success doesn't matter as long as they try something.

4. Do you think some people are better at persuading others?
Yes, I think some people are able to motivate others much better. I think it depends upon emotional intelligence. If people are able to understand other people's emotions, they are able to better understand and motivate them.

92. Describe an event you attended in which you didn't like the music played

You should say
- What the event was
- Where you were
- What the music was like
- And explain why you didn't like the music.

- I love listening to music.
- In fact, I listen to music while cooking, while cleaning and even while studying/working.
- And I generally enjoy all genres of music from pop to rock to jazz.
- But few years I attended a concert by Sunidhi Chauhan, and I didn't enjoy it one bit.
- There were mainly two reasons for it.
- First, Sunidhi herself didn't show up.
- I was and still am a big Sunidhi Chauhan fan and it was a great disappointment.
- The greatest singers of the world could have come to the stage and I would still have been disappointed.
- I was really looking forward to hearing Sunidhi live for the first time.
- So, I was very disheartened.
- The second reason was the backup singers seemed like amateurs.
- They didn't involve the crowd at all.
- Their performance was very dull and monotonous.
- I didn't feel like I was attending a live performance at all.
- In fact, after a while, none of us were paying any attention to the songs being played.
- The music was also too loud, and it was hurting the ears.
- I remember many people asked the event managers to lower the volume of the loudspeakers.
- What added insult to injury was that the event managers refused to refund the money.
- Some of the people even fought and got their money back, but I was too tired to fight then.
- I left the concert quite early.
- More than anything else, I never got an opportunity to hear her live again, I don't know if I will get an opportunity in the future too.
- It might remain a dream.

Follow up Questions

1. Why do so many young people spend a lot of money on concerts?

I think it is mainly because of the experience. Hearing a singer on the screen can never match the feeling of hearing them live. Also, I think it's about spending quality time with friends.

2. Do you think older people like the same music as young people?

I feel young people like pop, rock music, basically any music that they can dance to. They don't care about the lyrics; they care more about the fast beats. Old people are more into soft, slow, music. They actually pay more attention to the lyrics.

3. Do you think music concerts are suitable for old people to attend?

I think it might be physically taxing for the old people to stand for so long at a concert. But otherwise, I think if the old people can manage the physical exertion, the concerts are certainly suitable. Today many concerts also offer chairs, where the older people can sit and enjoy the show rather than having to stand.

4. Why do shopping malls often have background music?

I think the music is there to enhance the experience of shopping. We remember shopping through not only sight but also through music playing in the background.

93. Describe an unusual meal you had.

- When did you eat it
- Where did you eat it?
- With whom you had the meal?
- Why do you think it was unusual?

- When I was a child, I used to be a very selective eater.
- My mother was always worried about my health.
- I used to drink milk but then I started avoiding it too.
- I remember, I used to intentionally spill milk or throw it in the washbasin when no one was looking.
- Once I mother caught me throwing it.
- My parents scolded me a lot.
- My dad told my mother that I should not be given milk again.
- My mom was caught between a rock and a hard place.
- I don't know how she came up with a fried milk recipe but the next day I was given some cutlets instead of milk.
- I had no idea what they were but I loved them.
- From then on, every morning, I ate those fried things.
- I felt like the luckiest kid.
- I also took a few for my friends in school.
- They all loved them too.
- Someone in school asked me, what they were made of.
- I asked my mom but she said it's a secret.
- For a few days I forgot about it but then one day, I actually saw my mom making them from the kitchen window.
- They were made from milk. It was fried milk.
- My mother had found a way of feeding me milk and at the same time making sure I didn't throw it.
- She added many other things to it like eggs, lemon peels, and cornstarch.
- I don't think I would have eaten them, if I knew they were made from milk before tasting them.
- My mother made a whole meal out of something I hated.
- It was of course less healthy as it was fried but she used very little oil too.
- Even now, I sometimes crave them.
- My mother is always ready to make them.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think having dinner at home is a good idea?
Yes, of course. Home cooked meals are always healthier than meals at restaurants. At home we use the best oils and add spices to our taste. We also wash the vegetables properly before cooking.

2. Do young people like to spend time with their families or friends?
Young people like to spend time with friends more because they have no generation gap with friends. When they spend time with family, there are chances of misunderstandings. Parents have to be friendly, otherwise young people drift away from them.

3. What do you think are the benefits of having dinner together?
When families have dinner together, it increases family bonding. They share their day's happenings with each other. It has also been seen that when families have 3-5 meals a week together, then children do not fall into vices like drugs and alcohol.

4. Do you think people are less willing to cook meals by themselves these days, compared to the past?
Yes, people have become more career oriented and have started earning more. When spending capacity increases then people find easy way out and eat out.

5. What are the advantages and disadvantages of eating in restaurants?
One significant advantage of eating in restaurants is that you don't have to cook and clean. You get to spend time with family and friends. You can try new cuisines and dishes that you don't cook at home. The disadvantages are it can be expensive and unhealthy. Restaurant food is full of saturated fats and has a lot of calories.

6. What fast foods are there in your country?
In my country, you see hawkers selling fast food on every street. Typical fast foods are Pakora, Samosa, Pav Bhaji, Tikki, Chole Bhature. Recently international fast-food chains like McDonald's, Pizza Hut, Burger King, Subway, etc, have opened up in all major cities and towns. So, Pizza, burgers, and fries have become popular.

7. Do people eat fast food at home?
Yes, people do eat fast food at home. People are busy and don't have time to cook. It's very convenient to have fast food delivered or order takeout on the way back from work. Sometimes its even cheaper to eat fast food than cooking with fresh ingredients at home.

8. Why do some people choose to eat out instead of ordering takeout?
Eating out is fun, and people can meet friends and socialize. Also, people don't have to wait in line for takeout. They can sit down and relax in a restaurant. Also, food often gets cold by the time you reach home.

9. Do people in your country socialize in restaurants? Why?
In my country people do socialize in restaurants. It is very relaxing, and people can bond with friends and family over a nice meal.

10. Do people in your country value food culture?

Yes, food is an important part of our culture. India is very diverse and different states in India have their own traditional food, recipes, and cooking techniques. People like to cook fresh homemade food daily and eat it together with their families.

94. Describe an interesting building

You should say:

- Where it is
- What it looks like
- What function it has
- Why is it interesting

• I live in the countryside where most buildings are single-storey, so we don't really have tall or iconic buildings in my village.
• However, my family and I often travel to Ludhiana and there is a very famous landmark there called the Clock Tower, which locals refer to as "Ghanta Ghar."
• It is located at the entrance of the main commercial area of the city, and the railway station is just a few kilometres away.
• The Clock Tower was built during the pre-independence period and it reflects European Gothic architectural style.
• It is made of red bricks and stands out prominently among the colourful and busy marketplace that surrounds it.
• Although it is not very tall by modern standards—roughly the height of a four- or five-storey apartment building—it appears quite tall compared to the single and double-storey shops nearby.
• Initially, it served the basic function of showing the time to the public and acted as a central point for orientation.
• Nowadays, it has become a popular tourist spot and an important meeting point for locals.
• It has also become a hub for political gatherings, as many parties hold rallies and protests there, which sometimes causes traffic congestion due to narrow streets.
• I find it interesting because it represents a part of our colonial history and has retained its charm despite modern development around it.
• There are now many 30 to 40-storey buildings in Ludhiana, yet the Clock Tower still feels unique and culturally significant.
• I often meet friends there whenever I go to Ludhiana for shopping or to watch movies, so it holds sentimental value for me as well.
• For all these reasons, it continues to be an important landmark for the city and remains an interesting building in my eyes.

makkarIELTS

1. What types of buildings are popular in your country?
Well, in my country, modern high-rise apartments and shopping malls are very popular in big cities. People prefer them because they save space and offer facilities like parking and security. But in rural areas, single-storey houses are still common because land is cheaper and families live together.

2. Is it worth spending a lot of money on the exterior appearance of a building?
According to me, it depends on the purpose of the building. If it's a hotel or a commercial space, the exterior matters because it attracts customers. But for a normal house, I feel comfort is more important than decoration. Some people still like to invest in fancy exteriors just to show status, but I'm not too fond of that idea.

3. Is it more important for a building to look good on the outside or on the inside?
I personally believe the inside matters more. People spend most of their time indoors, so the space should be comfortable and practical. A building can look simple from the outside but still feel warm, neat, and useful on the inside. I've seen many houses like that, and they feel much nicer to live in.

4. Why do people like to visit historical sites?
People enjoy historical sites because they help them connect with the past. These places tell stories about how people lived, fought, or built things before modern technology. When I visited a fort last year, I felt like I was stepping into another time, and that made the experience quite special.

95. Describe a perfect job you would like to have in the future

You should say:

- What it is ?
- How you knew it?
- What it is like?
- And explain why you think it is perfect?

- There are many jobs in the world which are well paid, such as the job of a teacher, a doctor, a nurse, a scientist, a politician and so many more.
- Here I would like to talk about a job, which I think is perfect for me.
- This is the job of a teacher.
- Everyone passes through the hands of teachers in school and college years.
- Teachers are known as nation builders.
- People from all the professions, such as doctors and nurses also pass through the hands of a teacher.
- I believe that teachers have the power to make the world a better place.
- A teacher is like a candle that burns itself and shows light to others.
- Since age-old times, teaching has been considered a noble profession.
- In ancient India, there was the Gurukul system.
- Even the king's children stayed in the home of the guru or the teacher.
- They used to do the household chores of the guru and in return the guru imparted knowledge.
- Teachers improve the literacy rate of a country.
- When literacy rate is high, crime and violence go down.
- A teacher requires good communication skills and depth of knowledge of his/her subject.
- A good teacher should treat all students equally.
- Nowadays, the government is paying teachers handsomely.
- This is to lure bright students to join this profession.
- A bachelor's in education degree is required to be a teacher.
- I believe in enjoying what I do and at the same time I wish to do quality work.
- These children are our future.
- One of my aunts is a teacher.
- She is earning handsomely.
- She tells me that she enjoys her job very much.
- I have seen her students give her a lot of respect and love.
- One day, I wish I too become as successful as she is

96. Describe a bicycle/motorcycle/car trip you would like to go on.

You should say

- Who you would like to go with
- Where you would like to go
- When you would like to go
- And explain why would you like to go by bicycle/motorcycle/car

• Recently, two of my friends went on a motorcycle trip to Leh.
• Leh is a high-altitude city located in the northern Indian state of J&K.
• A few years back, a movie 3 idiots was shot there and since then, it has become a tourism hotspot.
• My friends and I had also planned to go there by motorbike in 2020, but because of the lockdown, we weren't able to go.
• It is about 500kms from our hometown and there is no train connectivity to the city.
• So, our main option was to either go by motorcycle or to go by car.
• The main reason for motorbikes was that it is the best way to enjoy the picturesque mountains along the way.
• Also, sometimes I feel nauseated when I travel by car in high altitudes.
• Finally, some of the mountainous roads are very narrow and it is very easy to get stuck in traffic jams if going by car.
• So this year, they finally went there.
• I was not able to join them this year as well because I was preparing for the IELTS exam.
• After coming back, they couldn't stop talking about the trip.
• They also shared the photographs and videos they took along the way.
• When they saw that I was feeling jealous, they told me that would love to go there again with me after the exam.
• There are still many things that they wanted to do but couldn't do because of lack of time.
• So, we have decided to go there, after my results are declared in another two weeks.

Follow-ups

1. Which form of vehicle is most common in your country, bikes, car or motorcycle?

I think both motorcycles and cars are very common. Most people prefer motorcycles for travelling within the city and when travelling alone, while they prefer cars when travelling to another city and when travelling with family.

2. Do you think air pollution comes mostly from mobile vehicles?

Actually, I used to think that. But, a few years ago I read an article, which said that vehicles are responsible for merely 10% of the pollution, and major air pollution is due to industries. Another major source of pollution in my area is the burning of crop residue by farmers after harvests.

3. Do you think people need to change the way of transportation drastically to protect the environment?

Like I said before vehicles are responsible for a very small part of the air pollution. So, I do not think radical changes are necessary in our way of travelling. But, I do think that the government needs to bring about a change by promoting electric vehicles and public transportation.

4. How are transportation systems in rural and urban systems different?

I think the density of population in cities makes public transportation like buses, trains, and metros viable in cities, while in rural areas it is too costly to operate them. In most villages, people mainly depend on their personal transportation.

97. Describe a time when you received good service in a shop/store

You should say:

- Where is the shop?
- When you went to the shop
- What service you received from the staff
- And explain how you felt about the service

- I am a shopaholic and I love to purchase things.
- Here I would like to talk about a situation when I received a very good service from a shop in a shopping mall in Jalandhar.
- Last month I went there with my cousins to buy some clothes for myself.
- I wanted to buy a pair of jeans and I had heard about this shop in Viva Collage, which sells jeans of all top brands.
- We went straight to that shop and the salesmen welcomed us with smiling faces.
- They started showing us various varieties and allowed us to try them on.
- We were very happy to know that Levis Company was offering a deal.
- We picked out the colors of our choice and happily made the purchase.
- Two pairs of jeans needed slight alterations in length, which they got done within an hour at no extra cost.
- We were very happy with their prompt service.
- Later on, we enjoyed ourselves at the mall and had lunch there at a food outlet.
- In the evening we watched a movie in the same complex.
- When I came home and showed my jeans to my family, they also liked them a lot.
- I refer that shop to all my friends and relatives because of their services.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Can consumption drive economic growth?
Yes, consumption can drive economic growth as it stimulates demand for goods and services. When people spend money, businesses grow, leading to more production, jobs, and higher income levels. This increased economic activity can help boost overall economic performance, as seen in consumer-driven economies.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of online shopping?
Online shopping offers convenience, a wide range of products, and the ability to compare prices easily. However, it lacks the personal touch of in-store shopping, and some people may find it difficult to assess the quality of products without seeing them. Delivery time and shipping costs can also be drawbacks.

What are the differences between online shopping and in-store shopping?
Online shopping allows people to browse and purchase products from anywhere at any time, offering convenience and often better deals. In-store shopping, however, lets customers physically examine products, receive immediate assistance from staff, and avoid delivery delays. While online shopping may have a larger selection, in-store shopping offers a more personal experience.

Why do some people not like shopping in small shops?
Some people avoid shopping in small shops because they may not offer the same variety or convenience as larger stores or online platforms. Small shops might also have limited stock, higher prices, or less attractive shopping environments. The lack of parking space or crowding in small areas can also be a factor.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of shopping in small shops?
Shopping in small shops can offer a more personalized experience, where customers receive individualized attention and product recommendations. Small businesses may also offer unique, locally made products. However, their limited selection, higher prices, and potentially longer wait times for restocking can be drawbacks.

Why are shopping malls so popular in India?
Shopping malls are popular in India because they provide a one-stop destination for shopping, dining, and entertainment. Malls offer a variety of national and international brands, air conditioning, and a clean, safe environment for families. They also host events and promotions that attract people seeking a more modern, comfortable shopping experience.

98. Describe something that you can't live without (not a computer/phone)

You should say:

- What it is
- What you do with it
- How it helps you in your life
- And explain why you can't live without it

• I think there are very few things in life which I cannot live without.
• But the one thing, which I would really miss is my two-wheeler, Activa.
• It's my main mode of conveyance.
• I live in the suburbs of Phagwara and for most necessities, I have to travel to the city.
• For example, there is a small grocery shop near my home, but it has limited variety.
• Even my college is the city and its the only mode of travel for me now.
• Before the pandemic, there was a regular bus service to the city.
• But, due to the lockdowns and the hesitation to travel by public transportation, the bus service is far less regular.
• In fact, earlier there used to be bus to the city every half an hour, but now there is one every two hours.
• Moreover, buses make more stops nowadays, so travelling takes considerably longer as well.
• On my two-wheeler it takes me 15 minutes, while it takes 40 minutes by bus.
• And going to the city by bus is still fine but coming back is very challenging.
• When going I can wait in the comfort of my home, but while coming back, I have to wait at the bus stop.
• I would really feel handicapped without my two-wheeler.
• I have faced this situation where I had to live without it and it was one of the worst days of this year.
• A month back two-wheeler broke down and the service centre was out of faulty part.
• Due to this, it took a whole week for it get repaired.
• I couldn't do anything that week.
• The first day, my friend gave me a lift on his car and another friend dropped me back home.
• But I felt awkward asking them again.
• I tried the bus for the first and last time after the lockdown on the second day.
• It was such a horrible experience, I thought it was better to stay home all day long than to travel by bus.
• It also brought about a new-found appreciation in me for those who travel by bus daily.
• I hope the government really does something about the buses soon, but till that time, no-one can part me from my Activa.

Part 3 – Follow ups

1. Why are children attracted to new things (such as electronics)?
I think everyone is attracted to new things nowadays. Children are attracted more so because for them everything is new and they are curious about things work. Another reason is that children want to possess or own the latest technology to show off to their friends and classmates.

2. Why do some grown-ups hate to throw out old things (such as clothes)?
Adults have a personal connection or a story attached to old things. For example, a sweater made by their mother or gifted by an aunt. They feel like they are losing a part of themselves when they throw them out as it is a reminder of their childhood and hence, they are hesitant. In today's era of mass-produced goods, there is no connection to products.

3. Is the way people buy things affected? How?
Yes, people today buy things online. Moreover, like I said before we don't have an emotional connection with products as in the past. Earlier, we felt a loss when something broke down. Now, it's just an object, and breaking down is an opportunity to buy a newer version.

4. What do you think influences people to buy new things?
I think it's just that as things get old, people get bored, and to renew their excitement, they buy a new thing. It also the influence of ads, which keep on reminding us that we are missing out if we don't have the latest version of something.

5. Why do children like toys?
Children like toys because they are fun and interesting. Toys help them use their imagination and learn new things while playing. They also help children share and play together, which improves their social skills.

6. Do you think it is good for a child to always take his or her favourite toy with them all the time?
I think it can be good to some extent because a favourite toy can make children feel safe and comfortable, especially in new or stressful situations. However, if children always depends on the toy, it may not become independent and interact with others. So, it is better if children enjoy their favourite toy but also learn to stay without it sometimes.

99. Describe a positive change that you have made recently in your daily routine

You should say:

- What the change is
- How you have changed the routine
- Why you think it is a positive change
- And explain how you feel about the change

- I normally don't make many changes to my daily routine, but this New Year, I felt motivated to improve my lifestyle.
- I made a resolution to focus on my health and create better habits.
- To start, I began waking up early and ensuring I sleep on time.
- After waking up, I either go for a morning walk or hit the gym.
- I also added a small walk after every meal to stay active throughout the day.
- Last year, I spent too much time sitting and scrolling on my phone, which made me feel lazy and unmotivated.
- These unhealthy habits caused me to gain a lot of weight and feel sad most of the time.
- Since adopting this new routine, I've noticed a lot of positive changes in my life.
- I now feel more energetic and ready to take on daily tasks with enthusiasm.
- Waking up early gives me more time to plan my day and complete everything on schedule.
- Exercising regularly has improved my physical health and lifted my mood.
- I no longer feel lethargic or overwhelmed, and I've regained a sense of balance in my life.
- This change has made me feel happier and more confident overall.
- I believe everyone should make exercise and self-care a priority in their daily routine.
- Even small steps like walking or setting a fixed sleep schedule can have a big impact on your life.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Who should get more promotion opportunities in the workplace, young people or older people?
Both young and older people should have equal opportunities for promotion, depending on their skills, experience, and contributions. Young people may bring fresh ideas and energy, while older people often have valuable experience and knowledge. The focus should be on performance and potential rather than age.

Who do you think would make changes more often, young people or old people?
Young people tend to be more open to change and may make changes more often, especially as they are generally more adaptable and tech-savvy. On the other hand, older people may be more cautious or resistant to change due to years of established routines or experience, but this varies from person to person.

Do you think it is good to change jobs frequently?
Changing jobs frequently can be good if it leads to better opportunities, personal growth, and new experiences. However, too much job-hopping may create an impression of instability and lack of commitment. It's important to weigh the pros and cons and ensure that the career changes align with long-term goals.

What changes would people often make?
People often make changes related to their personal lives, such as adjusting their lifestyle, moving to a new home, or changing jobs. They may also make adjustments to their health habits, like diet or exercise routines, and their financial strategies based on changing circumstances or goals.

Is time management very important in our daily lives?
Yes, time management is crucial in our daily lives as it helps us balance work, personal activities, and relaxation. It allows us to be more productive, meet deadlines, and reduce stress. Without proper time management, it can be challenging to accomplish tasks efficiently.

What do people normally plan in their daily lives?
People usually plan their work or study schedules, household chores, meals, and leisure activities in their daily lives. They may also plan time for socializing, exercise, or pursuing hobbies. Planning helps ensure that they make the most of their day and prioritize essential tasks.

100. Describe a time when you felt proud of a family member

You should say:

- When it happened
- Who the person is
- What the person did
- And explain why you felt proud of him/her

• I have a big family and there are many moments when my family be it my grandparents, parents, siblings, nieces, nephews, cousins have made me proud.
• Here I would like to talk about a moment that happened recently.
• In July this year, my niece participated in a kid's triathlon competition.
• She is just 10 years old, and this was her first time doing a triathlon.
• She has participated in running competitions before but this time she was doing 3 activities, swimming, biking, and running one after the other.
• She was very nervous about the transition phases between the 3 activities as the time taken during the transitions can get very crucial in a triathlon.
• She got only a week to practice as my sister enrolled her at the last minute.
• I was so proud that she was even participating in a competition like this at such a young age.
• I couldn't believe that she was skilled at all three activities.
• I talked to my niece on the phone the night before to motivate her. I told her to have fun and wished her the best of luck.
• My sister called the next day to tell us that not only did my niece finish the race successfully but also stood 3rd place in her age group.
• She took a total of 17 minutes to finish the race.
• I was so happy to hear that and felt so proud of my niece.
• She has always been good at academics and gets good grades but now she was a triathlete.
• My sister sent pictures of the trophy ceremony and I showed them to everyone in our family.
• I talked to my niece later that day to congratulate her.
• I could hear the joy in my niece's voice. She told me that next time she will aim for a faster time.
• She had lost some time getting on the bike, putting on the helmet, and then getting off the bike.
• I told her she did great for her first time and went beyond my expectations.
• No one in our family has participated in an event like this and this was a proud moment for us all.
• In fact, my niece has motivated me to get into shape and start running.
• I even started taking swim lessons as I never learnt swimming before because of my water phobia.

1. When would parents feel proud of their children?

Parents feel proud of their children when they meet and achieve their goals. It can be getting good grades in school, getting into the sports team, graduating from college, and getting their first job, etc. For younger children parents are proud when they achieve tiny milestones like saying their first word, taking their first step, tying their shoelaces by themselves, etc.

2. Should parents reward children? Why and how?

Yes, parents should reward children for their achievements and hard work. It encourages them to continue doing it and makes them feel good about them themselves. Instead of giving material goods as rewards, parents should reward children by praising them, letting them do a favorite activity, or spending more time with them.

3. Is it good to reward children too often? Why?

I don't think parents should reward children too often as it can make them feel entitled. Buying them toys, gadgets as rewards can make them materialistic. Younger kids may become too focused on the reward and forget about the reason they are being rewarded for. They can even start negotiating with parents for every small task they do.

4. On what occasions would adults be proud of themselves?

Adults have many occasions when they are proud of themselves like a promotion at their job, buying their first home, getting their children into good schools, doing social work like helping others or a friend in need, etc.

101. Describe a movie you watched recently that you felt disappointed about

You should say:

- When it was
- Why you didn't like it
- Why you decided to watch it
- And explain why you felt disappointed about it

- I haven't seen a lot of movies recently.
- However, about two weeks ago, I went to the cinema to watch the movie Avatar: Fire and Ash.
- I had watched the first two parts in the cinema as well, and I had thoroughly enjoyed them.
- Before going, I also read some reviews about the movie on the internet.
- Most of the reviews were positive.
- So, I had high expectations for the movie.
- However, I came back from the theatre feeling disappointed.
- My main issue was that the story felt repetitive.
- It felt like I had already seen the same things in Part 1 and Part 2.
- In fact, if someone hadn't watched the first two parts, they might have enjoyed it more.
- Secondly, I could easily predict what would happen by the end of the movie.
- Despite all the challenges, I knew that the main character would come out on top.
- Finally, I feel that I have outgrown this type of movie.
- If I had watched it during my childhood, I would have liked it because of the action and adventure.
- Now, I find these elements bland and boring.
- By the end of the movie, I felt that I could have watched it later on a streaming platform like Netflix.
- It wasn't worth spending money in a theatre.

makkarIELTS

Do you believe movie reviews?
Mostly, yes. In many cases, my experience has matched the general ratings and reviews. However, there have also been times when I was pleasantly surprised, and other times when I felt disappointed. There are two or three Indian movie critics whose reviews I usually trust, as I find their opinions to be quite accurate.

What are the different types of films in your country?
In my country, we have many different types of films, such as comedy, romance, action, horror, adventure, and even fantasy. We also have some interesting combinations, like horror-comedies, which mix fear and humour. However, I feel that romantic comedies and action movies are still the most popular genres in India.

Are historical films popular in your country? Why?
Yes, historical films are quite popular in my country, and many of them are successful at the box office. Most of these films focus on India's freedom struggle, which creates a strong sense of patriotism among viewers. Because of this emotional connection, many people prefer to watch such films in theatres.

Do you think films with famous actors or actresses are more likely to become successful films?
Yes, films with famous actors are more likely to become successful because many people watch them mainly because of the star cast. However, I believe that without an engaging story, a movie cannot remain successful for long. Well-known actors may attract audiences during the first few days, but if the film is not good, cinema attendance usually drops sharply after that.

Why are Japanese animated films so popular?
I think Japanese animated films are popular because they have strong storylines and well-developed characters. They really engage viewers and create an emotional connection. Personally, I also enjoy them because of their fantasy elements, which make the films imaginative and unique.

Should the director pay a lot of money to famous actors?
I think famous actors can attract more people to the cinema, so it is fair for them to earn higher salaries. However, paying them too much is not always a good idea because it can reduce the budget for the story, special effects, or other actors. In my opinion, actors should be paid well, but the quality of the movie should come first.

102. Describe a person who makes plans a lot and is good at planning

You should say:

- Who he/she is
- How you knew him/her
- What plans he/she makes
- And explain how you feel about this person

• I know many organized people, but the one who stands out is my friend Sonia's grandfather.
• His name is Mr. Jaswant Singh and I met him around six months ago when I visited Sonia to work on a project.
• He is in his mid-seventies, not very tall, but still looks quite smart and energetic for his age.
• Sonia always tells me that he is extremely health conscious and never misses his morning or evening walk.
• He retired as a colonel from the Indian army, so planning and discipline have always been part of his life.
• When I first met him, he was sitting in the lobby using his laptop and placing an order for some headphones, which I found quite impressive for someone of his age.
• What makes him interesting is that he plans almost everything in advance.
• He makes weekly schedules for his exercise, diet, travel, and even grocery shopping.
• Sonia once told me that he even plans family trips months ahead, including travel routes, sightseeing spots, budgets, and weather conditions.
• Because of his strong planning habits, things at home run very smoothly and there is rarely any last-minute chaos.
• Personally, I feel inspired by him because he proves that good planning can save time and avoid stress.
• Whenever I visit Sonia's house now, I always sit with him for a while as I feel I learn something new from him each time.
• I really admire how organized he is, and I hope I can develop similar habits in my own life.

makkariELTS

1. Do you think it's important to plan ahead?
I think planning ahead is important because it helps us avoid unnecessary stress and mistakes. When I plan things, I feel more in control and I use my time better. Of course, we can't plan everything in life, but having at least a basic idea makes things smoother.

2. Do you think children should plan their future careers?
Hmm, I believe children can think about their interests, but planning careers too early might be unrealistic. Most kids don't really know what they want, and their interests change as they grow. Instead of a fixed plan, I prefer giving them exposure to different fields so they can choose later.

3. Is making study plans popular among young people?
Yes, it's quite popular, especially before exams or competitive tests. Many students make timetables or set goals to stay organized. Some do it because it actually helps, while others do it because teachers or parents push them. I used to make study plans in school as well, and they kept me focused.

4. Do you think choosing a college major is closely related to a person's future career?
According to me, it's related in some cases, like medicine or engineering, where you need qualifications to work in that field. But for many other careers, skills matter more than the exact major. For example, I know people who studied business but now work in tech or marketing, so the connection isn't always strict.

103. Describe the home of someone you know well and that you often visit

You should say:

- Whose home it is
- How often you go there
- What it is like

- I would like to talk about the home of my uncle's close friend, which I visit quite often.
- His house is located in one of the upscale neighborhoods of Chandigarh, just a kilometer away from the famous Sukhna Lake.
- My uncle's friend lived in Canada for almost 30 years before returning to India, and he bought this house last year.
- After purchasing it, he spent almost a year renovating it according to his taste, and I believe he spent a huge amount of money on it.
- I visit this house at least once a month with my uncle, and sometimes even more when there are family gatherings.
- The house is a two-storey corner property with three bedrooms and a living room on each floor, and from the outside, it looks like a luxury English villa from the early 20th century.
- There is a large lawn in the front and enough parking space for four cars, which is quite rare in that area.
- Inside, the house is equipped with modern amenities like an indoor gym, a mini home theatre, and even a jacuzzi on the rooftop.
- All the rooms have huge glass windows, so the house gets plenty of natural light and ventilation throughout the day.
- He is a technocrat, so he has installed several smart devices that allow him to control lights, curtains, and air conditioning through his mobile phone.
- He is also very fond of gardening, so the lawn is full of flowers and exotic plants, and there are many indoor plants as well.
- I personally love visiting this house because it has been designed so thoughtfully — from the décor and interior layout to space utilization — everything looks well-planned and tasteful.

makkarIELTS

1. Do you think the location is a key factor in where people choose to live?
Yes, location plays a big role because people want convenience. If a place is close to work, schools, and markets, life becomes easier. I've noticed that many families in my area moved closer to the city just to save time on commuting.

2. What is the role of plants in home decoration?
I believe plants make a house feel more alive and fresh. They improve the atmosphere and soften the look of the space. Some people also like them because they reduce stress and purify the air, which is a bonus.

3. What are the differences between buildings in the city and in the countryside?
Well, buildings in cities are usually taller and more compact because land is expensive. You see apartments, offices, and malls everywhere. In the countryside, houses are spread out, mostly single-storey, and have more open space around them. The lifestyle feels slower there.

4. Do you prefer to live in the city or in the countryside?
Personally, I prefer the countryside because it's quieter and less crowded. I like having open space and cleaner air around me. But I do understand why some people choose cities—they offer better jobs and more entertainment options.

5. What safety risks are there in residential buildings in cities?
In cities, high-rise buildings can face risks like fires, lift breakdowns, or overcrowding in emergency situations. Sometimes poor construction or lack of maintenance also becomes a concern. Older buildings especially need regular checks.

6. Is it expensive to decorate a house or an apartment in the place where you live?
According to me, it can be quite expensive, especially if someone hires professionals or buys branded items. However, some people decorate on a budget using simple furniture and DIY items. So, the cost really depends on personal taste and priorities.

makkarIELTS

104. Describe an interesting traditional story

You should say:

- What the story is about
- When/how you knew it
- Who told you the story
- And explain how you felt when you first heard it

- Well, I've come across many traditional Indian stories, like the Mahabharata, Panchatantra and Jataka tales.
- But, one story that has always fascinated me the most is the Ramayana.
- The Ramayana is one of the greatest Indian epics, and it tells the story of Lord Rama.
- He is sent into exile for fourteen years, and during this time his wife Sita is kidnapped by the demon king Ravana.
- With the help of his brother Lakshmana and Lord Hanuman, Rama eventually fights a great battle, defeats Ravana, and brings Sita back.
- I first heard this story from my grandmother when I was a child.
- She used to narrate it to me at bedtime.
- She was such a wonderful storyteller.
- She would use gestures and facial expressions that made the story come alive.
- I remember begging her to continue reading, but she usually allowed only one chapter per night.
- On holidays, though, I sometimes convinced her to tell me a little more.
- What impressed me the most was the character of Hanuman.
- I was amazed by his superhuman strength and courage—he could fly over oceans and even carry mountains on his shoulders.
- But as I grew older, I also realized that the story was more than just about heroes and villains. It taught me values like truth, honesty, and determination.
- And interestingly, it also showed that even Ravana, who was the antagonist, had some admirable qualities.
- So, for me, the Ramayana is not just an epic but also a source of inspiration.
- It makes me proud of India's cultural heritage, and I feel that it carries lessons that are relevant even today.

What kind of stories do children like?
I think children mostly like imaginative and adventurous stories. They especially like stories with superheroes, talking animals or magical lands like Harry Potter and fairytales. Moreover, I think they like stories with moral lessons, because they can easily connect with them.

What are the benefits of listening to stories before bed?
I think there are many benefits. Firstly, it builds the bond between children and parents. Secondly, it calms the children and lets them sleep peacefully, forgetting their worries and finally, it is a good way to teach moral values and lessons to children.

Why do most children like listening to stories before bedtime?
I think it is because they feel they very calm during bedtime. They are free of worries. Moreover, I think it lights up their imagination and they even dream about the characters and places in their sleep.

What can children learn from stories?
Children can learn many useful values from stories like honesty, discipline, determination from stories. Moreover, they also learn new words, grammar and even communication skills to a certain extent.

Do all stories for children have happy endings?
Most do have a happy ending, but some stories also have a sad ending. I remember reading a story when I was young ' The Little Match Girl'. The main character freezes to death in the story because she is afraid of getting scolded by her father. It made me really sad then.

Is a good storyline important for a movie?
Yes, a good storyline is extremely important. I think the audience only connects with a movie and becomes emotionally invested in the characters if the movie has an engaging storyline. Most classic movies today are remembered for storyline rather than their technical aspects.

105. Describe a successful sportsperson you admire

You should say:

- Who he/she is
- What you know about him/her
- What he/she is like in real life
- What achievement he/she has made
- And explain why you admire him/her

- I admire many sportspersons like Virat Kohli, Neeraj Chopra but the sportsperson that I admire the most is Mary Kom.
- She is a legendary Indian boxer who is often called Magnificent Mary.
- She has made India proud many times with her accolades and achievements in boxing.
- I first came to know about her through the Bollywood movie Mary Kom.
- It was released in 2014 with Priyanka Chopra playing her role.
- The film showed her struggles, the lack of facilities she faced in her village in Manipur, and how she balanced her career with her family life.
- After watching the movie, I became curious and read more about her real journey, and I was truly inspired.
- She is a six-time world champion and also an Olympic bronze medallist.
- She has won almost every major title in boxing and has received many prestigious awards like Rajiv Gandhi Khel Ratna and Padma Vibhushan.
- From her interviews, I came to know that despite all her success, she is still very humble and grounded.
- She is a mother of three children and still managed to continue her boxing career at the highest level.
- The reason I admire her is not only because of her medals but also because of her determination and perseverance.
- She came from a very small village, with limited resources, but never gave up on her dreams.
- For me, Mary Kom is not just a successful athlete but also a role model who shows that with dedication and courage, nothing is impossible.

Should students have physical education and do sports at school?
Yes, I think it is important for many reasons. To begin with, it creates an interest in students to pursue sports a career. In schools, they get the right guidance and coaching, which they might not get at home. Secondly, there is lack of physical activity in after school hours nowadays because of mobile phones and video games, which makes it important that students do some physical activities at school.

What qualities should an athlete have?
There are many qualities required in an athlete, but I think the most important are discipline, mental strength and determination. Discipline makes sure that athletes train consistently and have self-control on their diet. Mental strength is required to deal with pressure and failures, which are a crucial part of any sport and finally determination, so that they never give up even during tough times. Finally, I think every athlete should have sportsmanship. They should respect their opponents, follow rules and stay humble even when they win.

Is talent important in sports?
Of course, talent is important, but I think hard work is much more crucial than talent. Even the most talented people fail, when they don't put in the hard yards. So many child prodigies disappear into oblivion just because they take their talent for granted and don't work hard.

Is it easy to identify children's talents?
I don't think it is always easy. In some cases, children showcase their talent for example in singing, dancing or drawing from very early on, whereas in others children's talents remain hidden till they get the right exposure and encouragement.

What is the most popular sport in your country?
Many sports are popular in India like hockey, football, badminton, kabaddi but nothing comes even close to cricket. Cricket is like a religion in India, and many people play it even in adulthood.

Why are there so few top athletes?
I think the right combination of talent and hard work is very difficult to achieve. There are very few people who are talented but also work hard and polish their skills. Moreover, to become a top athlete, one needs to have great mental fortitude and ability to lead to disciplined life. Also, there are many who do not get the right exposure at a young age.

106. Describe a talk you gave to a group of people

You should say:

- Who you gave the talk to
- What the talk was about
- Why you gave the talk
- And explain how you felt about the talk

- One talk I remember giving was in my school.
- I had just won first prize in an inter-school science quiz, and my teacher asked me to share my experience with the whole class.
- I mainly talked about how I prepared for the quiz, what study material I used, and the small problems I faced during practice.
- My teacher wanted me to explain it so that other students could also get inspired and also follow the same steps.
- Initially, I felt quite nervous because I was not used to speaking in front of so many people. However, once I started talking, I became more confident, especially when I saw my friends listening carefully.
- After I finished my talk, a lot of my classmates came up to me and told me that they learnt a lot of me.
- So, eventually I felt really proud of myself.
- Overall, it was a great experience.
- It gave me more confidence in public speaking and also showed me that even a small talk can motivate others.

What benefits does the internet bring to communication?
Internet brings a lot of benefits to communication. Firstly, we can communicate instantly with each other from any corner of the world and at our own convenience. Secondly, through internet, we cannot only talk but also share photographs, videos with each other.

Which one is better, being a communicator or a listener?
Both listener and communicator have their own benefits. Being a listener helps you to understand other's perspectives and show others that you respect their opinions, while being a communicator helps you to convey your ideas and give feedback on other people's ideas. I think it really depends upon the situation.

What qualities does a person need to have to be a good communicator?
Good communicators should possess a lot of qualities. They should have clarity in what they are saying. They should have a good body language and maintain making eye contact. They should use gestures and intonation to emphasize on the critical parts.

What qualities do people need to speak in public?
The first quality that people should have to speak in public is confidence. They should also be prepared about the topic they are going to speak on. Another quality they should have is to engage audience by making eye contact and by presenting ideas in organized way. I think being witty is also crucial, as people need to hold other's people's attention and it is impossible without use of humour.

How important is it to be a good listener when communicating?
Being a good listener is very important when communicating because it shows that you respect other's opinions and thoughts. It also helps in reducing misunderstandings and resolve conflicts by understanding other people's opinions. Moreover, we can only provide feedback if we listen to other people properly.

What kinds of people often give speeches?
There are different people who give speech often which include professionals like, politicians, business leaders, motivational speakers and so on. Apart from this, students also deliver speeches regarding their academics or to express their thoughts on various topics.

107. Describe a good habit your friend has, and you want to develop

You should say:
- Who your friend is
- What habit he/she has
- When you noticed this habit
- And explain why you want to develop this habit

- I want to talk about my friend Ravi.
- He has this really good habit of waking up early every single day.
- I first noticed it when we were preparing for exams.
- While I used to stay up late at night, he went to go to bed early and then wake up around five in the morning.
- He told me that he feels fresh and studies better at that time.
- Because of this habit, he always has more time in the day.
- He manages to exercise, finish his homework, and still has free time left.
- I, on the other hand, often wake up late and feel like half my day is already gone.
- I really want to develop this habit because I think it will make me more productive and organised.
- Initially, it will probably be difficult for me, but if I manage to do it, I am sure I'll feel more energetic and make better use of my day.
- So, even though it's a small change, I think it can make a really big difference in my life.

What habits should children have?
Children should exhibit many habits. They should eat properly, maintain personal hygiene, sleep on time and get up on time, be punctual, listen to parents and teachers and follow instructions carefully. They should also finish their homework on time and not procrastinate.

What should parents do to teach their children good habits?
As parents, it is very important to set ground rules for children by making time routines that allocate fixed hours of leisure activities and doing homework. They can also reward their children for good behaviour and habits like getting up on time and sleeping on time and similarly punish them when they do something bad repeatedly.

What influences do children with bad habits have on other children?
The problem today is that most of the bad habits are considered cool. So other children just copy them to appear cool. Sometimes, children also lose their good habits when they see that the other children are not punished for their bad habits.

Why do some habits change when people get older?
I think it's mainly because people become mature and their circumstances change. For example, in childhood or teenage people often sleep late but as they grow older, they automatically become more disciplined as they need to go to work in the morning. Similarly, many people quit junk food as their metabolism slows and their body can't handle as much unhealthy diet as earlier.

108. Describe a time you saw something interesting on social media

You should say:

- When it was
- Where you saw it
- What you saw
- And explain why you think it was interesting

- I remember one video I saw on Instagram some months ago.
- It was about solar panels being installed on top of canals in India.
- I thought it was very interesting because it helps in many ways.
- First, it makes clean energy from the sun.
- Second, it stops too much water from evaporating, since the panels give shade to the canal.
- And also, it saves land because usually solar farms take up a lot of space, but here they are just using the canal area.
- But there is also one problem.
- Metal near water can rust more quickly.
- So they have to use stronger materials, and that makes the project more costly.
- Still, I feel the idea is very creative and useful, especially in a country like India where both land and water are important.
- At first, I was just casually watching, but later I realised how smart this idea is.
- It left a good impression on me, and I felt happy to see that people are working on such solutions in my country.

Why do people like to use social media?
People like using social media primarily to remain in contact with their family and friends. Also, this helps them to get information about different news and happenings all around the world. Apart from this, social media is a good medium to spend leisure time.

What kind of things are popular on social media?
Several things are popular on social media. The most prominent one is, uploading and sharing photographs and videos. Furthermore, individuals update the current news and happenings that they find worthwhile to share. Moreover, numerous companies get the help of the social media to advertise and build product awareness.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of using social media?
The plus points of utilizing the social media are getting the details and information with much more convenience. Moreover, it helps to widen the friends circle and remain in touch with the near and dear ones. On the other hand, the main pitfall is getting fake information and having privacy at risk.

What do you think of making friends on social media?
Making friends online is not a worthwhile thing because most of the times our privacy is invaded, and it is extremely easy for someone to create a fake ID and catfish people. However, I use social media to maintain the friendships.

109. Describe a time when you told your friend an important truth

You should say:

- Who your friend is
- What the truth was
- What was your friend's reaction
- And explain why you think it was important to tell your friend the truth

- I have often thought about whether honesty is always the best policy among friends.
- Some truths are just very uncomfortable to say, and sharing them might also spoil or ruin friendships.
- But at the same time, I believe that the more uncomfortable a truth is, the more important it is to say it.
- I'd like to talk about a time when I told my friend Yatin something that was difficult to bring up.
- Yatin is one of my closest friends, and I really enjoy spending time with him.
- We often hang out together – sometimes at each other's houses, sometimes outdoors.
- Over time, I noticed that he had a habit of talking quite rudely to his parents, especially his mother.
- At first, I didn't say anything because I thought it was not my place to comment on how he behaved at home.
- But as I saw it happening regularly, I started to feel that, as his close friend, I had a responsibility to be honest with him.
- So, one day I told him directly that he should speak more respectfully to his parents.
- At first, he got very defensive and argued that they also spoke harshly to him.
- He also started listing my shortcomings like how I'm not very good at sports.
- In short, he didn't take it well, and after that day, he avoided me for about a week.
- But then, a week later, he came to me and thanked me.
- He said he had thought about what I told him, and he realized I was right.
- He even apologized for getting defensive and for ignoring me.
- From then on, I noticed him making an effort to be kinder to his parents.
- This experience taught me that real friendship is not just about having fun together, but also about helping each other grow.
- Sometimes that means having the courage to say something difficult or tell an uncomfortable truth.
- And in the end, I think our friendship is stronger because of that conversation.
- He trusts me to guide him honestly, and I know he values my opinion.

Do you think we should tell the truth at all times?
I don't think telling the truth at all times is always wise. I think if the truth has no positive impact and only ends up hurting someone unnecessarily, then it may be better to remain silent.

How do you know when others are telling lies?
Sometimes it's possible to sense when people are lying through their behavior, facial expressions, or body language like avoiding eye contact or appearing nervous. However, these signs are not always reliable, because someone could be uncomfortable or anxious for reasons unrelated to lying.

Sometimes people should tell lies. Do you agree?
Yes, I believe that if the truth serves no purpose and only hurts someone's feelings, then a small lie or withholding the truth may be better. For example, telling a person just before a party that their outfit doesn't look good would just make them uncomfortable and lower their confidence.

Do you think it's more important to win a game or follow the rules in sports?
I think the victory would feel hollow if people do not follow the rules. It would not feel that the victory was deserved. So, although the outcome is important, fair play and respecting the rules are even more important.

110. Describe the time when you first talked in a foreign language

You should say:

- Where you were
- Who you were with
- What you talked about
- And explain how you felt about it

- I'd like to talk about the first time I spoke in Spanish
- This happened when I went on a family holiday with my parents to Mexico a few years ago.
- We were staying in a small apartment in a town near the beach.
- We are vegetarians, and we wanted to spend more time sightseeing instead of wasting time finding vegetarian options.
- So, we used to cook all the meals in our apartment and take them with us.
- But one day we decided to eat out, and so we went to a local restaurant.
- We were at a very small restaurant, and most of the staff there spoke only Spanish.
- My parents encouraged me to try ordering the food in Spanish since I had started learning basic Spanish in high school.
- I was with my family, and I remember being both excited and nervous.
- I had only learned simple phrases, and I wasn't confident about my pronunciation.
- When the waiter came to the table, I said "Hola, quiero una pizza de queso, por favor".
- It means "Hello, I would like a cheese pizza, please".
- The waiter smiled, repeated my order back in Spanish, and asked me a short question about the size of the pizza.
- I didn't fully understand, but I guessed he meant small or large, so I just said "grande" which means large.
- Everyone laughed kindly, and I felt relieved that he understood me and brought me exactly what I ordered
- The conversation was very short and probably lasted less than two minutes, but it gave me a lot of confidence.
- I realized that even with just a few words, I could communicate with people in another country
- That moment made me feel very proud and very motivated to keep learning Spanish
- It was the first time I had used Spanish in a real-life situation.
- Overall, it was a small but very meaningful experience, because it showed me that speaking a foreign language doesn't have to be perfect, and what matters is trying, and usually people appreciate the effort.

At what age should children start learning a foreign language?
I think children should start as early as possible, maybe in primary school. Young children can pick up new sounds and words more easily. They are not afraid to make mistakes, and starting early gives them more time to practice and become fluent as they grow older.

Which skill is more important, speaking or writing?
Speaking is more important because it is used in daily communication like greeting people, asking for directions, buying food etc. Writing is useful for academic and professional purposes, but many situations can be handled through speaking alone.

Does a person still need to learn other languages if he or she is good at English?
Yes, I believe it is still useful to learn other languages even if someone is fluent in English. English is widely spoken, but knowing other languages helps people understand and connect with different cultures. It can even be useful at work or during travel.

Do you think minority languages will disappear?
Unfortunately, I think some minority languages may disappear in the future because younger generations prefer global languages like English, Spanish, French, Mandarin, etc. However, they can be preserved if governments and communities try and support them.

111. Describe a book you read that you found useful

You should say:

- What it is
- When you read it
- Why do you think it is useful
- And explain how you felt about it

- I haven't read many books apart from my textbooks, but one book that left a deep impression on me is 'The Wings of Fire' by Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam.
- I read it a few months ago after my friend loaned it to me.
- My friend got this book as a prize when she participated in a declamation contest
- This book is an autobiography of Dr. Kalam, who later became the President of India
- It was co-authored by Mr. Arun Tiwari and first published in 1999.
- It became very popular after Dr. Kalam was sworn in as the President on 25th July 2002.
- I found this book very useful because it highlights how a boy born into a very poor family in Rameshwaram, in southern India, went on to become a renowned scientist and an influential figure in Indian politics.
- His journey shows the value of hard work, determination, and continuous learning.
- He was called the "Missile Man of India" due to his contribution to space research.
- This book goes beyond his scientific achievements and provides a glimpse into his philosophy of life.
- It includes many stories and experiences from his childhood, school, and college years.
- The success of Dr. Kalam depended on the fact that he was very willing to learn throughout his life and had an insatiable quest for knowledge.
- This book also stresses the importance of giving credit to mentors and never forgetting the support of people who helped you along the way.
- His life is a true example of how an ordinary person can overcome challenges and reach extraordinary heights with persistence.
- I have learnt so much from this book, and it has encouraged me to work harder towards my own goals.
- It gives me the belief that if I stay consistent and keep learning, I can also achieve something meaningful in life.
- I would like to read this book again, because it is a very motivating book.

What are the types of books that young people like to read?
Young people usually like storybooks and novels, especially crime and detective stories, which are exciting and keep the reader guessing. Apart from that, young people also like fantasy series, comics, graphic novels, etc.

What's the difference between the reading habits of old people and young people?
Older people often prefer newspapers, history books, or biographies, while young people like fast-paced stories and fiction. Younger people are also reading more eBooks, whereas older people prefer reading paper books.

What's the difference between paper books and e-books?
Paper books give a physical feeling, and many people like the smell and touch of real pages. On the other hand, E-books are cheaper, portable, and you can download hundreds of them on one device.

Some people say that it is easier for children who start reading from a young age to succeed. Do you agree?
Yes, children who start reading early usually develop better language skills, imagination, and concentration. Reading makes them more knowledgeable, which helps them perform well in school and later in life.

112. Describe a time when someone apologized to you

You should say:

- When it was
- Who this person is
- Why he or she apologized to you
- And how you felt about it

- I will talk about a time when my younger brother apologized to me.
- This happened at our home a few months ago.
- I was using the family computer at home to work on an important school assignment.
- I had spent several hours collecting information and writing, and I saved everything on the desktop so that I could finish it later.
- While I was taking a break, my brother started playing some online games on the computer.
- He was clicking around quickly and accidentally deleted the file where my homework was saved.
- When I came back home and saw that the file had disappeared, I got really upset because I thought all my work was gone.
- After a few minutes, my brother noticed how worried I was.
- He came to my room sometime later, looking very guilty and nervous.
- He admitted that he had deleted the file by mistake, and it had happened because he was so excited while playing the game.
- He apologized to me and promised to be very careful in the future.
- He was genuinely concerned and offered to help me in any way he could.
- He suggested a few ways that we could try to recover it, and he asked if I had a backup by chance.
- I remembered that I did have a backup copy saved online, so I could retrieve it
- I was very angry at first, but after hearing his apology, I felt much calmer, and I was a little touched.
- I felt proud of him because he was honest and brave enough to admit his mistake instead of hiding it.
- In the end, I forgave him, and we laughed about the whole incident.
- This experience taught me that everyone makes mistakes, but a sincere apology can make things better and strengthen relationships.

On what occasion do people usually apologize to others?
People apologize to others when they do something wrong knowingly or unknowingly, and when they realize their mistake. They also say sorry when they want to clear any misunderstanding with their friends or family members.

Do people in your country like to say "sorry"?
Yes, most people in my country say sorry for their mistakes but it depends on the situation and relationship. In formal settings like an office, school, people say sorry directly. With family members and close friends, people may not say the exact words, but instead show it through actions like doing something nice or helping out.

Do you think people should apologize for anything wrong they do?
I think people should apologize for anything wrong they do. Even if the mistake is small, saying sorry shows respect and responsibility. It can prevent misunderstandings and can even make relationships stronger.

Why do some people refuse to say "sorry" to others?
I think some people refuse to say sorry because of their huge ego and pride. They feel that acknowledging their mistake makes them weak. Some people might think that the issue is too small to say sorry for.

113. Describe an occasion when you lost your way

You should say:

- Where you were
- What happened
- How you felt
- And explain how you found your way

- I am very good with directions and I don't normally lose my way.
- However, I have lost my way sometimes when I visit a new place.
- Recently, my friend got engaged and I went to their house to congratulate them.
- They moved to the suburbs recently as my friend's father retired.
- I had never been to their new house before.
- But I thought I will just feed their new house address in the navigation app and just follow it.
- That's the first mistake I made.
- I had used the app quite a few times and I had rarely faced an issue.
- However, it was a newly built suburb and the app hadn't been updated.
- The app took me on deserted mud road.
- I had a feeling that I might be going in the wrong direction but I blindly trusted the app.
- That was my second mistake.
- I kept on going on that road and eventually reached a dead end.
- Even at that time, I wasn't worried because I thought I would just call my friend and he would guide me.
- I shouldn't be too far from his house.
- However, when I checked there was no mobile phone connectivity on that road.
- I couldn't even call anyone.
- I decided to backtrack till I got connectivity but I think I took a wrong turn somewhere and I got even more lost.
- That's when I felt afraid for the first time.
- It was also turning dark.
- Finally, I saw a small roadside tea shop.
- I asked the shop owner if they knew the address.
- He didn't know the address but he knew my friend's father.
- He took me to their address and that's how I finally got out of this predicament.
- I still use the navigation maps these days but I am not overly reliant on them like before.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. How do people feel when they get lost?
I think nowadays people don't feel that stressed when they lose their way. Because they have mobile phones and navigation apps like google maps and apple maps to help them. Moreover, they can also call someone.

2. Are some people better at orienting themselves?
Yes definitely, some people are just good with directions. I think they are able to draw a mental map or 3 D images in their heads and just follow it without any difficulty.

3. Are young people more reliant on their phones than older people to find their way?
Yes, I think we are more dependent upon their phones. For example, some of my friends can't read paper maps. But I think we can be good at it if needed to, its just that technology has made the requirement of reading maps redundant.

4. Are young people gradually losing their ability to orient themselves?
I wouldn't say that. Orienting ourselves is an innate ability, we all have that. It might be getting rusty because we don't need to use it that much because of navigation apps but that doesn't mean we have lost the ability to do so.

5. With mobile phones and these electronic products with navigation, is it difficult for people to get lost?
There is no doubt that its hard to get lost because of maps, but people still do get lost. In fact, sometimes the apps are wrong and I get lost because they tell the wrong direction. In someways, our over dependence and trust on these apps is making it more likely for us to lose our way.

6. What kind of problems do old people have when they get lost?
I think old people are not so comfortable with technology and so they might not be able to use the latest navigation maps that well. In India though, it is not a big problem because most people are very helpful and guide others with direction when asked for help.

7. Some people like to walk around without navigation, is there any problem?
No, I don't think it is a big problem, but it may waste our time. We may also enter areas which are not safe, but for a large part I don't think its a problem.

8. How can people find their way when they are lost?
They can halt and ask someone, or they can take the help of GPS (Global positioning system). Such apps are there in all the mobile phones and even installed in cars. They can also call someone and ask the way.

9. Do you think it is important to do some preparation before you travel to new places?
Yes, it is definitely important. Without prior preparation, the whole vacation may turn out to be a fiasco. If one has booked hotels in advance, it can save time as well as money. By knowing about the weather of the place one can pack clothes accordingly.

10. Do you think it is important to be able to read a map?

Yes, I think so. In places where there is no internet connectivity, the GPS will not work. Sometimes the battery of the phone may run out. Knowing how to read a map can prove to be an asset in such circumstances.

11. Is a paper map still necessary?
Yes, definitely. A paper map can show much more details than a digital map can. Secondly, there are places in remote areas where GPS doesn't work.

13. Why do some people get lost more easily than others?
Some people are poor with directions, and so can get lost more easily.

14. How do people react when they get lost?
The reaction of people cannot be generalised. Some keep their cool and think of a way to get out of the scenario. Others may panic. Some may even start crying.

114. Describe a time when you saw something in the sky (e.g. flying kites, birds, sunset, etc.)

You should say:

- What you saw
- Where/when you saw it/them
- How long you saw it/them
- And explain how you felt about the experience

- After my school exams last summer, I was getting bored sitting at home.
- One evening, my close friends Rohit and Aman called me and asked if I wanted to go on a short trip.
- I was excited but also nervous, because it was my first time travelling without family.
- My parents agreed, and we quickly booked a three-night trip to Manali.
- We travelled overnight by bus, and the journey itself was fun because we played music and shared snacks.
- As the bus moved higher into the mountains, the air became cooler and the sky looked so clear compared to our city.
- We reached late at night, so we just went straight to the hotel.
- But the next morning, when I stepped out of the balcony, I saw the sunrise over the mountains.
- Honestly, it was breathtaking. The sun looked like a ball of fire slowly rising, and the peaks were glowing golden.
- The moon was also faintly visible in the clear blue sky, and some birds were flying in groups.
- This was first time in my life that I was seeing sun and moon together during the day.
- I was really amazed how it could happen.
- We had tea at a small stall near the hotel, and sipping hot tea while watching that view felt heavenly.
- Of course, we clicked a lot of pictures to capture the beauty, though the camera couldn't do full justice.
- Later that day, we went hiking, tried river crossing, and even did paragliding, which was thrilling.
- Every morning and evening of the trip, I watched the sunrise and sunset without fail.
- The silence of the mountains during those golden hours gave me peace I had never felt before.
- I realised how different it is from the noisy and polluted city life.
- By the end of the trip, I felt refreshed, and I promised myself to take more nature trips in the future.
- Truly, that sky in Manali is something I will never forget.

1. Would people be willing to get up early to watch and enjoy the sunrise?
Well, I think some people are willing to wake up early for a sunrise because it feels peaceful and refreshing. For example, when I visited Shimla, I woke up at 5 am to watch the sunrise from the hills and it was worth it. On the other hand, many people, especially youngsters, prefer sleeping late instead of waking up early.

2. When would people watch the sky?
Well, I believe people usually watch the sky in the evening when the sun sets or at night when stars are visible. Sometimes even during the day, like when clouds look beautiful before rain. Personally, I like to sit on my terrace at night and just look at the stars.

3. Do many people pay attention to the shapes of stars?
To be honest, not many people notice the shapes of stars, because life is busy and they don't spend much time looking up. But some people, especially children or those interested in astronomy, like to recognise shapes such as the Big Dipper or Orion. I remember once in school my teacher showed us star constellations during a night camp.

4. What do people usually see in the sky in the daytime?
Well, in the daytime people usually see the sun, clouds, and sometimes airplanes or birds. If the weather is clear, the sky looks bright blue. On hot summer afternoons, the strong sun is the main thing everyone notices.

5. What are the differences between things people see in the sky in the daytime and at night?
I think the day sky and night sky are completely different. During the day, the sun, clouds, and birds are visible. But at night, we see the moon, stars, and sometimes satellites. So in simple words, the day sky is bright and active, while the night sky is calm and shining.

6. Why do some people like to watch stars at night?
Well, I believe people enjoy watching stars because it feels relaxing and makes them think about the universe. For some, it is romantic or even spiritual. For example, my cousin loves stargazing because it helps him clear his mind after a long day.

115. Describe a place you went to and an outdoor activity you did there

You should say:

- Where it was
- When you went there
- What outdoor activity you did there
- Why you went there and did the activity
- And explain how you felt about it

- During my summer vacations last year, I went to Rishikesh with a group of friends.
- We had planned this trip mainly to try river rafting, which is very popular there.
- We reached in the evening and stayed at a riverside camp surrounded by hills.
- The sound of the river flowing next to our tents was so soothing, it actually helped me sleep peacefully.
- The next morning, we woke up early and got ready for rafting.
- It was a 16 km stretch starting from Shivpuri and ending at Rishikesh.
- The guide first gave us some basic training on how to hold the paddle and follow his instructions.
- We wore life jackets and helmets, which made me feel both safe and nervous.
- As it was my first time, I was really excited but also a little scared.
- Once we started, the rafting was full of fun and adventure, especially when we hit the rapids.
- At some places where the water flow was calm, the guide allowed us to jump into the river.
- Floating on the cold water with just the life jacket keeping me afloat was an unforgettable feeling.
- The scenery around was also beautiful, with green mountains on both sides.
- After almost two hours, we finally reached Rishikesh, completely exhausted but very happy.
- We then had lunch at a nearby restaurant, and the food tasted even better after all the physical activity.
- This whole experience was something very new for me, and I felt proud that I actually did it.
- It also made me realise how important adventure is in life, because it gives you confidence and energy.
- Honestly, river rafting in Rishikesh was one of the best experiences of my life, and I would love to do it again.

1. What sports do young people like?
I think young people usually like fast and energetic sports like football, basketball, or cricket. These games are social and give them a chance to play with friends. For example, in my area most kids gather in the evening to play cricket.

2. What kind of people do extreme sports?
Well, I believe people who enjoy challenges and have adventurous personalities go for extreme sports. They are usually not afraid of risks and like to test their limits. For example, my cousin once tried bungee jumping on his trip to Goa.

3. Why are some people willing to try dangerous extreme sports?
According to me, people try dangerous sports because they want thrill and excitement. They feel proud after completing something risky. On the other hand, some people avoid it completely because they value safety more than adventure.

4. Should people take more into account the risks that extreme sports may bring?
Yes, I think so. Extreme sports can cause serious injuries if precautions are ignored. Wearing proper gear and listening to instructors is very important. Still, some people believe the fun is worth the risk, but I personally feel safety should come first.

5. Why do people keep inventing new and slightly dangerous sports?
In my opinion, people invent new sports because they get bored of old ones and want something exciting. Another reason is competition, as people like to show they can try something unique. For example, sports like parkour or snowboarding became popular only in recent years.

6. What risks are there in extreme sports, and who takes these consequences?
Well, the main risks are injuries like broken bones or even accidents that can be fatal. The person doing the sport takes most of the consequences, but sometimes their family also suffers if something serious happens. That's why I feel these sports should only be done under expert supervision.

116. Describe someone else's room you enjoy spending time in

You should say:

- When you visited there
- Whose room it is
- What it is like
- What you can do in it
- And explain why you enjoy spending time there

- Usually, I love spending time in my room because I feel the most comfortable there.
- However, if I had to pick a someone else 's room I enjoy spending time in, it would be my friend Tarun's room.
- Tarun is my childhood friend.
- We were considered inseparable in school.
- We used to do everything together.
- Even now, we meet each other at least two or three times in a week.
- I normally visit him during the weekend.
- Both of us have similar interests, so we do a lot of fun things together at his room.
- We watch Hollywood movies together.
- I think I have seen at least 1000 movies with him, if not more.
- We also watch movies at my house.
- However, he has a home theatre in his room and it creates the perfect ambience for movies.
- Moreover, he has a 60 inch TV screen, whereas I only have a 32 inch TV.
- He has a playstation and we both play games on it together.
- He always says it is more fun playing together.
- I think I love spending time at his house because I am very comfortable there.
- His parents know me very well.
- They are friends with my parents too.
- Tarun's mother is a wonderful cook and many times she brings us something delicious to eat.
- Besides that, I am more studious than my friend.
- So, his parents like it when I visit because my friend ends up studying because of me.
- So, it is like a second home for me. I feel very welcome there.

Do you think old people will be able to keep up with the pace of technology in 50 years?
It might sound absurd but I think technology itself will enable people to keep up with the pace of technology. There will be certain machines and robots in the future, whose main function will be to educate the elderly about the working of technology so that it doesn't get too daunting for them.

Who likes to stay at home more, young people or old people?
I don't think it depends upon age. It depends upon people's spirit. Some people prefer spending time indoors, while others prefer spending time outdoors with the nature. Generally, in youth, people have the energy and passion to travel but lack the money, while they may have the money but not the energy to travel when they get old.

What are the most enjoyable parts of having a meal together with your family?
The most enjoyable parts of having a meal together is sharing the day's happenings with the other family members. We are social animals and we love sharing our joys and sorrows with our loved ones. Unfortunately, in today's busy schedule, meals are the only time, people get to spend with their families.

Why do people often take gifts with them when they visit others' homes?
I think the main reason is to show gratitude for being invited or welcomed in their home. It is a way to thank the host for the preparations they made. Sometimes, it is also a part of culture. Taking gifts is considered a part of good etiquettes.

Do you like to invite your friends to your home?
Yes, definitely. I love inviting friends to my home. However, I am not good at cooking so I normally order from outside. We also do potlucks sometimes, where everyone prepares and brings one dish, so it doesn't burden others.

117. Describe a singer whose music/songs you like

You should say:

- Who he/she is
- What genre his/her music belongs to
- When/where you listen to his/her music/songs
- And explain why you like him/her and his/her music

- I want to talk about Diljit Dosanjh, my favourite singer.
- He is around 40 years old and is considered the most popular Punjabi singer in the world.
- His music mainly belongs to the Punjabi pop, though he also sings romantic numbers.
- He has millions of followers on Instagram, which shows how loved he is globally.
- Recently, he did a Pan-India tour called Illuminate, and I was lucky to attend his Chandigarh concert because my friends surprised me with tickets.
- The atmosphere was surreal — thousands of people singing along, and the energy was unbelievable.
- It was truly one of the best experiences of my life, and I will always remember that night.
- On a daily basis, I listen to his songs during gym workouts, as they keep me energetic.
- Sometimes, I also play his softer tracks while studying, because they help me focus.
- My favourites include “Do You Know” and “Patiala Peg,” but honestly, I enjoy almost all his music.
- What I like the most is his unique voice, which feels both powerful and soothing.
- I also admire his humility; despite being so famous, he comes across as down-to-earth and funny.
- His recent performance at Coachella made Punjabis proud all over the world.
- For me, his music is uplifting and always puts me in a positive mood.
- That’s why Diljit Dosanjh is not just my favourite singer, but also someone I deeply admire.

1. Can anyone learn how to sing?
Well, I think anyone can learn the basics of singing with practice and training. Some people are naturally gifted, but even without talent, voice lessons can improve a lot. For example, one of my school friends could not sing well earlier, but after coaching he became much better.

2. What should the government do to help people with musical talent?
According to me, the government should provide scholarships, music schools, and platforms for young artists. This way talented people can focus on their art instead of worrying about money. Organising cultural festivals can also give them exposure.

3. What kind of music do people like at different ages?
I believe children usually enjoy simple and fun songs, teenagers prefer energetic pop or rap, and older people go for calm or classical music. For example, my grandfather still listens to old Bollywood songs every evening, while my younger cousin only plays hip-hop.

4. What kind of music is popular in India now and what will be in the future?
Right now, Bollywood songs and Punjabi music are very popular in India. In the future, I think fusion music, where Indian and Western styles mix, will be more common. Already we see DJs and singers collaborating on such tracks.

5. Do Indian parents require their children to learn to play musical instruments?
In my opinion, not all parents, but many encourage children to learn instruments like harmonium, tabla, or guitar. They believe it builds discipline and creativity. Still, some parents don't push it because they think academics are more important.

6. Why do some people like to listen to live music while others prefer CDs?
Some people enjoy live music because the energy of the crowd and the atmosphere makes it special. Others prefer CDs or online music since it is cheaper, easier, and more comfortable at home. Personally, I enjoy both depending on my mood.

118. Describe a piece of technology you own that you feel is difficult to use

You should say:

- When you got it
- What you got it for
- How often you use it
- And explain how you feel about it

- We are surrounded by technology these days.
- Be it mobile phones, washing machines, dishwashers, electric cars, or computers, everything has made life easier.
- But today I would like to talk about a piece of technology that I find difficult to use — my microwave oven.
- Last year, during Diwali, we bought a new microwave for our home.
- It is a Samsung model, black in colour, with a medium capacity.
- The cost was around 15,000 rupees, and it came with about 20 buttons and multiple functions.
- It even has grill and convection oven features.
- On paper it looks simple, but in reality, I find cooking in it quite challenging.
- Honestly, I only use it for heating food.
- Whenever I try to cook something, I get confused about which button to press and what temperature or time to set.
- For example, last month on my mother's birthday, I tried baking a cake by following a YouTube recipe.
- The result was a disaster — the cake did not rise and stayed raw, even though I tried it twice.
- Before that, I had also attempted to make pasta and pizza, but those too were disappointing.
- I really don't understand how other people manage to cook perfectly in a microwave.
- Maybe I am not patient enough, or maybe I just don't get the settings right.
- At this point, I have given up on using it for cooking.
- For me, the microwave is just a tool to reheat food and nothing more.
- Even though it's a modern gadget, I feel a bit frustrated whenever I try to use it beyond the basic heating.
- So, this is one piece of technology I own but still struggle to use properly.

1. What technology do people currently use?
Well, most people nowadays use smartphones, laptops, and smart TVs almost every day. Actually, these gadgets help with work, entertainment, and even online shopping. For example, I use my phone not just for calls but also for classes and paying bills.

2. Why do big companies introduce new products frequently?
I believe companies release new products to stay ahead in the competition. To be honest, if they stop upgrading, customers might lose interest and shift to other brands. At the same time, it's also a smart way to increase profit.

3. Why are people so keen on buying iPhones even though they haven't changed much from one iPhone to the next?
According to me, people go for iPhones mainly because of the brand image and social status. Even a small upgrade like a better camera or a new design is enough to attract them. On the other hand, some feel it's unnecessary since older models still work perfectly.

4. Why do technology companies keep upgrading their products?
Well, one reason is that upgrades fix problems and make devices more user-friendly. Also, competition pushes them to keep adding something new. For instance, most phone brands every year improve the battery or camera just to stay relevant.

5. What changes has the development of technology brought about in our lives?
To be honest, technology has changed almost everything, from the way we talk to how we travel. Life has become faster and much more convenient. Like earlier, buying train tickets meant waiting in long lines, but now it's just a matter of a few clicks.

6. Does the development of technology affect the way we study? How?
Yes, definitely. These days students can attend online classes, use e-libraries, and practice on apps anytime. Personally, I often prepare for IELTS through YouTube lessons, which was not even possible when my elder cousins were studying.

119. Describe a time when the electricity suddenly went off

You should say:

- When/where it happened
- How long it lasted
- What you did during that time
- And explain how you felt about it

- Sudden power outages are quite common in India, and most people are used to them.
- Because of this, many homes keep inverters or generators as backup.
- These outages usually happen due to storms, heavy rainfall, or high electricity demand in summer.
- Sometimes they are also planned for maintenance.
- But today I want to talk about a time when there was a power cut of more than 24 hours in our area.
- It happened last year during the monsoon season.
- There was heavy rainfall in our city, and suddenly a big tree fell on the power lines near our house.
- As a result, the electricity supply of all the houses in our row was cut off.
- Luckily, nobody was hurt in the incident.
- We immediately informed the electricity department, but they said they could only come after the rain stopped.
- For the first few hours, we managed with our inverter, but later its battery also drained.
- After that, we had no light and no fan, which made things very uncomfortable.
- Since there was nothing to do at home, I went to play football with my neighbourhood friends.
- But when it got dark, we returned home, and the electricity was still not restored.
- The officials said it would only be repaired in the morning.
- That night was really miserable, as it was hot and humid.
- Finally, my family decided to take our mattresses to the rooftop and sleep there.
- It turned out to be my first experience sleeping under the stars, and honestly, it was beautiful.
- We woke up with the sunrise, and soon after, the electricity department came with an excavator to remove the tree.
- By morning, the supply was finally restored, and the whole experience felt unique and memorable.

1. Which is better, electric bicycles or ordinary bicycles?
Well, I think both have their own benefits. Electric bicycles save energy and are good for longer rides, while ordinary ones are healthier because they give more exercise. For example, I prefer a normal cycle when I just want some fitness.

2. Do you think electric bicycles will replace ordinary bicycles in the future?
According to me, no, they won't fully replace them. Some people will always prefer simple bicycles because they are cheaper and easier to maintain. At the same time, in big cities, electric ones might become more common for daily travel.

3. Which is better, electric cars or petrol cars?
Honestly, electric cars are better for the environment since they don't produce smoke. But petrol cars are still more practical because charging stations are not available everywhere. For long trips, many people still trust petrol cars.

4. How did people manage to live without electricity in the ancient world?
I believe they lived a very simple life. People used candles or oil lamps for light and cooked food on firewood. My grandmother sometimes tells me that even in her childhood, they studied under lanterns as there was no electricity, so they were used to it.

5. Is it difficult for the government to replace all the petrol cars with electric cars?
Yes, it's very difficult. The main reason is cost, as not everyone can afford an electric car. Also, the government needs to build a huge charging network first, which takes a lot of time and money.

6. Do people use more electricity now than before?
Of course, people use much more electricity now. Almost every home has ACs, refrigerators, laptops, and so many gadgets running all the time. Earlier, people managed with fans and radios, but now the demand is much higher.

120. Describe an exciting activity you have tried for the first time

You should say:

- What it is
- When/where you did it
- Why you thought it was exciting
- And explain how you felt about it

- We are always told that trying something new adds excitement to life, and I strongly agree with that.
- Today, I would like to talk about an exciting activity I tried for the very first time, which was river rafting.
- It happened last year during my summer vacations when I went to Rishikesh with a group of close friends.
- The main purpose of our trip was to try rafting, because Rishikesh is famous for it.
- We stayed in a riverside camp surrounded by hills, and the sound of the flowing river near our tents was magical.
- The next morning, we woke up early and got ready for rafting, which was a 16 km stretch starting from Shivpuri.
- Before starting, the instructor gave us a short training session on paddling and safety instructions.
- We wore helmets and life jackets, which made me feel safe, though I was still nervous as it was my first time.
- The moment we entered the river, my excitement grew stronger, especially when we faced big rapids.
- At some calmer points, the guide encouraged us to jump into the river, and floating in the cold water was an amazing feeling.
- I had never experienced anything like that before, and it felt both thrilling and refreshing at the same time.
- The scenery of green mountains on both sides made the adventure even more memorable.
- After nearly two hours of paddling and shouting with joy, we finally reached Rishikesh, completely tired but satisfied.
- I still remember how delicious our lunch tasted afterwards, maybe because we were so hungry.
- This whole experience gave me confidence that I could handle adventurous activities.
- It also taught me that sometimes we need to step out of our comfort zone to truly enjoy life.
- Honestly, river rafting in Rishikesh was one of the most exciting things I have ever done for the first time.
- And if I get another chance, I would love to repeat it.

makkarIELTS

1. Why are some people unwilling to try new things?
Well, I think many people avoid new things because they feel safe in their routine. Change makes them uncomfortable, and they worry about failure. For example, one of my uncles never tries new food because he feels he might not like the taste.

2. Do you think fear stops people from trying new things?
Yes, definitely. Fear of the unknown or making mistakes often holds people back. At the same time, some people push through their fear and end up enjoying the new experience, like my cousin who was scared of swimming but now loves it.

3. Why are some people keen on doing dangerous activities?
According to me, they like the thrill and excitement. Activities like skydiving or rafting give them an adrenaline rush that normal life doesn't. On the other hand, some people avoid such things because they don't want to take any risk.

4. Do you think that children adapt to new things more easily than adults?
In my opinion, yes, children are quicker to adapt. They are curious, less afraid of failure, and more open to learning. Adults, however, often overthink and hesitate before trying. For instance, kids can learn a new app in minutes, while elders struggle.

5. What can people learn from doing dangerous activities?
I believe they learn courage, patience, and problem-solving. Dangerous sports or tasks teach people how to stay calm under pressure. Personally, when I did river rafting for the first time, I learned to trust the process and face my fear of water.

121. Describe an important decision made with the help of other people

You should say:

- What the decision was
- Why you made the decision
- Who helped you make the decision
- And how you felt about it

- An important decision I made with the help of others was joining the school debate club.
- At first, I was not sure if I should join because I get very nervous when I am speaking in front of people
- I thought I would make mistakes and others would laugh at me, so I hesitated.
- My best friend Ruby encouraged me to join the debate team.
- Ruby had known me since childhood, and we had been in the same school since kindergarten.
- Ruby had been part of the debate team for a while and loved it.
- She told me that debate is not just about winning but learning to share your ideas clearly.
- She reminded me that I like discussing topics in class, so debate would actually suit me.
- I also asked my English teacher for advice.
- She explained that debate would improve my public speaking skills and help me in future interviews or presentations.
- After listening to their advice, I finally decided to join the club.
- At the beginning, it was very difficult.
- I felt nervous before every debate competition, and sometimes I forgot my lines.
- But slowly, I started to improve.
- My friends and teachers supported me, and I even managed to speak confidently in one competition.
- I felt very proud of myself for making this decision.
- It was a turning point for me as it made me more confident and helped me face my fear of public speaking.
- I was very thankful to Ruby and my teacher for guiding me.
- If it weren't for them, I would have missed out on a great experience.
- Without their support, I would not have the courage to step out of my comfort zone and make this decision.
- I think sometimes all we need is a little push to discover what we're capable of.

makkarIELTS

What kind of decisions do you think are meaningful?
I believe meaningful decisions are those that have a substantial impact on our lives in the long run. For example, choosing a career path, deciding where to settle, or selecting a life partner are all decisions that can shape our future significantly.

What important decisions should be made by teenagers themselves?
I think one of the most important decisions teenagers should make for themselves is their career choice, since it directly influences their future. Apart from that, they should also have the freedom to decide how to spend their leisure time, as it helps them develop independence and a sense of responsibility.

Why are some people unwilling to make quick decisions?
There are two main reasons for this. For some people, it stems from their upbringing. Since their parents made most of their choices during childhood, they struggle to make independent decisions and often end up second-guessing themselves. Secondly, some individuals want to make the best possible choice, so they spend a lot of time weighing options in order to avoid regret later.

Do people like to ask for advice more for their personal life or their work?
I think it depends on the person, but generally, people tend to seek advice more for their personal life, especially about relationships or family matters, because emotions are involved, and it's hard to stay objective.

Why do some people like to ask others for advice?
It's partly because they are not confident in their decision, and they are second guessing themselves. Moreover, some people lack the requisite knowledge or experience to make the decision themselves.

122. Describe a great dinner you and your friends or family members enjoyed

You should say:

- What you had
- Who you had the dinner with
- What you talked about during dinner
- And explain why you enjoyed it

- One great dinner I really enjoyed was during Diwali last year.
- It was at my aunt's house in Ludhiana.
- It was very special because we were all celebrating Diwali together after a long time.
- All my close family members, my parents, my grandparents, uncles, aunts, and cousins were there.
- Even my cousins who had settled abroad were visiting that year on Diwali.
- It was a big gathering and felt almost like a party.
- One of my cousins had a newborn baby, and we were so excited to see her for the first time.
- My aunts and mother spent the whole afternoon cooking, and the table was full of food.
- There were so many traditional dishes like paneer curry, puris, samosas, lentils, etc
- We had a great variety of sweets such as jalebis, ladoos, and gulab jamun.
- The food was not only flavourful but looked just as good as it tasted.
- The ambiance was very joyful, festive, and warm.
- The whole house was decorated with diyas, candles, and rangoli.
- While eating, we talked about childhood memories, family traditions, and even shared some funny stories.
- My grandparents told us stories from their younger days.
- We talked to the new parents about the joys and challenges of being first-time parents.
- I enjoyed this dinner because it was not only about delicious food, but also about being together as a family.
- We were sharing happiness and making memories
- Everyone was cheerful, and I felt very connected to my roots and traditions.
- I think meals like this are important because they give us time to slow down and appreciate each other's company.
- I will always remember it as one of the happiest family evenings of my life.

Do people prefer to eat out at restaurants or eat at home during festivals?
Well, I mostly like to eat out at restaurants as it gives my mother a break from cooking. However, my mother does prepare some special traditional desserts like kheer and halwa on festivals, and I love eating those.

What food do you eat on special occasions, like during festivals?
Like I said before, I love eating traditional desserts like kheer, halwa and jalebi on festivals. Apart from that, we normally go to traditional Indian restaurants for meals. Sometimes we go to south Indian and sometimes north Indian restaurants. Also, I love eating Indian street food like chats and pani-puri on festivals.

Why do people like to have meals together during important festivals?
Sharing a meal creates a sense of unity and belonging. Having meals together allows families and communities to strengthen their bonds, enjoy traditional delicacies, and celebrate the occasion in a warm and joyful atmosphere.

Is it a hassle to prepare a meal at home?
I don't usually cook, but I'd say preparing a small meal isn't too troublesome. However, when it's for a large group with a complicated menu, it can be quite demanding because it requires careful preparation and often more than one round of cooking.

What do people often talk about during meals?
During meals, people usually talk about everyday matters, like how their day went, future plans, or even family updates. Sometimes they also discuss current events or light topics, just to keep the atmosphere pleasant and engaging.

People are spending less and less time having meals with their families these days. Is this good or bad?
I would say it's a negative trend because it's weakening the bond between family members. When people spend less time eating together, they also communicate less, which in turn can create misunderstandings and even widen the generation gap.

123. Describe a friend of yours who is good at music/singing

You should say:

- Who he/she is
- When/where you listen to his/her music/singing
- What kind of music/songs he/she is good at
- And explain how you feel when listening to his music/singing

- I would like to talk about my friend Tanishka, whom I met during my IELTS preparation classes.
- We became good friends because we used to sit together and discuss speaking topics.
- One day, our teacher asked everyone in the class to share their hidden talents.
- Some people said they were good at drawing, some said cooking, but Tanishka said she was a singer.
- The teacher immediately asked her to sing something for the class.
- That was the first time I heard her sing, and honestly, I was amazed.
- She sang an old Punjabi romantic song without any music or instruments.
- Her voice was so melodious and clear that everyone in the class was silent.
- After class, I asked her when she started learning music.
- She told me that she had been fond of singing since school days.
- Her parents supported her a lot and used to take her for music classes.
- She even had to travel 2–3 hours every day for her training.
- Tanishka has taken part in many competitions and has won several awards.
- She also told me she was selected for Indian Idol last year and reached the final 16.
- She was the youngest participant in that season, which is a huge achievement.
- Usually, she sings Hindi songs, but she is also good at Punjabi and English songs.
- In her school, she was very popular and was even called the nightingale of the school.
- Whenever I hear her sing, I feel mesmerized and forget about everything else.
- I really admire her dedication, her talent, and the way she makes music feel so alive.

1. What kind of music is popular in your country?
Well, in my country Bollywood music is the most popular. People enjoy it because it's used in movies and everyone can relate to the lyrics. For example, during weddings, almost all the songs played are from Bollywood.

2. What kind of music do young people like?
I think young people mostly like fast and energetic songs like pop, rap or EDM. They listen to it because it matches their lifestyle and keeps them active. For instance, my friends often play rap songs while driving.

3. What are the differences between young people's and old people's preferences in music?
According to me, young people usually go for modern beats and western styles, while older people prefer classical or old melodies. My grandfather still listens to old Punjabi folk songs, while my younger cousins listen to English pop.

4. What are the benefits of children learning a musical instrument?
Oh, there are many benefits. It helps children improve concentration and creativity. For example, my cousin started learning guitar and it not only made him more confident but also gave him a new friend circle.

5. Do you know what kind of music children like today?
Hmm, from what I see, children enjoy cartoon songs or fun dance numbers. They like songs with easy words and simple beats. My little niece, for instance, always plays the same animated movie songs again and again.

6. Do you think the government should invest more money in concerts?
In my opinion, yes, because concerts promote culture and bring people together. They also give local artists a chance to perform. But some may say the money should go to education or health first, which I also understand.

124. Describe a good friend who is important to you

You should say:
Who he/she is
How/where you got to know him/her
How long you have known each other
And explain why he/she is important to you

- I'd like to talk about my good friend Roshan, who is very important to me.
- I met him during my first year of college.
- We were in the same class, and I still remember the first time we spoke — it was during a group project, and we immediately got along because we had similar ideas and a good sense of humour.
- We spent a lot of time together during those years — studying for exams, playing video games, hanging out in the canteen, and even going on short trips to beaches.
- We have known each other for almost six years now, and even though we are in different countries, we still stay in touch regularly through calls and messages.
- One of the reasons Roshan is so important to me is because he inspired me to make positive changes in my life.
- I clearly remember the time when he went for a two-month internship during our summer break.
- When he came back, he had lost so much weight and looked really fit.
- I was amazed at his dedication — he told me about how he followed a proper diet and exercised regularly.
- Seeing him so motivated actually encouraged me to start taking care of my own health.
- I began eating better and exercising more, and over time I also lost some weight and felt much more energetic.
- This is why I value Roshan so much. I have fun with him but at the same time, I feel motivated to better myself because of him.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

How do children make friends at school?
Children usually make friends at school by spending time together in class or during breaks. They share toys and meals, sit together and help each other finish homework. Playing together and doing group activities brings them together as they learn to cooperate with each other.

How do children make friends when they are not at school?
Many of them meet new friends in their neighbourhood, especially while playing in parks or common areas. Some also make friends through hobbies or classes like dance, music, or sports coaching, where they spend time with kids who have similar interests.

Do you think it is better for children to have a few close friends or many casual friends?
I think I read somewhere those who have many friends actually have none. I also believe that a few close friends is better. To be able to build meaningful connections with others, we need to spend quality time with them. Moreover, we can only rely on close friends during difficult situations.

Do you think a child's relationship with friends can be replaced by that with other people, like parents or other family members?
I don't think so. Friends play a very special role in children's life. Due to similarity in age, children have the freedom to play and share secrets without any judgement. Family members are important for guidance and support, but they can't fully replace the fun that friendship provides. I think children need both – strong family bonds and good friendships.

What are the differences between friends made inside and outside the workplace?
Friends made inside the workplace are generally about shared professional goals. They help people in achieving work goals and give advice in work related issues. But these friendship remain more professional due to office rules. On the other hand, outside the workplace, friendships are about shared interests and personality. There is not restrictions in such friendships, people can about anything, without any stress.

Do you think it's possible for bosses and their employees to become friends?
It's definitely possible, but it can be a bit tricky. If they have shared interests and hobbies, they can definitely be friends. However, as a boss, a person needs to make sure that their friendship does no impact his/her decisions and he/she is able to take tough decisions when needed and there should be fairness in his decisions.

125. Describe an important old thing that your family has kept for a long time

You should say:
What it is
How/when your family first got this thing
How long your family has kept it
And explain why this thing is important to your family

- We don't have many old things, but one thing that my family has kept for a long time is a 24-karat gold necklace that originally belonged to my great grandmother.
- It's very unique.
- Although it was made decades ago, the design actually looks quite modern.
- If someone saw it today, they probably wouldn't even guess that it's a traditional piece.
- My great grandmother had this necklace made many years ago, probably around the time of her marriage.
- What makes it special is that most jewellery today is machine-made and usually in 22-karat gold, but this one is completely handcrafted and in pure 24k gold.
- My great grandmother gave it to my grandmother and when my grandmother passed away, she gave it to my mother, who now keeps it carefully in our locker.
- We have had it in the family for over eighty years, and we usually take it out for weddings or other special occasions.
- Every time I see it, I feel connected to my grandmother and to the family traditions that she valued so much.
- This necklace is important to us not just because of its purity and value, but because it represents our heritage.
- It's something we are proud of and definitely plan to pass on to the next generation.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

What kind of old things do people in your country like to keep?
In India, people often keep old things that remind them of their culture or family history. For example, many families keep traditional clothes like sarees, turbans, or jewellery that are passed down from grandparents. Many people also like to keep old photographs, letters, or furniture because they have sentimental value.

Why do people keep old things?
Like I said earlier, one reason is their sentimental value. For example, somethings are passed down from their grandparents and they remind them of their grandparents.

What are the differences between the things old people keep and those young people keep?
I think there's quite a big difference. Older people usually keep things that have sentimental or cultural value, like family photos, letters, old furniture, jewellery and traditional clothes. On the other hand, young people, often keep things that reflect their personal interests. For example, they might collect gadgets, books, sneakers, or souvenirs from their trips.

What are the differences between the things that people keep today and the things that people kept in the past?
I think there are many differences but one principal difference is that today people keep digital photos instead of physical photos. Apart from this, I think earlier people used to keep things for longer time as they had been passed down to them or somebody made from them, while today's machine made goods don't have such a strong sentimental value so they are replaced easily.

What can we see in a museum?
We can see many different things depending on its type. For example, in a history museum, people might see ancient things like seals, coins, and clothes. In an art museum, there might be paintings, sculptures, and photographs. There are also science and technology museums where people can see prototypes or inventions. Finally, there are some military museums, which showcase the weapons and other equipment used in previous wars.

What can we learn from a museum?
Museums can teach us a lot. They tell us how people lived in the past and how society changed over time. Museums also help us appreciate art and creativity. In a way, they address the curiosity in people's way because they can actually see things instead of reading about them.

126. Describe a time when you broke something

You should say:
What it was
When/where that happened
How you broke it
And explain what you did after that

- I am very careful with my things now, but I have broken a few things when I was younger.
- Today, I'd like to talk about a time when I completely broke my phone in a very unfortunate way.
- This happened about five years ago when I was riding my scooty to college.

- I had kept my phone in the pocket of my jacket, but I hadn't zipped it properly.
- While I was driving, I hit a speed breaker on the road and suddenly felt something fall out of my pocket.
- Before I could react, I realised it was my phone lying on the road behind me.
- I quickly stopped my scooty, but to my bad luck, a bus came from behind and ran over it before I could pick it up.
- When I saw it, the screen and even the back were completely shattered.
- I remember feeling really shocked and helpless at that moment.
- My phone had all my contacts, notes, and photos, so losing it felt like a disaster.
- After that, I went to a nearby shop to see if anything could be saved, but the technician told me that the internal parts were also damaged.
- When I reached home and told my parents, they also scolded me a lot as the phone was very expensive and my parents had just recently bought it for me.
- To make me realise the value of money, they decided that I should buy the next phone using my own savings.
- I had to save my pocket money for almost a year before I could afford a new one.
- This incident taught me to be very careful with my belongings while driving.
- Now I always keep my phone safely zipped inside my bag instead of my pocket.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

What kind of things are more likely to be broken by people at home?
I think people normally break smaller and more fragile items like glass cups, plates, or mirrors. Electronic gadgets like phones, laptops and remote controls also get damaged easily because people use them so often.

What kind of people like to fix things by themselves?
I think people who are patient and practical generally like things on their own. It requires a lot of patience and time to fix something especially if it's an electronic item. Some people also do it to save money.

Do you think clothes produced in the factory are of better quality than those made by hand?
Not always. Machine made products are consistent in size and finish. They are also cheaper but hand made products can be better in quality especially if they are made by skilled tailor.

Do you think handmade clothes are more valuable?
Yes, I think they are more valuable because they have a story behind them. They take more effort and time to produce and in a way they are unique. Even if the same person makes them, there is always a difference. So, I think I this uniqueness makes them more valuable.

Is the older generation better at fixing things?
It depends. I think with traditional items like clothes or furniture, older people are certainly better but the younger generation is better at fixing modern electronic items or software issues in mobile phones and computer.

Do you think elderly people should teach young people how to fix things?
Definitely, I think it's the only to preserve these skills which might otherwise be completely forgotten. Once, my mother added extra salt in a curry and my grandmother taught her to fix it by adding dough balls in it. Such knowledge and skills can only be passed down by the elderly. Also, it is a good for youngsters. It can help them save money, reduce waste and become independent.

127. Describe a wild animal that you want to learn more about

You should say:
What it is
When/where you saw it
Why you want to learn more about it
And explain what you want to learn more about it

- I would like to learn more about the national animal of India, which is the Tiger.
- India has the largest population of tigers in the world.
- I first saw the tiger in the wild at Ranthambore National Park in Rajasthan.
- It is one of the biggest and most renowned national parks in Northern India.
- I went there with my family a few years ago.
- We were on a safari in a jeep, and at first, we thought we might not see one because they are usually hiding in the forest.
- But after almost one hour of waiting, a tiger appeared from behind the bushes.
- It was huge, with black and orange stripes, and it walked calmly across the road in front of us.
- I can never forget that breathtaking encounter.
- I was both excited and afraid because it was so near
- I want to learn more about tigers because they have such an important role in many ecosystems.
- They are the top predators in the food chain and help keep their habitats balanced by preying on other animals, mainly herbivores.
- Their numbers have gone down due to loss of forests, poaching, and hunting.
- Sadly, they are endangered and on the brink of extinction.
- I find them very fascinating because of how majestic and beautiful they look.
- I want to learn how they hunt and survive in the wild.
- I also want to know what steps are being taken in India to conserve them.
- I have heard about the wildlife conservation movement called Project Tiger.
- I want to understand how they track tiger population and how successful they have been in saving this species.
- I think learning more about tigers can also teach us about protecting nature and living in balance with it.

makkarIELTS

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Why should we protect wild animals?
We should protect wild animals because they are essential for maintaining our ecosystem and keeping nature in balance. If they disappear, it can harm the whole environment and even people's lives. For example, if tigers disappear, the deer population would increase, which would harm the forests.

Why are some people more willing to protect wild animals than others?
Some people are more willing to protect animals because they care about nature and understand its importance. Others may be busy with their own lives and don't think about wild animals much in their daily life. Some are not even aware how serious the problem is.

Do you think it's important to take children to the zoo to see animals?
Yes, I think it's important to take children to the zoo because they can see real animals, not just pictures. They can observe animals closely and learn about them. Many zoos also have information sessions where zoo employees educate visitors about these animals.

Why do some people attach more importance to protecting rare animals?
It's because rare animals are close to extinction, and people feel they need to save them. If we lose them, they may never come back, so protecting them feels more urgent.

Should people educate children to protect wild animals?
Yes, children should be taught from a young age, as this will make them more responsible and caring towards nature when they grow up.

Is it more important to protect wild animals or the environment?
I think both are important because animals and the environment depend on each other. For example, if forests are cut down, animals lose their homes. On the other hand, if animals disappear, the ecosystem becomes weaker as animals keep the balance in nature.

128. Describe a person you know who enjoys working for a family business (e.g. a shop, etc.)

You should say:
Who he/she is
What the business is
What his/her job is
And explain why he/she enjoys working there

- I would like to talk about my cousin sister Priya.
- She is older than me, and I have always looked up to her.
- She lives in the same town as me.
- She works in her parent's bakery.
- My uncle opened it 10 years ago, and Priya joined it five years ago after she finished college.
- The bakery is very small but very popular in our town because people
- know they will get fresh baked biscuits, pastries, cakes, and bread.
- Many customers are loyal to it because of the quality and excellent customer service.
- Her job in the bakery is quite varied.
- On some days, she is decorating cakes as she is very creative with icing and toppings.
- She loves designing cakes for special occasions like birthdays, anniversaries, and weddings.
- On other days, she helps at the counter, taking orders and serving customers.
- In addition, she handles the bakery's social media.
- In fact, she was the one who created the bakery's profile on different social media platforms.
- She takes pictures of the products and uploads them online.
- Because of this, more and more people have discovered the bakery.
- Priya enjoys working in the bakery because it allows her to combine work with her passion.
- She has always loved baking, and this is not just a job for her.
- She feels very proud when someone compliments her cake designs and shares them online.
- She also loves that she is contributing to the growth of her family business.
- Most importantly, she loves the atmosphere in the bakery and interacting with customers.
- She feels that she can even expand the business in the future.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Would you like to start a family business?
Yes, I would like to start a family business, may be something related to food, like a restaurant or catering business. I know it would require a lot of hard work and responsibility. Everyone in my family could contribute their skills and ideas.

Would you like to work for a family business?
Yes, I would like to work for a family business as families are supportive and helpful. It's more comfortable to work with family members than with strangers. It is also a good way to learn practical skills and see how the business really works.

Why do some people choose to start their own company?
I think some people prefer to start their own company because they don't want to work under someone. They want the freedom and the flexibility that comes with owning your own company. Some do it because they think they can be profitable and earn much more than what they would in a regular job.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of family businesses?
One of the biggest advantages of family businesses is loyalty, as people are supportive of each other and want to see their business grow. They share the same values, and it is easy to cooperate and respect each other. One disadvantage is conflict, as sometimes personal issues can interfere with work.

What family businesses do you know in your local area?
I am from a small town, and there are many family businesses in my local area. My neighbour and his brother run a gift and stationery shop. It was started by their father, and now the two brothers have expanded and added another shop. Other family businesses in the area are restaurants, grocery stores, footwear, and garment shops. etc

What makes a successful family business?
A successful family business needs to have good communication among the family members and clearly defined roles, so there are no conflicts. They also need to keep up with the new trends so they can grow with time. For example, doing social media marketing along with regular marketing.

129. Describe a long journey you had and would like to take again

You should say:
When/where you went
Who you had the journey with
Why you had the journey
And explain why you would like to have it again

- Well I am a person who is fond of travelling and I have done many long and short trips in my life.
- Whenever I have to go on a long trip I generally go by bus or train or by air.
- However, today I am going to talk about a long journey, which I did by car.
- Last year my cousin came from Canada and he wanted to see Rajasthan.
- My maternal aunt and uncle live in Jaipur
- So we decided to visit Jaipur in Rajasthan.
- It was too late for train reservation, as my cousin had come for two weeks only.
- My uncle has a Toyota Innova, which is a seven-seater car and so my father borrowed it from him for a week.
- We were six members - my father my mother my brother my cousin my uncle and I
- We started at 6 AM.
- During our journey, we halted at many places.
- We first stopped at Murthal, where there is a famous Motel, Jhilmil Dhaba, where we had our lunch
- Then we stopped at Delhi for tea.
- We had minor halts at one or two more places.
- We also played a lot of popular Punjabi songs during the trip and it kept us alive and kicking.
- Moreover, we did play some games as well.
- Finally, we reached my aunt's house by 7 PM.
- She had prepared sumptuous dinner for us.
- The next morning, we went for sightseeing.
- We saw many places such as the Hawa Mahal, City Palace, Amer fort, Maharani Palace and so on.
- The next day we went to Chokhi Dhani.
- This place has been the mirror of Rajasthani culture since 1989.
- We learned a lot about Rajasthani culture over there, and enjoyed the hospitality of my aunt and uncle.
- We returned home after one week.
- This road trip to Rajasthan will always hold pleasant memories for me.
- I would love to take this journey again because it was a perfect mix of family bonding, adventure and cultural experiences.
- Travelling by car gave us the freedom to stop anywhere and enjoy the road itself, not just the destination.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think it is a good choice to travel by plane?
Well, yes, I think travelling by plane is a good choice when time is limited. It is the fastest way to cover long distances. For example, once we had to attend a wedding in South India, and by flight we reached in just three hours, but by train it would have taken two days. Of course, it can be expensive, so not everyone chooses it.

2. What are the differences between group travelling and travelling alone?
According to me, group travelling is more fun because you share experiences, and it feels safer. Travelling alone gives more freedom since you don't have to adjust to anyone's schedule. For instance, when I went with my friends to Shimla, it was very lively, but when I travelled alone once, I could explore at my own pace.

3. What do we need to prepare for a long journey?
I believe for a long journey, the most important thing is planning. You need to carry enough money, clothes, and medicines. Also, checking the vehicle or booking tickets in advance saves stress. Personally, I always pack some snacks and water because sometimes you don't get food easily on the way.

4. Why do some people like making long journeys?
Some people enjoy long journeys because they see them as an adventure. They like watching changing scenery and trying new experiences on the way. My uncle, for example, loves road trips because he feels the journey is as enjoyable as the destination. On the other hand, some people may find it tiring and boring.

5. Why do some people prefer to travel in their own country?
In my opinion, people prefer local travel because it feels easier and more affordable. They know the language, food, and culture, so there is less stress. For example, my parents mostly travel within India as they feel comfortable and safe here.

6. Why do some people prefer to travel abroad?
I think many people choose foreign travel because they want to experience different cultures and lifestyles. Visiting new countries feels exciting and educational. For instance, my cousin went to Europe last year and said he learned so much about history and traditions there, which is something you can't get by staying only in your country

130. Describe a creative person (e.g. an artist, a musician, an architect, etc.) you admire

You should say:
Who he/she is
How you knew him/her
What his/her greatest achievement is
And explain why you think he/she is creative

- I think every person has some creative ability in him or her
- Some people show creativity in the kitchen, some in their kitchen gardens, some people show their creativity in decorating their house, some people are creative in the drawings or paintings they do, and some show creativity in the way they dress up.
- Here I would like to talk about a creative person who is my best friend Saloni's mother
- Her name is Ramanpreet and she is in her early fifties.
- She's always making something out of waste, things that we throw away.
- Whenever I go to her house she's always making something or the other.
- Saloni tells me that she never sits idle
- She always has a project in her hands
- She has made many things out of waste papers.
- I've seen beautiful decoration pieces made of 3-D origami which her mother has made, and they look spectacular
- I go to my friend's house very often and every time I see something new.
- Last time I went she was making tote bags out of old clothes.
- The tote bag she was making looked superb and was very sturdy
- Her mother told me once that the making tote bags out of old clothes is in fact upcycling old clothes and not recycling old clothes because the tote bags are used almost every day.
- She has gifted many tote bags to her relatives and friends, and everyone uses them every single day
- Now that single use plastics have been banned everyone should get a tote bag while going to the market
- I have also learnt many things from Saloni's mother
- I used to admire Saloni for her creativity but I realise that all the creativity has come from her mother.
- I think Saloni's mother is very creative because she can put just anything at home to use.
- She has made flowerpots from old used bottles and oil cans
- Her whole house is decorated with beautiful things and none of these have been bought from the market
- All these things are the result of her mother's creativity.

makkarIELTS

1. Do you think children should learn to play musical instruments?
Yes, I think children should try learning instruments because it improves their patience and focus. It also gives them a creative outlet. For example, my younger brother plays the guitar, and I've noticed it helps him relax after school.

2. How do artists acquire inspiration?
Well, inspiration can come from many sources. Some artists get ideas from nature, while others are influenced by personal experiences. For example, a painter might get inspired by a sunset or even by daily struggles in life.

3. Do you think pictures and videos in news reports are important?
According to me, they are very important because they make the news more believable and easier to understand. A picture can show reality better than words sometimes. Of course, some people argue that visuals can be misleading if edited, but still, they are powerful.

4. What can we do to help children stay creative?
I believe children stay creative when they are given freedom to explore. Parents and teachers should not always push them towards studies only. For example, giving them time to draw, play music, or even build things keeps their imagination alive.

5. How does drawing help to enhance children's creativity?
Actually, drawing allows children to express what they feel without using words. It pushes them to think in a different way and create new ideas. I remember when I was small, I used to draw houses with flying cars, which showed how I imagined the future.

Do you think you are a creative person?
Yes, I am a creative person, but all my creativity is for myself only. Every day I creatively mix and match my old dresses and make them look new.
I also like to make pencil sketches out of my imagination and create different characters.

Is it good for children to learn arts?
Yes, it is very good for children to learn arts. Arts bring out their creativity and breaks the monotony of tough academic studies. Arts also keep children in touch with their culture and tradition.

What kind of jobs require people to be creative?
I think all jobs require people to be creative. If people are not creative then their job may become dull and boring after just a few days. If any job has to be done over and over again then some element of creativity has to be added to it. For example, an engineer needs to think of new ways to do things, the plumber needs to learn new things every day to make his work better and simpler, a carpenter needs to learn new ways of doing things that can add grace to his work, a teacher has to bring up innovative methods to teach so that children don't get bored

Do you think leaders need to have creative ability?
Yes, I think leaders need to have creative ability. If they are not creative, people then stop following them as they would appear boring to them, but if they add creativity to their work, to their talk, to the way they do things, then they will keep having followers.

131. Describe a popular/well-known person in your country

You should say:
- Who is this person?
- What he/she has done
- Why he/she is popular
- And explain how you feel about this person

- India is a land of celebrities, with its vast population giving rise to many renowned personalities.
- Most of the popular people in India are either movie actors, cricketers, or politicians.
- Today I would like to talk about a sportsperson who has been a constant source of inspiration to me and the millions of other people in our country.
- His name is Virat Kohli, and he is a world-famous cricketer.
- He plays as a right-handed batsman and an occasional unorthodox right-arm quick bowler.
- He is 36 years old and is considered one of the greatest players in Indian Cricket history.
- He was the captain of the Indian cricket team in all formats of the game, including Test Cricket, One Day Internationals, and T20I.
- He retired from T20I format following India's win at the 2024 T20 World Cup.
- He is also ranked as one of the world's most famous athlete by the Forbes Magazine
- He led the Indian Under-19 team to victory in the 2008 World Cup.
- He made his debut for the national team at the age of 19 and since then he has never looked back and broken a lot of records.
- He holds the record for scoring the most centuries in ODI cricket and the second highest number of international centuries in international cricket, just behind Sachin Tendulkar.
- From a personality perspective, he is an aggressive player with a winning attitude and strong commitment towards the game.
- At the age of 18, he lost his father during a state level match but chose to continue batting to save his team. This incident reflects his dedication and mental strength.
- Apart from sports, Virat Kohli also does a lot of charity through his foundation which works for better education and healthcare of underprivileged children.
- His personal life also draws attention especially his marriage to Bollywood actress Anushka Sharma in a high-profile wedding in Italy in 2017.
- I deeply admire him for his commitment, passion, and resilience.
- He is a perfect example of how hard work and determination lead to success.
- I hope he continues to bring more glory to India in the years to come.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Do you think popular children will grow up to be popular adults?
Not all popular children grow up to be popular adults. Some may lose their fame as they grow older, while others might continue to succeed if they work hard. It all depends on their efforts and the opportunities they get in life.

Are there any disadvantages if a child is popular at school?
Yes, there can be disadvantages if a child is popular at school. They may experience jealousy from other students. It may be harder for them to make genuine friends. Also, they may feel stressed about keeping up their popularity.

What benefits are there when a child is popular at school?
When a child is popular at school, they often have many friends. They feel supported and enjoy a sense of belonging. This can boost their confidence and self-esteem.

Which one is more important, maintaining a good relationship with colleagues or doing well at work?
I think maintaining a good relationship with colleagues can make the work environment more welcoming and enjoyable. Doing well at work is important for personal growth but strong relationships can lead to better support and long-term success.

Are bosses more popular than employees at work?
Employees who are helpful and friendly can be more popular than strict bosses. On the other hand, an encouraging and supportive boss can be popular too. I think popularity at work depends on the personality of the person rather than their position.

What kinds of people are popular at work?
People who are approachable, friendly, and helpful are often popular. Those who perform well, share knowledge, have a positive attitude, and support their team are also well-liked in the workplace.

132. Describe an outdoor sport you would like to do

You should say:

- What it is
- When/where you would like to do it
- With whom you would like to do it
- And explain why you would like to do it

- One outdoor sport I would love to try in the future is lawn tennis.
- I've never actually played it, but I've watched many tennis matches on TV and YouTube.
- I already know most of the rules, like how the scoring works — love, 15, 30, 40, and so on.
- I find the game really interesting and fast-paced.
- I've seen legendary players like Roger Federer, Rafael Nadal, and Novak Djokovic.
- Their matches in the Grand Slam tournaments are always thrilling.
- My favourite tournament to watch is French — I love the clay court and the tradition behind it.
- I also enjoy watching the Australian Open and US Open.
- One reason I want to try lawn tennis is because it looks very classy and energetic at the same time.
- I think it's also a great way to stay fit, build stamina, and improve reflexes.
- There's a tennis court about 2 kilometers from my house, and I've often passed by it on my morning walks.
- I hope to join there soon, maybe for weekend practice.
- I would love to play with one of my sporty friends who already knows how to play.
- I'm sure I'll struggle a bit in the beginning, but I'm really excited to try it.
- In my childhood, I mostly played cricket with friends and at school, but tennis is something I've always admired from a distance.
- It's treated more like an elite sport in India, but it's slowly becoming more popular among youth.
- I once joked with my friend that if I play well, I'll go play in French open one day.
- Overall, tennis is a sport I haven't played yet, but I really look forward to learning and enjoying it

1. What are the differences between indoor sports and outdoor sports?
Indoor sports are played inside a building, like badminton or table tennis, while outdoor sports like cricket or football are played outside. Outdoor games need more space and depend on weather. I feel outdoor sports give more fresh air and sunshine. But indoor games are good during bad weather.

2. Which outdoor sports are popular in India?
I think sports like cricket, football, and running are quite popular in India. Many people also enjoy Kabaddi in parks. The younger generation plays cricket, and elders prefer something slow and relaxing. Sports events like marathons are also common.

3. Which sports are popular among elderly people?
Elderly people usually like slow and low-impact sports like badminton, yoga, or slow running. These help with flexibility and keep the body active without much pressure. In my opinion, running in parks is the most common. It also allows them to meet friends.

4. Which outdoor sports are popular with children?
Children love to play games like cricket, football, and cycling. These are fun and help them stay fit. I remember when I was young, I played cricket every evening with my friends. It also helps them learn teamwork.

5. How does weather affect outdoor sports?
Weather plays a big role in outdoor sports. If it's raining or too hot, people can't play outside. Sometimes, games get canceled due to bad weather. That's why indoor options are always helpful.

6. Which sports can children do on rainy days?
On rainy days, children can play indoor games like chess, table tennis, or board games. Some schools also have indoor badminton courts. Personally, I used to enjoy playing carrom and ludo when it rained.

133. Describe a film that made you laugh

You should say:

- What it is
- When you watched it
- Who you watched it with
- And explain why it made you laugh

- One film that made me laugh a lot is the Punjabi movie "Carry On Jatta."
- I first watched it during a movie night at my friend's house, just after our final exams got over.
- We all wanted to relax and have fun, so we planned a night out with snacks, cold drinks, and of course, a comedy movie.
- One of my friends suggested Carry On Jatta and I'm so glad we went with that choice.
- The movie is about a man who falls in love and tries to hide his marriage from his crazy lawyer father.
- The entire movie is full of confusion, lies, and hilarious situations.
- The direction, script, and comic timing of the actors are just perfect.
- Gippy Grewal, Binnu Dhillon, and Gurpreet Ghuggi did an amazing job in their roles.
- Some dialogues were so funny that we had to pause the movie because we couldn't stop laughing.
- My favourite part was the last scene where the entire star cast comes together and all the confusion is revealed — it's pure chaos and comedy.
- I have watched this movie at least 20 times now.
- Honestly, I remember many of the dialogues word-for-word — that's how many times I've seen it!
- It's considered one of the funniest movies in Punjabi cinema history.
- The film also had two sequels, but honestly, they were not as good as the first one.
- Even now, whenever I'm in a bad mood, I just play Carry On Jatta and it cheers me up.
- Watching it with friends made the experience even better — we kept laughing and making jokes all night.
- It's one of those movies that never gets old no matter how many times you watch it.
- Overall, Carry On Jatta gave me a memory full of fun and laughter that I'll never forget.

1. Do people like comedy?
Yes, most people enjoy comedy because it makes them feel happy and relaxed. After a long day, laughing helps reduce stress. I believe comedy shows and movies are popular worldwide. Some even use humor to deal with serious topics.

2. Why do people of all ages like cartoons?
Cartoons are simple and fun to watch. Children like them for colors and stories, and adults like the memories they bring. Some cartoons even have smart jokes for adults. So, everyone finds something to enjoy.

3. Why do some people like to make others laugh?
I think such people enjoy spreading happiness. When others laugh, it creates a good feeling for them too. Also, being funny can make someone popular and liked. But some people use humor in the wrong way, which is not good.

4. Should teachers tell jokes in class?
Yes, sometimes jokes help students stay focused. A little humor makes the learning environment friendly. But too many jokes can disturb the class. So, balance is important.

134. Describe a place in your country or part of your country that you would like to recommend to visitors/travelers

You should say:

- What it is
- Where it is
- What people can do there
- And explain why you would like to recommend it to visitors/travellers

- One place I would highly recommend to visitors is Amritsar, a holy city located in Punjab, India.
- It is most famous for the Golden Temple, also known as Harmandir Sahib.
- I still remember the first time I visited Amritsar — I was 14 years old, and it left a deep impression on me.
- Even though there are thousands of people inside the temple complex at all times, the place feels so peaceful and calm.
- I often sit by the sarovar (holy pond) and just meditate or reflect — the energy there is truly special.
- At night, the golden reflection of the temple in the water looks absolutely mesmerising — like something out of a dream.
- One of the most inspiring things about this place is the Langar, or community kitchen.
- Every single day, lakhs of people eat together, regardless of caste, religion, or background — it gives a strong message that everyone is equal.
- Apart from spiritual experiences, Amritsar is also the food capital of India.
- Whether you're vegetarian or non-vegetarian, there's something for every kind of foodie here.
- From butter naan, which is a soft flatbread, to Amritsari fish to chole kulche (spicy chickpeas, served with soft flatbread) — you name it, and it's mouthwatering!
- There are also other historical places like Jallianwala Bagh, which reminds us of India's painful past.
- Another unique experience is watching the beating retreat ceremony at Wagah Border — the energy, the crowd, the patriotic feeling, everything is unforgettable.
- The best time to visit Amritsar is between October and March, when the weather is pleasant.
- I would say spending 2 to 3 days is perfect to enjoy the city fully.
- I often recommend this city to my friends and even international tourists who ask me about Indian culture.
- It's a perfect blend of faith, food, history, and patriotism — all in one place.
- Amritsar is not just a destination; it's an emotion, and I truly believe everyone should visit it at least once in their life.

1. Is it important to take photos while traveling?
Yes, photos help keep memories alive. I always take pictures when I travel. They also help me share experiences with family and friends. But some people feel taking too many photos can spoil the moment.

2. Can you trust other people's travel journals on the Internet?
Sometimes they are helpful, but not always. Some reviews are fake or too personal. I prefer to check multiple sources before planning. Once I booked a hotel based on reviews, and it was very different.

3. What factors affect how people feel about traveling?
Things like budget, time, and company matter a lot. If the weather is good and people enjoy food and sightseeing, they feel happy. But if there's too much crowd or bad service, the experience becomes poor.

4. Will you go to a foreign country to travel because of the distinct landscape?
Yes, I love to see new natural places. Mountains, beaches, and forests are very exciting to me. I hope to visit Switzerland one day just to see the snow and lakes. The beauty of a place attracts many tourists.

5. How can tourists have a good travel experience?
They should plan properly and keep important things like ID, tickets, and money safe. Also, they should respect local culture and try local food. A positive attitude also helps in enjoying the trip.

6. What kinds of comments do travelers typically leave online after a trip?
Mostly people write about hotel experience, food, and places they visited. They also give tips for future visitors. Sometimes, if they had a bad experience, they warn others. I always check such reviews before booking.

135. Describe a sports event you would like to watch

You should say:

- What it is
- Who you want to watch with
- Why you want to watch it
- And explain how you feel about it

- One sports event I would love to watch live is the Olympic Games in the USA in 2028.
- I recently watched the Paris Olympics 2024 on television, and it was such a proud moment for me.
- I felt really happy when Neeraj Chopra won a medal in javelin throw again.
- I was also proud of our hockey team and Manu Bhaker in shooting — they made the country proud.
- The Olympics is the biggest sports event on the planet, with athletes from almost every country competing.
- It's more than just a sports competition — it's a celebration of talent, unity, and hard work.
- I would love to go there with my best friend, who is also a huge sports fan like me.
- We've always dreamed of attending a live Olympic event and cheering for India from the stands.
- The opening ceremony is something I don't want to miss — it's full of music, dance, lights, and amazing performances.
- I read that every Olympics creates a sports village where all the athletes live together, and it's like a mini world of its own.
- The 2028 Olympics will be held in Los Angeles, USA, which is also a place I want to visit for a long time.
- Watching the Olympics live in the USA would be like two dreams coming true at once.
- I believe it's a once-in-a-lifetime experience, and that's why it's on my bucket list.
- The first modern Olympics were held in 1896, and since then it has become the most respected sports event globally.
- I love how the Olympics promote peace, equality, and sportsmanship among nations.
- Watching the world's best athletes compete live would be an experience I will never forget.
- I hope I get a chance to watch the 2028 Olympics in person and be part of this global celebration.
- Just thinking about it gives me goosebumps — it would be a dream come true.

1. What kinds of sports events are broadcast on TV or other media in your country?
In my country, cricket is the most popular on TV. Apart from that, people also watch football, kabaddi, and hockey. During big events like the Olympics or World Cup, even non-sports fans watch. Sports channels show highlights all the time.

2. Do people in your country enjoy watching football games?
Yes, especially young people. Though cricket is more famous, football is growing fast. Big matches like FIFA finals attract a lot of viewers. I also enjoy watching Messi and Ronaldo play.

3. Does encouragement and applause from the audience have an impact on athletes?
Definitely. It boosts their energy and confidence. When the crowd cheers, athletes feel more motivated. But too much noise can also cause pressure sometimes.

136. Describe a person's house/apartment that you think is very good

You should say:

- Who this person is
- What the house/apartment is like
- How often you visit there
- And explain why you think it's very good

- I think that building a dream house is an ambition of almost every person in the world, and today I would like to talk about the house of one of my uncle's friend.
- The house is located in one of the posh localities of Chandigarh.
- In fact, it is just one km away from the famous Sukhna lake which is a big tourist attraction in our city and most of the city residents love to go there for a morning walk.
- My uncle's friend who has recently returned from Canada, bought this house last year.
- He had worked in Canada for almost 30 years before deciding to settle back in India.
- It took him almost one year to get the house renovated according to his liking.
- Also, I believe that he has spent a fortune on purchasing and rebuilding this property.
- It is a two-storey corner house with 3 bedrooms and a living room on each floor, and from the outside, it looks like a 20th century luxury English Villa.
- There is ample parking space for 4 cars and a huge lawn in the front.
- Apart from it, the house is equipped with all the modern amenities that one could dream of.
- There is an indoor gym, a mini home theater, and a jacuzzi on the rooftop.
- All the rooms have huge glass windows which allow a lot of natural light to come into the house and there is good ventilation as well.
- My uncle's friend is a technocrat, so, he has installed a lot of smart electronic devices in his home and he is able to control most of them through his mobile phone.
- For example, he can turn on the lights, open the curtains and control the conditioning, all with the click of a button.
- Moreover, my uncle's friend is also fond of gardening so he has planted many flowers and exotic plants in his garden. He has also kept a lot of indoor plants in the house.
- I absolutely love each and every corner of the house, there is nothing to dislike about it because so much attention to detail has been given to all the aspects such as interior design, décor, and space utilization.

1 What are the differences between buildings in the city and in the countryside?
The primary difference is that buildings in cities have limited outdoor spaces and congested rooms whereas the countryside buildings have more spacious rooms and large outdoor areas. Moreover the high rise apartments are found in cities only, while the rural areas have maximum 2-3 storey buildings

2 Do you prefer to live in the city or in the countryside?
I prefer to live in the city because it offers better amenities and also more opportunities and experiences. City life is more fast, entertaining and with so many possibilities and things to experience. Comparitively, the life in rural areas is dull and boring where individuals are restricted to doing certain activities only.

3 What safety risks are there in residential buildings in cities?
The main risk is of fire, especially in high rise buildings. Fire incident on one floor could spell disaster for people living on the higher floors and could lead to a great loss of life.

4 Is it expensive to decorate a house or an apartment in the place where you live?
Yes it has become very expensive to decorate one's house or apartment these days. The cost of furniture and decorative items has skyrocketed. Also, the indoor plants which play an important role in decoration have beome expensive these days.

137. Describe a time when you forgot/missed an appointment

You should say:

- What the appointment was for
- Who you made it with
- Why you forgot/missed it
- And explain how you felt about the experience

- Well, I usually do remember things as I have got a good memory but sometimes, I tend to forget even important things if my life is already disturbed.
- I remember an incident when I forgot my appointment with the dentist.
- It was during the time of placements in college, and we all were very nervous and preparing for it.
- There were placement classes going on and many things were on my high priority list.
- It was during this time, I forgot to visit my dentist.
- I had braces on my teeth and the dentist used to change the bands on them every month.
- But during that time, I was really stressed because of the placements and the dentist's appointment totally skipped through my mind.
- Later, I got a call from my dentist reminding me that I had missed my appointment.
- I felt very bad about missing that appointment.
- I apologized to him for not being able to reach on that day and asked him for another appointment for the next day.
- Thankfully his schedule for the next day was free and he rescheduled the appointment.
- I also put a reminder on my phone so that I do not forget the appointment again.
- The next day the dentist told me that if I had delayed the appointment further, it would have affected my treatment.
- I realized that this is what pressure handling is all about
- You need to do things and yet make sure that you are still balanced and not missing out on other important things.

makkarIELTS

1. Is punctuality important to people?
Yes, being on time shows respect and discipline. In schools and offices, it's a must. I try to be punctual always, but sometimes traffic causes delays. Some people don't take it seriously, which creates problems.

2. What do you think is a good way to record things? Why?
I think using a phone app or writing in a notebook helps. It reminds us about tasks. I use my phone's calendar to track appointments. This helps me stay organised.

3. Which is more important, a work-related appointment or an appointment with a friend? Why?
Work meetings are usually more serious and time-bound. But meeting a friend is important too for mental health. I think it depends on the situation. Both are important in life.

4. If someone doesn't really like whom they are going to meet, they may deliberately miss their appointment. Is that true? Why?
Yes, it happens. If people feel uncomfortable, they try to avoid such meetings. I have done it once when I didn't want to meet a distant cousin. It's not a good habit, though.

5. Do you think people should remember family history?
Yes, family history connects us to our roots. It also tells us about culture and values. My grandfather used to share stories, and I found them interesting. It's good to pass them to the next generation.

6. How do people who are busy remember things they need to do?
They use mobile apps, alarms, or sticky notes. I also keep a to-do list on my phone. This saves time and avoids forgetting. Some people still prefer writing in diaries.

138. Describe a city you have been to and would like to visit again

You should say:

- When you visited
- What you did there
- What is was like
- And explain why you would like to visit it again

- I am still young and I haven't visited a lot of places.
- However, last year I went to Shimla with my friend, Rohit.
- I had an amazing experience in Shimla
- Shimla is the capital of Himachal Pradesh and it is located in the foothills of Himalayas.
- My friend's uncle has a holiday house in Shimla and he offered to let us stay there for a few days.
- We both had never visited Shimla and we wanted a break from the intense summer heat so we jumped at the opportunity.
- We spent a total of three days there.
- Shimla is a wonderful place.
- The best thing is of course the weather.
- Even in peak summer, the temperature there never crossed 25 degrees Celsius.
- It was so relaxing.
- In my hometown, it is so hot that one cannot even go out before 6 PM.
- There we spent the whole day outdoors.
- Shimla has a lot of tourist attractions.
- The main is the Mall Road.
- It is pedestrian only road and vehicles are not allowed on this road.
- It has a number of showrooms, stores, cafes and restaurant.
- One can spend a whole week there without feeling bored.
- Also, the food is amazing as well.
- My favourite shop was a café.
- It's called honey hut and they serve coffees with honey instead of sugar.
- We spent two days on this road exploring the different shops and enjoying the delicious food.
- There is also the famous Jakhu temple.
- It located on the top of one of the hills there.
- My friend's mother was very adamant that we visit the temple once at least.
- I think that's the whole reason she allowed us to go.
- She wanted us to go there.
- It is believed that a visit to this temple brings a lot of good luck.
- So, one day we went there.
- The view of the city from the temple is breathtaking.
- We had booked return train tickets for the 4th day because we thought we might get bored.
- However, it was exactly the opposite on the 4th day.
- Instead of feeling bored, we felt like we missed out on so much because we came back too soon.
- I really want to go there again.
- Its summer again and I hope my friend's uncle extends us the invitation again.

makkarIELTS

1. What are the differences between the city and the countryside?

Both cities and countryside areas have their own advantages and disadvantages. Villages are less crowded, less polluted and have less crime, but cities offer better facilities and better job and education opportunities.

2. Some people say large cities are more suitable for old people. What do you think?

In some ways, yes. There are many advantages of big cities for old person's perspective. To begin with, big cities have better public transportation facilities reducing the need for car ownership. Apart from this, they have good healthcare facilities and easy access to public facilities like libraries and senior centres to keep elderly engaged. However, this is no true for every large cities and drawbacks like high costs, crime and social isolation in cities can make cities unsuitable as well.

3. Do you think it is possible that all of the population move to cities?

No, I don't think it is possible and I don't think it is a good idea either. It is n not possible as there are many people who hate the fast paced life of cities and love spending time in proximity to nature. Many people are actually shifting back to rural areas for these reasons. Moreover, rural to urban migration is leading to a lot of problems like congestion and high crime rates and this can worsen these problems even further, so I don't see it as a sensible idea.

4. Do you think people in the countryside are friendlier than people in the city?

Yes, I think people in the countryside have more free time as they don't need to spend lots of time in travelling. Moreover, there is less stress because of the slower pace of life in general. These factors make rural people more friendly.

139. Describe a program you like to watch

You should say:

- What it is
- What is it about
- Who you watch it with
- And explain why you like to watch it

- One program I really enjoy watching is India's Best Dancer.
- It is a dance reality show that comes on SONY TV.
- The show is about talented dancers from all over India who come and perform in front of the judges and audiences.
- They do many dance styles like hip-hop, contemporary, classical, and Bollywood.
- There are extensive auditions in the beginning episodes, and only a few get to the top 12.
- These dancers then perform weekly, and based on the scores from the judges and votes from the public, one dancer gets eliminated every week.
- These dancers are guided by expert choreographers, and they help them improve every week.
- I usually watch this show with my family.
- It is telecast on the weekends, and we all sit together and enjoy the performances.
- We have our favorites and root for them to get full points.
- Sometimes, my brother tries to copy the dance moves.
- Also, there are usually two hosts who crack jokes in between performances and make the show even more entertaining.
- The judges are also super talented and sometimes come on the stage to show some dance moves.
- They encourage the performers and give good advice to get better.
- I like this show because it is not only entertaining but also very inspiring.
- These dancers are so hardworking and put in so many hours to get the moves right.
- They step out of their comfort zones and do other forms of dance that they have never done before.
- They sometimes get injured too, but that doesn't stop them.
- It makes me proud to see how much talent we have in our country.
- The background music, lights, and costumes also make the show fun to watch.

Follow-ups

1. What programs do people like to watch in your country?

India is a diverse country, and it is very hard to generalize what people like to watch. People like to watch news, soaps, dramas, comedy shows, reality shows, and sports. It really depends on the person. I personally like to watch news, sports shows, and reality shows.

2. Do people in your country like to watch foreign TV programs?

I think the younger generation in my country enjoys watching foreign TV shows, especially because online streaming platforms like Netflix and Amazon Prime have made them easily available. These shows offer different cultures, stories, and styles that many young people find interesting and entertaining.

3. What's the benefit of letting kids watch animal videos rather than visiting a zoo?

The main benefit of letting kids watch animal videos instead of visiting a zoo is that videos often include audio explanations about the animals, their habitats, behaviors, and diets. In a zoo, the children can see the animals, but they may not learn much about them unless someone explains to them. Videos are very educational and informative.

4. Do teachers play videos in class in your country?

Yes, many teachers play videos in class, especially in private and modern government schools. Videos are used to explain difficult topics in a simple way. They also help students stay engaged and focused. Videos also makes learning more interesting and fun.

5. Do you think watching talk shows is a waste of time?

Yes, talk shows can be a waste of time if they are about gossip and drama. But others can be inspiring and educational, especially those that talk about success stories, current issues, and real-life problems. It really depends on the type of show.

6. Do you think we can acquire knowledge from watching TV programs?

Yes, documentaries, news channels and educational shows can help us learn about nature, science, history, and current events. Some entertainment shows can teach us life lessons, and some reality shows can be inspiring. Some shows, especially if we watch them in English, can improve our language and communication skills.

140. Describe a famous person you would like to meet

You should say:

- Who he/she is
- How you knew him/her
- How/where you would like to meet him/her
- And explain why you would like to meet him/ her

- One famous person I would love to meet is Diljit Dosanjh.
- He's not only the most popular Punjabi singer, but also a successful Bollywood actor.
- I've known about him since I was a child — I grew up listening to his songs.
- In fact, I still remember doing a dance performance on one of his songs at my school's annual function.
- His music has been a part of many happy memories in my life.
- What I admire the most is his journey from being a small-town singer to becoming an international star.
- He worked really hard to reach where he is today.
- Recently, he completed a world tour, and I was lucky to attend one of his concerts in Chandigarh.
- I bought a fan pit ticket, which meant I was right in front of the stage.
- Seeing him perform live, that too from so close, felt like a dream come true.
- The energy, the vibe, the crowd — it was something I'll never forget.
- He's also the first Punjabi singer to perform at Coachella, one of the biggest music festivals in the world.
- That made me even more proud to be a fan of his.
- Apart from being talented, he is also very spiritual.
- I read that he recites Sikh religious text throughout the day and stays grounded in his faith.
- I would really love to spend a day with him.
- I want to ask him how he stays so disciplined and how he keeps working hard even after achieving so much.
- It would be inspiring to know his thoughts on success and how he deals with fame.
- I feel he has not only made a name for himself, but he has also put Punjabi music on the global map.
- Meeting him would be one of the best moments of my life.

makkarIELTS

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What are the advantages and disadvantages of being a famous child?
I think the biggest advantage is that the child gets a lot of attention and opportunities at a young age. But the downside is, they lose their normal childhood. They are always under pressure and sometimes miss out on school or playtime with friends.

2. What can today's children do to become famous?
Nowadays, kids can become famous through social media, talent shows, or even YouTube. If they have a special skill like dancing, singing, or acting, they can post videos and get noticed. But not everyone wants that kind of life.

3. What can children do with their fame?
If they use their fame in a good way, they can inspire others and even support social causes. Some young stars help in raising money for charities or speak up about important issues. But it's also easy to get lost in attention and forget to stay grounded.

4. Do people become famous because of their talent?
Yes, many people do become famous because they are really talented. But in today's world, sometimes people also get fame just by doing something viral or controversial. I feel real talent lasts longer, while instant fame fades quickly.

141. Describe a friend from your childhood

You should say

- Who she/he is
- When and how you met each other
- What you often did together
- And explain what made you like him/her

- I'd like to talk about Rohit, who has been my childhood friend and someone I really admire.
- We first met on the very first day of school, back in Class 5.
- I still remember how nervous I was, sitting alone in the classroom, and he came and asked if I wanted to play during lunch break.
- That small moment was the start of a lifelong friendship.
- We quickly discovered that we had a lot in common — we both loved playing cricket and football, and we were always in the same team during sports periods.
- Apart from sports, one thing that made Rohit really stand out was that he was always the topper of our class.
- No matter how difficult the subject was, he used to understand it quickly and even helped me when I struggled, especially in Maths.
- His parents were in government jobs, so they used to keep shifting, but he stayed in our city for many years.
- Unfortunately, about two years ago, his family moved to a different city due to his father's transfer.
- Still, we have stayed in touch through phone calls and social media, and we've even visited each other's homes during holidays.
- What I loved most about him was his friendly nature and amazing sense of humour.
- We used to do funny pranks in class, like hiding each other's lunch boxes and pretending to be teachers.
- Even though he was very intelligent, he never showed off. That's what made everyone like him more.
- Recently, he gave an entrance exam for a top college, and as usual, he's expected to be among the toppers.
- I feel really lucky to have had such a friend in my childhood.
- Rohit taught me the value of friendship, fun, and also how to balance studies and enjoyment.
- Even today, whenever I talk to him, it feels like no time has passed.
- Our bond is strong and full of good memories, and I hope we stay best friends forever.

makkarIELTS

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you still keep in touch with your friends from childhood? Why or why not?
Yes, I'm still in touch with a few close friends from childhood. We grew up together, so the bond is strong. Even if we don't meet often, we talk on WhatsApp or social media. Childhood friends are like family to me.

2. How important is childhood friendship to children?
I think it's very important because it helps children learn to share, trust, and understand emotions. These early friendships build their social skills and confidence. Also, such friendships often stay in our memories forever.

3. What do you think of communicating via social media?
It's useful because it keeps people connected, especially if they live far apart. But sometimes, it feels less personal than talking face-to-face. Still, it's helpful, especially for quick messages or updates.

4. Do you think online communication through social media will replace face-to-face communication?
No, I don't think so. Online chatting is convenient, but face-to-face talks build stronger connections. Emotions and expressions can't be fully understood through a screen. We need both in life.

5. What's the difference between having younger friends and older friends?
Younger friends bring energy and fun, while older ones give advice and maturity. I enjoy both kinds. They offer different perspectives, which helps me grow as a person.

6. Has technology changed people's friendships? How?
Yes, technology has made it easier to stay in touch, but sometimes people forget to meet in real life. Some friendships now feel more virtual than real. Still, I use platforms like facebook and instagram to connect with people who share the same goals as me.

142. Describe a person who likes to grow plants

- Who the person is
- What he/she grows
- Where he/she grows them
- Why does he/she enjoy growing plants

- Gardening is a very popular hobby in India.
- I know quite a few people who are passionate about it.
- But today, I would like to talk about someone very close to me - my grandfather
- I have learned a lot about plants and gardening from him.
- He has inspired my interest in this area.
- My grandfather began gardening seriously after he retired.
- He used to work as a lecturer in the agricultural department at Punjab University, so he had pretty good knowledge of plants, soil, fertilizers, and sustainable farming practices.
- However, due to his busy schedule before retirement, he didn't get much time to pursue this hobby.
- After retiring he turned the large backyard of his house into a green paradise.
- He initially started by planting flowers like roses, jasmine, and marigold.
- The entire backyard smelled wonderful, especially in the mornings.
- Gradually he moved on to planting fruit trees such as mango, papaya, and bananas.
- Now, he has a fully functional kitchen garden where he grows seasonal vegetables like tomatoes, carrots, potatoes, okra, spinach, etc.
- One of the main reasons he enjoys gardening is because he strongly believes in eating healthy and staying close to nature.
- He often says that these days, too many chemicals and pesticides are used in farming, which can harm our health.
- While organic vegetables are available in the markets now, they are often costly.
- So, he prefers to grow his own food at home using organic methods.
- He makes compost from kitchen waste and avoids all artificial fertilizers
- I remember during the COVID lockdown, I had a lot of free time, so I spent many afternoons helping him in the garden.
- That's when I realized how passionate and knowledgeable he is about plants.
- He would talk about plant diseases, soil conditions, and even how the sun's position affects plant growth.
- I often think he could write a book on gardening - that's how much he knows

makkarIELTS

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Are there many people growing their own vegetables now?

Yes, many people are growing their own vegetables these days, especially after the pandemic. They want fresh and chemical-free food at home.

2. Do you think it's good to let kids learn how to plant?

Yes, it's a great hobby and it teaches them patience and responsibility. It also helps them connect with nature and fosters a love for gardening.

3. What do you think of the job of a farmer?

Farmers grow the food we eat, and farming is a very important and hardworking job. If farmers will not grow any crops, then we will not have any food on our table and there will be hunger and starvation everywhere. I feel disappointed that farmers don't get enough support or respect.

4. What are the differences between traditional and modern agriculture?

Traditional agriculture used a lot of chemicals to increase the yield and prevent the crops from diseases, but modern agriculture is shifting towards organic and more environment friendly approach.

5. What happened to the farmers' income during the pandemic?

Many farmers faced losses during the pandemic due to market closures and transport issues. Some couldn't sell their crops on time, which lowered their income.

6. How do people grow plants in cities?

In cities, people grow plants in pots on balconies, if they live in apartments. Some grow them on rooftops or in small gardens in front of their homes.

143. Describe an unusual but interesting building you would like to visit.

You should say:

- Where is it
- What it looks like
- Why do you think it is unusual and interesting
- And explain why you would like to visit it

- One unusual but fascinating building I would love to visit is the Lotus Temple.
- It is a Bahá'í House of Worship in Kalkaji in New Delhi.
- It is notable for its unique flower-like architecture which resembles a blooming lotus.
- It is made up of 27 white marble petals arranged in clusters to form the shape of a lotus flower.
- It has 9 doors opening onto a central hall with a height of about 34 meters.
- The temple is surrounded by nine ponds, which not only enhance its beauty but also help cool the building naturally.
- It doesn't have any sharp angles or lines, which gives it a very organic and peaceful feel.
- The lotus temple has been featured in many newspapers and magazines and has won many architectural awards.
- I think it's unusual because it is very different from most religious buildings around the world.
- Instead of domes, towers, or traditional shapes, it's built to look like a giant lotus flower.
- What makes it even more unusual is its purpose and philosophy.
- Although it's a place of worship, it doesn't belong to just one region. It is open to people of all religious backgrounds and faiths.
- There are no religious ceremonies performed inside, and visitors are encouraged to sit in silence and meditate or reflect.
- It promotes unity, peace, and spiritual growth, which I find deeply meaningful.
- I would love to visit it not only because of its stunning architecture and unconventional design but also because of the values it represents.
- The combination of architectural beauty and spiritual openness makes it a very special destination in my opinion.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Why do some people choose to build houses by themselves?
Some people choose to build houses by themselves because they want to design everything the way they like and use the best materials. It can also be cheaper than buying a ready-made house, and they feel proud of building it on their own.

What factors do you consider when choosing a house or an apartment?
When choosing a house or an apartment I consider the location first, like if it's close to work because I don't like long commutes. I also look at the price, size, and if it's in a safe neighborhood.

Do you think a city's buildings affect its vibe or atmosphere?
Yes, I think buildings really affect a city's vibe. For example, tall skyscrapers can make a city feel modern, fast-paced, and full of business activity. On the other hand, old buildings and colorful streets can make a city feel historic, charming and artistic.

Do you think old buildings should be preserved?
Yes, I think old buildings should be preserved because they are part of a city's culture and history. They tell stories about the past and how people lived before. Keeping them help maintain the culture and charm of a place.

makkarIELTS

144. Describe a shop/store you often visit

You should say

- What the shop's name is
- Where it is
- How often you visit it
- And explain why you like to visit it

- One shop that I often visit these days is MR.DIY.
- It has recently opened in my hometown, and I was really excited when I saw it for the first time because I had heard about it from my friends and seen it in bigger cities.
- It is located in a shopping area near the main market, so it's easy to reach.
- I usually go there once every one or two weeks, sometimes with my parents and sometimes with friends.
- We often visit it on weekends when we go out for other shopping.
- I really like visiting MR.DIY because it has a huge variety of useful items at very reasonable prices.
- They sell everything—like stationery, home décor, kitchen items, tools, toys, beauty products, and even small electronics.
- I always find something interesting, even when I don't plan to buy anything.
- The best part is that the store is neat, well-organized, and the items are displayed properly, so it's easy to look around.
- The staff is also polite and the billing is quick, so we don't have to wait in long lines.
- What I like most is that I can buy useful things for my room or for school at low prices.
- Once I bought a set of organizers and some cute pens that I couldn't find anywhere else.
- I also enjoy looking at their home decoration section because it gives me new ideas to decorate my room.
- Sometimes they have seasonal items like Diwali lights or gift wrapping materials, which I find very helpful.
- Overall, MR.DIY has become one of my favourite stores.
- It's fun to visit, and I always enjoy exploring what's new there.
- It has made shopping in my hometown more exciting and convenient.

makkarIELTS

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do people in your country go to the shopping mall frequently?

Yes, a lot of people go to shopping malls frequently. However, street markets are also very popular.

2. How have people's shopping habits changed in recent decades?

As disposable incomes have increased, people's spending habits have changed from essential items to luxuries. Moreover, more and more people are shopping online instead of going to street markets and shopping malls.

3. Do you think shops and shopping malls will disappear in the future?

I don't think they will disappear completely. For me shopping is not just about buying something, it is also about spending quality with friends and family and online shopping cannot fulfill this purpose. Moreover, many people prefer to buy items like shoes and clothes only after trying them out, so there will always be a space for physical stores.

4. What are the differences between shopping in street markets and big shopping malls?

The biggest difference is in the variety of products. Street markets sell handmade, local, or unique items, while shopping malls sell branded and mass-produced items. Moreover, there is a lot of bargaining in street markets, while prices in shopping malls are generally fixed.

5. What are the differences between shopping habits of different age groups?

Younger people tend to spend more on clothes, fashion and latest electronic gadgets, whereas older people care much more practical and essential items. Secondly, I think older people prefer shopping in person, while youngsters prefer shopping online.

makkarIELTS

145. Describe a TV series you like

You should say:

- What is the name of the TV series
- When you watched it
- What it is about
- And explain why you like it.

- One TV series that I really like is "Kota Factory."
- I watched it for the first time about one year ago on YouTube and Netflix.
- My friend told me about it and said it was very interesting and useful for students. So I decided to give it a try.
- "Kota Factory" is an Indian web series.
- It is about a teenage boy named Vaibhav who goes to Kota, a city famous for coaching centres.
- He wants to prepare for the IIT entrance exam, which is a very tough exam in India.
- The series shows the problems and pressure students face in these coaching institutes.
- The story is very real and emotional.
- It shows friendship, stress, hard work, and family support.
- The main character, Jeetu Bhaiya, is a teacher and a guide for many students.
- I really liked his way of explaining things and motivating students.
- I like this series because it is very relatable.
- Many students in India go through the same stress when preparing for competitive exams.
- The acting is very natural and the story feels real.
- It is also shot in black and white, which gives it a unique and serious look.
- After watching this series, I felt more motivated to study hard and follow my goals.
- It taught me that hard work, discipline, and focus are very important in life.
- I also learned that support from teachers and friends can make a big difference.
- I have watched all the episodes and I am waiting for the next season.
- Whenever I have free time, I watch some scenes again because they inspire me.
- So, "Kota Factory" is my favourite TV series and I would recommend it to all students.

makkarIELTS

Is it beneficial to insert advertisements within a TV series?
It depends. Some ads are well-placed and feel natural, but others can be annoying. If they appear too often, they break the flow. I usually skip them when watching online.

Do you think that parents should limit their children from watching television?
Yes, too much TV is bad for kids. It can affect their studies and sleep. My cousin used to watch cartoons all day until her parents set rules, and now she's more active.

Would your family watch TV together?
Yes, we often watch news or movies together in the evening. It's a good way to spend time with family and discuss things. Watching comedy shows is our favourite.

What are the differences in television viewing habits between the elderly and young people?
Older people prefer news, religious shows, or old movies, while young people watch web series, music, or sports. My grandmother watches devotional songs every morning, but my brother prefers Netflix.

146. Describe a plan that you had to change recently

You should say:

- When this happened
- What made you change the plan
- What the new plan was
- And how you felt about the change

- A plan that I had to change recently was a trip to Manali with my friends.
- It was supposed to happen last month during a long weekend.
- We had planned everything — hotel booking, travel by bus, and sightseeing.
- We were all very excited about the trip because we needed a break from our busy schedules.
- But sadly, two days before the trip, heavy rainfall was reported in Himachal Pradesh.
- There were news updates about landslides and blocked roads.
- Our parents also got worried and told us it was not safe to travel.
- So, we had to cancel our trip to Manali.
- At first, we felt very disappointed.
- We had been looking forward to the trip for many weeks.
- We even bought new clothes and packed our bags.
- But we knew that safety is more important than fun.
- So we made a new plan quickly.
- Instead of going to Manali, we decided to have a short one-day picnic at a local resort nearby.
- It had a swimming pool, indoor games, and a small garden.
- We carried food and had a great time together.
- We clicked many photos and enjoyed each other's company.
- Even though it was not as exciting as Manali, we were still happy.
- We got to spend quality time with our friends.
- Also, we promised to plan the Manali trip again in the future when the weather is better.
- In the end, I felt that changing the plan was the right decision.
- It taught me that sometimes we must adjust according to the situation.
- Plans may change, but what matters is making the best of what we have.
- So this is a recent plan I had to change, and I learned something from it.

makkarIELTS

Do people often change their plans?
Yes, many people change plans due to work, health, or other reasons. I also do it sometimes if something urgent comes up. It's quite common nowadays.

Would you tell others if you change your plan?
Yes, I always inform them. It's respectful and avoids confusion. Once I forgot to tell a friend, and he waited for me for an hour—I felt really bad.

Why do you think parents still make plans for their children nowadays?
Parents want the best for their kids. They guide them because they have more experience. But sometimes children feel too much pressure if the plans are not realistic.

How does technology help people make plans?
Technology makes planning easier. We can set reminders, use calendars, or book tickets online. I always use my phone to plan my weekly schedule—it saves time.

147. Describe a quiet place you like to go

- Where is it?
- How you knew it
- How often do you go there?
- What do you do there?
- And explain how you feel about the place

- It isn't easy to find quiet places in the fast-paced life of today.
- However, I would like to talk about a place where I go quite often and I find great peace there.
- The place I am referring to is a Sikh temple in my hometown, Gurdwara Sukhchainana Sahib.
- I go there once a week, sometimes with family and sometimes with friends.
- Sometimes we walk to the gurdwara and sometimes we go by car. It is about 3 km from my home.
- It is away from the main road, so it is very quiet there.
- Whenever I go there, I do circumambulation of the holy book inside the main hall and pay obeisance to the almighty.
- There is a well-maintained fishpond in the gurdwara, which has many fish species.
- I just sit on the steps of the pond and listen to the holy chants going on all the time there.
- It gives me great peace of mind. makk@r|eLtS
- Sometimes I take some bread from home and feed the fish.
- There are two catfish among the other many, who seem to be talking to me.
- I know it is all my imagination, but I love it over there.
- I feel that the tempo of life has slowed down a bit.
- It is so relaxing to watch the movements of the fish in the water.
- This activity takes all the physical and mental tiredness away from my body.
- I feel very light-hearted after that.
- Even though there is always a great rush in this temple, one can find peace and quiet over there.
- Sometimes, I offer voluntary services in the community kitchen over there.
- Free food is offered to one and all in the community kitchen and this service is round the clock.
- I generally go there on weekends and spend a good two hours over there.

makkarIELTS

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Why are there more noises made at home now than in the past?

Homes are nosier now because many people are working and studying from home because of remote jobs and online classes. Also, now people use more appliances, electronic gadgets and smart devices which contribute to the noise.

Why do old people prefer to live in quiet places?

Old people prefer quiet places because loud noises can be very overwhelming and stressful. Quiet places help them relax and enjoy the peace.

Do you think only old people have time for leisure?

It is true that many old people are retired, which gives them more free time to relax and enjoy their hobbies. However, young people can also find time for leisure activities if they can balance their work, studies, and other responsibilities.

How does technology affect the way people spend their leisure time?

Technology has made leisure time more fun and convenient by offering online games, movies, and social media. But because of technology, people spend less time on outdoor and face-to-face activities.

How do people spend their leisure time in your country?

In my country people spend leisure time watching movies, playing video games, visiting friends and family, shopping, playing cricket with friends on the streets, etc.

Is it easy to find quiet places in your country? Why?

It is very hard to find quiet places in my country because cities are crowded and noisy with traffic and activities. However, rural areas are much quieter and peaceful.

148. Describe an important river/lake in your country

You should say:

- Where is it located
- How big/long it is
- What it looks like
- And explain why it is important

- India is a diverse country.
- There are many rivers, lakes, beaches in India which are important.
- One important river that I would like to talk about here is the river Ganges or the Ganga, as we popularly call it
- River Ganga is a sacred river and treated as a Goddess among the Hindus.
- It has significant influence on the life of the Indians.
- It is one of the longest rivers of the world and is the longest river in India.
- The River Ganga emerges out of the Himalayas and falls into the Bay of Bengal.
- It has a number of tributaries like Yamuna, Ramganga, and Ghagra, etc.
- The Ganga is a perennial river as water is available throughout the year.
- The river has formed one of the most fertile flood plains of the world.
- We get the golden crops from the fertile lands on the bank of River Ganga.
- The water of River Ganga is widely used for agriculture purpose.
- The Ganga has been made national waterways of India.
- It is navigable up to Hardwar.
- The Ganga plain is one of the most fertile plain and is the granary of India.
- Our Government has initiated projects for wider utilization of kind water of River Ganga.
- This would bring enormous prosperity and economic development in our country.
- All these features made the river as the Ideal river of India.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Are rivers and lakes important to a country?
Yes, rivers and lakes are very important to a country. They provide essential water resources for drinking, agriculture, and industry. Additionally, they support biodiversity and offer recreational opportunities. In many countries, they play a key role in cultural heritage and tourism.

What are the popular water sports in your country?
In my country, some popular water sports include swimming, boating, kayaking, and fishing. In coastal areas, people also enjoy surfing, jet-skiing, and windsurfing. These activities are enjoyed by people of all ages and are often seen as fun ways to stay active and connected to nature.

Are rivers and lakes good for transportation? Why?
Yes, rivers and lakes can be good for transportation, especially in areas where roads and railways are limited. They can serve as important trade routes, allowing for the movement of goods and people. However, the feasibility depends on the size of the river or lake and the infrastructure available for boats and ships.

How do rivers and lakes affect local tourism?
Rivers and lakes often attract tourists due to their natural beauty and opportunities for outdoor activities like fishing, boating, and hiking. Tourists also visit for scenic views and to engage in cultural or eco-tourism. Local communities can benefit economically from the influx of tourists, who spend money on accommodation, food, and activities.

Do you think rivers and lakes attract tourists?
Yes, I think rivers and lakes do attract tourists. The serene and picturesque landscapes they offer often serve as a major draw for people seeking relaxation or adventure. Many tourist destinations are centered around famous rivers or lakes, such as the Ganges in India or the Great Lakes in North America.

How can rivers and lakes benefit local people?
Rivers and lakes provide local communities with water for drinking, agriculture, and industry. They also offer opportunities for fishing and other forms of livelihood. Furthermore, they support tourism, which can create jobs and boost the local economy. Additionally, these natural resources often play an essential role in local cultures and traditions.

Do people like that river in your country?
Yes, people generally have a deep connection with the rivers in my country, especially the major ones like the Ganges and Yamuna. These rivers hold cultural, religious, and historical significance. Many people visit them for religious ceremonies, festivals, and even for spiritual purposes, making them an integral part of daily life.

Do you like any activities on water?
Yes, I enjoy activities like swimming and kayaking. Water activities are refreshing and offer a sense of freedom. Being on water can be both relaxing and thrilling, depending on the activity, and it's a great way to connect with nature.

makkarIELTS

Is it necessary for everyone to learn swimming?
I believe learning to swim is important for safety reasons. It can prevent drowning and allow people to enjoy water activities with confidence. Additionally, swimming is a great form of exercise. While it may not be essential for everyone, it is certainly a valuable life skill.

Do people in your country go to swim in their spare time?
Yes, many people in my country enjoy swimming in their spare time, especially during the hot summer months. Public pools and natural bodies of water like rivers and lakes are popular spots for leisure swimming. It's a great way to cool off and stay active.

    As such there is nothing I dislike about my hometown, but yes, the drainage system could be improved. Whenever there is rainfall there is a lot of water logging on the roads.

11. Do you think you will continue living there for long time?
    Yes, I think I would continue living there for a long time. I wish to go abroad for sometime for my higher education, but would definitely like to come back here.

makkarIELTS

12. Are there any tourist attractions in your hometown?
    Yes, there are two Sikh temples, dedicated to the sixth guru of Sikhs. There is an ancient Shiva Temple and there is a famous hotel Haveli, which is very popular among the tourists.

13. Did your friends also grow up in the same place as you?
    Yes, most of my school friends grew up in the same place.

14. Would you like to live there in the future?
    Yes, I would like to live there in the future because it's a beautiful place.

5. Feeling Bored

1. Do you think childhood is boring or adulthood is boring?
   I think adulthood can be more boring because we have many responsibilities and less free time. Children, on the other hand, have more time to play, meet friends and enjoy themselves. So, I feel childhood is generally more enjoyable.
2. What do you do when you feel bored?
   When I feel bored, I usually watch some videos or listen to music. Sometimes I call a friend and have a chat with them. If I have enough time, I may also go outside for a walk.
3. When would you feel bored?
   I usually feel bored when I have nothing interesting to do. I may also feel bored when I have to wait somewhere for a long time. In such situations, I normally use my phone to keep myself busy.
4. Do you often feel bored?
   Not really, because I usually keep myself busy with my studies, friends or other activities. There is always something I can do when I have some free time. So, I don't get bored very often.

6. Computers and Tablets

1. Would you like to use a computer or tablet?
   Yes, definitely. I use a computer mainly for my studies, while a tablet is useful for reading and watching videos. I think both devices make our daily life much easier.
2. In what conditions would you use a computer or tablet?
   I use them mainly when I need to study, attend an online class or search for information. I also use them for watching movies and other forms of entertainment. They are especially useful when I need to do something quickly.
1. When was the first time you used a computer or tablet?
   I first used a computer when I was in school. At that time, I mainly used it for simple school work and learning basic computer skills. I found it quite interesting because everything was new to me.
2. What would your life be like without computers or tablets?
   I think life would be much more difficult without computers or tablets. Nowadays, we use them for studying, working, shopping and communicating with other people. We would have to spend much more time doing many simple tasks.
3. In what conditions would it be difficult for you to use a computer or tablet?

It would be difficult if there was no electricity or internet connection. I would also have a problem if I were in a place where I could not charge my device. Without these things, many online activities would not be possible.

7. Collecting Things

1. Where do you usually keep things you need?
   I usually keep important things in my room or in a cupboard. I try to keep them in the same place so that I can find them easily. It also helps me keep my room organised.
2. Would you keep old things for a long time? Why?
   Yes, I sometimes keep old things because they remind me of the past. For example, I may keep old photographs or small gifts from people close to me. However, I don't keep things that I no longer need.
3. Are there any things you have kept from your childhood?
   Yes, I have kept a few old photographs and some small gifts from my childhood. They are not very valuable, but they have special memories for me. Whenever I see them, they remind me of my school days.
4. Do you collect things?
   No, I don't really collect things as a hobby. I prefer to keep only the things that I need or things that have some special meaning for me. I think collecting too many things can also make a room untidy.

8. Lost and Found

1. Have you ever lost your keys?
   Yes, I have lost my keys a few times. Usually, I find them after looking around my room or checking my bag carefully. It can be quite stressful when I cannot find them quickly.
2. Will you post on social media if you lose your item?
   Yes, if the item is important or valuable, I may post about it on social media. Someone who finds it may see my post and contact me. I think social media can be useful in such situations.
3. Have you ever lost things?
   Yes, I have lost small things like pens, keys and earphones. Luckily, I have found most of them later after searching carefully. I think everyone loses small things from time to time.
4. Do you report to the police when finding something lost by others? Why?
   If I find something valuable, I think it is better to inform the police or hand it over to a responsible person. The owner may be worried and looking for it. I would feel better knowing that I had tried to return it.
5. What will you do if you find something lost by others?
   I will first try to find the owner if it is possible. For example, I may ask people nearby or check if there is any identification on the item. If I cannot find the owner, I will give it to the police or another responsible person.

9. Street Market

1. Are there many street markets in India?

Yes, there are many street markets in India. They are common in both small towns and big cities, and people visit them for everyday shopping. They are especially popular because many things are available at reasonable prices.

2. When was the last time you went to a street market?
   I went to a street market a few days ago. I went there to buy some clothes and vegetables because I wanted to get a few things at reasonable prices. I also enjoyed looking at the different shops there.
3. Do you prefer to go shopping in the shopping mall or on the street market?
   I prefer street markets because things are usually cheaper there and there are many choices. However, shopping malls are more comfortable and have better facilities. So, my choice depends on what I want to buy.
4. What do people usually buy on the street market?
   People buy many things from street markets, such as clothes, shoes, fruits, vegetables and household items. Some people also buy snacks and street food there. I think these markets are popular because they are convenient and affordable.

10. Secondary School

1. Is there anything you miss about your secondary school?
   Yes, I miss my friends and the simple life of school. We used to spend a lot of time together and didn't have many responsibilities. I also miss some of the fun activities we used to do at school.
2. What was your favourite subject at secondary school?
   My favourite subject was English because I found it interesting and useful. I enjoyed learning new words and understanding how sentences were formed. I also liked the way my teacher explained the subject.
3. Were there any subjects that you found difficult at secondary school?
   Yes, I found mathematics a little difficult. I had to spend extra time practising questions before I could understand them properly. However, I gradually became better with regular practice.
4. Do you remember your first day at secondary school?
   Yes, I remember it quite well. I was excited but also a little nervous because everything was new to me. I remember meeting my new classmates and trying to find my classroom.

11. Paper

1. Do you carry paper and pens with you when you go out?
   Not usually, because I normally use my phone to make notes or save information. However, I sometimes carry a pen, especially when I know I may need to write something. I find paper useful when I need to make a quick note.
2. Do people still keep handwritten letters today?
   Yes, some people still keep handwritten letters, especially if they are from someone special. Such letters may have a lot of emotional value for people. They can also remind us of important moments from the past.
3. Do you still write physical letters?
   No, I don't write physical letters very often these days. I usually send messages or emails because they are much faster and more convenient. However, I think a handwritten letter can feel more personal.

4. What did you like to do with paper as a child?
   I liked drawing and making small paper things when I was a child. I also enjoyed colouring pictures and doing simple school crafts. These activities were quite fun and helped me use my imagination.
5. Have you made any crafts with paper?
   Yes, I made some paper crafts when I was at school. We used to make simple things like flowers, cards and other small decorations. It was a fun activity, especially when we did it with our classmates.

12. Fruit and Vegetables

1. Do people in your country like planting vegetables?
   Yes, many people in India like growing vegetables at home, especially if they have enough space. It is quite common in villages and small towns. Some people enjoy it because they get fresh vegetables and also find gardening relaxing.
2. Were there any kind of fruits and vegetables you disliked as a child?
   Yes, I did not like some bitter vegetables when I was a child. I used to avoid eating them whenever they were cooked at home. However, my taste has changed as I have grown older.
3. What kind of fruits and vegetables do you dislike?
   I don't like very bitter vegetables because I don't enjoy their taste. Among fruits, I don't dislike many because I enjoy most of them. I think fresh fruits are generally easy and enjoyable to eat.
4. Where do you usually buy fruit and vegetables?
   I usually buy them from a local market or a nearby shop. Sometimes my family buys them from a supermarket when we are doing our weekly shopping. I normally choose fresh vegetables and fruits that look good.
5. How often do you eat fruit and vegetables?
   I eat fruit and vegetables almost every day. I usually have some fruit as a snack and vegetables with my meals. I think they are important because they are part of a healthy diet.

13. Politeness

1. What did you do to show your politeness as a child?
   I was taught to greet elders and speak to them respectfully. I also used words like “please” and “thank you” when I talked to people. My parents always reminded me to be respectful to others.
2. On what occasions should we be polite?
   We should be polite whenever we talk to other people, whether we know them or not. It is especially important when speaking to elders, teachers and strangers. Being polite shows that we respect other people.
3. Do you think being polite is very important?
   Yes, definitely. Politeness helps us build good relationships and makes communication easier. Even a simple “please” or “thank you” can make a conversation more pleasant.
4. How did you learn to be polite as a child?

I learnt it mainly from my parents and teachers. They taught me to respect other people and speak to them in a proper way. I also learnt by watching how adults behaved with each other.

14. Tiredness

1. When you feel tired, do you still go out with your friends?
   Usually, no, because I prefer to stay at home and take some rest. If I am only a little tired, I may still meet my friends for a short time. But when I am very tired, I would rather relax at home.
2. What do you do when you feel tired?
   I usually take a short rest and drink some water when I feel tired. If I have been busy for a long time, I may lie down or listen to some relaxing music. If I am very tired, I go to bed early.
3. When would you feel tired?
   I usually feel tired after a long day of studying or working. I also feel tired if I have not slept well the previous night. Sometimes a very busy day can make me feel tired even if I have slept properly.
4. Do you often feel tired?
   Not very often because I usually try to get enough rest. I mainly feel tired when I have a very busy day or when I don't sleep well. A good night's sleep usually helps me feel fresh again.

15. Rubbish and Recycling

1. Did you recycle when you were a kid?
   Not really, because we did not know much about recycling when I was a child. We usually put all kinds of waste in the same dustbin. Nowadays, I think people are more aware of the importance of recycling.
2. Is waste sorting common in your country?
   It is becoming more common in India, especially in bigger cities. People are slowly learning to separate things like wet waste, paper and plastic. However, I think we still need more awareness and better facilities.
3. How do you recycle things like paper and plastic?
   I usually keep paper and plastic separate from other household waste. Then I put them in the appropriate waste bin or give them to a person who collects recyclable items. I think this is a simple way to reduce the amount of waste we produce.
4. What do you do when you see rubbish on the street?
   I don't like seeing rubbish lying on the street because it makes the area look dirty. If there is a dustbin nearby, I try to put the rubbish in it. I also feel that people should avoid throwing waste in public places in the first place.

16. Travelling

1. Do you prefer to sit by the window when travelling?
   Yes, I definitely prefer a window seat when I travel. I enjoy looking outside and watching the scenery, especially when I am travelling through the countryside. It also makes a long journey more interesting for me.
2. Did you have a long journey with your family as a child?

Yes, I remember going on some long car journeys with my family when I was a child. We used to visit relatives or travel to different places during our holidays. Although the journeys were sometimes tiring, I really enjoyed spending that time with my family.

17. Advertisement

1. Have you ever bought something because of an advertisement?
Yes, I have bought a few things after seeing them in advertisements. Sometimes an advertisement explains the product so well that I become interested in trying it. However, I usually check the price and reviews before buying it.

2. Do you often see advertisements when you are on your phone or computer?
Yes, I see advertisements very often when I use my phone or computer. They usually appear on social media, websites and video platforms. Sometimes they are useful, but too many advertisements can become annoying.
3. What kind of advertising do you like?
I like advertisements that are simple, creative and easy to understand. I especially like advertisements that give useful information instead of only trying to sell something. A short and interesting advertisement usually catches my attention.
4. Do you like advertisements?
I like some advertisements, especially when they are funny or creative. However, I don't like advertisements that appear again and again while I am watching something. They can interrupt what I am doing and become irritating.
5. Do you see a lot of advertising on trains or other transport?
Yes, I often see advertisements on buses, trains and at railway stations. They are usually about mobile phones, food, clothes, education or other services. Since many people use public transport, it is a good place for companies to advertise.
6. Is there an advertisement that made an impression on you when you were a child?
Yes, I remember some advertisements for chocolates, soft drinks and toys from my childhood. They were usually colourful and had catchy music or funny characters. I still remember some of them because I used to enjoy watching them on television.

18. Friends

1. Why are some places suitable for meeting while others are not?
I think quiet and comfortable places are better for meeting friends because we can talk easily. Very crowded or noisy places can make it difficult to hear each other. For a relaxed meeting, I prefer a café, a park or someone's home.

2. Is there a difference between where you meet friends now and where you used to meet them in the past?
Yes, there is a difference. When I was younger, I usually met my friends at school, in parks or near our homes. Now, we are more likely to meet at cafés, restaurants or shopping centres.
3. Would you invite friends to your home?
Yes, I would definitely invite my close friends to my home. We can sit comfortably, have something to eat and talk without any pressure. I think meeting at home can be more relaxed than meeting in a busy public place.
4. Do you prefer to spend time with one friend or with a group of friends?
It depends on my mood and the situation. If I want to have a serious or personal conversation, I prefer spending time with one close friend. If I want to have fun, I usually prefer being with a group.
5. Do you have a friend you have known for a long time?

es, I have a friend whom I have known for many years. We met when we were quite young and have shared many good and difficult moments. Even though we may not meet every day, we still have a strong friendship.

6. What do you usually do with your friends?
   We usually talk, eat together and watch movies or videos. Sometimes we go shopping, play games or simply sit somewhere and chat. We don't always need a special plan to enjoy ourselves.
7. Where do you often meet each other?
   We usually meet at a café, restaurant or at someone's home. These places are comfortable because we can sit and talk for a long time. Sometimes we also meet in a park if the weather is pleasant.
8. Do you often go out with your friends?
   Yes, I go out with my friends whenever I have enough free time. We may go for coffee, have a meal or simply take a walk together. However, I am usually quite busy with my studies or work during the week.
9. How important are friends to you?
   Friends are quite important to me because they make life more enjoyable. Good friends listen to us, support us and give us advice when we need it. I think having a few genuine friends is better than having many casual friends.

19. Shoes

1. Which do you prefer, fashionable shoes or comfortable shoes?
   I prefer comfortable shoes because I often have to wear them for several hours. However, I also want them to look reasonably good and match my clothes. For me, comfort is more important than following the latest fashion.
2. How much money do you usually spend on shoes?
   I usually spend a reasonable amount of money on shoes. I don't like buying extremely expensive pairs because I feel good quality shoes at a medium price are enough. I mainly look for comfort, quality and durability.
3. Have you ever bought shoes online?
   Yes, I have bought shoes online a few times. It is convenient because I can look at many different styles without visiting several shops. However, I sometimes worry about the size because I cannot try them on before buying.
4. Do you like buying shoes? How often?
   Yes, I like buying shoes, but I don't do it very often. I normally buy a new pair when my old ones are worn out or when I need something for a special occasion. I prefer buying good-quality shoes rather than many cheap pairs.

20. Names

1. Do you often forget people's names?
   Sometimes I forget people's names, especially when I meet several new people at the same time. I usually remember their names after I have spoken to them a few more times. I think remembering names becomes easier when we meet someone regularly.
2. How do you feel when people can't remember your name?

I don't feel very bad because I understand that people can forget names. I simply remind them of my name in a friendly way. In fact, I sometimes forget names myself, so I don't take it personally.

3. How do you remember people's names?
   I usually repeat a person's name when I meet them for the first time. I also try to connect the name with something about the person, such as their job or where I met them. This makes it easier for me to remember later.
4. Is it easy for you to remember people's names?
   It depends on the person and the situation. I can remember names quite easily if I meet someone several times or have an interesting conversation with them. However, I sometimes forget the names of people I meet only once.

21. Watch

1. Do you think it is important to wear a watch? Why?
   Yes, I think wearing a watch can be useful because it allows us to check the time quickly. It is especially convenient when we are busy or cannot easily take out our phone. A watch can also be a nice fashion accessory.
2. Why do some people wear expensive watches?
   Some people buy expensive watches because they like their design and quality. For others, an expensive watch is a status symbol and shows their success. Some people also consider good watches to be valuable items that can last for many years.
3. Have you ever got a watch as a gift?
   Yes, I have received a watch as a gift. I liked it because it was given to me by someone close to me. For me, the emotional value of a gift is often more important than its price.
4. Do you wear a watch?
   Yes, I sometimes wear a watch, especially when I am going somewhere special. However, I often check the time on my phone because it is always with me. I think watches are useful, but they are not essential nowadays.

22. Cars

1. Will you buy an expensive car in the future?
   Maybe, if I can afford it and I feel that I really need one. However, I would prefer a comfortable, safe and reliable car rather than simply buying an expensive one. For me, practical features are more important than the brand name.
2. Do you think car colours are important?
   Yes, I think car colour is important to some extent because people want a colour that suits their taste. I personally prefer simple colours that are easy to maintain. However, the colour is much less important to me than the car's safety and performance.
3. What do you usually do when there is a traffic jam?
   I usually try to stay patient because getting angry will not make the traffic move faster. I may listen to music or check the traffic situation on my phone if it is safe to do so. If possible, I also try to take another route.
4. Do you prefer to be a driver or a passenger?
   I prefer to be a passenger because I can relax during the journey. I can look outside, listen to music or talk to the other people in the car. Driving can be enjoyable too, but it requires much more attention.

5. What types of cars do you like?
   I like comfortable and modern cars that are also safe and reliable. I prefer a car that has enough space and is easy to drive. I don't really need a very powerful car for my everyday use.
6. Did you enjoy travelling by car when you were a kid?
7. Yes, really enjoyed travelling by car when I was a child. Family journeys were exciting because we used to talk, listen to music and sometimes play games. Even long journeys seemed enjoyable because I was with my family.

23. Websites

1. Would you like to have your own website?
   Yes, I would like to have my own website in the future. It could be useful for sharing my work, achievements, ideas or other information. I think having a personal website can also make a person look more professional.
2. Do you prefer getting information from websites or books?
   I usually prefer websites because I can find information very quickly. They are especially useful when I need the latest information or want to compare different sources. However, I still prefer books when I want to study a topic in detail.
3. What have you learned from websites that help with your life or studies?
   I have learnt many useful things from educational websites. I have found information about different subjects, learnt new skills and watched videos to understand difficult topics. Websites are especially helpful when I need an explanation that is easy to understand.
4. What kinds of websites are popular in your country?
   Shopping, news, education and entertainment websites are very popular in India. Many people also use websites related to travel, jobs and online services. Of course, social media platforms are also used by a large number of people.
5. Are there any changes to the websites you often visit?
   Yes, websites are changing quite regularly. They are becoming faster, more attractive and easier to use on mobile phones. I have noticed that many websites now use videos and other interactive features.
6. What is your favourite website?
   My favourite website is probably YouTube because I can both learn and relax there. I watch educational videos when I want to study something and entertainment videos in my free time. I like it because there is a huge variety of content.
7. What kinds of websites do you often visit?
   I often visit educational, shopping and news websites. I also use websites related to my studies and sometimes look at travel websites. It mainly depends on what I need at that particular time.

24. Mirrors

1. Would you use mirrors to decorate your room?
   Yes, I would use a mirror as part of the decoration in my room. A well-placed mirror can make a room look brighter and more spacious. I would prefer a simple mirror that matches the rest of the furniture.
2. Do you usually take a mirror with you?
   No, I don't usually carry a mirror with me. If I need to check my appearance, I can normally use the camera on my phone. I think that is much more convenient.
3. Have you ever bought mirrors?

Yes, I have bought mirrors for my home. I usually choose simple designs because they are easy to match with different types of furniture. I also prefer mirrors that are good quality and easy to clean.

4. Do you like looking at yourself in the mirror? How often?
   Yes, I look in the mirror every day, especially when I am getting ready to go out. I usually check my hair and clothes before leaving home. I don't spend a lot of time looking at myself, though.

25. Public Gardens and Parks

1. How are the parks today different from those you visited as a kid?
   Today's parks are generally better maintained and have more facilities than the parks I visited as a child. Many of them have exercise equipment, walking paths and separate play areas for children. They are also often cleaner and more organised.
2. Would you prefer to play in a personal garden or public garden?
   I would prefer a public garden because it usually has more open space. I can also meet other people and enjoy different activities there. A personal garden is quieter, but it may not have enough space for some activities.
3. Are there any parks you want to go to in the future?
   Yes, I would like to visit some large and beautiful parks in other cities. I enjoy places with lots of trees, flowers and open space. I think spending time in nature is a good way to relax.
4. Would you like to see more parks in your city?
   Yes, definitely. I think every city should have enough parks because they give people a place to relax, walk and exercise. More green spaces would also make the city look more attractive.
5. Do you still like going to parks now?
   Yes, I still enjoy going to parks, especially when the weather is pleasant. I like walking around, sitting quietly and getting some fresh air. It is a simple way to take a break from a busy routine.
6. Did you like going to parks as a child?
7. Yes, I loved going to parks when I was a child. I used to play with my friends and spend a lot of time outdoors. I think those visits were some of the happiest parts of my childhood.
8. Would you like to play in a public garden or park?
   Yes, I would, especially if the park has enough open space. It would be a good way to spend time outdoors and stay active. I would also enjoy playing there with friends.
9. What do you like to do when visiting a park?
   I usually like walking around and sitting in a quiet place. Sometimes I take photographs of trees, flowers or other beautiful views. If I am with friends, I may also sit and talk with them.

26. Shopping

1. Have you ever returned anything you bought online?
   Yes, I have returned clothes that I bought online because the size was not right. Fortunately, the return process was quite simple and I received a replacement or refund. Since then, I always check the size information carefully before ordering clothes.
2. Do you prefer online shopping or in-store shopping?
   I prefer online shopping for many everyday things because it saves time and gives me many choices. However, I prefer going to a shop when I need to check the quality, size or colour of something. So, it really depends on what I am buying.
3. How often do you go shopping?

I go shopping once or twice a month, although it depends on what I need. I don't usually visit shops without a reason because I prefer planned shopping. Sometimes I shop online instead of going to a physical store.

4. Do you like shopping?
   Yes, I enjoy shopping when I have enough time and I know what I want to buy. I especially like shopping for clothes, shoes or useful things for my home. However, I don't enjoy crowded shops because they can be tiring.

27. Tidiness

1. Do you think that it is necessary to be tidy?
   Yes, I definitely think it is necessary to be tidy. A clean and organised place looks better and makes it easier to find things. It can also help us feel more relaxed and focused.
2. How do you keep your work or study space tidy?
   I try to keep my books, papers and other things in their proper places. I also clean my desk regularly and remove things that I don't need. This helps me concentrate better when I am studying or working.
3. Do you like to keep things tidy?
   Yes, I like keeping things tidy because I feel more comfortable in an organised place. When everything is in its proper place, I can find things easily. It also saves me time because I don't have to search for things.
4. Did you keep your room tidy as a child?
   Not always. When I was a child, I often left my books, clothes and toys around the room. My parents regularly reminded me to clean and organise my room.

28. Music

1. Do you listen to music while doing other things?
   Yes, I often listen to music while doing other activities such as travelling, exercising or doing housework. It makes these activities more enjoyable and sometimes helps me relax. I usually choose music according to my mood.
2. Have you taken any music classes?
   No, I have never taken formal music classes. I have always enjoyed listening to music, but I have not received professional training. I sometimes sing along with my favourite songs just for fun.
3. Does happy music make you feel more excited?
   Yes, happy music usually improves my mood and gives me more energy. If I am feeling tired or a little low, listening to a cheerful song can make me feel better. I think music can have a strong effect on our emotions.
4. Do you prefer sad or happy music?
   I definitely prefer happy music because it makes me feel positive and relaxed. I usually listen to it when I am travelling or doing some work. I may listen to sad music occasionally, but I don't choose it very often.

29. Views

1. Have you seen an unforgettable and beautiful view or scenery?

Yes, I have seen some beautiful mountain views while travelling. The combination of mountains, trees and clear skies looked amazing. I still remember those views because they were very peaceful and different from my everyday surroundings.

2. Do you prefer views in your own country or in other countries?
   I like views in both my own country and other countries. However, I enjoy exploring beautiful places in my own country because there are so many different types of scenery. It is also easier and cheaper to travel to these places.
3. Do you prefer views in urban areas or rural areas?
   I prefer rural views because they are usually quieter and more natural. I enjoy seeing green fields, trees, rivers and mountains rather than busy roads and tall buildings. Rural areas also give me a chance to escape from city life.
4. Do you like taking pictures of different views?
   Yes, I really enjoy taking pictures of beautiful views. I usually take photographs when I see mountains, sunsets, rivers or interesting buildings. These pictures help me remember the places I have visited.

30. Childhood Activities

1. Are there any differences between the activities you liked when you were a child and those you like now?
   Yes, there is quite a big difference. When I was a child, I enjoyed playing outdoor games and watching cartoons, while now I prefer travelling, watching movies and listening to music. As we grow older, our interests naturally change.
2. Did you prefer to do activities alone or with a group of people when you were a child?
   I preferred doing activities with a group of people when I was a child. I enjoyed playing games with my friends because we could talk, laugh and have fun together. I think group activities also helped me make new friends.
3. What were your favourite activities when you were a child?
   My favourite activities were playing outdoor games, watching cartoons and visiting my relatives. I also enjoyed spending time with my friends after school. I had plenty of free time then, so I could enjoy these activities regularly.
4. What are your favourite activities?
   My favourite activities are listening to music, watching movies and travelling. I also enjoy spending time with my friends whenever I have enough free time. These activities help me relax after a busy day.

31. Building

1. Do you want to live in a tall building?
   Maybe, because tall buildings can offer beautiful views and modern facilities. However, I would prefer a comfortable home in a peaceful area rather than simply choosing a very tall building. Noise and overcrowding would be a problem for me.
2. Is there a building that you would like to visit?
   Yes, I would like to visit some famous historical buildings. I am interested in their design and the stories connected with them. Seeing such buildings in person would be much more interesting than only looking at pictures.
3. Do you take photos of buildings?

Sometimes I do, especially when I see an unusual or beautiful building. I often take pictures of buildings when I am travelling to a new place. I like keeping these photographs as memories of my trips.

4. Are there tall buildings near your home?
   There are a few tall buildings near my home, but most of the buildings in my area are not very high. The area is mostly made up of normal residential buildings. I actually prefer this because it makes the neighbourhood feel less crowded.

32. Scenery

1. Do you like to take scenery pictures?
   Yes, I really enjoy taking pictures of beautiful scenery. I especially like photographing mountains, rivers, trees and sunsets. Looking at these photographs later reminds me of the places I have visited.
2. Do you prefer the mountains or the sea?
   I prefer the mountains because I love the peaceful atmosphere and cool weather there. I also enjoy the beautiful views and fresh air. However, I would still like to spend some time near the sea because it is relaxing in a different way.
3. What are the most beautiful sights you have seen while travelling?
   I have seen beautiful mountains, rivers, lakes and sunsets during my travels. Natural scenery is usually more memorable for me than busy city areas. I especially enjoy places where I can see a lot of greenery and open space.
4. Do you look out the window at the scenery when travelling by bus or car?
   Yes, I often look out of the window when I am travelling by bus or car. I especially enjoy watching the scenery when I am travelling through the countryside. It makes the journey more interesting and sometimes helps me relax.

33. Reading

1. Do you prefer scanning or detailed reading?
   It depends on what I am reading and why I am reading it. I prefer scanning when I need to find a particular piece of information quickly. However, I read in detail when I am studying something important or trying to understand a topic properly.
2. When do you need to read carefully, and when not?
   I need to read carefully when I am studying, doing an important task or reading instructions. If I only need a particular piece of information, I don't need to read every word. In that situation, scanning is much faster.
3. Do you prefer to read on paper or on a screen?
   I usually prefer reading on a screen because it is convenient and easy to carry around. I can also change the size of the text and search for information quickly. However, for very long reading, I sometimes find paper more comfortable.
4. Do you like reading?
   Yes, I like reading when the topic is interesting to me. I usually read articles, educational material and information related to my interests. Reading also helps me learn new things and improve my language.

34. Sports Team

1. What are the differences between team sports and individual sports?

Team sports require several people to work together towards the same goal. Individual sports depend more on one person's skills, effort and performance. I think team sports teach cooperation, while individual sports can teach self-discipline.

2. Are team sports popular in your culture?
   Yes, team sports are very popular in India, especially cricket and football. Many people enjoy watching matches with their friends and family. Cricket, in particular, has a huge following across the country.
3. Have you ever been part of a sports team?
   Yes, I was part of a sports team when I was at school. It was a good experience because I learnt how to cooperate with other students. We practised together and tried our best to perform well.
4. Do you like watching team games? Why?
   Yes, I enjoy watching team games because they are usually very exciting. I like seeing how players work together and change their strategy during a match. It is even more enjoyable when my favourite team is playing.

35. Walking

1. Where did you go for a walk lately?
   I went for a walk in a nearby park recently. The weather was pleasant, so I enjoyed walking around and getting some fresh air. It was a nice break from my normal routine.
2. Where would you like to take a long walk if you had the chance?
   I would love to take a long walk in the mountains or near the sea. Both places have beautiful scenery and a peaceful atmosphere. I think walking in such surroundings would be very relaxing.
3. Why do people like to walk in parks?
   People like walking in parks because they are usually peaceful and have fresh air. Walking is also a simple form of exercise that does not require any special equipment. Parks give people a chance to relax while staying active.
4. Did you often go outside to have a walk when you were a child?
   Yes, I often went outside when I was a child. I used to play with my friends and walk around the neighbourhood instead of staying indoors. Children generally spend more time outside than many people do nowadays.
5. Do you walk a lot?
   Yes, I try to walk every day, especially when I have some free time. It helps me stay active and gives me a chance to clear my mind. I prefer walking outdoors when the weather is pleasant.

36. Typing

1. How do you improve your typing?
   I improve my typing by practising regularly. I try to type without looking at the keyboard too much and focus on accuracy. With regular practice, I have gradually become faster.
2. When did you learn how to type on a keyboard?
   I learnt basic typing when I was at school. At first, I could only type slowly because I was not familiar with the keyboard. Later, I improved my speed by using computers regularly.
3. Do you type on a desktop or laptop keyboard every day?
   Yes, I use a keyboard almost every day, mainly for study or work. I often type messages, assignments, notes or other documents. Because I use it so regularly, typing has become a normal part of my routine.
4. Do you prefer typing or handwriting?

I prefer typing because it is faster and easier to correct mistakes. I can also save and edit my work without having to write everything again. However, I still use handwriting when I need to make quick notes.

37. Food

1. Has your favourite food changed since you were a child?
   Yes, my food preferences have changed quite a lot since I was a child. When I was young, I preferred simple homemade food and snacks, but now I enjoy a wider variety of dishes. As we grow older, our taste often changes.
2. What kind of food did you like when you were young?
   When I was young, I liked homemade food and simple snacks. I especially enjoyed food prepared by my mother because it tasted familiar and comforting. I also liked sweets and fast food occasionally.
3. What is your favourite food?
   My favourite food is probably pizza because I enjoy its taste and variety. There are so many different toppings, so I can choose according to my mood. I especially like having it with my friends.
4. Do you eat different foods at different times of the year?
   Yes, I do eat different foods in different seasons. I prefer lighter food and more fresh fruits during summer, while I enjoy warmer and richer food in winter. Seasonal food also feels more enjoyable to me.

38. Spare Time

1. Do you have more free time on weekdays or at weekends?
   I usually have more free time at weekends because my weekdays are often busy with studies or work. At the weekend, I can relax and spend more time with my family and friends. I also use some of that time to catch up on things I couldn't do during the week.
2. Would you like to have more free time in the future?
   Yes, definitely. I would like to have more free time so that I could travel, meet friends and spend more time with my family. I think having some free time is important for both our physical and mental well-being.
3. Which day do you have more free time on, Saturday or Sunday?
   Usually, I have more free time on Sunday because Saturday can still be quite busy. I normally use Sunday to relax and prepare for the coming week. Sometimes I also meet friends or go out with my family.
4. What do you usually do in your spare time?
   I usually watch movies, listen to music or use social media in my spare time. If I have more time, I like going out with friends or taking a walk. I prefer doing something relaxing rather than studying all the time.
5. Do you often have free time?
   Not really, because I am usually busy with my studies or work. However, I try to make some time for myself every day, even if it is only for a short while. I think regular breaks help me feel fresh.

39. Hobby

1. Do you have the same hobbies as your family members?
   Some of my hobbies are similar to those of my family members, but not all of them. For example, we may all enjoy watching movies or travelling together. However, each person also has some personal interests.
2. Do you have a hobby that you've had since childhood?
   Yes, I have enjoyed listening to music since childhood. I used to listen to songs whenever I had free time, and I still enjoy doing it today. Music has remained a simple way for me to relax.
3. Did you have any hobbies when you were a child?
   Yes, I had several hobbies when I was a child. I liked drawing, playing outdoor games, watching cartoons and spending time with friends. I had more free time then, so I could enjoy these activities regularly.
4. Do you have any hobbies?
   Yes, I enjoy listening to music, watching movies and travelling. I also like spending time with my friends whenever possible. These hobbies help me relax and take my mind off my studies or work.

40. Teachers

1. Do you like your primary school teachers more than your high school teachers?
   I liked both, but I was probably closer to my primary school teachers. They were very caring and patient because we were young students. I still remember some of them because they made my early school years enjoyable.
2. Do you want to be a teacher in the future?
   Maybe, because teaching is a respected profession and gives people a chance to help others. I think it would be satisfying to see students understand something because of your teaching. However, I would first like to gain more experience.
3. Do you have a teacher from your past that you still remember?
   Yes, I still remember my English teacher from school. He or she was very friendly and made the subject interesting for us. I think a good teacher can have a lasting effect on a student's confidence.
4. Are you still in touch with your primary school teachers?
   No, I am not in regular contact with my primary school teachers. We lost touch after I left school and moved on to higher studies. However, I still remember them with respect and gratitude.
5. In what way has your favourite teacher helped you?
   My favourite teacher helped me become more confident in my studies. He or she encouraged me to ask questions instead of being afraid of making mistakes. That advice has been useful to me even after leaving school.
6. Do you have a favourite teacher?
   Yes, my favourite teacher was my English teacher. I liked the way he or she explained difficult things in a simple manner. The teacher was also friendly, so I felt comfortable asking questions.

41. Life Stages

1. Do you enjoy being the age you are now?
   Yes, I enjoy being my current age because I have more freedom than I had as a child. I can make many of my own decisions and think about my future. At the same time, I am learning to deal with more responsibilities.

2. At what age do you think people are the happiest?
   I think people can be happy at any age because happiness depends on many things. However, young adults may enjoy life because they have more energy and many opportunities ahead of them. Older people can also be very happy because they may have more free time and experience.
3. How do people remember each stage of their lives?
   People usually remember important events, special people and memorable experiences from each stage. Photographs, videos and old belongings can also help them remember the past. Sometimes even a song or smell can bring back an old memory.
4. Do you have any plans for the next five years?
   Yes, I want to complete my studies and build a good career. I would also like to improve my communication and professional skills. If possible, I hope to travel and experience some new places as well.
5. What do you think is the most important at the moment?
   At the moment, my studies and future career are the most important things for me. I want to do well in my studies and develop useful skills. I know that the decisions I make now can affect my future.
6. What did you often do with your friends in your childhood?
   We often played outdoor games and visited each other's homes. We also watched television, shared snacks and talked about school. We had very simple activities, but we enjoyed spending time together.

42. Memory

1. How do you remember important things?
   I usually make notes on my phone when I have something important to remember. I also set reminders for appointments, deadlines and other tasks. This is useful because I don't have to depend only on my memory.
2. What do you need to remember in your daily life?
   I need to remember my study schedule, important tasks, appointments and deadlines. I also have to remember things like phone calls or messages that I need to answer. My phone helps me keep track of most of these things.
3. Have you ever forgotten something important?
   Yes, I have forgotten an important appointment once or twice. I felt quite bad because I had to change my plans at the last minute. Since then, I have started using reminders more regularly.
4. Are you good at memorising things?
   I think I am fairly good at memorising things when I understand them properly. I remember information better when I revise it several times instead of trying to learn everything at once. Writing things down also helps me.

43. Social Media

1. Have you ever posted anything on social media?
   Yes, I have posted photographs, updates and short messages on social media. I mainly share things with my friends and family. I don't post very frequently because I prefer to keep some things private.
2. What do people often do on social media?

People share photographs, videos, news and personal updates on social media. They also chat with friends, follow celebrities and watch short videos. Some people use it for entertainment, while others use it for business or education.

3. Do your friends use social media?
   Yes, almost all my friends use social media. We sometimes share funny videos, photographs and messages with each other. It is an easy way to stay connected even when we cannot meet in person.
4. Do you think you spend too much time on social media?
   Sometimes I think I spend more time on social media than I should. It is easy to start watching one video and then continue for a long time. I try to control my screen time, but it is not always easy.
5. When did you start using social media?
   I started using social media when I was a teenager. At first, I mainly used it to stay in touch with school friends and share photographs. Gradually, I started using it for entertainment and information as well.

44. Crowded Place

1. When was the last time you were in a crowded place?
   I was in a crowded market recently, especially because it was a weekend. There were many people shopping and moving around, so it was difficult to walk quickly. I stayed there only as long as I needed to.
2. Do most people like crowded places?
   I don't think everyone likes crowded places. Some people enjoy the lively atmosphere and like being around many people, while others prefer peace and quiet. Personally, I think it depends on the place and the occasion.
3. Do you like crowded places?
   Not really, because I prefer places where I can move around easily and relax. Crowded places can be noisy and sometimes uncomfortable. However, I don't mind them when I am attending an exciting event with friends.
4. Is there a crowded place near where you live?
   Yes, there is a busy market near my home. It becomes especially crowded in the evening and at weekends. People go there to shop, eat and meet others.
5. Is the city where you live crowded?
   Some parts of my city are quite crowded, particularly the main markets and busy roads. However, there are also quieter residential areas where life is more peaceful. So, I would not say that the whole city is crowded.

45. Clothing

1. What colour clothes do you like?
   I like simple colours such as black, blue, white and grey. They are easy to match with other clothes and can be worn on different occasions. I usually choose colours that make me feel comfortable rather than following fashion trends.
2. Do you wear different styles of clothes on weekdays and weekends?
   Yes, there is usually a small difference. On weekdays, I normally wear simple and practical clothes because I may have studies or work. At weekends, I prefer more casual clothes because I want to feel relaxed.
3. Do you spend a lot of time choosing clothes?

No, I don't spend too much time choosing clothes. I usually look for something comfortable and suitable for the occasion. If I already know what I want to wear, I can get ready quite quickly.

4. Do you like wearing T-shirts?
   Yes, I like wearing T-shirts because they are comfortable and easy to wear. They are especially suitable for casual activities and warm weather. I have several simple T-shirts in different colours.
5. Do you prefer to wear comfortable and casual clothes or smart clothes?
   I prefer comfortable and casual clothes for everyday life because I can move around easily in them. However, I wear smart clothes when I have to attend an important event or meeting. I think both styles are useful for different situations.
6. What kind of clothes do you like to wear?
   I like simple, comfortable and good-quality clothes. I don't really follow every new fashion trend because I prefer clothes that I can wear for a long time. Comfort is probably the most important thing for me.

46. Gifts

1. What gift have you received recently?
   I recently received a useful gift from a friend or family member. I liked it because the person had clearly thought about what I would like. For me, a thoughtful gift is more special than an expensive one.
2. Do you think you are good at choosing gifts?
   I think I am reasonably good at choosing gifts. I usually think about the person's interests, age and needs before buying something. I try to choose something that they can actually use or enjoy.
3. What do you consider when choosing a gift?
   I consider the person's interests, personality and needs when choosing a gift. I also think about the occasion and my budget. Most importantly, I want the gift to show that I have made some effort.
4. Have you ever received a great gift?
   Yes, I have received some wonderful gifts from my family and friends. The most special ones were not necessarily the most expensive ones. They were special because they came from people who knew me well.
5. Have you ever sent handmade gifts to others?
   Yes, I have made and given simple handmade gifts, especially when I was at school. I remember making cards and small decorations for family members and friends. They were not perfect, but they were meaningful because I had made them myself.

47. Films and Cinemas

1. Do you prefer to watch films at home or in the cinema?
   I usually prefer watching films at home because it is more comfortable and convenient. I can pause the film, choose my own food and watch it whenever I want. However, I enjoy going to the cinema when there is a big movie that is worth watching on a large screen.
2. How often do you watch films?
   I watch films once or twice a month, although it depends on how busy I am. I usually watch them at weekends when I have more free time. Sometimes I watch a film with my family or friends.

3. Do you think going to the cinema is a good way to spend time with friends?
   Yes, definitely. Going to the cinema is a fun way to relax and spend time with friends. We can watch the movie together and then discuss it over a meal or coffee.
4. Do you often go to the cinema with your friends?
   Not very often, because we are usually busy with our studies or work. However, when an interesting movie is released, we sometimes make a plan to go together. We usually prefer going at the weekend.
5. Did you ever go to the cinema alone as a child?
   No, I didn't go to the cinema alone as a child. I usually went with my parents, siblings or friends because I was too young to go by myself. Going to the cinema was more of a family activity at that time.
6. Did you often watch films when you were a child?
   Yes, I enjoyed watching cartoons and children's movies when I was a child. I usually watched them with my family or friends. It was one of my favourite ways to relax after school.
7. What films do you like?
   I like comedy, action and mystery films because they are entertaining and keep me interested. I also enjoy films with a good story and interesting characters. I don't usually enjoy movies that are too slow.

48. Dream and Ambition

1. Do you think you are an ambitious person?
   Yes, I think I am ambitious to some extent. I have some clear goals for my education and career, and I want to become successful in the future. However, I also want to enjoy my life instead of thinking only about success.
2. What is your dream job?
   My dream job is something that I enjoy and that gives me a good income. I would also like it to offer opportunities to learn new things and grow professionally. I think enjoying your work is just as important as earning money.
3. Are you the kind of person who sticks to dreams?
   Yes, I usually try not to give up easily when I have an important goal. Sometimes things don't go according to plan, but I try to find another way to move forward. I believe patience and regular effort are important for achieving our dreams.
4. What was your childhood dream?
   When I was a child, I wanted to become a doctor. I thought it was an interesting and respected profession, and I liked the idea of helping people. My interests have changed in some ways since then, but I still remember that childhood dream.

49. The City You Live In

1. Would you recommend your city to others?
   Yes, I would recommend my city to other people because it is a comfortable place to live. It has most of the facilities people need for their everyday life, such as schools, shops and hospitals. It is also a familiar place for me because I have spent a lot of time here.
2. What's the weather like where you live?
   The weather changes quite a lot during the year. Summers can be very hot, while winters can be quite cold, and we also get pleasant weather during some months. I personally enjoy the cooler months more than very hot summers.
3. Do you often see your neighbours?

Yes, I see my neighbours quite often because we live close to each other. We usually meet outside or when we are going somewhere. We may not be close friends, but we know each other and are friendly.

4. Is the city friendly to children and old people?
   Yes, I think it is reasonably friendly to both children and older people. There are parks and other public places where they can spend time. However, I think the city could provide even better facilities for them in the future.
5. Are the people friendly in the city?
   Yes, most people are friendly and helpful. People generally greet each other and are willing to help when there is a problem. Of course, like every city, there are some people who are less friendly.
6. Are there people of different ages living in this city?
7. Yes,definitely. There are children, teenagers, young adults, middle-aged people and older people living in the city. I think having people of different ages makes a city more interesting.
8. Is this city your permanent residence?
   Yes, it is my permanent home at the moment. I have lived here for a long time and I am quite familiar with the area. My family, friends and many important parts of my life are connected to this city.
9. Are there big changes in this city?
   Yes, the city is developing gradually and there have been several changes. New roads, shops, buildings and other facilities are being added. Some of these changes make life easier, although development can also make certain areas more crowded.
10. How long have you lived in this city?
    I have lived in this city for many years. Because of this, I know the area quite well and have seen many changes over time. I have also made many good memories here.
11. Do you like this city? Why?
    Yes, I like this city because it is familiar and convenient for me. My family and friends are here, which makes the city feel like home. I also like the fact that most things I need are easily available.
12. What city do you live in?
    I live in [city name]. It is a fairly comfortable city with shops, schools, hospitals and other useful facilities. I have lived here for a long time, so I feel quite connected to the place.

50. Outer Space and Stars

1. Do you want to go into outer space in the future?
   Yes, I would love to go into outer space if it became possible and safe for ordinary people. It would be an amazing experience to see the Earth from space. However, I think such travel would probably be very expensive.
2. Do you want to know more about outer space?
   Yes, I would like to know more about outer space because it is still full of mysteries. I find planets, stars and other parts of the universe very interesting. There are so many things that scientists are still trying to understand.
3. Do you like science fiction movies? Why?
   Yes, I enjoy some science fiction movies because they show unusual ideas about the future. I like stories about space, advanced technology and other planets. They are entertaining and also make me think about what might be possible one day.

4. Have you ever learnt about outer space and stars?
   Yes, I learnt about outer space and stars at school. We studied planets, the solar system and some basic information about stars. I found these topics interesting because there is so much that we don't know about the universe.

51. Art

1. Do you like modern art or traditional art?
   I prefer traditional art because I find it easier to understand and appreciate. I like the detailed work and the connection with culture and history. However, I can also enjoy modern art when I understand the idea behind it.
2. Do you want to be an artist?
   No, I don't think I would like to be an artist as a profession. I enjoy looking at art, but I don't think I have enough talent or patience to create it professionally. I would rather enjoy art as a hobby.
3. Do you like visiting art galleries?
   Yes, I sometimes enjoy visiting art galleries, especially when I am travelling. I like looking at different paintings and learning a little about the artists. It can be a peaceful and interesting way to spend a few hours.
4. Do you like art?
   Yes, I like art because it is a creative way to express feelings and ideas. I especially enjoy paintings and traditional forms of art. I think art also helps us understand different cultures and ways of thinking.

52. Morning Time

1. Do you like getting up early in the morning?
   Yes, I like getting up early when I have had a good night's sleep. The morning is usually quiet and peaceful, so I can start my day without too many distractions. However, I don't enjoy getting up early when I am tired.
2. What do you usually do in the morning?
   I usually get up, brush my teeth and freshen up first. Then I have breakfast and get ready for my studies or work. Before starting my day, I may also check my phone for important messages.
3. What did you do in the morning when you were little? Why?
   When I was little, I usually got ready for school after getting up. I had breakfast and then went to school with my parents or other family members. My mornings were quite simple because I did not have many responsibilities.
4. Are there any differences between what you do in the morning now and what you did in the past?
   Yes, there are several differences. When I was a child, my parents looked after many things, but now I have to manage my own schedule. My mornings are therefore a little busier and more organised than before.
5. Do you spend your mornings doing the same things on both weekends and weekdays? Why?
   No, my morning routine is different on weekends and weekdays. On weekdays, I usually get up earlier because I have work or studies, while at weekends I can sleep a little longer. I also have more time to enjoy a relaxed breakfast on weekends.

53. Singing

1. Have you ever taken a singing class?
   No, I have never taken a formal singing class. I have always enjoyed listening to songs and sometimes singing along with them. I think professional training would be interesting, but I have never seriously considered it.
2. Do you like listening to others singing?
   Yes, I enjoy listening to people who have a good voice. I especially like live singing because it feels more natural and emotional. Sometimes I also watch singing competitions on television or online.
3. Do you think singing can bring happiness to people?
   Yes, definitely. Singing can improve our mood and help us relax, especially when we are feeling stressed. It can also bring people together when they sing in a group or at a celebration.
4. Who do you want to sing for?
   I would feel most comfortable singing for my family and close friends. I wouldn't feel very confident singing in front of a large audience. With people I know well, I could simply sing for fun without worrying about making mistakes.
5. Have you ever learnt how to sing?
   No, I have never learnt singing professionally. I have picked up a few songs simply by listening to them repeatedly. I can sing for fun, but I would not call myself a trained singer.
6. Do you like singing? Why?
   Yes, I like singing, although I am not a professional singer. I sometimes sing when I am alone or when I am with close friends because it helps me relax. I think you don't have to be a great singer to enjoy singing.

54. Evening Time

1. What do you hate doing in the evening?
   I don't like doing too much homework or studying late in the evening. After a busy day, I prefer to relax and spend some time with my family. I also feel more tired if I study for a long time at night.
2. Do you like the morning or evening?
   I prefer the evening because I have usually finished most of my work by then. I can relax, have dinner and spend some time with my family. I also enjoy talking to my friends in the evening.
3. What do you usually do in the evening?
   I usually finish my work or studies and then have dinner with my family. After that, I watch something on my phone or television and relax for a while. If I have time, I also talk to my friends.
4. What did you do in the evening when you were little? Why?
   When I was little, I usually played with my friends or watched television in the evening. I had more free time because I did not have many responsibilities. I especially enjoyed playing outdoor games before it became dark.
5. Are there any differences between what you do in the evening now and what you did in the past?

Yes, there is quite a big difference between my routine now and in the past. When I was a child, I mostly played with friends, but now I spend more time studying or working. I also spend more time using my phone than I did before.

6. Do you spend your evenings doing the same things on both weekends and weekdays? Why?
   No, my evenings are quite different on weekends and weekdays. On weekdays, I am usually busy with my studies or work, while at weekends I have more time to relax. I may go out with friends or watch a movie on a weekend evening.

   Yes, comedy shows are quite popular in India. People enjoy them because they help them relax and forget about their daily problems. Many families watch comedy programs together.
2. Have you ever watched a live show?
   Yes, I have watched a live show before. It was quite enjoyable because the performers interacted with the audience. The atmosphere was much more exciting than watching a show on television.
3. Do you like to watch comedies?
   Yes, I enjoy watching comedies because they make me laugh and help me relax. I usually watch them when I have had a busy day. I prefer simple and clean humour that everyone can enjoy.
4. Do your friends like to tell jokes?
   Yes, some of my friends are very good at telling jokes. They often tell funny stories when we are together and make everyone laugh. I think jokes make conversations more enjoyable.

5. Are you good at telling jokes?
   I am not particularly good at telling jokes, but I sometimes make my friends laugh. I usually prefer sharing funny experiences rather than telling prepared jokes. My friends often say that my expressions are funnier than my jokes.

61. History

1. Did you like history when you were young?
   Yes, I liked history when I was young, especially when the teacher told us interesting stories. I enjoyed learning about important people and events from the past. However, some parts were difficult because there were many dates to remember.
2. When was the last time you read about history?
   I read something about history recently while using the internet. I was interested in learning about an old building and its background. I find history more interesting when it is connected to real places.
3. Do you like history?
   Yes, I like history because it helps us understand how people lived in the past. It also explains how countries and societies have changed over time. I think it is an interesting subject when it is taught through stories.
4. Have you ever been to historical museums?
   Yes, I have visited a few historical museums. I enjoyed seeing old objects and learning about the people who used them. Visiting a museum makes history feel more real than simply reading about it in a book.

62. Morning Routines

1. Do you like to get up early in the morning?
   Yes, I like getting up early when I have slept well the previous night. The morning is usually quiet, so I can start my day peacefully. However, I don't enjoy getting up early when I am tired.
2. What is your morning routine?
   I usually get up, brush my teeth and freshen up first. Then I have breakfast and get ready for my studies or work. Before starting my day, I also check my phone for any important messages.
3. Is breakfast important?
   Yes, I think breakfast is important because it gives us energy to start the day. I usually try to have something simple but filling in the morning. I feel more active when I have had a proper breakfast.
4. What do you do right after getting up in the morning?
   The first thing I usually do is freshen up and drink some water. After that, I get ready and have breakfast. Then I start preparing for my studies or other activities.

63. Work or Studies

1. What subjects are you studying?
   I am studying [subject name] at the moment. I chose this subject because I find it interesting and I think it will be useful for my future. I am trying to understand the subject well rather than simply memorising everything.
2. Do you like your subject?

Yes, I like my subject because I find many parts of it interesting. Some topics are difficult, but I enjoy learning when I understand them properly. I also believe this subject can help me build a good career.

3. Why did you choose to study that subject?
   I chose this subject because I was interested in it from the beginning. I also felt that it would give me good opportunities in the future. My family and teachers also encouraged me to choose it.
4. Do you think that your subject is popular in your country?
   Yes, I think it is quite popular among students in my country. Many young people choose it because they believe it can lead to good career opportunities. There is also a lot of competition in this field.
5. Do you have any plans for your studies in the next five years?
   Yes, I want to complete my studies successfully and improve my knowledge. I would also like to gain some practical experience during this time. My main aim is to prepare myself for a good career.
6. What are the benefits of being your age?
   I think one of the biggest benefits is that I have the energy to learn new things and try different activities. I also have many opportunities to make decisions about my future. At the same time, I am learning how to become more independent.
7. Do you want to change your major?
   No, I don't think I want to change my major at the moment. I have already spent a lot of time learning about it and I am comfortable with my choice. I would rather improve my skills in this field.
8. Do you prefer to study in the mornings or in the afternoons?
   I prefer studying in the morning because I usually feel fresh and can concentrate better. There are fewer distractions at that time as well. However, I sometimes study in the afternoon when I have a busy morning.
9. How much time do you spend on your studies each week?
   I spend several hours every day on my studies, depending on my schedule. I usually study more when I have exams or assignments to complete. Apart from regular classes, I also spend time revising at home.
10. Are you looking forward to working?
    Yes, I am looking forward to working because I want to become independent. I would like to use the knowledge I have gained during my studies in a real job. I also want to gain experience and learn new skills.
11. What technology do you use when you study?
    I mainly use my laptop and mobile phone when I study. I use them to search for information, attend online classes and make notes. Educational websites and videos are also very useful for me.
12. What changes would you like to see in your school?
    I would like to see more practical activities and modern facilities in my school. Students can learn better when they get a chance to practise what they study in books. I would also like to see more activities related to communication and technology.
13. What work do you do?
    I work as a [job]. My main responsibilities include [simple responsibility]. I enjoy my work because it gives me a chance to learn new things and interact with different people.
14. Why did you choose to do that type of work or that job?

I chose this type of work because I was interested in it and thought it would suit my skills. I also wanted a job that would give me opportunities to learn and grow. So far, I feel that I made a good decision.

15. Do you like your job?
    Yes, I like my job because it keeps me busy and gives me a sense of achievement. I also enjoy meeting different people and learning from my experiences. Of course, some days are stressful, but overall I am happy with my work.
16. What requirements did you need to meet to get your current job?
    I needed the right educational qualifications and some basic skills for this job. I also had to attend an interview and show that I was suitable for the position. After getting the job, I learnt many things through experience.
17. Do you have any plans for your work in the next five years?
    Yes, I would like to become more experienced and improve my professional skills. I also hope to take on more responsibilities in the future. My main aim is to have a stable and successful career.
18. Do you want to change to another job?
    At the moment, I don't have any plans to change my job. I am comfortable with my current work and I still have many things to learn. However, I may consider a change if I find a better opportunity in the future.
19. Do you miss being a student?
    Yes, sometimes I miss being a student because life was simpler at that time. I had more opportunities to spend time with my friends and take part in different activities. However, I also enjoy having more independence now.
20. What technology do you use at work?
    I use a computer and mobile phone regularly at work. Depending on my job, I may also use different software or online tools. Technology helps me complete many tasks more quickly and efficiently.
21. Who helps you the most? And how?
    My family helps me the most because they always support and encourage me. Whenever I have a problem, I can talk to them and ask for advice. Their support gives me confidence and helps me make better decisions.

64. Watch

Do you wear a watch?
No, I don't wear a watch. I've never been comfortable with the feeling of having something on my wrist. Besides, since I always have my mobile phone on me, I don't really feel the need for one.

Have you ever received a watch as a gift?
Yes, my grandpa once gave me a watch as a gift. I accepted it, but then gave it to my dad because, as I mentioned earlier, I don't wear them.

Why do some people wear expensive watches?
I can think of two main reasons. First, some wear them to show off their wealth and status. Second, a classy, expensive watch adds to a person's overall attire. I don't wear watches myself, but I can't deny that a good-looking one enhances a person's appearance.

Do you think it is important to wear a watch? Why?
No, I don't think it's important. It has its advantages, but I wouldn't consider it essential.

65. Cars

Do you think car colours are important?
It matters to a certain extent; for example, colours like white get dirty very easily, while an uncommon colour makes locating the car in a huge parking lot much easier. However, I don't think it is overly important.

Did you enjoy traveling by car when you were a kid?
Yes, I absolutely loved it, largely because I enjoyed spending time with my parents. We used to do many fun things in the car, like playing Taboo, Antakshari, and so on.

What types of cars do you like?
I don't have a specific preference, but I do favour SUVs because they offer more legroom. As a tall person, I tend to feel cramped in sedans or smaller cars.

Do you prefer to be a driver or a passenger?
Always a passenger, as I like doing other things while travelling. Moreover, it can be a nightmare to drive on Indian roads due to the heavy traffic and blatant disregard for traffic rules.

What do you usually do when there is a traffic jam?
It depends on the day. Sometimes I talk on the phone with a friend or relative. If I have my laptop with me, I finish up pending work; otherwise, I just listen to music on the radio.

---

66. Websites

What kinds of websites do you often visit?
There are three main websites I frequently visit: Google for searching, YouTube for entertainment, and Google Gemini for advice and suggestions. Oh, I also use Amazon for shopping.

What is your favourite website?
I don't have a favourite website as such; I just use them as needed. However, if I had to pick one, it would be Google.

Are there any changes to the websites you often visit?
Yes, recently my use of Google Gemini and ChatGPT has increased considerably. I use these platforms for advice, drafting documents, and brainstorming ideas. Besides that, there haven't been any significant changes in my browsing habits.

What kinds of websites are popular in your country?
I think the popular ones are similar to what I use. Apps like Snapchat and Instagram are incredibly popular, but as for actual websites, I believe the ones I mentioned earlier—Amazon, Google, YouTube, and ChatGPT—dominate.

67. Mirrors

Do you like looking at yourself in the mirror? How often? I look in the mirror when getting ready in the morning or for an event, but I wouldn't say I actively enjoy looking at myself. Perhaps if I were more handsome, my answer would be different!

Have you ever bought mirrors? No, not that I recall. My parents must have bought some when they built our house, but I have never purchased one personally.

Do you usually take a mirror with you? No, I never feel the need. My car has a mirror I can use in an emergency, or I can just turn on my phone's front camera.
Would you use mirrors to decorate your room? I've never really thought about it, but I'm not opposed to the idea. If it would enhance the appearance of my room, I don't see why not.

68. Parks

Did you like going to parks as a child?
Yes, I loved it. I usually went there to play badminton or cricket with my friends.

Do you still like going to parks now?
I don't dislike it, but I hardly find the time to visit them nowadays.

Would you like to see more parks in your city?
Yes. There is actually no park in my neighbourhood. I would love to take my dogs to a park for a walk, but I have to walk them on the road because there aren't any nearby.

Are there any parks you want to go to in the future?
If a special park opens, I would definitely love to visit. However, I can't think of a specific one I am dying to go to right now.

69. Shopping

How often do you go shopping?
I shop from time to time, but I'm not a frequent shopper. I usually go grocery shopping once or twice a month, and clothes shopping about three or four times a year.

Do you prefer online shopping or in-store shopping?
I generally prefer in-store shopping. I tend to only purchase items online if they aren't easily available in local supermarkets or malls.

Have you ever returned anything you bought online?
Yes, it has happened two or three times. Once, there was a price mismatch. Another time, I received a used product. Lastly, I once ordered a heater and the heating rod inside was broken.

Do you like shopping?
I don't hate it, but I don't particularly enjoy it either. I basically only do it when I actually need something.

70. Tidiness

Do you like to keep things tidy?
Yes, absolutely. It is very hard for me to work in a cluttered environment.

Did you use to keep your room tidy as a child?
Yes, I tried my best, but my mother also played a big role in that. She made the bed after I left for school and ensured the floors were cleaned every day by the maid.

71. Music

Do you prefer sad or happy music?
I definitely like happy, upbeat music. I find that it sets a positive tone for the day, especially when I'm driving or working.

Does happy music make you feel more excited?
Absolutely. An energetic track can instantly lift my mood and give me a burst of energy, particularly if I'm feeling a bit sluggish in the afternoon.

72. Teacher

Do you have a favourite teacher?
Yes, I can never forget my high school English teacher, Mrs Kak. She had a unique way of making the subject engaging rather than just a chore to memorize.

In what way has your favourite teacher helped you?
She instilled a lot of confidence in me. Instead of just pointing out mistakes, she guided me on how to structure my thoughts effectively, which has been incredibly useful in my career.

Are you still in touch with your primary school teachers?
Unfortunately, no. It's been quite a long time, and people move around, so I've naturally lost touch with them over the years.

Do you have a teacher from your past that you still remember?
Definitely. I clearly remember my math teacher from middle school. He was quite strict but incredibly fair, and he built a strong foundation that I still rely on today.

Do you want to be a teacher in the future?
I am not sure, I want to be a teacher. I think it requires a lot of patience and I am not sure I possess that much patience.

73. Social Media

Have you ever posted anything on social media?
Yes, occasionally. I tend to share updates about major life events or perhaps some travel photos, but I wouldn't call myself a heavy poster.

When did you start using social media?
I probably started back in high school when platforms like Instagram were just becoming mainstream.

Do you think you spend too much time on social media?
Sometimes, yes. It's very easy to start mindlessly scrolling through Instagram or YouTube shorts, and before you know it, an hour has passed.

Do your friends use social media?
Yes, almost all of them do. In fact, it's our primary way of staying connected or sharing anything new in our life.

What do people often do on social media?
I think the majority of people use it to consume short-form entertainment, catch up on news, and share personal milestones with their friends and family.

74. Clothing

What kind of clothes do you like to wear?
I usually opt for t-shirts and jeans. However, I have recently started wearing traditional Indian dresses as well like kurtas.

Do you prefer to wear comfortable and casual clothes or smart clothes?
I prefer comfortable and casual clothes. I am not really good at dressing in smart clothes.

Do you like wearing T-shirts?
Yes, they are the main part of my wardrobe. They are easy to pair with almost anything.

Do you spend a lot of time choosing clothes?
Not really. I tend to stick to neutral colours and classic fits, so mixing and matching is pretty effortless in the morning.

75. Dream and Ambition

What was your childhood dream?
When I was very young, I think I wanted to be a pilot. The idea of flying around the world and visiting different countries seemed incredibly glamorous to me.

Are you the kind of person who sticks to dreams?
I haven't stuck to my dream of becoming a pilot, but I have stuck to certain other dreams like learning chess and piano.

What is your dream job?
My long term dream is to open small boutique café in a secluded tourist town. I hope to achieve that one day.

Do you think you are an ambitious person?
I am ambitious, but I would also prioritise my family over my ambitions any day.

76. Outer Space and Stars

Have you ever learnt about outer space and stars?
Mostly just the basics back in school. We covered the solar system and introductory astronomy, but I haven't delved into it deeply after that.

Do you like science fiction movies? Why?
Yes, I enjoy them. They offer a great escape from reality and usually have incredible visual effects that make futuristic concepts feel believable.

makkarIELTS

Do you want to know more about outer space?
It's not a top priority for me, but I do find documentaries about solar systems and stars very engaging.

Do you want to go into outer space in the future?
Yes, but I wouldn't want to be a guinea pig and be one of the first ones to risk it. After space travel becomes mainstream and well-established certainly.

77. Singing

Do you like singing? Why?
I enjoy humming along to songs in the car, but I wouldn't say I sing properly. It's just a fun way to pass the time and relieve stress.

Have you ever learnt how to sing?
No, I've never taken any formal vocal training or singing lessons.

Who do you want to sing for?
Just myself, really! I know I don't have a great singing voice, so I prefer to spare others from listening to my out of tune voice.

Do you think singing can bring happiness to people?
Absolutely. Music has a profound impact on human emotions, and singing can be incredibly uplifting and therapeutic.

78. Science

Do you like science?
Yes, I appreciate it. It explains how the world around us works, from the technology in our phones to the basic principles of agriculture.

When did you start to learn about science?
Like most people, my formal introduction to science started in primary school with basic environmental studies.

Which science subject is interesting to you?
I find biology quite interesting, especially human anatomy and understanding how different li festyle choices impact our long-term health.

What kinds of interesting things have you done with science?
Recently, I've been experimenting with urban gardening at home and applying new science c oncepts in composting.

Do you like watching science TV programs?
Occasionally. I prefer well-produced documentaries that explain complex concepts in an easy manner.

Do Indian people often visit science museums?
It's fairly common for school trips to visit science museums, like the Science City in Punjab. I also went there on a school trip in 10th standard.

79. Headphones

What type of headphones do you use?
I use wireless earbuds. They are incredibly convenient and easy to carry around in my pocket without having to deal with tangled wires.

When would you use headphones?
I usually put them on when I'm traveling, taking work calls in a noisy environment, or sometimes when I have downtime playing on my PS5.

In what conditions would you not use headphones?
I don't wear them when I am alone at home or when I am driving because I want to be really aware of my surroundings.

Do you use headphones?
Yes, almost every day. They are an essential piece of tech in my daily routine for both work and entertainment.

80. Buildings

Q: Are there tall buildings near your home?
Yes, there are a few tall apartments near my home, and I pass them every day on my way to work.

Q: Do you take photos of buildings?
Not really, I usually take photos of people or food, unless a building has a unique design.

Q: Is there a building that you would like to visit?
Yes, I'd love to visit the Burj Khalifa one day because I want to see the view from the top.

Q: Do you want to live in a tall building?
I think yes, because it feels quieter and you get a nice view of the city.

81. Scenery

Q: Do you look out the window at the scenery when travelling by bus or car?
Yes, I often look outside because it relaxes me, especially during long drives.

Q: Do you prefer the mountains or the sea?
I prefer the sea because the sound of waves makes me feel calm.

Q: Do you like to take scenery pictures?
Yes, when I travel I take photos of nature so I can remember the moment later.

Q: What are the most beautiful sights you have seen while travelling?
The most beautiful sight for me was a sunset at a beach in Goa because the sky was full of colors.

makkarIELTS

82. Reading

Q: Do you like reading?
Yes, I like reading in my free time because it helps me switch off from screens.

Q: Do you prefer to read on paper or on a screen?
I prefer reading on paper because it feels easier on my eyes.

Q: When do you need to read carefully, and when not?
I read carefully when it's something important like instructions, but I skim when it's just news or social media.

Q: Do you prefer scanning or detailed reading?
Most of the time I scan for key information, but I read in detail when I'm learning something new.

83. Sports Team

Q: Have you ever been part of a sports team?
Yes, I played cricket for my school team, and it was fun because we practised together after classes.

Q: Are team sports popular in your culture?
Yes, team sports like cricket and football are very popular, and people talk about matches almost every day.

Q: Do you like watching team games? Why?
Yes, I enjoy watching team games because they feel exciting and unpredictable.

Q: What are the differences between team sports and individual sports?
Team sports need cooperation between players, while individual sports depend mainly on one person's performance.

84. Typing

Do you prefer typing or handwriting?
I prefer typing to writing by hand because I type faster. Also, I can easily edit what I type, which makes it more convenient. Moreover, I have bad handwriting, so people sometimes find it difficult to understand.

Do you type on a desktop or laptop keyboard every day?
I usually type on a laptop. I wouldn't say every day, but I do type assignments or write emails at least two or three times a week.

When did you learn how to type on a keyboard?
I never formally learned typing. I just started doing it on my own, and gradually I became faster.

How did you improve your typing?

makkarIELTS

As I mentioned, it improved naturally over time. Playing computer games also helped a lot because my mind got used to the location of the keys.

85. Food

What is your favourite food?
It changes from time to time. Right now, I love Indo-Chinese food like hakka noodles, Manchurian, chilli cheese, and spring rolls.

What kind of food did you like when you were young?
When I was younger, I mainly liked pizzas and burgers. I still enjoy them occasionally, but I wouldn't say they are my favourites now.

Has your favourite food changed since you were a child?
Yes, it has. As I mentioned earlier, I enjoyed pizzas and burgers when I was younger. Now, I prefer Indo-Chinese cuisine. There was also a time when I loved South Indian food like dosa, idli, and vada. I used to eat dosa almost every day.

Do you eat different foods at different times of the year?
No, my staple diet remains almost the same. It usually includes lentils and vegetables with roti. However, the type of vegetables changes according to the season. For example, in winter, I eat a lot of spinach and carrots.

86. Hobbies

Do you have any hobbies?
Yes, I do. I enjoy playing sports like table tennis and badminton. Apart from that, I like playing video games and reading fantasy novels.

Did you have any hobbies when you were a child?
Yes, I had similar hobbies as a child. However, I played cricket more than table tennis and badminton at that time.

Do you have a hobby that you've had since childhood?
Yes, I still have the same hobbies that I had during my childhood.

Do you have the same hobbies as your family members?
No, not really. My parents and my sister are strictly against video games. Also, they don't play outdoor sports like I do.

87. Gifts

What gift have you received recently?

Yes, I am very absent-minded and often lose things. I think two things that I lost a lot are my car keys and eyeglasses. I mostly lose them at home and find them after looking for them everywhere.

What can we do to avoid losing things?
We can avoid losing things at home by being more organized and having a designated spot for all our personal belongings. For example, a tray or hooks for keys. When we are outside, we should carry a bag or backpack and keep all our personal belongings in there to avoid losing them.

Why do some people tend to lose things more often than others?
I think one reason can be that some people are more forgetful and get easily distracted. People who are not organized also tend to lose things more often.

What will you do if you find something lost by others?
It depends on the situation and where I found the item.
First, I will look around and see if I can find the owner. If that's not possible I will hand it to someone who can help like the police. If I find something in my neighborhood, I will post about it on my neighborhood social media page.

204. Colors

What is your favorite color?
My favorite color is green, especially sage green because I find it very calming and relaxing. It reminds me of nature and greenery.

Do you usually wear clothes in your favorite color?
No, I like to wear black clothes. They look very elegant, and sophisticated and go with everything.

Are there any colors that have a special meaning in your country?

Saffron is considered sacred in India and is a symbol of purity. Priests wear saffron-colored clothes, and it is a big part of all religious ceremonies. It is also on the Indian flag.

Do you think different types of people like different colors?
Yes, I think people have different color preferences. I think color preferences vary by gender, culture, and age. Some people prefer bright and warm colors and others prefer cooler colors.

205. Memory

Why do some people have a better memory while others just don't
One reason can be genetics and some people are just born with better memory. But at the same, I think memory is like a muscle and can be trained. People can use many techniques to train their memories to be better.

Why do more people rely on cell phones to remember things?
People are multitasking and life has become busy. Smartphones provide an easy way to save to-do lists, important dates, meetings, events, etc. so people don't bother to remember things on their own. Even simple directions don't have to be memorized because all phones have a map app.

Are you good at memorizing things?
I am not good at memorizing things. I save everything on my cellphone. I even save my grocery list on the phone so I don't forget what to buy when I am at the store.

Have you ever forgotten something important?
Yes, I missed my doctor's appointment last month. I forgot to set a reminder on my phone and now have to wait another month before I can see my doctor.

206. Feeling bored

Do you often feel bored?
Yes, I get bored sometimes, especially when I am at work doing the same thing every day.

When would you feel bored?
I feel bored in long work meetings which are most of the time unnecessary. Sometimes, I spend more time in meetings than doing the actual job.

What do you do when you feel bored?
When I feel bored I like to read books, watch a movie or TV series on the TV, and talk to my friends and family.

Do you think childhood is boring or adulthood is boring?
I think adulthood is boring because as adults we have so many responsibilities. We get busy with our work lives and life becomes boring and monotonous. Childhood is the time we can play with friends and enjoy life without any worries.

2. What kind of famous people do you often see in the news?
I often see filmstarts, politicians and sportsperson in the news.

3. Do you pay attention to famous people in the news?
I do not like to watch news a lot so I do not pay attention to what is happening in the life of celebrities.

4. Do you believe that the news about famous people in the media is true?
Since there is lot of fake news these days, I think it it is difficult to trust if the news about celebrities is authentic or not.

5. Would you like to be a famous person in the news?
No, I would not like to be a famous person because I do not like public attention. Morever I feel that famous people are judged for every single thing they do, so I don't want that happening to me.

210. Advertisement

Is there an advertisement that made an impression on you when you were a child
Yes, I remember a hair shampoo ad and the straight black knee-length hair of the model. I always wanted hair like hers and would tell my parents to get Sunsilk pink color shampoo for me.

Do you see a lot of advertising on trains or other transport
Yes, I see a lot of advertising on trains, buses, and autos. I think it is an effective way to reach a big and wide audience. I see ads for household products, cosmetics, restaurants, coaching centers, cell phones, etc.

Do you like advertisements?
I don't like watching too many advertisements while I am watching TV. The ads are too long and get very repetitive.

What kind of advertising do you like?
I like meaningful ads that go beyond just promoting the brand and address important social issues. For example, the soap brand Dove's ad shows how women are judged for their weight, complexion, height, hair, etc.

211. Running

Do you go running a lot?
Yes, I like to go running. It is my preferred form of exercise. At the end of the day, if I go running, it relieves me of all the stress, and I can forget all my troubles for some time. Running keeps me mentally and physically fit.

Where do you usually go running?
I prefer to run outside than running on a treadmill in a gym as I like to enjoy the scenery and fresh air. I usually go to the park near my house and do 10-15 laps around the park. Many people are walking and running there, and seeing them keeps me motivated.

When was the last time you went running?
I go running 4-5 days a week. The last I went running was the day before yesterday.

What do you think of running as a sport?
Running is an excellent sport. It is not a traditional team sport like soccer, cricket, hockey, etc. People compete in many running events like track and field, long-distance running, marathons, sprints, and relay runs. It requires a lot of hard work, discipline, and endurance and is very competitive.

Yes, I listened to music as a child. Mostly I listened to film music.

14. What kinds of music are (most) popular in India?
India is a diverse country. All kinds of music are popular. Some like folk music, some like classical, some like sufi music, some like film music and some like fusion music, which is a blend of Indian classical and western music. A.R.Rehman plays fusion music.

15. Which singer musician you would like to see in person?
I'd like to meet AR Rehman. I think he is one of the best musicians of our time.

236. Technology

1 What technology do you often use, computers or cellphones?
I use a computer rather than a cellphone for most purposes. I think the small screen of the cellphones stresses my eyes.

2 What electronic devices have you bought lately?
Recently, my parents bought a smart TV for me. I got really good grades in 12th standard and therefore my parents got me the TV. I use it to stream TV series and movies.

3 Is there any technology you want to buy?
Yes, I want to buy an iPhone. A lot of friends tell me that once I use it, I will never be able to use the other phones. I really want to prove them wrong.

4 Is technology important in your life?
Yes, technology is a big part of my life. I don't think I can survive without technology. Every part of life from waking up to sleeping is connected to technology. For example, I use technology for waking up, heating water, cooking, etc.

5 Is there any technology you don't like?
I don't know. There are times when I hate technology for example when my friends become glued to their mobile screens instead of spending time with us. However, there is no technology I hate as such. There are technologies I find less useful than others and there are others I find more useful.

6 What do you think are the trends in technology today compared to when you were young?
I think the main trend is that technology is changing at a very rapid pace. Earlier, it used to take time for new technologies but nowadays, every year there is a new update.

237. Social Media

1 Do you or your friends like using social media?
Personally, I don't use social media a lot, but my friends use it a lot. My friends are particularly crazy about Instagram and Facebook.

2 Do you think you or your friends use too much social media?
Again, I don't but my friends do spend a lot of time on social media. I have heard of my friends spending more than 2-3 hours on these websites every day and I find it absurd.

3 Do you want to work in social media? Why?

Personally, I wouldn't. I am still old-fashioned in this regard. I prefer spending time with my friends face to face rather than online.

4 What's the most popular social media in India? Why?
I think it keeps on changing with time. When I was young, there were websites like Orkut which were really popular, then it was taken over by Facebook and today is the era of Instagram and Snapchat. I am not sure why, but it is about the ease of access to these latest apps that make them popular.

238. Snacks

1 What snacks do you like to eat?
I love to eat both savoury and sweet snacks. My favourite is Lays Masala Magic chips. I think probably eat too much of them to be honest.

2 Did you often eat snacks when you were young?
No, my parents were really strict with me eating snacks when I was young. They made sure I only ate healthy home-cooked meals.

3 When do you usually eat snacks now?
I normally eat snacks in the evening along with tea. It is the time, we all family members sit together and enjoy tea and snacks. I also eat snacks at night after dinner when I am watching movies.

4 Do you think it is healthy for you to eat snacks?
No, it is not very healthy to eat too much of snacks. And that is the problem with snacks, they are so delicious that we tend to overeat. Nowadays, I have started eating baked chips to avoid this.

239. Puzzles

1 Did you do puzzles in your childhood?
Yes, I loved doing puzzles in my childhood. I used to solve a lot of jigsaw puzzles when I was young.

2 When do you do puzzles, during your trip or when you feel bored?
I think nowadays I do puzzles when I am travelling or when my younger cousins are visiting me. It is really fun to do puzzles with them.

3 Do you like doing word puzzles or number puzzles? Which is more difficult for you?
I like doing both word puzzles like Crossword puzzles and games like worldle and number puzzles like Sudoku. However, my English is weaker than my Math and so the word puzzles are much more difficult for me. Also, there is a cultural element to word puzzles sometimes and that makes it difficult for me to solve them.

4 Do you think it is good for old people to do puzzles?
I think puzzles are one of the best ways to keep the mind sharp and active. So, I think it is a great idea for old people to solve puzzles.

240. Public transportation

1. What kind of public transportation do you usually take?
If I am travelling locally, I normally travel by bus, but if I am travelling farther away, I travel by railways or air.

2 When do you usually take public transportation, in your everyday life, or when you are travelling?
When I was young, I used to travel by bus every day because of my studies. However, nowadays, I only use public transportation when I am especially visiting someplace. For example, after every one or two months, I visit Golden Temple in Amritsar and for that I travel by bus.

3 Do most people prefer public transportation in your country?
I think public transportation is the main mode of travel for most people in India. However, as people are becoming richer, many people have started travelling by car.

4 Did you take public transportation when you were a kid?
Yes, as I said before, in my childhood, I used to travel by bus daily because of my studies.

5 Will there be more people taking public transportation in the future?
On the contrary, I think the use of public transportation will decrease further as people are becoming richer and they care more about comfort than cost. However, if the government takes some steps in this regard, there can be a change.

241. High school

1. Are you still in contact with your friends from high school?

Yes, I am in contact with my friends from high school. Many of them are now in different cities and countries. But we stay in touch through social networking apps and we also have reunions sometimes.

2. What is your high school like?

Give a brief description of your school – describe building(s), garden, playground and other facilities)

3. What happened on the first day of high school?

I don't remember exactly what happened. However, I do remember that all my classmates and I were feeling like we have entered an important stage in our lives and that we are grown ups now.

4. Did your parents choose your secondary school (= high school) for you?

Yes, my parents chose my secondary school. My high school and primary school were the same.

5. What subjects did you study in secondary school (= high school)?

I studied many subjects in secondary school like, social sciences, mathematics, the Hindi and English languages, science subjects like biology, chemistry, physics and geography, art and crafts, etc.

6. What was your favourite subject (= class) in secondary school? (= high school)

My favourite subject in secondary school was science. I liked science subjects because I learned about the basic principles of the way things work all around us.

7. And which class (= subject) did you like the least? (Why?)

There wasn't any subject I liked the least. I liked all the subjects in secondary school.

8. Which secondary school subject do you think is most useful for people in adult life?

I think all the subjects that we study in secondary school are useful for people in adult life. A strong foundation is built in primary and high school years that helps us throughout our life.

9. What part of your secondary school education did you enjoy most? OR Did (do) you like your secondary school life?

I enjoyed my secondary school education a lot. There is no one part that I liked more than the other. I liked the fact that our school had an equal focus on extra curricular and physical activities, and not just on the academics.

10. How do you feel about your high school (secondary school)?

I think that high school years were the wonder years and I miss those times.

11. Why did you choose to attend (= to go to) that particular school?

My parents chose my school for me. I think I was too young to decide on my own and my parents chose the best school for my siblings and me.

12. Which class did (do) you enjoy the most? (Why?)

I enjoyed all the school years a lot. However, there was a lot of excitement and a feeling of pride when I got promoted from the primary wing of the school to the high school wing

242. Emails

1. Do you often write (or, send) emails?

No, I don't often write/send emails. I sometimes write official emails, like for sending in a job application through email and sometimes I write to my friends.

2. What do you write about?

I sometimes I write official emails, like sending a job application. When I write to my friends or relatives, it is informal and I ask about their health and wellbeing and tell them about what's going on in my life.

3. Do you think emails are useful?

Yes, I think that emails are very useful. Emails are convenient, timesaving, cost-effective and easy to send and receive. These days, emails are a good way to communicate for both formal and informal purposes.

4. What kinds of emails do you send and receive?

I mostly receive promotional or spam emails advertising various shopping websites or products. I sometimes receive emails from my friends who are living in another country and at times I receive official communication, e.g. emails from the bank or the Income Tax department.

5. Do you think it is a good thing that some companies send out letters/spam emails for the purpose of advertising?

I think sending spam emails for the purpose of advertising is a good marketing strategy and promotes a product or a service. However, it sometimes becomes a nuisance when it is sent repeatedly.

6. How often do you write letters?

I don't write handwritten letters any more. If I need to, I send an email. All official and personal letters can be sent through emails now.

7. What do you write about?

It depends whom I am writing to. When I'm writing to my friends and relatives, it's usually about what's happening in my life and to ask about their wellbeing. When writing an official letter, it is for a specific purpose and it is formal.

8. On what occasions do you write letters?

I write letters very rarely and there are no specific occasions when I write them.

9. Do you like writing letters to your relatives and friends? (why/why not?)

Yes, I like writing to my relatives and friends, but I write emails or messages to them. I don't write handwritten letters now.

10. 10.Do you and your friend keep in touch by (handwritten) letter?

No, I don't stay in touch with my friends through handwritten letters. I text them or chat with them or send them an email.

11. 11.How do you keep in touch with your friends and relatives (by email, letter, by phone or by any other way)?

I stay in touch with my friends mostly through the online social media apps and websites, like Facebook, Whatsapp, Instagram, etc.

243. RAINY DAYS

1. Does it rain much in India? (Where? When?)

India is a diverse country with different climatic conditions in different regions. So there are some parts of India that receive a lot of rain, like Cherrapunji in Meghalaya, Amboli in Maharashtra, etc. Some places receive a lot of rainfall only during the monsoon season, like Mumbai, Chennai, Goa, etc.

2. Does it rain much in your hometown? (Include how often)

It doesn't rain much in my hometown. It is only during the monsoon season, that is in the months from June to August that we receive some rainfall.

3. In what season does it rain the most? OR When (in what month/season) does it rain most in your hometown?

It rains the most in my hometown in the monsoon season, that is in the months from June to August.

4. What about the other parts of India? OR In which season does it rain most in other parts of India?

India has a varied terrain. In many parts of India, it mostly rains in the monsoon season. However, it also depends on the geographical location as it affects the rainfall in many regions.

5. Would you prefer to have, more rain or less rain (in your hometown)?

I would prefer to have more rain in my hometown. In the last few years, there has been a drastic change in the seasons and the summers get very hot. If there is more rainfall in the summers, there will be respite from the heat.

6. Do you like rainy days? OR How do you feel on rainy days? ORDo you feel sad on rainy days?

I like rainy days in the summer season because the temperatures drop and we get respite from the summer heat. In winters I am not too happy when it rains, as it becomes very cold after it rains.

7. How does rain affect different people's moods? OR How does rain affect people's lives?

I think rains affect people's moods when it restricts their activities or leads to a loss in the work or business. Some people feel happy when it rains as the weather becomes pleasant and people can enjoy hot beverages and fried snacks.

8. Do you prefer rainy days or sunny days?

I prefer rainy days in the summers and sunny days in the winter season. Rains give us respite from the heat in the summers and we can enjoy sitting out in the sun on a cold winter day.

9. What do you do on rainy days (or, on a rainy day)?

I enjoy hot beverages, like coffee and fried snacks like fritters and samosas on rainy days. It gives us an opportunity to stay at home with family and spend quality time with them.

10. What do you usually do when it rains (or, when it starts to rain) and you are outside?

If it rains when I am outside, I usually look for a café or a place where I can sit and enjoy coffee and some snacks.

11. Do you think rain is good? (Why?)

Yes, I think rains are good. Rains are important to maintain the ecosystem's balance. Rains help with maintaining the groundwater levels. They make the dust settle down and help clean the environment. For agriculture-based economies, rains during the rainy season are very important for a good crop.

12. How does rain affect (life in) your country?

Agriculture is a major part of India's economy and that is largely dependent on timely rains. So a lot of farmers depend on a good monsoon season for a good crop. Unseasonal rains can have an adverse affect on agriculture, as it can destroy crops. In places where there is water shortage, people depend on rains and save rain water in reservoirs.

13. Is there any part of India where it doesn't rain much? (Where?) OR Is there an even distribution of rain throughout India?

India is a diverse country with different climates in different parts. There are many parts in the east of India that experience a lot of rain throughout the year. In most parts of India, monsoon season is the time when most of the rainfall happens. In some western parts, like in the deserts of Rajasthan, there is very little rain. Sometimes some states experience droughts because of no rainfall for a very long period of time.

14. What effects can a shortage of rain (a drought) have on people's lives?

Droughts/Shortage of rain can have adverse effects on the livelihoods of many people, especially those who are dependent on agriculture. Sometimes people are forced to leave their hometowns due to water shortage and start afresh somewhere else and face hardships. Many people die each year in India and all over the world because of droughts.

15. Can you remember any time when it rained particularly heavily in your hometown? (When?)
Yes, I remember that during my childhood it used to rain continuously for days and the roads and parks got filled with water. We used to enjoy a lot playing in the rain and in the pools of water. This used to happen during the monsoon season. Now the amount of rainfall has reduced drastically due to climate change.

16. Does rain ever affect transportation in your hometown? (How?)
Yes, sometimes the rain affects the transportation. It is mostly on some roads where the drainage system is not good or when it is blocked. At such times the water logging happens on the roads and the movement of traffic is affected.

17. Do you think the seasons have changed in recent years, compared to the past? (Why? How?)
Yes, I think seasons have changed in the recent years because of global warming and the consequent climate change. The summers last longer and the winters are shorter. Also, the amount of rainfall during the monsoon season has reduced. Sometimes we hardly get any rains during the monsoon season.
